To this Church, which is situate on the East Side of Stepney Town, belong both a Rectory and Vicarage; the former whereof, being a Sine Cure, was in the Collation of the Bishop of London, (and the latter in the Gift of the Rector) until the 12th of April, Anno 1551, when Nicholas Ridley, Bishop of that See, granted the Manor of Stepney, and the Advowson of its Church, to Edward the Sixth; who, by his Letters Patent, of the 16th of the said Month and Year, granted the same to Sir Tho. Wentworth, Lord Chamberlain of his Household, to be held in Chief, by the Service of the twentieth Part of a Knight's Fee. But the Advowson being since purchased by the Principal and Scholars of King's Hall and College of Brazen-nose in Oxford, the Presentation is in them; and the said Principal and Scholars did, from Time to

Newc.
Repert.
Ecclef.
Paroch.

Act. Parl.
Time, 2 Geor. II.

Time, to the Year 1744, present two Persons (in lieu of a Rector and Vicar) to this Rectory and Vicarage, by the Names of the Portionists of Ratcliff and Spittle-fields; when, by dismembering the Hamlet of Bethnal-green from it, erected into a new Parish by Act of Parliament, Stepney became possessed only by one Rector for the future.

This being at present a Rectory improper, the Principal and Scholars aforesaid receive the Great Tithes; and the Incumbent, for his Support, the small, Easter-Offerings, Garden Pennies, and Surplice Fees; which are very considerable.

This Parish has been so productive of Buildings as not only to produce the Parishes of St. Mary Stratford-Bow, St. Mary Whitechapel, St. John's at Wapping, St. Paul's Shadwell, St. George's Ratcliff-highway, Christ's Church Spittle-fields, St. Ann's Limehouse, and St. Matthew's Bethnal-green; but it still remains one of the largest Parishes within the Bill of Mortality, and contains the Hamlets of Ratcliff, Mile-end Old and New Towns, and Poplar.

Mile-end New Town Hamlet.

Officers, &c. in this Hamlet.

One Church-warden, one Overseer of the Poor, one Constable, three Headboroughs, one Scavenger, who paid the Raker, for cleansing the Streets and carrying away the Ashes, for one Year, the Sum of fifteen Pounds; one Beadle, three Watchmen, three hundred and ninety-three Houses. This Hamlet is intitled to one of the Alms-houses at Bow aforesaid.

Mile-end Old Town Hamlet.

Donations per Annum.

Edward Owen	—	12	0	0
Captain John Curtis	—	3	0	0

Officers, &c. in this Hamlet.

One Church-warden, one Overseer of the Poor, one Constable, five Headboroughs, two Surveyors of the Highways; one Beadle; three Watchmen; four hundred and six Houses.

This Hamlet is intitled to one of the Alms-houses at Bow aforesaid.

Poplar Hamlet.

Donations per Annum.

By Capt. John Croutbers	—	10	0	0
By John West , Anno 1665	—	12	0	0
By Capt. William Curtis , to this and the Hamlets of Limehouse , Ratcliff and Mile-end	—	60	0	0
By Mr. Tomlins , Anno 1676	—	1	10	0

Officers, &c. belonging to this Hamlet.

One Church-warden; two Overseers of the Poor; one Constable; six Headboroughs; two Surveyors of the Highways; one Beadle; one Watchman; four hundred and ninety-seven Houses. This Hamlet is intitled to one of the Alms-houses at Bow aforesaid.

Ratcliff Hamlet.

Donations per Annum.

Prisca Coborne , by Will, 30 Sep. 1701,	100	0	0
Mr. Henderson	—	3	0

Officers, &c. belonging to this Hamlet.

One Church-warden; two Overseers of the Poor; one Constable; five Headboroughs; two Scavengers, who paid the Raker, for cleansing the Streets, and carrying away the Dust, for one Year, the Sum of eighty-five Pounds; one Beadle; three Watchmen. But three hundred and fifty-two Houses being taken from this Hamlet, and added to the new Parish of St. Anne, Limehouse, the Number is thereby reduced to thirteen hundred and eighty-three. This Hamlet is intitled to one of the Alms-houses at Bow aforesaid.

The Monumental Inscriptions which are of greatest Note in the Church and Church-yard at Stepney.

On a brass Monument in the Chancel:

Here under lieth buried Nicholas Gibson, Citizen and Grocer of London, and Avis his Wife, who were Founders of the Free School at Ratcliffe; and after she married with Sir Anthony Knevit, Knight, who lieth here buried also: Which Nicholas died the 23d of September 1510, and the Lady Avis died the third of October 1554, whose Souls, &c. Also Henry Steward, Lord Darnley, was here buried.

In the Church, on the S. Side of the Chancel, a marble Monument, of the Corinthian Order, adorned with Cherubims, &c. this Inscription:

D. O. M.

Here under was laid up the Body of Sir Thomas Spert, Knight, sometime Comptroller of the Navy to K. Henry the VIII. and both the first Founder and Master of the worthy Society, or Corporation of Trinity House. He lived enobled by his own Worth, and died the 8th of September 1541, to whose pious Memory the said Corporation has gratefully erected this Memorial:

Not that he needed Monument of Stone
For his well-gotten Fame to rest upon;
But this was rear'd to testify that he Lives in their Loves that yet surviving be:
For unto Virtue, who first raised his Name,
He left the Preservation of the same;
And to Posterity remain it shall,
When brass and marble Monuments do fall.

Learn for to die while thou hast Breath,
So shalt thou live after thy Death.

Anno Dom. 1622, by the Company of the Trinity House, this Monument was erected 81 Years after the Decease of their Founder.

At the S. E. Corner of the Choir a spacious Marble Monument, of the Tuscan Order: This Inscription:

Sacræ Memorix.

Janæ Nevillæ Dethick, & Matronæ Religiosissimæ, Modestissimæ, omnibus qua corporis, qua Animi (dum vixit) dotibus ornatissimæ, Jesu Christi fervæ devotissimæ, conjugi suæ fidelissimæ, amantissimæ. Qua cum viginti fere duos annos felicissimæ transegerat Alexander Nevillus Armiger hoc nunquam inter morituri amoris sui Monumentum fieri testamento curavit, post quam annos ferè sexaginta novem vixerat viceffimo nono Novemb. 1606, placidissimè in Domino obdormivit.

Tobiah Worthington Alexandro Nevillo ex Testamento Solus Executor ipsius Mandato hoc Monumentum posuit.

Here also these Arms: Or, five Eagles displayed in Saltier Sable. Likewise a Fess verrey Or and Gules between three Water Budgets is impaled with the said last Coat.

A small Monument on the S. Side the Chancel, with this Inscription:

Genero suo Gulielmo Downtrey quondam Lincolnienfis Hospitii Socio, Willielmi Dawtrey Suffexiæ Armigeri Filio & Hæredi, viro ingenii acumine, mentis acie & non vulgari Municipium Angliæ legum Scientia præcellenti. Richardus Stouley Armiger hoc Amoris & Pietatis Symbolum posuit. Obiit 16 Octob. 1589.

On the N. Side of the Chancel, a spacious Marble Monument, of the Ionic Order, for Sir Henry Collet, Knt. twice Lord Mayor of London, free of the Company of Mercers, and Father to Dr. John Collet, sometime Dean of St. Paul's. Repaired by the Company of Mercers, in the Year 1605, and a second time July 28, 1697.

Here are these Arms: Sable on a Chevron ingraled between three Hinds trippant Argent as many Annulets of the First.

Also the Arms of the Dean of St. Paul's, i. e. Gules two Swords in Saltier Argent hilted Or, in Chief the Letter D. of the Third; this is impaled with the Coat last aforesaid.

At

At the N. E. Corner of the Chancel a spacious Marble Monument, adorned with the carved Figure of a Man in Armour, and of a Woman, both in a kneeling Posture; for Captain Michael Merrial and Clare his Wife, and one in Memory of Elizabeth Startute, with her Image kneeling, dated 1620.

Under the two last a Monument for John Brewster, Esq; his Lady, dated 1596. And these Arms: Sable a Chevron Ermine between three Estoiles Argent; impaled with Sable a Chevron Ermine between three Lyons Heads erased Argent, a Chief Or.

On the N. Side of the Chancel a spacious Marble Monument, with this Inscription:

Here resteth the Body of Robert Clarke, Esq; Son of Roger Clarke, Esq; late Alderman of the City of London, a Man humble in Prosperity, and a liberal Distributer to the Poor, courteous and affable to all, an upright and just Dealer in this World, and a most religious Seeker of the World to come. He had to Wife Margaretta, Daughter to John Langton, Esq; sometime Governor of the English Company in Sprucia, under the King of Polonia, who lived together in great Love and Integrity, almost six Years; he had by her one only Daughter named Frances, who lived one Year and three Quarters, and here lies interred with her most dear and loving Father.

In whose Memory the said Margaretta, to express her true Love and Affection, hath caused this Monument to be erected. He died May 30, 1610, having lived 36 Years.

Here are these Arms: Barry of four Gules and Argent charged with three Rundles.

On a spacious white and veined Marble Monument, with Pediment and Entablature of the Tuscan Order, adorned with his carved Effigies, also the Figure of a Cupid holding a Jacob's Staff, and three Urns, with this Inscription:

Ne id nescias Lector D. Joannes Berry, Devotionis Dignitate Equestri, Clarus Mari, tantum non Imperator de Rege & Patria, quod & Barbari norunt bene Meritus, Magnam ob res fortiter gestas adeptus Gloriam, Famæ Satur post multas Reportatas Victorias cum ab aliis vinci non potuit, Fatis cessit, 14 Feb. 1689. Baptizatus, 7 Jan. 1635.

Arms, Barry of six Or and Gules.

In the Church-yard are as follows:

On a Tomb Stone on the N. Side of the W. Portico, this Inscription:

Here lieth the Body of Mr. Richard Weble, Mariner, who departed this Life the 4th of May, 1694. Aged 23 Years.

Let not this World your Thoughts betray,
But think upon your dying Day.

On a Grave Stone in the Foot-path, near the last, this Inscription:

Here lies the Body of William Wheatly, who departed this Life the 10th of Nov. 1683.

Whoever treadeth on this Stone,

I pray you tread most neatly;

For underneath the same doth lye

Your honest Friend William Wheatly.

On a black Marble Tomb Stone a little Westward from the W. End of the Church this Inscription:

Here lieth interred the Body of Mary, Wife of Capt. Malachi Simons, Mariner, who departed this Life 29th of June, 1677.

Rest thou, whose Rest gives me a restless Life,

Because I've lost a kind and virtuous Wife:

I'll visit thee, and when I leave this Light,

Come spend my Time in the same Cell at Night.

Till then farewell; farewell! I cannot take

A final Leave until thy Ashes wake.

On a Grave Stone a little Westward from the West End of the Church:

Here lieth interred Thomas Barker (and Elizabeth his Wife, of Lymehouse) who being Lieutenant under Sir Robert Holmes, Commander of his Majesties Ship the St. Michael, lost his Life in the Engagement against the Dutch, the 28th Day of May, 1672. Fighting valiantly in Honour of his King and Country. Aged 28 Years.

Northward from the W. End, and near the Church, on a Grave Stone raised, this Inscription:

Here lieth precious sleeping Dust

Untill the Rising of the Just.

Heaven so great a Price it cost;

That not one Atome shall be lost;

But shall arise and cloathed be

In Bliss and Immortality.

Containing the Body of Mr. Thomas Gilson, Minister, deceased May 6th, 1680. Also Sarah his Wife, April, and Sarah Marlow Grand-child, July, 1680.

On a Tomb Stone on the N. Side of the Church, these Inscriptions:

Here lyeth interred the Body of Mr. William Wilkes, Citizen and Goldsmith of London, who departed this Life Nov. 21, 1700. Aged 37.

Here lieth the Body of she who was Sarah Hartland, who died Dec. 4, 1696. In the 25th Year of her Age.

Whose Heart too tender for to bear

From nearest Friends such Calumnies;

Receiv'd a Wound, and so she fell

To Death a mournful Sacrifice;

But did ascend in Peace and Joy

To him who did her Prayers hear;

And will, as in the Noon-day Light,

Her spotless Innocence declare.

And also here lieth the Body of Alice Wilkes, the Daughter of Mr. William and Mrs. Sarah Wilkes, who departed this Life the 25th of June, 1698. In the 9th Year of her Age.

Farewel dear Flower, no sooner came

Thy early Piety to bloome,

But Death hath cropt thy tender Bud,

And laid thee in this mournful Tomb;

With her who like thee lay so near the Heart

As made it even Death itself to part.

With Patience he the Torment did endure,

But endless Love design'd another Cure;

Think on't with Joy, here but his Body lies,

For Wilkes is fled and triumphs in the Skies.

On a Tomb on the N. Side of the Church, this Inscription:

Here lieth the Body of Susannah Ell, the Wife of Richard Ell, who departed this Life the 17th of May, 1643, aged 36 Years. Who had Issue by Richard Ell, two Sons, first Richard, the other not christened, and three Daughters, Abigail, Sarah, and Hannah.

To the pious Memory of Susan Ell.

To say an Ell lies here, ev'n that alone

Were Epitaph enough, no Brass, no Stone,

No glorious Tomb, no monumental Hearse,

No gilded Trophy, or Lamp-labour'd Verse,

Can dignifie her Grave or set it forth

Like the immortal Fame of her own Worth.

Then, Reader, fix not here but quit this Room,

And fly to Abraham's Bosom, there's her Tomb;

There rests her Soul, and for her other Parts

They are imbalm'd and lodg'd in good Men's Hearts.

A braver Monument of Stone or Lime

No Art can raise, for this shall out last Time.

On a Stone erected perpendicular on the N. Side of the Church, this Inscription:

Elizabeth the Wife of John Carles of this Parish, Cooper, who departed this Life the 4th Day of April, Anno Dom. 1696. Aged 29 Years.

She was modest, meek and good indeed;

Courteous to all, helpful to those in need;

A care-

A careful Mother, a most loving Wife;
Calm was the End of this her well spent Life.
Her Body here in Grave composed is,
Her Soul now rests with Christ in endless Bliss.

A little Northward from the Church on a spacious Marble Tomb Stone, adorned with Cherubims, Voluta's, Fruit, Skeleton's Heads, done in Relievo, and these Arms:

A Cross Patty with a Crescent for a Difference, and the like for the Crest. This Inscription:

M. S.

Timothei Cruso Evangelii Ministri egregiè fidelis, tam Eximiâ pietate quam præclarâ Eruditione Ornati, Concionatoris ad persuadendum Compositi canori copiosi judicio subtili atque limato ingenio acerrimo, Industria incredibili, Conjugis amantissimi, Patris Clementissimi, Amici firmissimi, propter Lenitatem suis, propter singularem Humanitatem omnibus, jucundi qui Gregem Christi pascendo exaturando Vigilis, Curis, Laboribus fractus.

Quod sui est Mortale Astmaticus deposuit & ad summi pastoris ædes Concionemque Beatorum Anhelans ascendit die Nov. 26, 1697. Ætat. suæ 41.

Here lieth the Body of Nathaniel and Timothy Cruso, lovely and pleasant in their Lives, and in their Deaths.

At the E. End of the Out-side of the Church a spacious fine white Marble Monument, against the Church-wall, adorned with a Cherub, Urn, Voluta's, Palm-branches, and these Arms; Paly of six Or and Azure, on a Bend Sable three Mullets of the First impaled with Azure an Annulet and Fish between two Bends Wavy Argent. This Inscription:

Here lieth interred the Body of Dame Rebecca Berry, the Wife of Thomas Elton of Stratford Bow, Gent. who departed this Life April 26, 1696. Aged 52.

Come Ladies, you that would appear
Like Angels fair, come dress you here;
Come dress you at this Marble Stone
And make that humble Grace your own,
Which once adorn'd as fair a Mind,
As e're yet lodg'd in Womankind.
So she was dress'd; whose humble Life
Was free from Pride, was free from Strife.
Free from all envious Brauls and Jars
(Of human Life the civil Wars)
These ne're disturb'd her peaceful Mind,
Which still was gentle, still was kind.
Her very Looks, her Garb, her Mien, Disclosed the humble Soul within.
Trace her through every Scene of Life,
View her as Widow, Virgin, Wife,
Still the same humble she appears,
The same in Youth, the same in Years;
The same in low and high Estate,
Ne're vex'd with this, ne're mov'd with that.
Go, Ladies, now, and if you'd be
As fair, as great, as good as she,
Go learn of her Humility.

On a grey Marble Grave Stone, a little S. E. from the Church, this Inscription:

Here lies the Body of Dr. Jeremy Butt, late Physician of the College of London, who departed this Life the 5th of March, 1694, in the 47th Year of his Age: Waiting for a glorious Resurrection.

Southward from the East End of the Church, on a curious white Marble and Touch Monument, with Enrichments of Cherubims, Palm-branches, Mantling, &c. this Inscription:

Sarah Martyn, Henrici Martyn, Armigeri Uxor.

Hopefor Bendall Mercatoris & Johannæ Uxoris Filia. Eximia Pietate ac suavissimis moribus

Uxor, Mater, Filia, Nurus, Soror, omnibus Vitæ Officiis juxta Laudabilis. Obiit mortem idibus Feb. Anno 25 Ætat. suæ salutis humanæ 1700.

Here are these Arms: On a Bend between two Cottises three Cinque-foiles.

On a Marble Tomb Stone Southward from the Chancel, this Inscription.

Here lyeth interred the Body of Capt. John Dunch, who departed this Life Nov. 25, 1696, in the 67th Year of his Age.

Tho' Boreas' Blasts, and Neptune's Waves,

Have tofs'd me to and fro;

In spight of both, by God's Decree,

I harbour here below;

Where I do now at Anchor ride

With many of our Fleet,

Yet once again I must set sail,

Our Admiral Christ to meet.

On a grey Marble Tomb Stone, a pretty way Southward from the East End of the Church, this Inscription.

Here Thomas Saffin lyes interr'd, ah why!

Born in New-England, did in London dye;

Was the third Son of right begat upon

His Mother Martha, by his Father John.

Much favour'd by his Prince he 'gan to be,

But nipt by Death at th' Age of twenty-three.

Fatal to him was that we Small-Pox name,

By which his Mother and two Brethren came

Also to breath their last, nine Years before,

And now have left their Father to deplore

The Loss of all his Children, with that Wife

Who was the Joy and Comfort of his Life.

Deceased June 18, 1687.

Also here are these Arms: Three Crescents, each surmounted by an Estoile of eight Points, impaled with a Lyon Rampant, in Chief an Estoile of eight Rays surmounting a Crown Mural.

Close by this Tomb last mentioned, is a Grave Stone, having the following Acrostick of James Bayly, &c.

I nclos'd lyes hid as sacred Remains

A s e're was bound by th' King of Terror's Chains.

M after and Chaplain's Place he well did bear;

E ach threatning Wave astonish'd with his Pray'r

S hrunk in his Head when pious James was there.

B ayly on Board the baffled Tempest flew

A s swift as Morning Sun exhales the Dew;

Y onder he comes, his joyful Men would cry,

L ower your Topsail, see the Master's by,

Y ou'd think when he was there some Angel nigh.

God gave him leave to breath his last on Shore;

And what was lent him by th' Almighty Power,

He safely did convey by trusty Friend,

Who strictly did perform the Donor's End;

And spread the Bounty of his liberal Hand,

Amongst his poor Relations; which Command

Bought the Deceased sure Title to the promis'd

Land.

Born in Landelph, in the County of Cornwall.

Under a Stone pretty much Southward from the Church, was interred the Pilgrim (as the People there call him) having this Inscription on it:

Here remains all that was mortal of Mr. Roger Crabb, who entered into Eternity the 11th Day of Septemb. 1680, in the sixtieth Year of his Age.

Tread gently, Reader, near the Dust

Committed to this Tomb Stone's Trust;

For while 'twas Flesh it held a Guest

With universal Love possest;

A Soul that stem'd Opinion's Tide,

Did over Sects in triumph ride,

Yet separate from the giddy Croud

And Paths Tradition had allow'd.

Through good and ill Report he pass

Oft centur'd, yet approv'd at last.

Wouldst

The Monument

Wouldst thou his Religion know,
In brief 'twas this: To all to do
Just as he would be done unto.
So in kind Nature's Laws he stood,
A Temple undefiled with Blood,
A friend to ev'ry thing was good.
The rest Angels alone can fitly tell,
Haste then to them, and him, and so farewell.

On a large Marble Tomb Stone, lately at the South-East Corner of the Church-yard, was this Inscription and Acrostick Verse, which is entirely destroyed.

Here lies the Body of Christopher Henley, late of Ratcliff; deceased July 2, 1693.

Conceal'd from Care, beneath this Marble lies
His sacred Relicks, which again must rise;
Remote from humane Discords unoppress'd,
In their cold Urn his peaceful Ashes rest;
Snatcht into Earth's dark Bosom, free from all
Those Troubles which a mortal Life befall.
O pious Reader! know his living just,
Procures his quiet Slumbers in the Dust.
His virtuous Deeds crown his unthinking Clay,
Erect a Monument without Delay.
Raising his Soul to everlasting Day.

His Wife and Children's Grief their Tears reveal,
Each find their Loss too weighty to conceal.
No unjust Act thro' his whole Race we find,
Loving he liv'd, and just to all Mankind:
Easie he sleeps till Heaven shall raise his Dust, Yielding his Soul to th' Mansions of the Just.

On another Grave Stone lying near the Tomb above (but not in the Ground) this Inscription:

Here lyeth the Body of Mary Angel, Widow, who departed this Life the 29th of November 1693. Aged 72 Years.

To say, an Angel here interr'd doth lye,
May be thought strange, for Angels never dye.
Indeed some fell from Heav'n to Hell,
Are lost and rise no more:
This only fell by Death to Earth,
Not lost, but gone before.

Her Dust lodg'd here, her Soul perfect in Grace
'Mongst Saints and Angels now hath took its Place.

A little Southward from the Church, on a spacious Marble Tomb Stone, this Inscription:

Here lye interred the Bodies of Capt. Thomas Chevers, who departed this Life, Nov. 18, 1675. Aged 44 Years.

And of Ann Chevers his Wife, who departed this Life, Nov. 14, 1675. Aged 34 Years.

And of John Chevers their Son, who departed this Life Nov. 13, 1675. Aged five Days.

Reader, consider well how poor a Span,
And how uncertain is the Life of Man:
Here lye the Husband, Wife, and Child, by Death
All three in five Days Time depriv'd of Breath.
The Child dies first, the Mother on the Morrow
Follows, and then the Father dies with Sorrow.
A Cæsar falls by many Wounds, well may
Two Stabs at Heart the stoutest Captain slay.

Here are these Arms: Three Lions Rampant, impaled with on a Fess three Crescents, a Canton.

On a Tomb a little Northward from the last mentioned, this Inscription:

Here lies the Body of Mrs. Mary Morley, late Wife of Mr. Daniel Morley, of Lyme-house, who departed this Life, Septemb. 12, 1700. Aged 32 Years.

Stay, Reader, stand, and spend a Tear,
And think of me who now lye here;
And while you read the State of me,
Thing on the Glass that runs for thee.

On a Marble Tomb Stone a little Southward from the Church, this Inscription:

No. 114.

Captain Richard Matthew was buried here April 1665, and his Daughter Mrs. Elizabeth Marsh, who died April the 13th 1695, late Wife of Mr. John Marsh, of London, Merchant.

Thus fled our Dear away, and with a Dove-like Mind,
She like a Dove in Spirit, and so she was inclin'd,
And left us here to mourn, we who are left behind.

On the North Side of the same Tomb in gold Letters on black, this Inscription:

H. S. E.

Quicquid mortale fuit Matthæi Mead, V. D. M. Honeſta inter Cattieuchlanos Familia Orti, à Pietate, Doctrina, Facundia, præclari.

Qui Affiduis & Insignibus laboribus, Patria, Religione, Libertate, invicto animo defunctus, Vita tandem & Laudis Satur, ad Coelitum Domum quam Diu optaverat lassus & anhelus placidissime ascendit; An. Ætat. suæ 70. 17 Kal. Novemb. MDCXCIX.

E. T.

Boni Civis, amantissimi Conjugis, optimi Patris, Theologi vere Christiani, Clarum reliquit posteris Exemplum.

On a grey Marble Tomb Stone just without the South Wall of the Church, the following Inscription:

Aspice

Respice Prospice

Under this Marble lieth the Body of Susanna, the beloved Wife of Mr. Samuel Sambrook, of London, Merchant, Daughter of Captain Arnold Brown, of this Parish, Esq; educated in all Virtues, adorned with all Graces, beloved of all that knew her. She studied to serve God, and to do Good; lived much desired, and died much lamented, October 11. Ætat. suæ 18, 1672.

By the South-West Portico, this following Inscription:

Here lieth the Body of John Archer, Son of John Archer of Wapping, Mariner, and of Frances his Wife, who departed this Life, August 1681. Aged seven Months.

Farewel, dear Gift, since God will have it so,
'Tis Sin to murmur at his Will we know.

He lies asleep within this Bed

Until the Resurrection of the Dead.

On a Grave Stone a little South West from the Church:

Here lyeth the Body of Joyce Rich, Wife of John Rich, of this Parish who died August 1679, in the 74th Year of her Age: Also Elizabeth Winter, Daughter of Joyce Rich, who died in the Lord, November the 9th, 1687, in the 47th Year of her Age.

We two within the Grave do lye,

Where we do rest together

Untill the Lord shall us awake,

And from the Goats us severe.

Near the last this Inscription:

Here lyeth interred the Body of Ann Bristan, the beloved Wife of Richard Bristan, of Lyme-house; just and stedfast to the Doctrine and Discipline of the established Church, living beloved, and dying lamented by all that knew her.

She entered into Eternity the 14th of April, Anno Dom. 1694.

On a Stone a little South-Westward from the Church is inscribed:

Here lyes the Body of Daniel Saul, Spittle-fields Weaver, and that's all.

On the Side of a Tomb Westward from the West Portico, this Inscription:

Mr. William Knight, of this Parish, Mariner, was here born, Feb. 1570, and died November the 22d 1636.

Mihi vivere Christus & mori Lucrum.

Cease Labours, rest ye Seas of Cares and Fears,
Whose Waves have tofs'd me fix and forty Years.
And now go sleep mine Eyes, sleep here till ye Awake shall my Redeemer's Glory see;
Sleep till my happy Soul rejoined may
With recreated Body live for aye.

Tandem Portum.

On a Grave Stone near the West Portico, this Inscription:

Traveller, come read and weep.

Here lies William Aldersey, a late Lieutenant of their Majesties Ship, the King's Fisher. One sober valiant, modest, diligent, and true. Intercepted by untimely Death on the 19th of June, 1691, in the 28th Year of his Age.

Live well, and learn to die.

Here are these Arms:

On a Bend ingraled three Leopard's Faces between two Cinquefoils.

About fifty Foot South of this Church is raised a Piece of Ground; occasioned by the many Vaults erected therein at private Expence for the Interment of peculiar Families: Most of which are ornamented with handsome Marble Monuments enriched, and some of them environed with Iron Rails. Amongst the latter Sort is that of the Family of the LEAKES, the Progenitors of the present Stephen Martin Leake, Esq; Garter principal King at Arms; with the following Inscriptions.

Upon the North Side of the Monument: Here lieth interred the Body of Dame Christian Leake, late Wife of the Honourable Sir John Leake, Knt. Rear Admiral of Great Britain, and late Commander in Chief of her Majesty's Fleet. And five of their Children viz. Richard first Son, who died Feb. the 25th 1677, aged eight Weeks. Mary eldest Daughter, died Feb. 2, 1681, aged nine Months. Hannah second Daughter, died Nov. the 16th, aged thirteen Months. Christian third Daughter, died May 6th, 1689, aged four Years. Elizabeth fourth Daughter, died Jan. 10, 1691, aged one Year, eight Months. The said Dame Christian deceased the 9th of December, Anno 1709, in the fifty third Year of her Age.

Also the Body of Capt. Richard Leake, who died March the 2d, 1719-20, aged thirty-seven Years, who commanded several Men of War in the Reign of Queen Anne.

South Side: Here lieth interred the Body of Stephen Martin, who departed this Life the 21st of March 1700, aged two Months. Mary Martin, who died the 15th of Feb. 1702-3, aged eight Years, seven Months. Also, here rests the Body of Mrs. Mary Hill, Mother to the Lady Leake, who died January 1703, aged seventy-seven Years, seven Months; and Christian Martin, who died the 1st of April 1721, aged seventeen Years, four Months, fourteen Days.

Also here lies the Body of Elizabeth Martin-Leake, the Wife of Capt. Stephen Martin-Leake of this Parish, and Sister to the Lady Leake, who departed this Life the 14th Day of September 1723, aged fifty-seven Years.

East End: To the Memory of the Honourable Sir John Leake, Knt. Rear Admiral of Great Britain, Admiral and Commander in Chief of her late Majesty Queen Anne's Fleet, and one of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, who departed this Life the 21st of August 1720, Ætat. sixty-four Years, one Month, seventeen Days. Who Anno 1689, in the Dartmouth, by engaging Kilmore Castle, relieved the City of Londonderry in Ireland. Also Anno 1702, with a Squadron at Newfoundland, he took and destroyed fifty-one Sail of French, together with all their Settlements. Anno 1704, he forced the Van of the French Fleet at the Malaga Engagement; relieved Gi- bralter twice, burning and taking thirteen Sail of French Men of War; likewise Anno 1706, relieved Barcelona, the present Emperor of Germany, besieged therein by Philip of Spain, and took ninety Sail of Corn Ships. The same Year taking the Cities of Cartagena and Alicant, with the Islands of Ivica, Majorca, Sardinia and Minorca.

West End: Here lyeth the Body of Stephen Martin Leake, Esq; one of the senior Captains in the Royal Navy, and sometime first Captain; an elder Brother of the Trinity-house; and in the Commission of the Peace for the Counties of Middlesex, Essex and Surrey; who died the 19th Day of January 1735-6, in the 70th Year of his Age. He married Elizabeth, Sister to the Lady Leake, the Wife of Sir John Leake, Knt. Admiral, &c. to whom he was still more closely united by the strictest Acquaintance, having been his Captain, and shared the same common Dangers in twenty Years Wars. So that the said Sir John Leake having survived his Wife, and the Issue he had by her, made him Heir to his whole Estate. And He, in return for so great a Benefit, added the Name and Arms of Leake to his own, as the most grateful Means whereby he might transmit to Posterity the Memorial of their Friendship.

On a flat Stone near to the Church-yard Wall, facing the South-West Angle of the West Porch, are the following Arms and Inscription, belonging to an ancient and worthy Family in the County of Northumberland, viz.

Azure, two Ears of Big in Pale, coup'd and bladed Or. CREST: A Lyon passant regardant Gules, holding in his Dexter Paw an Ear of Big, Or. MOTTO: Gratitudo. Bearing quarterly the ARMS of BABINGTON, ERRINGTON, and others, with this Inscription.

RICARDUS BIGLAND

Antiqua BIGLANDORUM de BIGLAND

In Agro LANCASTRENSI Profapia oriundus.

Uxorem duxit MARIAM

GEORGII ERRINGTON de BENWEL

In Agro NORTHUMBRIENSI (ERRINGTONORUM De ERRINGTON et DENTON gente oriundi)

Filiam natu tertiam,

Et cum generosa BABINGTONORUM Familia

Sanguinis cognatione et hæreditatis

Consortio conjunctam.

Ex his natus RODOLPHUS

Uxorem duxit ANNAM

JOHANNIS WILKINS de FROCESTER

In Agro GLOCESTRENSI Filiam:

Fœminam omnibus,

Quæ vitam faciunt beatioram,

Et mortem flebiliorem,

Virtutibus ornatam.

{ RIC.DUS }	{ Feb. 26, 1724. }	{ Ann. { 66. }
{ MARIA }	{ Oct. 15, 1736. }	{ Æt. { 61. }
{ ANNA }	{ Dec. 1, 1738. }	{ Æt. { 22. }

(RICARDUM Filium reliquit unicum)

Hoc

Erga Parentes optimos Pietatis & Reverentiæ, Erga Conjugem charissimam Amoris & Desiderii
Testimonium

Marmore inscripto Posteris commendari voluit

RODOLPHUS BIGLAND CIVIS LONDINENSIS.

Juxta Sepultus jacet CAROLUS WILKINS,

ANNÆ Frater,

Ob. Sep. 17, 1740. Ann. Æt. 18.

In English to this Purport:

RICHARD BIGLAND,

Descended from the ancient Family of the BIGLANDS of BIGLAND in the County of LANCASTER, Married MARY,

Third Daughter and Coheir of GEORGE ERRINGTON
Of BENWEL in the County of NORTHUMBERLAND.

(Descended from the Ancient ERRINGTONS of ERRINGTON & of DENTON in the same County)

And

And allied
Both in Blood and Inheritance to the Renowned Family of the BABINGTONS:
Of THESE was born

RALPH,
Who married ANNE Daughter of JOHN WILKINS of FROCESTER in the County of GLOUCESTER:

A Woman

Adorned with every Virtue that could make Life happy, and Death to be lamented.

RICH. ^d	} died {	Feb. 26, 1724	} aged {	66	} Years.
MARY		Oct. 15, 1736		61
ANNE		Dec. 1, 1738		22

(Leaving RICHARD her only Son.)

In Testimony of Filial Duty to the Best of Parents,

And of tender Affection to the Most deserving Wife,

This Stone is inscribed to their Memories by

RALPH BIGLAND, Citizen of LONDON.

Here also lies CHARLES WILKINS, Brother of the Said ANNE, who died Sept. 17, 1740, aged 18 Years.

Officers, &c. in the several Hamlets which compose this Parish.

The Church of this Parish, which is situate in the Hamlet of Ratcliff, and appears to have been built in the Reign of Edward IV. has a select Vestry, consisting of the Church-wardens of each Hamlet and the Rector, and two Vestrymen chosen by and out of each Hamlet.

Antiquities, &c. in this Parish.

Stepney, which is situate East of London, in the County of Middlesex, and Hundred of Osulston, and in the Hamlets of Ratcliff and Mile-end Old Town, is of great Antiquity; for in Doomsday-Book, it appears in the Conqueror's Time to have been a Manor belonging to the Bishop of London, by the Appellation of Stibenbede, a Saxon Compound, implying Stiben's Heath.

The Walls and Battlements of this Church, are built of Brick and wrought Stone, covered with a Finishing, and the Roof with Lead, the Inside wereof appears arched; and the Pillars, Arches, and Windows, are of the modern Gothick, and the West Porch built in 1610 is of the Tuscan Order.

There is a Stone on the E. Side of the Portico, leading up to the Gallery on the North Side of the Chancel, whereon are inscribed these Words (we suppose them genuine because permitted to be there.)

Of Carthage great I was a Stone,
O Mortals read with Pitty!
Time consumes all, it spareth none,
Men, Mountains, Towns nor City:
Therefore, O Mortals! all betink
You whereunto you must,
Since now such stately Buildings
Lye buried in the Dust.

The Church is well pewed with Oak, and Wain-scotted about eight Foot high, and the Pulpit is of the same Sort of Timber.

The Altar-piece consists of four Pilasters, with Entablature and Pediment, of the Corinthian Order, adorned with a Cherub, gilt Capitals, and Portraits of Moses and Aaron; with the Queen's Arms carved. Here are also the Commandments, between the Lord's Prayer and Creed, done in Black on Gold; also three handsome inner Door-cases, and Galleries on the North, South and West Sides of the Church the Organ-case is embellished with Frames, &c. and was lately repaired, enlarged, and beautified.

The Dimensions are, Length 114 Foot, Breadth
54, Height 35, and the Altitude of the Tower and Turret 92 Feet, wherein are eight Bells to ring in Peal.

In this Place were antiently situate the Country Seats of divers of the Nobility and other Persons of Distinction; among which was that of the Manor belonging to the Bishop of London, beautifully situated in regard to the neighbouring Woods; wherefore Richard Gravesend, Bishop of London, intending to convert the same into a Rec.

Park, obtained for that End, of Edward I. a Guild.
Grant of Free Warren, Anno 1292. But the Lord-Mayor and Citizens of London having vigorously opposed the Execution thereof, as contrary to, and inconsistent with, their Rights and Immunities, the Bishop's Design was intirely defeated. Henry Walleis, Mayor of London, had also a Seat here, situate on the Spot now called the Square, on the North Side of the Village, in which Edward I. held a Parliament in the same Year.

At Mile-end, a little North of Stepney Church, antiently stood a Lazaretto, or Hospital of Lepers, denominated The House of our Saviour Jesus Christ and Mary Magdalene; to the miserable Objects of which, Edward VI. by his Letters
Patent of the eighteenth of February, Anno 1551, granted a Permission to beg for their Support, and appointed John Mills their Proctor.

The vicinal Roman Way from London led along where the Village of Bethnal Green is situate; and having a little on the North-east thereof joined the Military Way from the West, passed on together to the Trajectus, or Ferry of the River Lea at Old-Ford.

The Hamlet of Poplar (like the other four of this Parish) is one of the Tower Hamlets, and is so denominated from the great Number of Poplar Trees which antiently grew there. It is a Manor which formerly belonged to the Crown; but for many Ages it has been in the Hands of private Persons.

The Chapel-house in the Isle of Dogs, or Poplar Marsh, is the Ruins of a Stone Chapel, but when, or by whom built, is unknown. However, I am of Opinion, that it either belonged to the Manor of Pountfret, (or to his Majesty's Servants who attended the Royal Kennels, whilst the King's Hounds were kept here) which antiently lay in this Marsh;
the capital Mansion whereof, by the Discovery of large Foundations and Gatehooks, may not only be presumed to have stood here, but likewise divers other Houses, which probably were inhabited till the great Inundation toward the Close of the fifteenth Century, occasioned by a Breach in the Bank of the River Thames near the great Shipyard at Limehouse-hole.

The Chapel in Poplar was erected in the Year 1654; the Ground of the Site and Cemetery was given by the East-India Company; and the Fa-brick erected by the voluntary Contributions of the Inhabitants and others; since which Time the said Company has not only been pleased to allow the Minister a convenient House to dwell in, with a Garden and a Field of about three Acres of Ground, but likewise, for his better Support, have given him twenty Pounds per Annum, to be continued during Pleasure; wherefore the said Chapel, for want of an Endowment, continues still unconsecrated.

Things remarkable in Stepney Parish at present;
are, the Church, with its spacious Cemetery; a Presbyterian, Independent, Anabaptist, and a Quaker Meeting-houses; two Charity-Schools; fifteen Alms-houses; one Hospital for twenty-four old Men, one hundred Boys, and two Masters; two Work-houses; an annual Fair at Mile-end Old Town; a large Shipyard to build in; three Ports, or Stairs to take Water at; two Portuguese and one German Jews Burial Grounds, the first of which contains near one thousand Sepulchral Stones of beautiful Marble, under which Persons of all ages and Ranks lie promiscuously in Rows without Distinction, and whose Graves are never re-opened; and the Isle of Dogs, (at first

Stow. Sur.
Lond.
Stryp. Ed.
Stow. Sur.

Wood.
Ac. Popl.

Stryp. Ed.
Stow. Sur.

Wood.
Ac. Popl.

Rec.
Exch.

first so denominated by Sailors, from the great Noise made by the King's Hounds, that were kept here during the Residence of the Royal Family at Greenwich) or Poplar-marsh, is a Spot of Ground of such Fertility and Excellency of Grass, that it not only raises the largest Cattle, but it is likewise the great Restorative of all distempered Beasts.

St. George's, Bloomsbury.

This is one of the fifty new Churches appointed by Act of Parliament to be built within the Bill of Mortality; in pursuance of which it was erected at the Charge of the Publick, and a District for its Parish taken out of that of St. Giles's in the Fields: Whereupon it was, AA Parl. 3 Geo. II. Anno 1730, by Authority of Parliament, constituted a new Parish, and the Sum of three thousand Pounds given towards the Support of its Rector; to which being added the Sum of twelve hundred and fifty Pounds, given by the Inhabitants of the Parish of the said St. Giles, both Sums were ordered to be laid out in a Purchase of Lands, Tenements, &c. in Fee Simple, as a perpetual Fund for the Maintenance of the said Rector and his Successors, exclusive of Surplice Fees, Perquisites, Easter-Offerings, Gifts and Bequests.

Ibid. And it was by the same Authority ordained, that the Commissioners for building the fifty new Churches aforesaid, shall, with the Consent of the Vestry, be impowered to ascertain the several Sums to be paid to the Rector and other Parish Officers for each Burial. And that the several Vaults under the Church (exclusive of those appropriated to the Rectory House) together with the Vestry Room, Seats and Pews, are vested in the Church-wardens and their Successors, for the Use of the Parish, under the Direction of the Vestry, who, with the Rector, are impowered to chuse a Lecturer: That the Rectory shall not be held in Commendam, and that all Licences tending thereto, are declared to be void and of no Effect: And that the Poor of this Parish, and that of St. Giles in the Fields, shall be maintained by the joint Assessments of both Parishes, in the same manner as before the said Parish of St. Giles was divided.

This Church was consecrated by Edmund Bishop of London on the 28th of January, 1731, at which Time, in Honour of his present Majesty, it received the Appellation of St. George, and the additional Epithet of Bloomsbury, from its Situation, to distinguish it from others of the same Denomination within the Bill of Mortality.

The Advowson of this Rectory, like that of its Mother of St. Giles's in the Fields, is in the Gift of the Crown.

The Rector pays neither First-fruits, Tenths, Procurations, nor other Disbursements on Account of the Cure.

Officers, &c. belonging to this Parish.

The Vestry is select, consisting of thirty-six Members; two Church-wardens; four Overseers of the Poor; two Constables; two Headboroughs; four Scavengers (the Money paid the Raker, and Number of Watchmen, are reckoned in the Parish of St. Giles in the Fields); two Beadles; nine hundred and fifty-four Houses.

Antiquities, in this Parish.

Bloomsbury, which is situate in the County of Middlesex, and Hundred of Osulton, was antiently a Village, denominated Lomsbury, wherein the King's Stables were situate till Anno 1354, when the same were destroyed by Fire, together with a Number of Horses, and great Quantities of Corn and Hay.

The Remarkables at present are, the stately Parish Church, with the Statue of King George I. placed on the Top of its Steeple; a magnificent Square, a spacious Market-place, and one of the Parliament's Forts, at the North-End of Southampton-house Garden, now the Terras-walk, itill remaining.

St. George's, Queen's-square.

The Parish of St. Andrew, Holborn, having greatly increased both in Number of Houses and Inhabitants, divers Gentlemen, at the extreme Boundary of the Parish, proposed the Erection of a Chapel for the convenient Performance of their Religious Duties. To which End, Sir Streynsham Master, and fourteen other neighbouring Gentlemen, being appointed Trustees and Managers of the whole Affair, they agreed with Arthur Tooley, (who, on the twenty-sixth of February, Anno 1705, had taken Nathaniel Curson, a certain Spot of Ground by Lease, for the Term of sixty-one Years, whereon to erect Houses) to build them a Chapel and two Houses for the Sum of three thousand five hundred Pounds (which Money the said Gentleman proposed to raise by the Sale of Pews to be erected in the intended Chapel); which was no sooner finished, than the Trustees, by a Deed of the 1st of July, Anno 1706, settled certain annual Stipends, for the Maintenance of a Chaplain, an Afternoon Preacher, (who was likewise Reader) and a Clerk; to the first and second one hundred Pounds each, and to the last fifty Pounds.

The Commissioners for erecting the fifty new Churches within the Bill of Mortality having resolved to constitute this Chapel one of the said Churches, they purchased the Inheritance thereof for the Sum of eleven hundred Pounds; and having repaired and adorned the same, at the Expence of above two thousand Pounds, on the 12th of August, Anno 1713, following, appointed a certain District for its Parish; and having purchased the Chapel, with its Appurtenances, for the Sum of fifteen hundred Pounds, it was assigned to the said Commissioners on the tenth of April, Anno 1721, and consecrated on the twenty-sixth of September, in the Year 1723, by Edmund, Bishop of London, who dedicated the same to St. George, in Compliment to Sir Streynsham Master, who had been Governor of the Fort of that Name in India.

This Church and District being in all Respects become Parochial, the Commissioners aforesaid appointed them a select Vestry, consisting of the Rector, Church-wardens, and thirty other Members.

This Rectory, like that of its Mother of St. Andrew's, Holborn, is in the Gift of the Duke of Montague.

The Incumbent pays neither First-fruits, Tenths, Procurations, or other Disbursements on Account of the Cure.

This new Parish, like that of its Neighbour St. George of Bloomsbury, only regards Church Affairs; for all Matters relating to the Poor (except the Sacrament-Money, about 100*l. per Annum*, which is given to the Poor at Discretion) are still under the Direction of High-Holborn Liberty, from which it was taken, and to which also belong the Charitable Benefactions.

Officers, &c. in this Parish.

The Vestry (as already taken Notice of) is select, consisting of thirty-three Members; two Church-wardens; two Collectors for the Poor; two Constables; two Headboroughs; two Scavengers (the Money paid the Raker being included in the Account of High-Holborn); one Beadle; nine Watchmen; seven hundred and eighty-two Houses.

Remarkables at present in this Parish.

In this Parish are, the Devil's and Lamb's Conduits. The former, which serves Christ's-Hospital with

The Parish Church of St. Mary le Bone in Middlessex.

A Prospect of the Parish Church of St. George in Bloomsbury.

with Water, is inclosed by a Wall at the North-west Angle of Brunswick-court, Queen's-square; and the latter at the lower End of Conduit-street, Red-Lion Fields, which supplied Lamb's Conduit on Snow-hill with Water, is lately rebuilt at the Charge of the City; and besides two magnificent Squares, here are divers very stately Streets and Rows of Buildings; two Charity-Schools; and the stately Foundling Hospital.

St. George's, in Middlesex.

A^d Parl.
9 Anne.

This which is a Rectory, situate on the North Side of Ratcliff-Highway, is one of the fifty new Churches appointed to be built within the Bill of Mortality, by Act of Parliament of the ninth of Queen Anne, Anno 1710. In pursuance of which Act, its Foundation was laid Anno 1715, and the Structure finished in the Year 1729.

Par. Rec.

A^d Parl.
9 Anne.

The Commissioners for building this and the other new Churches, having appointed the Hamlet of Wapping-Stepney the District for the new Parish, it was by Parliament constituted a Parish distinct and in all Respects independent of that of Stepney, as if it never had belonged to the same; whereupon 'twas consecrated by Edmund Bishop of London, on the 19th of July, Anno 1729. And towards the Maintenance of the Rector and his Successors, the Parliament gave the Sum of three thousand Pounds to be laid out in a Purchase of Lands, Tenements, &c. in Fee Simple. And as a further Provision for the said Rector, the Church-wardens are appointed, by the Authority aforesaid, annually to pay him, by Quarterly Payments, the Sum of one hundred Pounds, to be raised by Fees arising from Burials; for which Purpose, the Disposal of the Burial Ground and Vaults belonging to the Parish, are vested in the Vestry, exclusive of the Rector; and who, with Consent of the Bishop, are impowered to appoint such Fees for Burials, as shall not exceed thirty, nor less than two Shillings; and to ascertain Rates for Leave to make Vaults, lay down Grave-stones, and erect Monuments. And for the better securing the Payment of the abovementioned hundred Pounds to the Rector, it is also enacted, by the Authority aforesaid, That, on Default of Payment, the Rector, for the more easy and speedy recovering of the same, may apply to two, or more Justices of the Peace of the County of Middlesex, who, upon Oath made of the Sum or Sums in Arrear, may compel such Defaulter, by Distress and Sale of their Goods; and if Distress cannot be had to satisfy such Arrears, then the succeeding Church-wardens to be responsible for the same. It is also ordained, that the Rector shall not receive any Surplice Fees for Burials, unless he be desired to perform the Funeral Rites in the Church, in Presence of the Corps; and then only such Fees as shall for that Purpose be settled by the Vestry, with the Consent of the Bishop. It is likewise ordained, That this Rectory shall not be held in Commendam; and that all Licences and Dispensations, for that Purpose, are declared void and of no Effect. And it is further ordained, That the Vestry of this Parish shall consist of the Rector, Church-wardens, Overseers of the Poor, and all such Persons as shall pay one Pound four Shillings per Annum to the Poor.

A^d Parl.
2 Geo. II.

The Advowson of this Rectory, like that of Stepney, from whence it was taken, is in the Principal and Scholars of King's Hall, and College of Brazen-nose in Oxford.

The Rector pays neither First-fruits, Tenths, Procurations, or other Disbursement on Account of the Cure.

Here are only Collectors for the Poor, who pay the Money they receive to the Church-wardens; who transact all Affairs relating to the Church and Poor.

Vol. II. NUMB. CXV.

Donations, per Annum. l. s. d.

Mr. Henderson	—	—	—	3	0	0
John Gray	—	—	—	20	0	0
Prisca Coborne	—	—	—	13	0	0

Officers, &c. in this Parish.

Two Church-wardens; four Overseers of the Poor; one Constable; twelve Headboroughs; four Scavengers, who paid the Raker the Sum of one hundred and seventy-five Pounds; two Surveyors of the Highways; two Beadles, and twelve Watchmen; nineteen hundred and forty-six Houses. This Parish, as an antient Hamlet of Stepney, is intitled to one of the Almshouses at Bow aforesaid.

Antiquities, &c. in this Parish.

Things observable at present, are, the magnificent Parish Church, four Meeting-houses, viz. One Presbyterian, two Anabaptists, and a Swedish; an Hospital, two Charity-schools; Princess-square, and Part of that of Wellclose; and a Workhouse for the Reception of the Poor. The Inhabitants, who are of the meaner Sort, depend in a great measure upon their seafaring Neighbours for their Support.

St. Giles's in the Fields.

By the Village of St. Giles's not appearing in Doomsday-book, I imagine it is not coeval with the Norman Conquest. But that the Parish is of great Antiquity, is manifest, by the Decretal Sentence of Stephen, Archbishop of Canterbury, &c. Anno 1222, in the great Controversy between Eustace, Bishop of London, &c. and William, Abbot of Westminster, &c. in which Sentence this Parish is expressly mentioned; but I imagine it was not converted into a Parish Church till the twentieth of April, Ann. 1547, when William Rowlinson was instituted Rector thereof.

Joh. Fleet.
MS. Hist.
Cœnob.
Westm.
in Bibl.
Lamb.

The little old Church of this Parish being taken down in the Year 1623, the Materials thereof were only sold for the Sum of nine Pounds eleven Shillings and nine Pence. And in the same Year, the Foundation of the late Brick Edifice being laid, it was finished two Years after, at the Expence of 2068 l. 7s. 2d. But the Ground in the Neighbourhood being gradually raised to the Height of eight Feet higher than the Floor thereof, it became very damp and unwholesome; wherefore the Inhabitants applied to Parliament to have it rebuilt; which being agreed to, they appointed the same to be re-edified; and for that Purpose having granted the Sum of eight thousand Pounds, the old Church was taken down, and the first Stone of the new laid, in the Year 1730, and the same being finished in the Beginning of the Year 1734, it was preached in on the 14th of the following April; the whole Charge of Building amounted to the Sum of ten thousand and twenty-six Pounds fifteen Shillings and nine Pence.

Par. Rec.

This Church which is situate on the South Side of St. Giles's-street, is denominated from St. Giles, a Grecian; and the additional Epithet to distinguish it from a Church of the same Name at Cripplegate.

The Advowson of this Rectory was antiently in private Hands; but that being only for one Presentation, it came to the Crown in the Year 1571, wherein it still continues.

Newc.
Repert.
Ecclef.
Paroch.

The Overseers here are chiefly Collectors.

Donations, per Annum. l. s. d.

Anno 1658, Richard Holford	—	—	—	29	0	0
1668, The Lady Alice Dudley	—	—	—	30	0	0
1672, Sir William Coney, Kt.	—	—	—	3	0	0
1676, Robert Bertie	—	—	—	3	0	0
1707, John Pearson, for 99 Years	—	—	—	50	0	0
Mr. Atkinson	—	—	—	1	0	0

15 T

Monumental

Monumental Inscriptions in the late Church and Cemetery.

Mund.Ed.
Stow.Sur.

Interr'd the Corps of Baron Birch lies here,
Of Greys Inn sometime, by Degree, Esquire.
In Chequer Eighteen Yeeres a Judge he was,
Till Soule from aged Body, his did passe.
Alive his Wife, Eliza, doth remaine,
Of Stydfolke Stocke; one Sonne, and Daughters
Twaine,

She bore by him: the eldest, in his Life,
He gave to Thomas Boyer, for his Wife.
His Body sleeps till Angels Trump shall sound;
God grant we all may ready then be found.
Johannes Birch obiit anno Dom. 1581. Maii 30.
ætatis suæ 66.

Ibid.

Under this sad Marble sleepes,
Shee, for whom, even Marble weepes:
Her Praise lives still, though here she lies,
Seeming dead, that never dyes.
Religion, Love, in suffering Breast,
Her Charity, Mildnesse, and the rest
Hath crown'd her Soule; all mourne with Fame,
Her Husband's Loss, and Midwife's Blame.
Shee died in Child-bed, seventy times blest and seven,

Her Child and she deliver'd both in Heaven.
Margareta Thornton obiit octavo die Januarii, anno Dom. 1611. ætatis suæ 16.

Round the Margent.

Full South this Stone Four Foot doth lye,
His Father John, and Grandfire Henry
Thornton of Thornton, in Yorkshire bred,
Where lives the Fame of Thornton's being dead.

Ibid.

Alexander Barnes, here doth lye;
Glory be to God on high.
For he on Earth hath finished his Dayes,
And now liveth in Heaven, to give God Praise.
Hee died the Fourth of November 1614. being of the Age of 57 Yeeres.

Ibid.

From Marie's Teares, to Marie's Joy,
This Marie is translated;
And after Threescore Yeeres Annoy,
In Heaven she is instated.
With this, she chose the better Part,
Never to be repented;
And held her Saviour in her Heart;
Thus are her Joyes augmented.
This sought her Saviour at his Tombe,
His Feet with Tears bedewed;
That bore our Saviour in her Wombe,
Whereby our Joyes renewed.
Then happy Soule, thrice happy this,
Happily interested
In Marie's Tears, and Marie's Blisse, Rest thou for ever blessed.

Mary Pill obiit 1629.

NewView
Lond.

This Monument was erected, Anno 1670, in Memory of the Honourable John, Lord Belasyse, Baron Worlaby, Second Son of Thomas, Lord Viscount Fauconberg, his Wives and Children.

Who, for his Loyalty, Prudence and Courage was promoted to severall Commands of great Trust, by their Majesties King Charles the First and Second, viz. Having raised six Regiments of Horse and Foot in the late Civil Wars, he commanded a Tertia in his Majesty's Armies, at the Battles of Edgehill, Newbury and Naseby, the Sieges of Reading and Bristol. Afterward being made Governor of York, and Commander in Chief of all his Majesty's Forces in Yorkshire, he fought the Battle of Selly with the Lord Fairfax. Then being Lieutenant-General of the Counties of Lin- coln, Northampton, Derby and Rutland, and Governour of Newark, he valiantly defended the Garrison against the English and Scotch Armies, till his Majesty came in Person to the Scotch Quarters, and commanded the Surrender of it; at which Time he also had the Honour of being General of the King's Horse-guards. In all which Services, and during the Wars and other Atchieve-ments, he deputed himself with eminent Courage and Conduct, and received many Wounds, sustained three Imprisonments in the Tower of London, and after the happy Restoration of King Charles II. was made Lord Lieutenant of the East Riding of the County of York, Governor of Hull, General of his Majesty's Forces in Africa, Governour of Tangier, and Captain of his Majesty's Guard of Gentlemen-Pensioners.

He married to his first Wife, Jane, Daughter and sole Heir to Sir Robert Boteler, of Woodball, by whom he had Sir Henry Belasyse, of the Honourable Order of the Bath, who lies interred in this Choir; and Mary, married to the Lord Viscount Dunbar.

He married to his Second Wife, Ann, Daughter and Coheir to Sir Robert Crain, of Cbilton in the County of Suffolk; who lies also interred in this Choir.

And to his Third Wife, the Lady Ann Paulet, Daughter to the Marquis of Winchester; by whom he had Issue, besides other Children now living, Ann, John, Elizabeth and Frances; who all died young, and are also interred in the Choir of this Church.

Here lieth Richard Pendrell, Preserver and NewView
Conductor to his sacred Majesty King Charles the Lond.
Second of Great-Britain, after his Escape from Worcester Fight, in the Year 1651. who died
Feb. 8. 1671.

Hold, Passenger, here's shrouded in this Herse, Unparalell'd Pendrell, thro' the Universe.
Like when the Eastern Star from Heav'n gave Light,

To Three lost Kings; so he, in such dark Night,
To Britain's Monarch, tosd by adverse War,
On Earth appear'd, a Second Eastern Star,
A Pole, a Stern, in her rebellious Main,
A Pilot to her Royal Sovereign.
Now to triumph in Heav'n's eternal Sphere,
He's hence advanc'd, for his just Steerage here;
Whilst Albion's Chronicles, with matchless Fame,
Embalm the Story of great Pendrell's Name.

D. Thomæ Widdrington, Serv. ad legem, & Eq; aurat. quem Northumbria Mundo, Middlesexia
Cælo dedit, postquam vir in dicendo cœlestis, non solum innocentum hactenus illustrem Togæ quoque Decus primulum intulisset, verum etiam omne fere nomen Britannicum Humanitate, Con-filio, Fide, sibi divinxisset, nusquam non interim & vulgo cluens causarum. Tam Patronus quam
Arbiter incorruptissimus, nec unius Regionis aut Urbis Columnen, sed & Berwici Præsidium, & Ora-culum Dunelmie, & Mens Eboraci, & Pauperum (qua patet Anglia) Lingua.

M. S. Parenti suo longe indulgentissimo natæ quatuor (quas unice dilexit) Francis, Catherina, Maria, Ursula, Marmor hoc posuere, 3. Non.
Aprilis, 1674.

Officers, &c. in this Parish.

The Vestry is select, consisting of thirty-nine Members; two Church-wardens, ten Overseers of the Poor, five Constables, ten Headboroughs, ten Scavengers, who paid the Raker, for cleaning the Streets, and carrying away the Ashes for one Year, the Sum of nine hundred Pounds;
ten Surveyors of the Highways, six Beadles, forty Watchmen, two thousand and ten Houses.

Antiquities, &c. in this Parish.

By Doomsday-book's taking no Notice of the Village of St. Giles, I imagine its Origin is owing to the Hospital founded here by Matilda, (Consort to Henry I. and Daughter to Malcolm, King of Scotland) about the Year 1117, which the endowed with a perpetual Annuity of three Pounds, issuing out of Edred's-bithe, now Queen-
hithe,

The North West View of St. Giles's Church in the Fields

B. Cole sculp

biibe, toward the Support of a certain Number of poor leprous Persons of the City of London and County of Middlesex, lodged therein. This Foundation Henry II. soon after, not only confirmed; with all the Benefactions thereunto belonging, but he likewise granted to the said Hospital a perpetual Annuity, out of his Exchequer, of three Pounds, to supply those piteous Objects with Apparel; as he also did thirty Shillings and five Pence per Annum, out of his Domains in the County of Surrey, to buy them Lights.

Edward III. in the twentieth Year of his Reign, Anno 1347, by his Letters to the Mayor and Sheriffs of London, strictly enjoined them to make Proclamation in the several Wards of the City, for all Lepers to depart the same within fifteen Days; and that no Person presume to shelter any so diseased, upon pain of forfeiting the House wherein such Person or Persons were concealed; and that all Persons afflicted with this loathsome Distemper be removed to a considerable Distance from the Conversation of the Sound. Wherefore the Mayor and Citizens of London applied to the Superior of this Hospital, to take into the same fourteen leprous Citizens, according to the Settlement of Matilda, the Foundress.

By the Application of the Londoners to the Master of this Hospital, it appears, that the Number of Citizens to be admitted were fourteen; and those of the County of Middlesex were probably the same Number. Therefore, lest the Reader should be surprized at Matilda's having only endowed this Hospital with the Sum of three Pounds per Annum, for annually supplying twenty-eight Persons with Food, 'twill be necessary to acquaint him, that about the Time of its Foundation, the King commanded his Tenants, that for the future, instead of their furnishing Bread for one hundred Men, (which my Author imagines to have been for a Meal; but, according to the Prices of other Provisions at that Time, I rather take to have been for a Day) they should bring a Shilling; and in lieu of a Stall-fed Ox, one Shilling; for Oats for twenty Horses for one Night, four Pence; and for a Ram, four Pence: By which Ordinance we may suppose, that Wheat, then, was not above four, or, at most six Pence a Quarter; which being duly considered, 'twill appear, that the Wages of a Labourer, at that Time, could not amount to above a Farthing per Day.

Edward III. by his Charter of the fourth of April, Anno 1354, granted this Hospital to the Master and Brethren of the Order of Burton St. Lazar of Jerusalem, in Leicestershire, in consideration of their having remitted forty Marks, and the Arrears thereof, payable out of the Exchequer. By which means it became a Cell to the said Burton St. Lazar.

As in the sentential Award made by the Archbishop of Canterbury, &c. concerning a Contest between the Bishop of London and Abbot of Westminster, the Garden of the late Hospital appears to have lain between St. Giles's High-street, the Pound, and Hog-lane; I am of Opinion, that the Hospital stood where Lloyd's-court is at present situate, at the West-end of the Church.

On the Removal of the Gallows from the Elms in Smithfield, about the Year 1413, it was erected at the North-end of the Garden Wall belonging to this Hospital, opposite the Pound, where at present the Crown Tavern is situate, between the Ends of St. Giles's High-street and Hog-lane; in which Place it continued till removed to the Neighbourhood of Tyburn.

The condemned Criminals, in their Way to the Place of Execution, usually stopped at this Hospital, where they, as their last Refreshment, were presented with a large Bowl of Ale.

Soon after the Dissolution of this Hospital, Henry VIII. Anno 1545, granted the same, with the Appurtenances, to the Lord Dudley; at which Time, I imagine, the Chapel was converted into the Parish Church.

Things observable at present, are, the handsome Parish Church, two Charity-schools, an Almshouse, and a Workhouse for the Reception of the Poor.

St. James's, Clerkenwell.

This Church, which is a Donative, or Curacy, in the Gift of the Parishioners, is situate on the North Side of Clerkenwell-green, in the Hundred of Osfulton, and Manor of Finbury and Wondakesbarn. It is Part of the antient Priory Church, denominated from its Dedication to St. James Minor, Bishop of Jerusalem, and the Monastery to which it belonged.

Donations, per Annum.			l.	s.	d.
William Heron	—	—	14	0	0
Henry Garret	—	—	0	6	8
Mr. Secford, paid by the Hospital of Woodbridge
Mr. Stokes	—	—	2	0	0
Lady Kitson	—	—	1	0	0
Roger Bellow	—	—	3	0	0
Sir Michael Stanhope, Lady Wesden and Mr. Rowe	—	—	8	0	0
Constantine Bennet, a Grecian	—	—	15	10	0
Mr. Scudmore	—	—	29	13	4
Thomas Herbert	—	—	1	0	0
John Poole	—	—	2	12	0
John Smith	—	—	2	12	0
Mr. Sanderfon	—	—	1	0	0
Roger Wood	—	—	10	0	0
John Cross	—	—	2	0	0
Sir Roger Strode, Kt.	—	—	20	0	0
Mr. Barker	—	—	10	0	0
Francis Loveday	—	—	10	0	0
Mr. Gardiner	—	—	2	0	0
George French	—	—	2	10	0
Thomas Bedingsfeld	—	—	2	0	0
Francis Snawfel, for a Purchase, 50 l.	—	—	2	10	0
Anne Valence, for a Purchase, 50 l.	—	—	2	10	0

Monumental Inscriptions.

Jordan Briset, the Founder of the Priors of Clerkenwell and St. John of Jerusalem, died the 17. of September, about the Year of our Lord 1124. and Muriell, his Wife, the first of May next following.

The beautiful Monument, with the Effigies of a Man recumbent on his Shroud, at the North End of the Chancel, was erected for Sir William Weston, the last Prior of the Convent of St. John of Jerusalem in this Neighbourhood; but the same being spoiled of most of its Brass Plates, the only Part of the Inscription remaining in Weaver's Days was as follows:

..... Hospitalitate inclytus, genere preclarus Hanc Urnam officii causa Ecce quem cernis tuo Nomine semper devotum, suspice in Sinum, Virgo Maria, tuum. Spes me non fallat, quam in te semper habebam, Virgo de facilem

Weaver, who labour'd in a learned Strain,
To make Men long since dead to live again,
And with Expence of Oil and Ink, did watch,
From the Worms Mouth the sleeping Corps to snatch,
Hath by his Industry begot a Way,
Death (who insidiates all Things) to betray,
Redeeming freely, by his Care and Cost,
Many a sad Herse, which Time long since gave lost;
And to forgotten Dust, such Spirit did give,
To make it in our Memories to live;

For

Newc.
Repert.
Ecclef.
Paroch.

Stow. Sur.
Lond.

Do. Boock.

Weav.
Fun.Mon.

Ibid.

NewView
Lond.

For whereſoe'er a ruin'd Tomb he found,
His Pen hath built it new out of the Ground.
'Twixt Earth and him this Interchange we find,
She hath to him, he been to her like kind:
She was his Mother, he (a grateful Child)
Made her his Theme, in a large Work compil'd
Of Funeral Relicks, and brave Structures rear'd,
On ſuch as ſeem'd unto her moſt indear'd.
Alternately a Grave to him ſhe lent,
O'er which his Book remains a Monument.

Weaver, on himſelf.

Lancashire gave me Breath, and Cambridge Education;

Middleſex gave me Death, and this Church my Humation.

And Chriſt to me has given

A Place with him in Heaven.

Ætatis ſue 56. Anno Dom. 1632.

Sir William Wood lies very near this Stone,
In's Time of Archery excell'd by none,
Few were his Equals; and this noble Art
Hath ſuffered now in the moſt tender Part.
Long did he live the Honour of the Bow,
To him long Love tho' that alone did owe.
But how can Art ſecure? Or what can ſave Extreme old Age from an appointed Grave?
Surviving Archers much your Loſs lament,
That in Reſpect beſtow'd this Monument;
Where whiſtling Arrows did his Worth proclaim,
And eternize his Memory and his Name.

Ob. Sept. 4. Ann. Dom. 1691. Ætat. 82.

The Title of Sir, given to Wood, in this Epitaph, was only a Compliment of his Brethren Archers, by way of Pre-eminence, for his Dexterity in Shooting.

Ibid.

H. S. E. Gilbertus Burnet, S. T. P. Episcopus
Sariſburiensis, & Nobiliſſimi Ordinis a Periſcelide
Cancellarius. Natus Edenburghi 18. die Septembris,
Anno Dom. 1643. Parentibus Roberto Burnet, Domino de Cremont, ex antiquiſſima Domo de Leyes, & Rachele Johnſon, Sorore Domini de Waristoun. Aberdoniæ Literis inſtructus; Saltoni
Curia animarum invigilat. Inde Juvenis adhuc, SStæ Theologiæ Profeſſor in Academia Glaſgœnſi
electus eſt.

Officers, &c. belonging to this Pariſh.

The Veſtry is neither ſelect, nor general, all being admitted who have either ſerved, or fined for the Offices of Church-warden and Overſeer of the Poor; two Church-wardens, four Overſeers of the Poor, five Conſtables, nine Headboroughs, four Scavengers, who paid the Raker, for cleanſ-ing the Streets, and carrying away the Duſt, for the Space of one Year, the Sum of two hundred and ten Pounds; three Surveyors of the Highways, two Beadles, fifteen Watchmen, eighteen hundred and eighty-nine Houſes.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

Here was antiently a Priory, which was founded by Jordan Briſet, a wealthy Baron, who, about the Year 1100, gave to Robert, his Chaplain, fourteen Acres of Land in a Field adjoining to Clerks, or Clerkenwell, whereon to build a Monaſtery; which was no ſooner erected and dedicated to the Honour of God, and the Aſſumption of the Virgin Mary, then he placed therein a certain Number of Nuns, (for whoſe Support, Benefactions of Lands, Tenements, &c. came flowing in from all Parts) in whom and their Succeſſors it continued till ſuppreſſed by Henry VIII. Anno 1539, when its Revenues were found to amount to 262 l. 19 s. per Annum.

Dugd.
Mon.
Angl.

Weav.
Fun.Mon.

Some Time after the Diſſolution of this Nunnery, the Site thereof became the Inheritance of Sir William Cavendiſh; who being ſince created Duke of Newcaſtle, erected thereon the preſent ſpacious and ſtately ſquare Brick Edifice on the North Side of the Church, and Eaſt Side of the Cloſe.

The Church of this Pariſh, which was that of the late Priory, for divers Ages, not only ſerved as a Place for the Nuns to celebrate the Divine Offices in, but it likewise accommodated the neighbouring Inhabitants in the Performance of their Religious Duties; and by its being made Parochial (ſoon after the Diſſolution of its Monaſtery) whereby 'tis manifeſt, that Clerkenwell at that Time muſt have been a conſiderable Village; and tho' at preſent it be, by the contiguous Buildings, added to this great City, 'tis nevertheleſs in the County of Middleſex, Hundred of Oſulſton, and Manor of Finsbury; and owes its Origin to the late Monaſtery, as much as that did its Name to the Clerks Well in that Neighbourhood.

The Steeple of this Church being greatly de-cayed by Age, Part thereof fell down in the Year 1623, which occaſioned the Pariſh to contract with a Builder, to re-edify the whole; who being willing to get as much thereby as poſſible, raiſed the new Work upon the old Foundation; and having carried on the ſame with the utmoſt Expedition, the Bells were ſoon after hung therein;
but before the ſame was intirely finiſhed, it fell down, and deſtroyed Part of the Church, which were both ſoon after rebuilt, as they at preſent appear.

Mund.Ed.
Stow.Sur.

Adjoining to the North Side of the Church, is the beautiful Ambulatory, or South Side Row of the Cloiſter of the late Priory, conſiſting of ſix Arches; and altho' the Eaſtern Part of the ſaid Cloiſter be deſtroyed, yet the Nuns Hall, which was ſituate at the North End thereof, is ſtill remaining, tho' at preſent it is converted into a Cabinet-maker's Work-shop. And the Garden on the Eaſt Side was formerly the Cemetery belonging to the Nunnery.

At the lower End of Clerkenwell-green, in Ragſtreet, oppoſite Mutton-lane, is the celebrated Fountain, denominated Clerks, or Clerkenwell, ſo called from the Pariſh Clerks of the City of London, who antiently uſed to meet there annually, to re-preſent certain Parts of Scripture in a Theatrical Manner; to which the Lord-Mayor and Citizens of London not only repaired, but likewise the Nobility, to ſee their Performances: From which Well, the late Priory, as well as the preſent Church and Pariſh, are denominated.

A little South-eaſt of Clerkenwell Priory, where at preſent St. John's-square, &c. are ſituate, ſtood the Houſe, or Hoſpital of St. John of Jeruſalem, which was founded by the aforeſaid Jordan Briſet, who, for that End, purchaſed of the Prioſeſs and Nuns of Clerkenwell, ten Acres of Land (for which he gave them twenty Acres in his Lordſhip of Willinghale in Kent), whereon he erected the ſaid Hoſpital about the Year 1110. But the Church thereof was not dedicated to St. John the Baptiſt, till the Year 1185.

Ex.Stillin.
MSS. in Bibl. Cor.

This magnificent Fabrick was the chief Seat in England belonging to the Knights Hoſpitalers, who,
from the greateſt Poverty, by the profuſe Liberality of ſimple Bigots and Enthuſiaſts, ſoon attained to that Degree of Riches and Honour, that their Prior was reckoned the firſt Baron of the Kingdom, and who for State and Grandeur vied with the King. Such was the Antipathy of the Populace to theſe imperious Knights, that the Rebels of Kent and Effex under the Conduct of Wat Tyler and Jack Straw, Anno 1381, conſumed this ſtately Edifice by Fire; but the ſame being rebuilt in a much more magnificent Manner, it was ſuppreſſed by Henry VIII. in the Year 1541, at which Time the Revenues thereof amounted to no leſs than three thouſand three hundred and eighty-

Camd.
Brit.

eighty-five Pounds nineteen Shillings and eight Pence per Annum.

Soon after, this spacious and stately Edifice was converted into a Repository of Martial Stores, and the Royal Hunting Equipage; to which Uses it was employed till the Year 1550, when Edward Seymour, Duke of Somerset, and Protector of the Kingdom, caused the Church thereof, together with its lofty and beautiful Steeple, to be demolished, and the Stones thereof employed in building his stately and magnificent Palace of Somerset-house in the Strand.

Pardon Church-yard. This Spot of Ground lies on the East Side of St. John's-street, between the North Wall of the Charter-house Garden and Sutton-street, alias Swan-alley; and is at present of the neighbouring Inhabitants corruptly called Farden Church-yard: There being nothing of the Chapel left but its four Stone Quoins, the Interstices whereof were some Time ago rebuilt, and the whole converted into a Dwelling-house; in the Neighbourhood of which, a few Years ago, in digging Foundations for divers new Houses, a very great Quantity of Human Bones were dug up, to the no small Amazement of the whole Neighbourhood.

From Mountmill, in an oblique Line across this Parish, ran the Line of Communication, which was raised round this City and Suburbs by an Order of Parliament in the Year 1642. The Vestigia whereof, which are still to be seen, run with a North-west Course from the Garden belonging to Merlin's-cave near the New-river-head, to the uppermost Stile in the Field wherein the said House and Garden are situate: And a little Westward from the said Stile, was a Breast-work with a Battery on the said Line of Communication, for the Defence of Hampstead-road. And from that Part of the said Line of Communication, whereon the said Garden is situate, a covered Way (the Course whereof is still to be seen) ran to a large Bulwark at the upper Pond belonging to the New River Company, the greatest Part of which is still remaining adjoining to the said Pond on the West; and the Eastern Part thereof is occupied by the Western Part of the said Pond.

Things at present remarkable are, the Parish Church, a Chapel of Ease, with that of an Alms-house in Islington; two Quakers Meeting-houses, three Charity-Schools, an Alms-house, a handsome Square, at the lower End of which is the stately South Gate of the Hospital of St. John; a Market for Sheepskins, three Wells of Medicinal Waters, the New River Water-works, a Cold Bath, divers beautiful Bowling-greens, and among the pleasant verdant Fields in this Neighbourhood, that of the White-Conduit is the most celebrated for Air, Prospect and Elevation; two Work-houses, a House of Correction; and two Prisons.

St. John's, at Hackney.

Hackney was a distinct Rectory and Vicarage in the 20th of Edward I. Anno 1292, and dedicated to St. Augustine, but the Knights Templars having obtained a Mill and other Possessions in the Parish, they were, upon the Suppression of their Order, granted to the Knight Templars of St. John of Jerusalem, from whom 'tis supposed to have received its present Appellation of St. John. Be that as it will, 'tis certain it was not presented to by that Name till after the Year 1660.

This Church is both a Rectory and Vicarage, the first whereof was antiently in the Gift of the Crown, wherein it continued till the Year 1372, when it came to the Bishop of London, in whom and his Successors it continued, 'till Nicholas Ridley, Bishop of that See, granted the said Manor, by Indenture of the 12th of April, in the

No. 115.

Year 1551, to Edward VI. who, on the 16th of the same Month, regranted the same to Thomas, Lord Wentworth, whereby he and his Descendants became Patrons of the Rectory, in whom it continued till about the Year 1590, when the Rectory, with the Great Tithes, no sooner became the Property of a Lay Person, than the Vicarage, which had all along been in the Gift of the Rector, soon after followed, and is at present in the Gift of Mr. Tyson. As to Ecclesiastical Affairs, 'tis subject to the Bishop of London and his Commissary:

Donations, per Annum		l.	s.	d.
Anno 1565, Stephen Cobbe , Esq;		10	0	0	Do. Books,
1649, Thomas Wood , Esq;	—	3	0	0
1603, Thomas Herne	—	2	12	0
1613, William Swaine	—	6	0	0
1616, Margaret Audley	—	35	0	0
1618, Hugh Johnson	—	10	0	0
1620, Sir Henry Rowe	—	4	16	0
1624, Valentine Pool	—	8	0	0
1625, Richard Cheyney	—	2	0	0
1626, Henry Bannister	—	8	0	0
1628, David Daulben , Bishop of Bangor	1	10	0	0
— George Humble , Esq;	—	10	0	0
1664, Sir Thomas Viner , Kt.	—	4	0	0
1665, Anne Wood	—	3	0	0
— Thomas Viner	—	6	0	0
1668, George Clerk , Esq;	—	12	0	0
1669, Henry Mongers , Esq;	—	12	0	0
1670, Joanna Martin	—	2	10	0
1670, Sir Stephen White , Kt.	—	12	0	0
1677, Thomas Hawks , Esq	—	12	0	0
1679, Thomas Jameson	—	5	0	0
2736, Joanna Hussey	—	4	0	0
1671, John Hammond	—	5	0	0

Monumental Inscriptions.

Here lieth interred Henry Lord Percy, Earle of Northumberland, Knight of the most honourable Order of the Garter, who died in this Town the last of June. the 19. of Henry 8.

Weav.
Fun.Mon.

Conditus exigua jacet hic Doulbenus in Urna,

Stryp. Ed.
Stow.Sur.

Qui nuper præful Bangoriensis erat

Hic tria Lustra, prius Christi invigilabat Ovili, Et Domino errantes Voce reduxit Oves.

Ergo quies ubi Sodor erat, messetq; ubi sevit

Expectat, munusq; hic ubi pavit Oves.

P. M. S. Hic jacet, Justorum Resurrectionem expectat, Reverendus in Christo Pater David Doulben, SS. Theolog. Dr. Episcopus Bangoriensis, Gegroti in Agro Denbiensi natus, Penatibus non obscuris. Qui cum in Pastoralis hujus Ecclesiæ Cura tria Annorum Lustra transgessisset, Episcopus Bangoriensis factus est. Unde in Beatorum numerum adscitus est 27. die Novemb. An. Dom. 1633. Ætat. suæ 52.

A Maid near Eighteen we have laid in this Green,

Ibid.

To rest herself here a short Space:

And after that Time, this Rose in her Prime,

Shall rise up again by God's Grace.

Peninnah Juckes, obiit Anno 1716.

Officers, &c. belonging to this Parish.

The Vestry, which is select, consists of thirty-seven Members; two Church-wardens, two Overseers of the Poor, three Constables, ten Headboroughs, two Surveyors of the Highways, one Beadle, twenty Watchmen, seven hundred and twenty-two Houses.

Antiquities, &c. in this Parish.

The Village of Hackney being antiently celebrated for the numerous Seats of the Nobility and Gentry, occasioned a mighty Resort thither of Persons of all Conditions from the City of London; whereby so great a Number of Horses were

15 U

were daily hired in the City on that Account, that at length all Horses to be let received the common Appellation of Hackney Horses; which Denomination has since communicated itself both to publick Coaches and Chairs. And tho' this Place at present be deserted by the Nobility, yet it so greatly abounds with Merchants and other Persons of Distinction, that it excels all other Villages in the Kingdom, and probably upon Earth, in the Riches and Opulency of its Inhabitants, as may be judged from the great Number of Persons who keep Coaches therein.

Weav.
Fun. Mon.

The greatest Remains of Antiquity at present are, Shore Place, which, with the Lands formerly thereunto belonging, I take to be the Grant made by Sir John Shoreditch, to William de Crostone, Chaplain, in the Year 1339, and the Temple Mill, so denominated from its having belonged to the Convent of Knights Templars in the City of London.

The Remarkables at present are, the Church, one Chapel, three Meeting-houses, three Charity-Schools, three Alms-houses, and a Work-house for the Reception of the Poor.

St. John's, Wapping.

Newc.
Repert.
Ecclef.
Paroch.

The Parish of St. Mary, Whitechapel, having greatly increased both in Number of Houses and Inhabitants, but especially in that Part of it bordering upon the River Thames; which being at a great Distance from the Church, occasioned the Inhabitants of the Hamlet of Wapping-Whitechapel, Anno 1615, to petition John Bishop of London, for a Licence to erect a Chapel for the more convenient Performance of their religious Duties; to which the Bishop assented, and in the Month of August of the same Year granted them a Faculty, upon their agreeing to secure all Duties to the Mother-Church, and the Rector thereof; and to provide a House for, and pay twenty Pounds per Annum to a Curate to officiate in the intended Chapel. Whereupon Richard Gardner, the Rector of St. Mary, Whitechapel, did, for himself and Successors, empower the Inhabitants aforesaid, to nominate their Curate to the Bishop of London, as Occasion should require.

Ibid.

The Chapel being soon after erected, it was, together with its Cemetery, consecrated by the Bishop aforesaid, on Monday, July 16, Anno 1617, with this Proviso, that the Inhabitants of the Hamlet aforesaid should annually, at the Feast of Easter, receive the Sacrament at their Mother-Church of St. Mary, Whitechapel; unless dispensed with by the Bishop of London, or his Vicar-general, and the Rector of Whitechapel.

Mund. Ed.
Stow. Sur.

This Chapel in building cost about the Sum of 1600 l. Part whereof was raised among the Inhabitants, and the rest by a Brief in all Parts of the Kingdom; to which the Citizens of London contributed very liberally.

Ad. Parl.
6W. & M.

The District of the Hamlet of Wapping was, by Act of Parliament of the sixth of William and Mary, Anno 1694, constituted a distinct Parish; and toward the Maintenance of its Rector, he and his Successors were empowered (exclusive of the Glebe) to purchase in Mortmain thirty Pounds per Annum. And as a further Provision for the said Rector and his Successors, they are to receive all Oblations, Mortuaries, Easter Books, Surplice-Fees, and other ecclesiastical Duties, except Tithes; in lieu of which, he and his Successors are to have one hundred and thirty Pounds per Annum, to be raised upon the Inhabitants, by an equal Pound-Rate, not exceeding six Pence in the Pound; the Assessment whereof to be annually made by the Church-wardens, within twenty Days after every Easter Tuesday, to be confirmed by two Middlesex Justices of the Peace; and the Money to be paid to the said Rectory quarterly.

Ibid.

It is also ordained, by the Authority aforesaid,

That the Rector, with the Consent of the Bishop, be empowered to nominate an Assistant-Reader; to whom he is to allow the Sum of thirty Pounds per Annum, out of his own Stipend.

And in consideration of this Parish and its numerous Poor having been a third Part of that of St. Mary, Whitechapel, 'tis intitled to one Third of all the Gifts and Legacies given to the Mother-Parish; as it also receives two Pence out of every Shilling collected at the Sacrament; one Shilling and four Pence per Week out of Mr. Buck's Gift; and one Third of the Rent of certain Houses belonging to the said Parish.

The Advowson of this Church, which is situate on the North Side of Wapping-Street, is in the Principal and Scholars of King's Hall and College of Brazen-nose in Oxford.

Donations, per Annum.		l.	s.	d.
Thomas Nevet	—	1	0	0	Do. Book.
1624, Capt. William Hawes		2	12	0
1635, Thomas Clave	—	2	12	0
1636, Edith Cape	—	2	12	0
1662, David Davison, Esq.		10	0	0
1669, Capt. Ryan Harrison		2	10	0
1671, Capt. John Whitby	—	5	4	0
1676, William Wood, Esq.	—	1	10	0
1683, The Honourable Henry Savil, Esq.	—	2	10	0
1690, Capt. William Covill	—	2	10	0

Officers, &c. in this Parish.

The Vestry is neither select nor general, all being admitted who have either served or fined for Offices; two Church-wardens, four Overseers of the Poor, one Constable, seven Headboroughs, four Scavengers, who paid the Raker, for cleansing the Streets, and carrying away the Ashes, for one Year, the Sum of one hundred and fifty Pounds; one Beadle, ten Watchmen, thirteen hundred and forty-two Houses.

Antiquities, &c. in this Parish.

The Site of this Parish, together with the Parts adjoining, were antiently within the Flux of the River Thames; but when, or by whom they were at first imbanked, is unknown: However, I am of Opinion, as already hinted, that the same were at first taken off the River about the Year 1544.

By frequent Inundations of the River Thames, its Banks in these Parts became great Sufferers; for about the Year 1565, divers Breaches were made therein; which were no sooner repaired, than another happened in the Year 1571; when the Commissioners of Sewers, after viewing the same, were of Opinion, that the most effectual Way to secure the Bank of the River in those Parts, would be to erect Houses thereon. To which End, Ground was taken, and the first Foundations of Houses laid, where Wapping at present is situate.

Stryp. Ed.
Stow. Sur.

Things remarkable at present, are, the Church, a Presbyterian, Quaker, and French Meeting-houses, two Charity-schools, one Square, a Yard for Ship-building, eight Pair of Stairs or Steps to go upon and return from off the River, (two whereof being denominated Docks, one of which is the Bell-dock, the other Execution-dock, the common Place of Execution for Pirates) and a Work-house for the Reception of the Poor.

St. Leonard's, Shoreditch.

Tho' I cannot ascertain the Origin of this Church, yet that it is of great Antiquity is manifest, by a Dispute that happened between Henry II. and the Prior and Canons of the Holy Trinity in London, touching the Advowson thereof; which being determined in Favour of the King, he presented Walter de Wittenor as Parson of the same.

Newc.
Repert.
Ecclef.
Paroch.

In

B. Cole sculp.

The South West Prospect of the Church of St. Leonard Shoreditch.

Rec. Tur. In the Year 1204, King John granted this 5Joh.m.8. Rectory, by the Appellation of the Church of
n. 65. Sording, to William de Sanctæ Mariæ Ecclesia, Bishop of London, as a Foundation for the Office of chief Chantor or Precentor of St. Paul's Cathedral, which the Bishop confirmed for that Purpose; however, this Fund proved of no long Duration, for it was soon after alienated from the Office of Precentor, to that of the Archdeacon of London; but by whom, or on what Occasion this Transition happened, I cannot learn. Be that as it will, for ought appears, the Archdeacon of London has been Parson or Rector thereof ever since, and presents the Vicar; and all Matters Ecclesiastical in the Parish, in Subordination the Bishop, are subject to his Jurisdiction, except the Liberties of Hoxton and Norton-falgate, which belong to the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's.

By the early Account of this Church, I think it is of a Saxon Origin. However, after many Reparations, it became so very ruinous, that in the Year 1734, the Parishioners were necessitated to apply to Parliament for Assistance to rebuild the same; and having obtained an Act for that Purpose, began to pull it down about the Beginning of November, 1735, and laid the Foundation of the present beautiful Edifice in the Year 1736.

This Church, which is both a Rectory and a Vicarage, is denominated from its Dedication to St. Leonard, Bishop of Lemoges in France, and its Situation in the Hamlet of Shoreditch. But the Rights of the Rector and Vicar not being thoroughly ascertained, an Agreement was made between Dr. Theophilus Aelmar, Archdeacon of London, as Rector of the Parish, and Dr. Richard Allison, Vicar of the same; which was confirmed by the Bishop of London, 6 April, Anno 1611; wherein it was agreed, That the Rector for the future should receive the Tithes of all Grain, Hay, and Gardens of Half an Acre of Ground and upwards, which have, or shall be made out of Grounds
tithable to the Rector; and that of all Bricks, made out of Land in the Parish.

And the Vicar, to receive the Tithes of Pasture, Orchard and Garden-wood, and of Gardens under Half an Acre; together with those of all barren and fruitful Creatures; all Oblations, Ecclesiastical Rights, Fees for Marriages, Chiften-ings, Churchings and Burials, and other small Tithes. In Consideration of which the said Vicar is to bear the whole Charge of the Cure, in Respect to his Office.

The Vicarage amounts to about three hundred and fifty Pounds per Annum.

Donations, per Annum.
Anno 1581, William Thornton	12	10	0
Do. Book. — William Peake, Esq;	5	4	0
1608, Robert Brainforth	9	0	0
— Thomas Russel	2	12	0
George Clarke	3	10	0
Simon Burton	0	10	0
Robert Spence	2	10	0
Robert Rogers	1	10	0
Agnes Smith	2	10	0
Stephen Scudamore	1	0	0
Nicholas Wilkinson, Gent.	6	10	0
Chisley Tice	1	0	0
Joan Smales	1	0	0
Thomas Daniel, Gent.	2	0	0
Mr. Turville	5	0	0
Henry Hodges	5	4	0
John Noble, &c.	4	10	0
Mr. Nevet	1	10	0
Sir John Fenner, Kt.	12	10	0
John Bidd, Alderman of London	5	4	0
Mr. Fremlin	10	0	0
Mr. Paradine	5	0	0
Isabel Jackson	2	0	0
Love Bramstone	2	10	0
Mr. Snow	2	10	0

Monumental Inscriptions.

This Monument is erected in Memorie, that within this Church doe lye buried the Bodies of the Right Honourable and noble Ladies, Lady Katharine Stafford, Daughter to Edward Duke of Buckingham, and Wife to Ralph Earle of Westmorland, who dyed 1553; Lady Elianor, Daughter to Sir William Paston, Kt. and Wife to the Right Honourable Lord Thomas Earle of Rutland, buried 1551; Lady Margaret Nevell, Daughter to Ralph Earle of Westmorland, and Wife to Henry Earle of Rutland, who died 1560; and the Lady Catharine Nevell, Wife to Sir John Constable of Holdernefs, Kt. and Daughter to Henry Earle of Westmorland; and Lady Anne Manners, Daughter to Thomas Earle of Rutland; which Katharine died the Seven and Twentieth Day of March, anno Domini 1591.

And that here doe lye also the Bodies of two right worthy Gentlemen, honourably descended;
namely, of Sir Thomas Manners, Kt. and Oliver Manners, Esq; Brethren, being the Fourth and Fifth Sonnes of the aforesaid Thomas Earle of Rutland. The First died about his Age of Fifty, in June 1591. after many valiant Services performed by him for his Prince and Countrey, both in Ireland and Scotland, where he was knighted; and witnessed by fundrie great Wounds he then received. The Second died in his younger Yeeres, 1563, about his Age of Twentie, yet not before good Proove made of his Valour, and Forwardness in the Service of Newhaven, against the French;
where he tooke the Sicknesse, whereof he died shortly after in Shoreditch.

Founded by the Lady Adeline Nevill, at the Direction of the said Lady Katharine Constable, deceased, her Sister, in February 1591.

Jane, the Wife of Ralfe Hansby, Esq; Daughter to William Vavasour, Esq; Grandchild to Thomas Manners, Knight, died the 22. Day of July, in the Yeere of our Lord 1617. and of her Age
the 23. to whose blessed Memory her dear Husband hath dedicated this Monument, to signifie, that with her his Joy lies here interred.

Si genus & virtus, & moribus aucta figura,
Pulchra bonis pietas si quid honoris habent;
Hunc Janæ tumulum spectans venerare viator,
Cum qua tot bona, tam bella sepulta jacent.
Nec minor his aderat victrix patientia victæ,
Nec spoliū mortis, sed pudor illa fuit.

Englisbed thus :

If Birth, if Virtue, if fair Feature, deckt
With Gifts of Minde, if Piety breeds Respect,
Her Tombe then view and grace, kind Passenger,
With whom so many Graces buried were :
Conquer'd, by Patience yet she overcame;
Nor was her Youth Death's Triumph, but his Shame.

This Monument is erected in Memory of William Fremlin, Esq; eldest Son of Thomas Fremlin, and Ann, his Wife, both of this Parish, deceased;
whose better Genius having disposed his Desires wholly unto Travel, he was in the Eighteenth Year of his Age entertained by the Honourable East-India Company, and by them employed in the remotest Regions of Asia; where his Abilities and fair Comportment found so good Approbation, that within Three Years after his Arrival, he was sent to reside Agent at the Court of the Great Mogul; and then the more important Affairs of the Honourable Company wanting his Assistance in the chief Residence at Surat, he was called thither to supply the Place of Second, in Council and Command; which Trust he discharged with such approved Diligence and Dexterity, that by expresse Order he was appointed President, and so Five Years, to the great Satisfaction of his Honourable Employers, and the abundant Content of his own Nation, whom he governed, and those other among whom he lived.

And

And then returning for England, God was pleased to deliver him from as imminent Danger of Shipwreck as ever any Man escaped; that he arrived in Safety, after the Expiration of nineteen Years, three Months and twenty one Days, to find a Grave in the Land and Parish of his Nativity; for now, alas! he began to languish; and upon the 13th of March 1645, put a Period to this Pilgrimage, in the 38th Year of his Age, having by his last Will and Testament bequeathed to charitable Uses 870 l. and more particularly to the Poor of this Parish 200 l.

Rest, weary Traveller: A quiete Repose
Suit well with active Men; but chiefly those,
Of whose unwearied Works, we truly say,
They bear the Brunt and Burthen of the Day:
Such Days, in such Climate, so well spent,
As made the Precedent a President.

Après Travailie Repos.

Stryp. Ed.
Stow. Sur.

Here lies the Body of Mr. John Jacob Vesenbeck, Gent. of this Parish, who departed this Life December the 31st, 1729, aged 69 Years.

In all your Pride and self-vain Glory,
Mind this fame well, Memento Mori.

Officers, &c. belonging to this Parish.

The Vestry is, occasionally, both select and general; two Church wardens, six Overseers of the Poor, four Constables, eighteen Headboroughs, six Scavengers, who pay the Raker, for cleansing the Streets, and carrying away the Ashes, the Sum of two hundred and forty Pounds per Annum; four Surveyors of the Highways, four Beadles, seventeen Watchmen, two thousand two hundred and sixty-six Houses.

Antiquities, &c. in this Parish.

This was anciently a Village, situate along the Roman Highway, by the Saxons denominated Old-street, at a considerable Distance North of the City of London, though they are at present conjoined by a huge Pile of Buildings. And by what has been said, I am of Opinion that this Hamlet owes its Name to one of the Predecessors of Sir John Sordig, or Soredich, who was Lord thereof in the Year 1339, and not, as vainly supposed by some, to Jane Shore, Concubine to Edward the fourth. Its Name shews it to be of a Saxon Origin.

Weav.
Fun. Mon.

Newc.
Repert.
Ecclef.
Paroch.

ExDoomf.
in Rec.
Exch.

In this Parish are two Prebends, and Part of a third, belonging to St. Paul's Cathedral in the City of London: The first whereof, which is denominated Eald-street, or Old-street, received that Appellation from the Saxons, as being part of the Roman Military Way above-mentioned. And the second, which had been a separate Village for many Ages, by its Name of Hockestone, (so denominated in the Conqueror's Survey) vulgarly Hoxton, likewise shews itself to be of a Saxon Origin. And the third called Haliwel, has its Name from a Vicinal Fountain, which, from the Salubrity of its Water, had the Epithet of Holy conferred upon it: However, its Holiness has of late been opprobriously immured by Heaps of Dung and Soil; and the Water thereof employed in watering the Garden to which it belongs.

Stow. Sur.
Lond.

Dug.
Mon.
Angl.

Newc.
Repert.
Ecclef.
Paroch.

A little South of this Well, but within its Precinct, stood the Priory of St. John Baptist of Haliwell of Benedictine Nuns, said by a certain Author to have been founded by a Bishop of London; but that this is a Mistake, I think, will appear by the Charter of Richard the First to this Convent in the Year 1189, wherein, among other Things, is confirm'd to the Priorefs and Nuns, the Spot of Ground whereon the Priory was built, which was given by Robert, the Son of Gelranni, or Generanni, who was Prebendary of Haliwell, when Richard Belmeis, the first, was Bishop of London.

What I imagine gave rise to its being founded by a Bishop of London, was the said Richard's having added to the Foundation a Piece of Ground, which had belonged to one John Hilewits; wherefore I think it is apparent, that this Monastery must have been founded between the Years 1108, and 1127, which were the Times of Consecration and Death of the said Prelate.

Godw.
de Praful.
Angl.

Stow. Sur.
Lond.

This Priory, after many Reparations, was re-edify'd by Sir Thomas Lovel, Knight of the Garter, in the Reigns of Henry VII. and VIII. and who having given to the same considerable Benefaction in Land, was here buried in a Chapel of his own Erection. And in Commemoration of this great Benefactor, the following Lines were curiously painted in most of the Glass Windows.

All the Nunnes in Holywell,
Pray for the Soul of Sir Thomas Lovel.

Weav.
Fun Mon.

This Convent, at the general Suppression of Monasteries, was surrendered to Henry VIII. Anno 1539, at which Time its Revenues, according to Speed, amounted to 347 l. 1 s. 3 d. per Ann. The Ruins of this Priory, which are still to be seen in King John's Court in Holywell-lane, are by the Populace unjustly regarded as the Remains of King John's Palace, though it does not appear that ever any Royal Mansion was in this Neighbourhood.

Speed Hist.
Great Brit.

The Remarkables at present are, the fine new Church, two Chapels, two English and one French Meeting-houses, two Charity-Schools, one Hospital, ten Alms-houses, three Squares, and Part of Moorfields; one Market, two Cold Baths, the first whereof was made out of that excellent Fountain denominated Dame Agnes la Clair, vulgarly Annafide Clear, which was anciently in great Esteem for its plentiful Spring, and Sweetness of Water; and a very large Workhouse for the Reception of the Poor.

St. LUKE's.

The Parish of St. Giles's, Cripplegate, having increased to such a Degree both in Number of Houses and Inhabitants, that notwithstanding there being a Chapel of Ease, and divers Meeting houses therein, the Parish Church was not sufficient to contain one half of its numerous Inhabitants; which the Commissioners for erecting the fifty new Churches within the Bill of Mortality taking into Consideration, they purchased a Site in this Parish whereon to erect one of the said Churches; and the same being finished, and the Lordship, or Middlesex Liberty of St. Giles's appointed for the Parish, the Inhabitants thereof applied to Parliament to have the same separated from that of St. Giles; which being agreed to, it was constituted a Parish in all Respects distinct from, and independent of, the old, as if it never had belonged to the same.

Act Parl.
2 Geo. II.

And towards the Support of a Rector and his Successors, the Sum of three thousand five hundred Pounds was granted, to be laid out in a Fee-Simple. And as a farther Provision for the said Rector, the Church-wardens are to pay him, at four quarterly Payments, the yearly Sum of one hundred and twenty Pounds, without Defalcation, or any Deduction whatsoever, to be raised by Burial Fees; for which Purpose, the Right of Disposal of the Burial Ground and Vaults belonging to the Parish is vested in the Vestry, (exclusive of the Rector) who, with Consent of the Bishop, are empowered to appoint such Fees for Burials as they judge proper, and to set such Rates for Leave to make Vaults, lay down sepulchral Stones and erect Monuments.

Ibid.

And for the better securing the Payment of the above-mentioned yearly Sum of one hundred and twenty Pounds to the said Rector and his Successors,

Ibid.

H. Cole sculp

South West View of the Parish Church of St. Luke in Old Street.

SUCCESSORS, it is by the same Authority ordained, that on Default of Payment, the Rector, for the more easy and speedy Recovery of the same, may apply to one or more Justices of the Peace for the County of Middlesex, who upon Oath made of the Sum, or Sums in Arrear, may compel such Defaulters, by Distress and Sale of their Goods; and where Distress cannot be had to satisfy such Arrears, such Justice, or Justices, are empower'd to commit such Offender, or Offenders, to the County Gaol, there to remain without Bail, or Mainprize, until he, or they, shall have fully paid all such Arrears; and that the said Rector may not be a Sufferer in Case of Insolvency, the succeeding Church-wardens are made responsible for the Payment of all Arrears that cannot be had by Distress, Ibid. It is by the same Authority enacted, that the Rector shall not receive any Surplice Fees for Burials, unless he were desired to perform the Funeral Rites, or Part thereof, in the Church, in Presence of the Corps; and then only such Fees, as shall for that Purpose be settled by the Vestry, with Consent of the Bishop. And it is also ordained, that the Rectory shall not be held in Commendam, and that all Licences and Dispensations for that Purpose, are declared void and of no Effect.

Ibid. And it is likewise enacted, that the Rector, Church-wardens, Overseers of the Poor, and all other Persons who have either served, or fined for all Offices, shall be Vestrymen (as long as they continue Householders, and pay to the Poor); and as such are from Time to Time empowered (upon due Notice given) to meet, nominate, and elect a Lecturer, or Lecturers, Church-wardens, Sidesmen, and all other Parish Officers: And also from Time to Time to nominate, and elect, remove and put out the Sexton, Grave-diggers, and all other Officers and Servants employed in opening of Pews, making Graves, or Business in or about the Church.

This Church, which is situate on the North Side of Old-street, in the Hundred of Osulston, and Manor of Finsbury, was consecrated on the 18th of October, Anno 1733, which happening to be St. Luke's Day, it was therefore dedicated to that Saint. And as the Parish thereof is a Rectory taken out of that of St. Giles's, Cripplegate, the Advowson of this, as well as that, belongs to the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's Cathedral in the City of London.

The Rector pays neither First-fruits, nor Tenths, nor any Procuration, that I can learn.

Donations per Annum.			l.	s.	d.
Charles Langley	—	—	4	0	0
William Daw	—	—	1	10	0
John Blyth	—	—	3	0	0
Ellis and Francis Worth	—	—	1	0	0
Barbara Snow	—	—	2	10	0
Margaret Astill	—	—	7	0	0
Tate Baracstone	—	—	1	5	0
Stephen Nightingale	—	—	1	5	0
Richard Jervies	—	—	1	0	0
George French	—	—	1	5	0
Frances Love	—	—	2	10	0
Edward Dobson	—	—	0	10	0
Sir John Fenner, Kt.	—	—	5	15	0
The Lady Berkley and Mr. Webb	—	—	3	5	0
Francis Terril	—	—	2	10	0
Thomas Busby	—	—	5	0	0
Robert Cooper	—	—	0	10	0
William Bleytor	—	—	10	0	0
Sir Henry Harris and Henry Smith	—	—	13	0	0
Mr. Wheeler	—	—	0	15	0
Anne Harveft	—	—	10	0	0
Bernard Hide, every 10th Year	—	—	4	10	0
Mr. Potter	—	—	0	10	0

Stephen Skidamore	—	—	0	10	0
Ralph Whi field	—	—	1	0	0
John Grant	—	—	2	0	0
Thomas Bell	—	—	5	0	0
Throgmorton Trotman	—	—	8	0	0
Robert Hunt	—	—	5	0	0

Officers, &c. in this Parish.

The Vestry is neither select, nor general, all being admitted that have either served, or fined for Offices; two Church-wardens, four Overseers of the Poor, four Constables, sixteen Headboroughs, thirteen Scavengers, who pay the Raker, for cleansing the Streets, and carrying away the Dust, the Sum of two hundred and eighty Pounds per Annum; four Beadles, eighteen Watchmen, three thousand and thirty-five Houses.

Antiquities, &c. in this Parish.

The Road, by the Saxons denominated Eald-street, or Old street, which at present runs through this Parish from East to West, is Part of the Roman Military Way, which anciently led from the Western (on the North Side of the City of London) to the Eastern Parts of the Kingdom.

Near to the South-east Corner of this Parish, and that of Chiswell-street, in the Hundred of Osulston, is situate the ancient Manor-house of Finsbury, Fensbury, or Vynesbury; the latter of which Appellations a modern Author taking to imply a Vineyard, imagines, that the present Name is derived therefrom; which, I think, will not be easily admitted, if we consider, that no Place can be more improper for such a Plantation, than a Fen, or Moorish Ground, as this was; wherefore it is much more probable, that it had the Name of Fensbury, or Finsbury, from the neighbouring Fen, or Moor.

This Manor of Finsbury, is, by a certain Author, erroneously called a Hundred; which Mistake has led most People into the same Opinion.

Though I cannot ascertain the Antiquity of this Manor, yet that it is of a very considerable Standing, is manifest, from its having been a Prebend of St. Paul's Cathedral of London, in the Year 1104.

On the 22d of May, Anno 1315, Robert de Baldock, Prebendary of Haliwell and Finsbury, (with the Consent of the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's Cathedral) granted to the Mayor and Commonalty of London, for himself and Successors, all his Right and Claim in Mora de Halywell and Finsbury, for the yearly Rent of twenty Shillings. By which Manner of Expression it looks, as if he had granted his Prebend to the said Mayor and Commonalty in Perpetuity, on that Condition: But that he did not, is apparent, by a Lease granted to the said Mayor and Commonalty of the Premises, by Edward Mowle, or Moyle, Prebendary of the said Prebend, commencing at Michaelmas, Anno 1555, for the Term of ninety Years, at the Rent of 29*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* per Annum; which Lease by divers Renewals, is continued to the City till the Year 1784, at the said Rent.

To one of the said Leases granted by Samuel Aelmer, on the 15th of March, Anno 1582, a Survey of the Manor of Finsbury was annexed, setting forth the Contents of the said Manor; whereby it appears, that this Part of it at that Time chiefly consisted of Gardens, Orchards, Tentergrounds and Fields. Divers of the first on the North Side of Chiswell-street, were by the Mayor and Commonalty of London, in the Year 1498, converted into a large Field, (at present denominated the Artillery-ground, which contains eleven Acres and eleven Perches) for Archers and other military Citizens to exercise in.

Stryp. Ed.
Stow.Sur.

Speed.
Map. Gr.
Brit.

Newc.
Repert,
Ecclef.
Paroch.

Ibid.

Rec.
Guildhall.

Mund.Ed.
Stow.Sur.

Rec.
Guildhall.

Ibid

On the 27th of July, Anno 1641, the Mayor and Commonalty of the City of London demised to Sir Paul Pindar, and others, in Trust, for the Artillery Company of the said City, the Field afore said, for the Term of 139 Years, as a Military Field, wherein to erect an Armory, and other Structures for their Accommodation; but not to convert the same to any other Use. This Lease of the First of March, Anno 1727, was granted for the Term of fifty-three Years, at the Rent of 6s. 8d. per Annum; in which Lease the said Artillery Company are impowered to demise a certain Portion of the said Field, whereon to erect Houses. There is also a Proviso in the said Lease, that if the City of London shall renew theirs for a further Term of Years, they shall grant a new Lease to the said Artillery Company, for that Term, (except the four last Years) under the like Rent and Covenants.

Mund. Ed.
Stow. Sur.

The above-mentioned Artillery-ground, together with that on the North Side thereof, as far as Old-street, was anciently denominated Bonhill, or Bunkill, Field; Part whereof, at present denominated Tindal's, or the Dissenters great Burial-ground, was, by the Mayor and Citizens of London, in the Year 1665, set apart and consecrated, as a common Cemetery, for the Interment of such Corps as could not have Room in their Parochial Burial-grounds, in that dreadful Year of Pestilence. However, it not being made use of on that Occasion, the said Tindal took a Lease thereof, and converted it into a Burial-ground, for the Use of Dissenters; over the West Gate of which was the following Inscription:

"This Church-yard was inclosed with a Brick Wall, at the sole Charges of the City of London, in the Maioralty of Sir John Laurence, Kt. Anno Dom. 1665, and afterwards the Gates thereof were built and finished in the Maioralty of Sir Tho. Bloudworth, Kt. Anno Dom. 1666."

The Ground between this Cemetery and Old-street was a common Laystall, till the Year 1706, but the Soil thereof being soon after removed, divers new Streets were thereon erected.

Stow. Sur.
Lond.

The Fen, or Moor in this Neighbourhood, anciently reached from London Wall to Hoxton; the Southern Part whereof being gradually raised from Time to Time, that denominated Windmill-bill began to be raised, by above one thousand Cartloads of human Bones, brought from St. Paul's Charnel-house in London, and laid here in the Year 1549, which being soon after covered with Street Dirt from the City, the Place was converted into a Laystall; whereby the Ground was so greatly raised, that soon after three Windmills were erected thereon; from which it received its present Appellation; and the Ground on the South Side thereof being likewise greatly raised, it was denominated the Upper Moorfield.

During the Popish Hierarchy in this Kingdom, a lofty Stone Cross, with a Crucifix thereon, was erected at the End of Brick-lane in Old-street, the Base whereof, with Part of the Body, are still remaining.

At Mountmill, near the upper End of Goswell-street, was situate one of the Forts, which were erected by Order of Parliament, for the Security of the City of London, in the Year 1643. But the same being rendered useless at the End of the Civil War, a Windmill was erected thereon; from which it received its present Name.

In Pest-house-row, adjoining to the French Hospital on the North, till the Year 1737, stood the City Pest-house, (consisting of divers Tenements) which was erected as a Lazaretto, for the Reception of distressed and miserable Objects, that were infected by the dreadful Plague, in the Year 1665.

The first Playhouse (for ought I can learn) that was erected in the Neighbourhood of the City of London, was situate between Whitecross-street and Golden-lane, in a Place still denominated Playhouse-yard; where, on the North Side, are still to be seen the Ruins of that Theatre.

Things remarkable at present, are, the handsome new Church, a Popish Meeting-house, a Methodist Meeting-house, a French Hospital, a Free, and three Charity-schools, six Alms-houses, the Artillery Ground, or Field wherein the Artillery Company and Trained Bands of the City of London are exercised; the Common Hunt's House, and Kennel, wherein the City Hounds are kept; two Bowling-greens, for the Diversion of the Citizens; and a spacious Workhouse, for the Reception of the Poor: And the fine swimming Bath made out of the Ruins of Perilous Pool, which for the Sweetness of the Water, Accommodations and Pleasure, is not to be equalled in the British Dominions. See Book I. Chapter X. Page 84.

St. MARY's, Islington.

This Parish, situate on the North Side of London, in the Hundred of Osulston, and Manor of Finsbury, is a Prebend of St. Paul's Cathedral; which in the Conqueror's Survey, is written by the different Appellations of Isendone and Isledone, whereby it is plainly shewn to be of Saxon Origin.

Doomsd.
Book.
in Recor.
Excheq.

Anciently a Controversy happened between the Dean and Canons of St. Paul's, and the Priores and Nuns of Stratford Bow, concerning this Church; which was determined by Gilbert (I suppose Segrave) Bishop of London, after this Manner; viz. That the Nuns should hold the Church of the said Dean and Canons, at the yearly Rent of 13 s. 4 d. for which they were freely to present to the same; and which it seems, being soon after appropriated to the said Nuns, a Vicarage was instituted and endowed; of which they continued Patronesses, till their Suppression; when the Advowson thereof came into Lay Hands; wherein it still continues.

Newc.
Repert.
Ecclef.
Paroch.

Though this Vicarage is in the County of Middlesex; yet, as to the Matters Ecclesiastical, it is subject to the Archdeacon of London, other than what relates to Wills and Administrations, which belong to the Commissary.

Ibid.

This Church is denominated from its being dedicated to the Virgin Mary, and its Situation about the Middle of Islington.

Donations per Annum.

	l.	s.	d.
Richard Cloudesty	40	0	0	Don. Book
Alice Owen	2	12	0
Thomas Hobson	5	4	0
Nathaniel Loane	5	4	0
Anne Hodeson	2	0	0
George Smith	0	13	4
Thomas, Lord Coventry	5	0	0
William Crown	2	10	0
John Haines	2	0	0
Dame Sarah Temple	25	0	0
Mrs. Hull	6	0	0
John Patin	1	10	0
Dame May Sadler	2	10	0
Benjamin Smith	2	12	0

Monumental Inscription.

Juxta hunc locum humatum jacet Corpus Hugonis Radclyffe, ex hac Parochia Armigeri, Civis & Galeropolæ Londinensis, quondam Pileonis sacre Majestati Caroli, beatæ Memoræ, totique Familiæ Regali; qui Novembris vicesimo octavo fato functus, vitæ æternæ per Christum partæ hæreditatem (ut pie speramus) adiit 1678, &c.

New View
Lond.

Officers, &c. belonging to this Parish.

The Vestry is general; three Church-Wardens, four Overseers of the Poor, six Constables, seven Headboroughs, three Surveyors of the Highways, one Beadle, six Watchmen, five hundred and two Houses.

Anti-

B. Cole sculp.

The North East Prospect of the Parish Church of St. Mary at Islington.

*Antiquities, &c. in this Parish.*Skin. Lexicon.

A certain Author imagines, that the Name of this Village is derived from two Saxon Appellatives, viz. Gifel, an Hostage, or Pledge, and Dun, or Tun, a Town. But this Etymology seems as wild as the fixing the Time of its Foundation would be without the least Account thereof. However, that it is of the Saxon Origin, I think is not to be doubted, by its being mentioned in Doomsday-book.

Here is an ancient Manor-house, denominated Canonbury, from its having formerly belonged to the Prior and Canons of St. Bartholomew in Smithfield; the Eastern Part whereof still shews it to be of great Antiquity.

This Mansion, at present vulgarly called Cambray-house, is pleasantly situate on a beautiful Eminence, on the East Side of Islington, and commands three delightful Prospects to the East, North, and South.

The third Field, North of that of the White Conduit, consisting of six Acres of Ground, appears to have been an ancient Fortrefs, inclosed with a Rampart and Ditch; which, by its square Form, and Manner of Fortification, without Outworks, I take to have been a Roman Camp, and probably the same made use of by Suetonius Paulinus, the Roman General, after his Retreat from London; and from which he sallied, and routed the Britons under the Command of their Queen Boadicea.

Tacit. An.
Lib. 14.

This Field, in Writings, is denominated the Reed-moat, or Six-acre Field; and the square Place in the South-west Corner thereof, inclosed with a Ditch, is, by the Populace, called Jack Straw's Castle. But as the same is not of a modern Fortification, nor that it any where appears, that that Rebel ever erected any Fortrefs; nor, in truth, had he Occasion for any, seeing there was no Army to oppose him, and that after his Arrival at London, his Rebellion was but of five or six Days Duration, before the Killing of his Accomplice Wat Tyler, I think it much more probable, that the said Place was the Site of the Prætorium, or Tent of the Roman General, in the said Camp.

Newc.
Repert.
Ecclef.
Paroch.

Here is a Precinct belonging to the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, wherein Wills are proved, and Administrations granted; and where, till of late, the Church-warden thereunto belonging was sworn, though at present he is sworn by the Archdeacon of London.

The New River, after running above two hundred Yards under Islington, glides along the South Side thereof to its Terminus, improperly called the New River Head.

The Observables at present, are, the new Church, two Charity-schools, an Hospital, with its Chapel; an Alms-house, the New-river House and Works, Canonbury-House, and a Work-house for the Reception of the Poor.

The old Church becoming ruinous, deeply buried within the Ground of the Church-yard, and dangerous to the devout People that resorted thereto, the Inhabitants applied for and obtained the following Act to pull it down, and to build a new Church on the Site thereof, in the Year of our Lord 1751, wherein having set forth, "That whereas the Parish Church of St. Mary, Islington, in the County of Middlesex, being a very ancient Fabrick; and notwithstanding the continual Expence the Inhabitants of the said Parish have been at in repairing and supporting the same, the whole Building was in a very ruinous Condition: Now, to the Intent the said Church may be rebuilt for the publick Worship of God, and the Instruction of the Inhabitants of the said Parish in the true Christian Religion, as now professed in the Church of England; and that the Steeple may also be rebuilt; and that the same may be effected in a Manner that may be least burthensome to the Inhabitants of the said Parish; it was enacted; that it shall and may be lawful to and for the Trustees herein after appointed, or for any five or more of them, to cause the said Parish Church, and the Steeple thereof to be pulled down, and to be rebuilt after such Model, and of such Dimensions, and of such Materials; and in such Manner and Place, as by the said Trustees, or any five or more of them, shall be agreed upon.

"And for defraying the Expences of pulling down and rebuilding the said Parish Church and Steeple; That from and after the twenty-fourth Day of June, in the Year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and fifty one, the several Funeral Rates and Duties which have been anciently and accustomedly payable and paid to the Church-warden of the said Parish for the Time being, and are mentioned and specified in a certain Indenture, bearing Date the seventh Day of March, in the Year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and fifty, and made between the Vicar of the said Parish, of the one Part, and the Church-wardens and Overseers of the Poor of the same Parish, of the other Part, and to be enrolled in the High Court of Chancery, shall be collected, levied, and paid in the said Parish for the Burial of any Person in the Manner therein mentioned.

"That when any of the Bells in the Steeple of the said Church shall be required to be rung or tolled, upon Occasion of the Death or Burial of any Person in or belonging to the said Parish, there shall be paid such Rates and Duties for the same, as in and by the said Indenture or Schedule thereunto annexed, to be inrolled in Chancery, is in that Behalf mentioned, agreed upon, and provided.

"That all Monies arising or to arise by or from the Use of Palls, which shall, during the Continuance of this Act, be supplied or furnished, by or at the Charge of the said Parish, shall be applied to and for the Uses and Purposes mentioned in this Act; and that the Church-wardens of the said Parish for the Time being, shall provide two or more handsome and decent Palls, for the Use and Service of Funerals in the said Parish; and that no Person or Persons whatsoever shall presume to bring or cause to be brought into the said Church, or any of the Church-yards, or Cemetries belonging to the said Parish, any Pall or Palls, unless such Person or Persons shall first pay such Rates or Duties for the same, as in the said Indenture and Schedule to be inrolled in Chancery is mentioned, agreed upon, and provided.

"And to the End that all the Monies, which shall arise by the Rates and Duties above mentioned, may be duly paid, and faithfully applied, to answer, satisfy, and discharge all Sums of Money as shall be necessary for the rebuilding and adorning the said Church, and for rebuilding or repairing the Steeple of the said Church, and which shall be advanced and lent upon the Credit of this Act, for the Purposes aforesaid, in such Manner as is herein after mentioned; it was further enacted, that it shall be in the Power of the Vicar and Churchwardens of the said Parish for the Time being, and the other Trustees for putting the Act in Execution, and the Survivors of them, or any five or more of them, to receive and take the several and respective Rates and Duties herein before mentioned; and the same are hereby vested in the said Trustees, for the Purposes aforesaid, and shall be by them paid and applied to and for the several Uses and Purposes aforesaid, in such Manner as is herein after mentioned;

tioned; (the necessary Charges expended in obtaining this Act of Parliament, being first deducted) and they, the said Trustees, or any five or more of them for the Time being, are hereby empowered by themselves, or any Person or Persons by them, or any five or more of them for the Time being, by writing under their Hands and Seals thereunto authorized, to levy the said Rates and Duties upon any Person or Persons liable to pay the same, who after Demand made thereof shall refuse to pay the same, according to the true Intent and Meaning of this Act, by Distress of the Goods and Chattels belonging to the Person or Persons so refusing, and to detain and keep the same until such Rates and Duties, with the reasonable Charges of such Distress, shall be paid; and that it shall be lawful for such Person and Persons so distraining (after the Space of seven Days next after such Distress taken, to sell the Goods so distrained, returning the Overplus, if any be, and demanded) to the Owner or Owners thereof, after such Duty or Duties, and reasonable Charges for distraining, keeping, and selling the same, shall be deducted.

“ That it shall and may be lawful to and for any Person or Persons to contribute, advance, and pay into the Hands of the said Trustees, or any five or more of them, for the Uses before mentioned, any Sum or Sums of Money, not exceeding in the whole the Sum of seven thousand Pounds, for the absolute Purchase of one or more Annuity or Annuities, to be paid and payable, during the full Term of the natural Life of such Contributors respectively, or the natural Life of such other Persons as shall be nominated by, or on Behalf of such respective Contributors, at the Time of Payment of their respective Contribution Monies; which Annuity or Annuities shall not exceed the Rate of eight Pounds per Centum per Annum for every one hundred Pounds, and so in Proportion for any greater or less Sum, to be advanced and paid as aforesaid; all which said Annuities, so to be purchased as aforesaid, shall not exceed in the Whole, the Sum of five hundred and sixty Pounds per Annum, and shall be payable and paid by the said Trustees, or any five or more of them.

“ And that all and every the Annuities so to be purchased under and by virtue of this Act, shall be and are hereby charged upon, and shall be paid and payable from Time to Time out of the Monies arising by the said Rates and Duties herein before-mentioned; and that none of the said Annuities shall be subject or liable to the Tax charged upon Lands by Authority of Parliament.

“ And whereas the Rates and Duties before-mentioned may happen to fall short, and be deficient to pay the Annuities by this Act charged thereon, as aforesaid; it was further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That such Deficiency shall from Time to Time, be supplied and made good by an Assessment on all Lands, Houses, Tenements, and Hereditaments, within the said Parish, not exceeding one Shilling in the Pound of the yearly Rent of such Lands, Houses, Tenements, and Hereditaments, as the same shall be ascertained and rated by the Land Tax, for the Year one thousand seven hundred and fifty-one, or for the Time being; two third Parts of which Rates and Assessments to be paid by the Landlords or Owners, and the other third Part by the Tenants or Occupiers of such Lands, Houses, Tenements, and Hereditaments.

“ Provided always, That in Case any House or Tenement shall be set, lett, or occupied, in different Apartments, Rooms, or Lodgings, to or by distinct and separate Families, Lodgers, or Inmates, the whole House or Tenement so lett and occupied, shall be charged with the whole Rate assessed, or to be collected, for or in respect of the same; and in case of Nonpayment, shall and may be levied and recovered upon and from any of the Inhabitants or Occupiers of any Part or Parts of such House or Tenement, in such and the same Manner as the other Duties directed by this Act to be raised are appointed to be levied and recovered.

“ Provided always, That the Payment of these Rates, &c. shall not intitle any Person or Persons whatsoever to a Settlement in the Parish of Saint Mary, Islington, who was not before such Payment legally intitled to such Settlement in the said Parish.

“ And it was further enacted, That the several Rates and Assessments hereby directed and appointed to be raised and levied, in the Case, and for the Purposes aforesaid, shall have Continuance, and when, and as there shall be Occasion or Necessity to raise the same, and no longer, and not otherwise; and from and after the Determination of all the said Annuities, such Rates and Assessments shall cease and determine, and thenceforth such Rates and Duties for Funerals, as are specified and expressed in the said Indenture to be inrolled in Chancery, shall be payable or paid, and that in such Manner and Form, and to such Uses, as before the passing of this Act; any thing herein contained to the contrary notwithstanding.

“ Provided always, That this Act, or any thing therein contained, shall not extend, or be construed, adjudged, deemed, or taken to extend, to lessen, prejudice, or defeat, any the Rights which the present Vicar hath, or any future Vicar or Vicars thereof shall or may have or ought to have in the Chancel of the said Old or New Church, but that the said present Vicar and his Successors shall, for ever after, have and enjoy, from Time to Time, all the same Rights, Privileges, Profits, and Advantages, in, unto, out of, and from the said Chancel, as the present Vicar now hath or ought to have.

“ Provided always, That this Act shall not extend to take away the Graves, Grave-stones, Monuments, or Vaults, being the particular Property of any Person or Persons now living, or which belong to the Families of any Person or Persons, buried in or under the said Church, and made or provided for the Interment of him, her, or themselves, Families and Descendants; but the same Graves, Grave-stones, Monuments, and Vaults, in or under the said Church, when rebuilt, shall be preserved or provided for, and belong to the said several Persons, his, her, and their Descendants, in the same and in the like Manner, as the said Graves, Grave-stones, Monuments, and Vaults, were before the passing of this Act.”

St. Mary's le Bonne.

Tho' this Parish is without the Bill of Mortality, yet since, by the new erected Buildings, its Houses are joined to the Suburbs of London, I shall in this Place insert an Account thereof.

The Village of St. Maryborne, (vulgarly St. Mary le bonne) which is situate in the Liberty of Finsbury, Manor of Tyborne, and Hundred of Osulston, owes its Rise to the Fall of that of Tyborne, which stood at the East End of the Banqueting-house Bridge; almost contiguous to which, were the Court-house and Pound are situate, I imagine, stood the Church and Cemetery, from the great Number of human Bones dug up there, in the Year 1729.

The Village of Tyborne going to Decay, and its Church, denominated St. John the Evangelist, left

Newc.
Repert.
Ecclef.
Paroch.

left alone by the Side of the Highway, it was robbed of its Books, Vestments, Bells, Images, and other Decorations; on which Occasion, the Parishioners petitioned Robert Bishop of London, for Leave to take down their old, and to erect a new Church elsewhere; which Robert readily agreeing to, he granted them a Faculty, or Licence, of the 23d of October, Anno 1400, by Virtue of which they erected a new Church (which I take to be the present) in a Place where they had some time before built a Chapel, pursuant to a former episcopal Licence; and the same being dedicated to the Virgin Mary, it received the additional Epithet of Borne, from its Vicinity to the neighbouring Brook or Bourn, as by ancient Records appears.

Doomsd.
Book.
Rec.Exch.

The Village of Tyborne was of great Antiquity; for in the Conqueror's Survey it appears to have given Denomination to the Manor of that Name; at which time it belonged to the Abbess and Nuns of Berching, or Barking, in the County of Essex. That it received its Name from the neighbouring Brook, I think, will not be controverted, especially, if we consider, that in the decretal Sentence of Stephen, Archbishop of Canterbury, &c. Anno 1222, in the great Controversy between Eustace, Bishop of London, and William, Abbot of Westminster, this Rivulet is expressly called Tyburne.

J.FleetMS.
Hist.West.

The Church of Tyborne seems anciently to have been a Vicarage, in the Gift of the Prior and Convent of St. Laurence de Blackmore, in the County of Essex; who converting the same into a Curacy, the Advowson thereof continued in them, till the Dissolution of their Priory; when Edward VI. Anno 1553, granted the same to Thomas Reeve, &c. to be held in Soccage of the Manor of East Greenwich; since which Time, the Advowson has continued in the Hands of Lay Patrons, under the Subjection of the Archdeacon, other than what relates to Wills and Administrations, which belong to the Commissary; and as the same is a Donative, it pays neither First-fruits, nor Tenths to the King, nor other Disbursement on account of the Cure. And as the Curate's Profits are only the Surplice Fees, the Earl of Oxford, who is the Impropiator and Lord of the Manor, generously gives the Tithes to the Incumbent, which are about sixty Pounds; which, together with the Surplice Fees, amount to above one hundred Pounds per Annum.

Newc.
Repert.
Ecclef.
Paroch.

The Church-wardens of this Parish, in the Year 1734, only received and paid the Sacrament Money to the Poor, which amounted to about thirty Pounds.

Donations, per Annum.		l.	s.	d.
From the Exchequer,	—	7	14	4
1690, Thomas Walley	—	2	12	0

Officers, &c. in this Parish.

The Vestry is general, two Church-wardens, two Overseers of the Poor, two Constables, two Headboroughs, two Surveyors of the Highways; though there are no Scavengers, yet the Person that carries away the Ashes receives, by a voluntary Contribution, about fifty Pounds per Annum; one Beadle, six Watchmen, five hundred and seventy-seven Houses.

Antiquities, &c. in this Parish.

The Village of Tyborne was situate on the Eastern Bank of the Rivulet Tyborne, (from which it was denominated) at the East End of the Lord Mayor's Banqueting-house Bridge; in the Neighbourhood of which, the City of London have nine Fountains, or Conduits of Water, which were at first erected about the Year 1238, for supplying the City with salubrious Water; but it having for many Years been better supply'd with that precious Element from the New-River, the Citizens, in the Year 1703, demised the Water of the said Conduits for the Sum of seven hundred Pounds per Annum, for the Term of forty-three Years.

At the North-east Corner of the said Bridge, stood the Lord Mayor's Banqueting-house, whither his Lordship, with his Brethren the Aldermen, occasionally repaired on Horseback, accompanied by their Ladies in Waggons, to view the City Conduits; after which they were sumptuously entertained in the said Mansion-house. This handsome Building (under which were two Cisterns for the Reception of the Water from the neighbouring Conduits) having for many Years been neglected by the Citizens, it was taken down in the Year 1737, and the Cisterns arched over.

Many Streets of fine Houses being lately erected in this Neighbourhood, and the ancient Roman Military Way (which led from the Western to the Eastern Part of the Kingdom) lately denominated Tyborne Road, (but at present Oxford-street) being one thereof, the same was beautifully paved from St. Giles's to the Banqueting-house Bridge; and the said Bridge being only about fifteen Feet broad, it not only proved very incommodious to the numerous Carriages and Travellers passing that way, but it was likewise very disgraceful to the spacious Street on both Sides thereof; wherefore the Commissioners for repairing the Roads in these Parts, in the Year 1737, applied to the Citizens of London for a Piece of their Ground to enlarge the same, who not only generously granted their Request, but likewise gave them the Sum of one hundred Pounds toward defraying the Charge of Enlargement.

The Village of Tyborne being long since demolished, and the Rivulet of that Name converted into that of Aybrook, (from Ay, a Village supposed to have stood where Mayfair now is situate) and that at length into a common Sewer, in which it runs to the North-west Part of Tot-bill-Fields, and from thence above Ground to Scholars Pond, where it has its Influx through a Sluice to the River Thames. However, the ancient Name of the Brook and Village of Tyborne is still preserved in that of the Gallows in this Neighbourhood. But the modern Name of Aybrook, proving of no long Duration, it is in a great Measure restored to its ancient Appellation; for that Part of it, which runs above Ground, is at present called Twyborne Brook.

The Remarkables at present are, the little mean old Church, the beautiful new Chapel, a French Meeting-house, a Charity School, the City Conduits, a Market-place, a handsome Square, two spacious Bowling Greens, and a Workhouse for the Reception of the Poor.

St. Mary's, Whitechapel.

This Church, which is a Rectory, situate on the South Side of Whitechapel-street, in the Manor of Stepney, and Hundred of Osulfston, was at first erected a Chapel of Ease to the Church of St. Dunstan, Stepney, (which, from its external Appearance, I imagine it received the additional Epithet of White) but at what Time is unknown; However, that it is not of a late Foundation, is manifest by Hugh de Fulbourn's being Rector thereof in the Year 1329, who was presented thereto by the Rector of Stepney, in whose Successors the Advowson continued, till purchased by the Principal and Scholars of King's Hall and College of Brazen-Nose in Oxford, about the Year 1711, when the Purchase thereof was confirmed to them by Parliament, and in whom it still remains.

Newc:
Repert:
Ecclef.
Paroch.

Stow Sur.
Lond.

This Church was anciently denominated St. Mary Matfellow, as some have vainly imagined, from the Women of the Parish having killed a Frenchman, about the Year 1428, for murdering and robbing his great Benefactress, a religious Widow, who had generously and carefully brought him up almost from his Infancy: But that this is a Mistake, is evident from the London Register, wherein it appears, that this Church was pretended to by the Appellation of Matfellow above one hundred Years before the said Catastrophe happened. Some derive the Epithet of Matfellow from the Hebrew, or Syriac Word Matfel, which signifies a Woman that has lately brought forth a Son, therefore dedicated to Mary, delivered of a Son: Be that as it will, this Name has given way to the more ancient one of Whitechapel; which being exempt from all Archidiaconal Jurisdiction, it is only subject to the Bishop and his Commissary.

Newc.
Repert.
Ecclef.
Par. ch.Stryp. Ed.
Stow. Sur.

By the best Account I have been able to come at, the Incumbent's Profits amount to about three hundred and fifty Pounds per Annum.

Donations, per Annum.				l.	s.	d.
Don. Book.	Anno 1574, John Mercer	—	—	8	0	0
	1588, Margaret Donnington	—	—	2	0	0
	1633, William Brown	—	—	2	0	0
	1642, Thomas Abraham	—	—	6	0	0
	1655, Sir John Fenner	—	—	11	0	0
	Mr. Buck	—	—	12	0	0
	Barnard Hide, every tenth Year	—	—	4	10	0
	Sarah Hills	—	—	2	0	0
	Thomas Holbrooke	—	—	3	10	0
	Frances Loveday	—	—	5	0	0
	Peter Wardin	—	—	3	0	0
	Mr. Swallow	—	—	2	10	0
	Thomas Swallow, Esq;	—	—	4	0	0
	Agnes Smith	—	—	2	0	0
	Thomas Snow	—	—	4	0	0
	Margery Trumball	—	—	5	0	0
	Mr. Yardley	—	—	2	0	0
	William Rowland	—	—	11	0	0
	John Price and his Widow	—	—	24	0	0
	Mr. Jagger	—	—	12	10	0
	By anonymous Persons	—	—	17	16	0
	George Clerk	—	—	11	10	0
	John Wardall	—	—	0	16	0
	Richard Gardiner	—	—	4	0	0
	Michael Royston	—	—	5	0	0
	James Millington	—	—	1	0	0
	Richard Garford	—	—	3	0	0
	Mary Paradine	—	—	5	0	0
	Mr. Alderman Haylard	—	—	11	0	0
	Fabian Postulate	—	—	2	0	0
	Mr. Scudamore	—	—	1	0	0

Monumental Inscriptions.

Stryp. Ed.
Stow. Sur.

Favour is deceitful, and Beauty is Vanity; but a Woman that feareth the Lord, she shall be praised.

Here lieth buried that vertuous Thamoxine, that gracious young Woman, the faithful Wife of Master William Eeles, of Limchouse, Mariner. This Mirror of young Women departed this Life on the 10th of July 1620, she being of the Age of 25 Years, and was Mother of a Son and a Daughter. But Thamoxine the Daughter departed this Life on the 18th of December, 1621, being of the Age of six Years, and lieth here buried.

Every wise Woman buildeth her House, but the foolish plucketh it down with her Hands.

Remember.

As you are now, so was she:

As she is now, so you must be.

New View
Lond.

Here remains all that was mortal of Alice late Wife of Mr. John Jordan, of this Parish, who entered into Eternity the 14th of March 170 $\frac{1}{2}$, aged 52 Years.

Stand Reader, and spend a Tear,
And think on me who now lye here;
And whilst you read the State of me,
Think on the Glass that runs for thee.
Let not this World your Thoughts betray,
But think upon your dying Day:
In Christ alone I only trust,
To rise in Number of the Just.

A Grave-stone in the Chancel, at the Steps to the Altar, covering the Body of Captain Josias Crowe, whose Example is worthy the Notice of Posterity. As he was a gallant and brave Commander, so he was no less a meek and humble Christian, and a sincere and good Man; truly pious toward God, and generous and beneficent to Men. He was a publick Benefactor to this holy Place, a Friend to the Helpless, a tender Father, and a careful Husband. And as he lived, so he dyed, in a certain Hope of the Resurrection of the Just. Let us follow him in this Life, as we must do to the Grave. Obiit 21 Sept. Anno Dom. 1714, Ætat. sue 56.

Stryp. Ed.
Stow. Sur.

Officers, &c. in this Parish.

The Vestry is general, three Church-wardens, six Overseers of the Poor, one Constable, sixteen Headboroughs; ten Scavengers, who pay the Raker, for cleansing the Streets, and carrying away the Ashes, the Sum of three hundred and fourteen Pounds per Annum; two Surveyors of the Highways, three Beadles, twenty-two Watchmen, two thousand seven hundred and ninety-two Houses.

Antiquities, &c. in this Parish.

The Inhabitants of this Parish were anciently bound, annually, at the Feast of Pentecost, to go in a solemn Procession to the Cathedral Church of St. Paul in the City of London, to make their Oblations, as a Testimony of their Obedience to the Mother Church. But upon the erecting of the Conventual Church of St. Peter, Westminster, into a Cathedral, and the County of Middlesex appropriated by Henry the Eighth for its Diocese, of which this Parish being a Part, the Inhabitants were obliged to repair annually to St. Peter's, as they formerly did to St. Paul's; which Practice proving very troublesome, and of no Service, Thomas Thirlby, Bishop of the new See, upon their Petition, agreed to ease them of that Trouble, provided the Rector and Church-wardens would yearly, at the Time accustomed, repair to his new Cathedral, and there, in the Time of Divine Service, to offer at the High Altar, the Sum of fifteen Pence, as a Recognition of their Obedience to that Church as usual.

Newc.
Repert.
Ecclef.
Paroch.

The Street, or Way leading from Aldgate to Whitechapel Church, remaining in its original unpaved State, it became thereby so very bad, that the same was almost rendered impassable, not only for Carriages, but likewise for Horses; wherefore it, together with divers others on the West Side of the City of London, were appointed to be paved by an Act of Parliament in the Year 1542.

Act Parl.
32 Hen.
VIII.

Things observable at present are, the Church, the Danish Chapel, an Anabaptist Meeting-house; two Free-Schools, two Alms-houses, a Hay-Market, and a Place denominated Rag-fair, wherein great Sums of Money are returned in old Apparel, &c. and in which is a large Building called the Exchange; a Court of Record, a Prison, Part of Marine or Well-Close-Square, a Bagnio and a Cold Bath, with a Workhouse for the Reception of the Parish Poor.

St. Matthew's, Bethnal Green.

This is the last Hamlet taken out of the Parish of Stepney, and is environed on the East by the Parishes of Hackney and Bow, on the South by the the Hamlets of Mile-end Old Town, and Mile-end New Town; on the West by the Parish of White-chapel, and the Hamlet of Mile-end New Town, and the Parish of St. Leonard's Shoreditch; and on the North, by the Parish of Hackney, &c. The Church is very neat, commodious, but not large; without Pillars, and accommodated with spacious Galleries. The Building is of Brick cop'd and coin'd with free Stones. The Tower is of the same Fabrick, square, and ornamented with six Bells, but not high, and is situate near to the North-east Corner of Hare-street; and was built pursuant to the following Act of Parliament granted in the 13th Year of K. George II, intituled, An Act to make the Hamlet of Bethnal Green in the Parish of Saint Dunstan, Stepney, in the County of Middlesex, a separate and distinct Parish, and for erecting a Parish Church therein.

“Whereas the Parish of Saint Dunstan, Stepney, in the County of Middlesex, is a large and populous Parish, and consisteth of five Hamlets, whereof the Hamlet of Bethnal Green is one; which Hamlet is a large Part of the said Parish, and contains above eighteen hundred Houses, and is computed to have more than fifteen thousand Inhabitants: And whereas the most populous Part of the said Hamlet is distant two Miles and upwards from the Parish Church of Stepney, which Parish Church is not near large enough to receive the Parishioners of the said Parish that are desirous of resorting thither to Divine Service: And whereas the Want of a Place for the publick Worship of Almighty God, within the said Hamlet, hath been a great Cause of the Increase of Dissoluteness of Morals, and a Disregard for Religion, too apparent in the younger and poorer Sort; and hath likewise been the Occasion that many of the better Sort of People have removed from their Habitations in the said Hamlet, to the great Impoverishment thereof: And whereas the Commissioners appointed for building fifty new Churches in and about the Cities of London and Westminster, and Suburbs thereof, did, on or about the thirteenth Day of October, in the Year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and twenty five, purchase of Charles White, Gentleman, two Acres and half an Acre of Ground in the said Hamlet, for a Site of a Church to be built there, and a Church-yard, and burying Ground to the same: And whereas the Inhabitants of the said Hamlet have a distinct Church-warden, and Overseers of the Poor, and other parochial Officers, and distinct Rates have been made and collected for Relief of the Poor and Discharge of other parochial Offices: And whereas the Church-warden, Overseers of the Poor, and other principal Inhabitants of the said Hamlet, are desirous that a Parish Church may be built in the said Hamlet, at the Expence of the Inhabitants thereof, for the publick Worship of Almighty God, and the Instruction of the Inhabitants in the true Christian Religion, as now professed in the Church of England: And whereas by an Act of Parliament made in the ninth Year of her late Majesty Queen Anne, intituled, An Act for confirming to the Principal and Scholars of King's Hall, and College of Brazen Nose, in the University of Oxford, the Purchase of the Advowsons of Stepney, and other Churches, and for settling the same for the Benefit of the said College; it was thereby enacted, That the Rectory should be, and be considered, and understood in Law to be, at and under the Term of two Moieties or Portions of the said Rectory, and the Advowson thereof doth belong to the Principal and Scholars of King's Hall, and College of Brazen Nose, in the University of Oxford, who have presented thereunto the Reverend Robert Leyborne, Doctor in Divinity, and the Reverend John Brookbank, Clerk, Master of Arts; and the said Robert Leyborne, and John Brookbank, are the present Portionists and Incumbents thereof: And the said Principal and Scholars of King's Hall, and College of Brazen Nose, the Patrons; and also the said Robert Leyborne, and John Brookbank, the Incumbents; and also the Right Reverend Father in God, Edmund, Lord Bishop of London, Ordinary of the said Parish Church, are consenting that a new Church may be built in the said Hamlet, and that the said Parish of Stepney may be divided in Manner as herein after is directed: May it please your Majesty (at the humble Suit of the Church-warden, Overseers of the Poor, and other principal Inhabitants of the said Hamlet) that it may be enacted, and be it enacted, by the King's most excellent Majesty, by and with the Advice and Consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the Authority of the same, That it shall and may be lawful for the Trustees herein after appointed, or for any nine or more of them, to cause a Church and Steeple to be built within the said Hamlet of Bethnal Green, on the Ground purchased by the said Commissioners, of the said Charles White, as aforesaid; and also a House for the Habitation of the Minister, after such Model, and of such Dimensions, and of such Materials, and in such Manner, as by the Trustees shall be agreed upon; and that the Residue of the aforesaid two Acres and half an Acre of Ground, shall be a Cemetery, or Burying-ground for the Inhabitants of the said Hamlet for ever.

“And for defraying the Expences of building the said intended Church, and Mansion-house, and for the other Purposes herein after mentioned; be it enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That from and after the Consecration of the said intended Church, and the Church-yard thereof, such Funeral Rates shall be collected, levied, and paid in the said Hamlet, for the Burial of any Person in the said intended Church, or Burying-ground, as the Vestry of the said intended Parish, shall, from Time to Time, with the Consent and Allowance of the Bishop of the Diocese, not exceeding the Sum of two Pounds, nor less than two Shillings, for every such Burial (the Fees for the Burial of any Person receiving Alms, to be paid by the Overseers of the Poor, and allowed in their Accounts) and for Liberty to make a Vault, erect a Monument, or lay a Grave-stone, so as such Vault be not made within six Feet of the Foundation of the said Church, and so as such Monument be not erected within the said Church, except against the Walls thereof, such Sums as the said Vestry shall appoint.

“Provided always, and be it enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That it shall be lawful for the Church-wardens to cause to be made such Vaults, and set up and lay such Monuments and Grave-stones, without any Lett or Hindrance of the Rector of the said intended Church, or any Payment or Allowance to him in Respect thereof. 1

“Add be it enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That when any of the Bells of the said intended Church shall be required to be tolled, upon Occasion of the Death or Burial of any Person in the said Hamlet, there shall be paid such Rates and Duties for the same as are herein after mentioned; that is to say, to the Church-warden, for the great Bell, five Shillings, and for the small Bells, two Shillings.

“And be it enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That all Monies arising or to arise, by or from the Use of Palls which shall be supplied or furnished by, or at the Charge of the said intended tended Parish, shall be applied to and for the Uses and Purposes mentioned in this Act; and that the Church-wardens of the said intended Parish for the Time being, shall provide four or more handsome and decent Palls for the Use and Service of Funerals in the said intended Parish; and that no Person or Persons whatsoever shall presume to bring, or cause to be brought into the said intended Church, or the Church-yard thereof, any Pall or Palls, unless such Person or Persons shall first pay such Rates or Duties for the same, as are herein after-mentioned; that is to say, for the best Pall ten Shillings; for the second Pall, seven Shillings; a Child's Pall, three Shillings; and for the Cloth Pall, two Shillings and six Pence; unless the Vestry of the said intended Parish shall, with the Consent and Allowance of the Bishop of the said Diocese, otherwise order the same.

“ And to the end that all the Monies which shall arise by the Rates and Duties above mentioned, and also by the Rates to be collected as herein after is mentioned, may be duly paid, and faithfully applied to answer, satisfy, and discharge all such Sums of Money as shall be necessary for the building and adorning the said intended Church; and which shall be advanced and lent upon the Credit of this Act, for the Purposes aforesaid, and to maintain a Minister to officiate therein, certain Trustees therein mentioned, or any nine or more of them, are hereby empowered, by themselves, or any Person or Persons by them, or any nine or more of them, by Writing under their Hands and Seals to be thereunto authorized, to levy the said Rates and Duties upon any Person or Persons, liable to pay the same, who after Demand made thereof shall refuse to pay the same, according to the true Intent and Meaning of this Act, by Distress of the Goods and Chattels belonging to the Person or Persons so refusing, and to detain and keep the same, until such Rates and Duties, with the reasonable Charges of such Distress shall be paid; and that it shall be lawful for such Person and Persons so distraining (after the Space of three Days next after such Distress taken) to sell the Goods so distrained, returning the Overplus (if any be) to the Owner or Owners thereof, after such Duty or Duties, and reasonable Charges for distraining, keeping, and selling the same, shall be deducted.

“ And forasmuch as borrowing Monies upon the Credit of this Act will be the most speedy and effectual Method of accomplishing the pious Purposes aforesaid; be it therefore enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That it shall and may be lawful to and for any Person or Persons to contribute, advance, and pay into the Hands of the said Trustees, or any nine or more of them, for the Uses before-mentioned, any Sum or Sums of Money, not exceeding in the whole the Sum of five thousand Pounds, for the absolute Purchase of one [or more Annuity or Annuities, to be paid and payable during the full Term of the natural Life of such Contributors respectively, or the natural Life of such other Persons as shall be nominated by or on Behalf of such respective Contributors at the Time of Payment of their Contribution-monies; which Annuity or Annuities shall not exceed the Rate of eight Pounds and ten Shillings per Centum; and so in Proportion for any greater or less Sum to be paid as aforesaid; all which said Annuities, so to be purchased as aforesaid, shall not exceed in the whole the Sum of four hundred and twenty-five Pounds.

“ And be it further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That all and every the Annuities so to be purchased under and by virtue of this Act, shall be and are hereby charged upon, and shall be paid and payable from Time to Time, out of the Monies arising by the said Rates and Duties herein before mentioned; and that none of the said Annuities shall now or hereafter be subject or liable to the Tax charged upon Land by the Authority of Parliament.

“ And whereas a present Fund will be necessary for the Payment of Annuities, and other the Purposes aforesaid, be it further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That it shall and may be lawful for the said Trustees, or any nine or more of them, from Time to Time, to make an Assessment on all Lands, Houses, Tenements, and Hereditaments within the said Hamlet, not exceeding one Shilling in the Pound of the yearly Rent of such Lands, Houses, Tenements, and Hereditaments, as the same shall be ascertained and rated by the Land-tax for the Time being; and for that Purpose the Trustees appointed by this Act, or any nine or more of them, shall, and may by Writing under their Hands and Seals, and they are hereby authorized and required to order and direct the Receivers and Collectors, so to be chosen and appointed for the Time being, to assess upon and collect from the Owners or Occupiers of such Lands, Houses, Tenements, and Hereditaments, such Rates and Sums of Money as shall be requisite in the Premises, of which Rates and Assessments two third Parts shall be paid by the Landlords or Owners, and the third Part by the Tenants or Occupiers of such Lands, Houses, Tenements and Hereditaments; and which said Tenants and Occupiers shall and may deduct and retain, out of the Rents payable to the Landlords and Owners of the same Premises, the said two third Parts of such Rate or Assessment so to be made and collected as aforesaid; and the said Landlords (mediate or immediate) according to their respective Interests, are hereby required to allow to such Tenants, such Deductions and Payments accordingly; and every Tenant paying any such Rate or Assessment for or upon the Landlord's Account, shall be acquitted and discharged for so much Money as the same shall amount unto, as fully and effectually as if the same had been actually paid to any such Landlord or Landlords, or other Person or Persons, to whom his or her Rent was or should have been paid or payable by such Rates or Assessments; and the Money arising therefrom shall be recovered, accounted for, paid, charged, and applied in such Manner, and for such Purposes, as the other Duties by this Act directed to be raised and levied, are directed and appointed to be recovered, charged, accounted for, paid and applied: Provided always, That in case any House or Tenement shall be set, let, or occupied in different Apartments, Rooms, or Lodgers, or Inmates, the whole House or Tenement so let and occupied, shall be charged with the whole Rate assessed, or to be collected for, or in Respect of the same; and in case of Non-payment, it shall and may be lawful to levy the same upon, and from any of the Inhabitants or Occupiers of any Part or Parts of such House or Tenement, in such and the same Manner as the other Duties directed by this Act to be raised, are appointed to be levied and recovered.

“ Provided always, and it is hereby enacted and declared, That the Payment of the Rates, Duties, and Assessments, directed to be raised and levied by this Act, shall not intitle any Person or Persons whatsoever, to a Settlement in the said new intended Parish, who was or were not before such Payment legally intitled to such Settlement.

“ And be it further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That the said Rates and Assessments hereby directed and appointed to be raised and levied upon Houses, Lands and Tenements for the Purposes aforesaid, shall and may take Place and have Continuance, from the twenty-fourth Day of June one thousand seven hundred and forty-three, for and during such Time only, as any of the Annuities to be granted pursuant to to this Act as aforesaid, shall have Continuance, and when and as there shall be Occasion or Necessity to raise the same, and no longer, and not otherwise; and from and after the Determination of all the said Annuities, such Rates and Assessments shall cease and determine; and from thenceforth such Rates and Duties for the Ground of any Burial, Bells, Palls, Grave-stones, Vaults, and Monuments, shall be paid and applied towards the Repairs of the Church, and for the Uses herein directed; and if there be any Surplus, the same shall be applied for such other Parochial Uses, as the Vestry shall appoint, the same being from Time to Time allowed of and consented to by the Bishop of the Diocese as aforesaid.

“ And be it further enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the Parishioners and Vestry assembled, with the Consent of the said Trustees, or nine of them, to make such Alterations in the Rates and Duties for Burials, as to the Ground and Bells, as they shall think convenient and necessary; so as such Alterations be, in like Manner, allowed of, and consented to by the Bishop of the Diocese.

“ And be it enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That the Person, who at the Time of the Consecration of the said Church, shall be Church-warden, Overseers of the Poor, Scavengers, Surveyors of the Highways, and the other Parochial Officers, for or in the said Hamlet of Bethnal Green, shall, together with one other substantial Inhabitant within the said Hamlet, to be chosen for another Church-warden within two Months next after the Consecration of the said Church by the Vestry-men of the said new intended Parish, or the major Part of such of them who shall be present at their publick Meeting for that Purpose, be the Churchwardens, Overseers for the Poor, Scavengers, Surveyors of the Highways and other Parish Officers for the said new Parish.

“ And be it further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That the Rector of the said Parish Church, and the Church-wardens, and Overseers of the Poor of the said new intended Parish, for the Time being, and all other Persons, who shall have served or fined for the Office of Church-warden or Overseer of the Poor of the said Hamlet, or of the said new intended Parish, and shall pay two Shillings per Month, and all others who shall pay four Shillings per Month for the Relief of the Poor of the said Hamlet, for his own Dwelling-house, or Lands, and no others, shall be Vestry Men, for the Time being, of the said new intended Parish, and shall meet, from Time to Time, upon publick Notice to be openly read and published in the said Church by the Order of the Rector, Church-wardens, and Overseers of the Poor, or either of them, on the Lord's Day next preceding, immediately after Divine Service; and the said Vestry Men, or the major Part of such of them as shall be assembled at such Meetings, shall and may, from Time to Time, elect and nominate a Lecturer, as also Church-wardens, Sidesmen, Parish Clerk, and all other Officers, for the said intended Parish; and also, from Time to Time, elect and nominate, amove and put out the Sexton, Grave-diggers, and all other Officers and Servants to be employed in or about opening the Pews, making the Graves, or otherwise, in or about the said Church, and the Lecturer so to be chosen shall be admitted by the Rector, for the Time being, to have the Use of the Pulpit.

“ And be it further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That the said Hamlet of Bethnal Green, and the Precinct and Territory thereof, shall from and for ever after the Consecration of the said new intended Church, be and be deemed, and taken to be for ever of itself a distinct Parish to all Intents and Purposes whatsoever, and the said new Church shall be the Parish Church thereof, and shall be called by the Name that shall be given thereto in the Act or Instrument of Consecration thereof; and the Inhabitants, within the Limits of the said Hamlet, shall be the Parishioners thereof, and be divided and exempt from the said Parish of St. Dunstan, Stepney, and from bearing any Offices or Charges, and from all Dependencies and Contributions for or in Respect thereof.

“ Provided always, and be it further enacted and declared, That all great Tythes, or any Modus, or Composition in Lieu thereof, arising within the said new Parish, shall be continued to be paid to the Principal and Scholars of King's Hall, and College of Brazen-Nose, in the University of Oxford, or to the Person or Persons to whom the same do of Right belong; any thing herein contained to the contrary thereof notwithstanding.

“ And be it further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That the Advowson and Right of Presentation of and to the said new intended Church, shall for ever belong to the said Principal and Scholars of King's Hall, and College of Brazen-Nose, and their Successors, who shall and may from Time to Time, when the same shall be vacant, present a fit Person to be instituted and admitted Rector thereof; and the Rector of the said new Parish shall have and enjoy the House for the Habitation of the Minister, to be built as as aforesaid; and also shall be intitled to such Surplice Fees, and other Perquisites, in the said new Church and Parish as shall belong, or be appropriated to him, according to the true Intent and Meaning of this Act.

“ And be it further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That the Parish-Clerk of the said new Church for the Time being, shall be a Member of the Corporation, or Company of Master, Wardens, Assistants, and Brethren of the Parish-Clerks of the City and Suburbs of London, and the Liberties thereof, the City of Westminster, the Borough of Southwark, and the Out-parishes, to all Intents and Purposes whatsoever, and shall be subject to the Rules and Orders of the said Corporation or Company, as any other Parish Clerk of the said Corporation is or ought to be; any thing in the Charter or Charters of their Incorporation to the contrary notwithstanding.

“ And be it further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That the Minister and Inhabitants of the said new Parish, in Vestry assembled, shall and may from Time to Time, with the Consent or Allowance of the Bishop or Ordinary of the Place, settle all Fees and Perquisites payable to the Parish-Clerk, and other Officers of the said new intended Church, for or upon every Marriage or Burial, or otherwise howsoever.

“ Provided always, and be it further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That the Rectory of the said new Church or Parish shall not be taken or held in Commendam; and all Licences and Dispensations for taking and holding the same in Commendam shall be utterly void, and of none Effect; any Law, Usage, or Custom to the contrary thereof in any wise notwithstanding.

“ Pro-

“ Provided always, and be it enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That this Act, or any thing herein contained, shall not extend to alter or change the Methods or Payments of the Land-Tax, and other Parochial Taxes, for or in respect of the great Tythes arising within the said Hamlet, or for repairing and amending the Highways and Roads lying within the said Parish of St. Dunstan, Stepney, but that the said Land-Tax and other Parochial Taxes, shall be paid in the same Places as usual, and the said Roads repaired and amended, by the same Ways, Means, and Methods, and by the same Shares and Proportions as they were or ought to have been done heretofore; any thing herein contained to the contrary notwithstanding.

“ And be it further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That from and after the Consecration of the said new intended Church, so much of the before recited Act of Parliament, made in the ninth Year of her late Majesty Queen Anne, as constitutes and appoints the said two Portionists, shall be, and is hereby repealed; and the said John Brookbank (if he be then living, and shall until that Time continue Portionist of Ratcliffe-Stepney; and in case of his Death or Amoval, whoever shall be Portionist of Ratcliffe-Stepney) shall be the first Rector of the said new intended Church, and shall be, and be deemed to be, in the actual Possession thereof, and of all Rights thereunto belonging, without any Admission, Institution, or Induction to the same; and the said Robert Leyborne, shall be, and is hereby constituted and appointed the sole and full Incumbent of the said Rectory of St. Dunstan, Stepney, without any Dispensation or Induction, or any other Act or Ceremony, Ecclesiastical or Civil, to be paid, performed, or received by the said Robert Leyborne, and shall have, hold, take, and enjoy to his own proper Use, all and all Manner of Tythes, and other Perquisites and Profits, in any wise belonging to the said Rectory or Vicarage, except those arising in the said Hamlet, hereby intended to be divided from the said Parish, in as large and ample Manner as the same have at any Time heretofore been received and enjoyed by any of the former Rector or Rectors, Vicar or Vicars; and that from and after the Death or Dismission of the said Robert Leyborne, there shall be, and continue to be, but one Rector of the said Rectory of St. Dunstan, Stepney, to be from Time to Time presented to the same by the proper Patrons thereof; which Rector, and his Successors, shall for ever be the sole Incumbent, and be intituled to all the Rights and Profits of the whole Rectory, in as full and ample Manner as the said Robert Leyborne, or any former Rector or Vicar whatsoever, except those arising in the said Hamlet of Bethnal Green aforesaid.

“ And be it further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That from and after the Consecration of the said new Church, all Garden Pennies, small Tythes, Easter Offerings, and other Dues (except Surplice Fees) arising within the said Hamlet, that have been usually paid to the said Rector or Vicar, or Portionists of the Parish Church of Stepney, shall from thenceforth be paid to and received by the Church-wardens of the said new intended Church, who shall have the same and the like Remedy to recover the same, and compel the Payment thereof, as any former Rector, Vicar, or Portionists of the said Parish Church of Stepney have or might have had, and the same shall be applied for the Maintenance and Support of the Rector of the said new intended Church, and such other Uses as are hereby directed, and the Surplus thereof (if any) shall be applied to such other Parochial Uses, as the Vestry of the said new intended Parish shall from Time to Time direct or appoint.

“ And for the Maintenance and Support of the Rector of the said new intended Church, be it further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That the Church-wardens of the said new intended Church for the Time being, shall, out of the said Garden Pennies, small Tythes, Easter Offerings, and other Dues, except Surplice Fees as aforesaid, and also out of the said Rates, arising and payable upon and for the Tolling of Bells, and for the Use of Palls, Grave-stones, Vaults, and Monuments, pay unto the Rector of the said new intended Church, and his Successors, for ever, preferable to all other Payments and Charges whatsoever, the yearly Sum of one hundred and thirty Pounds, upon the four most usual Feast Days, or Days of Payment aforesaid, by even and equal Portions, without any Deduction for any Rates or Taxes imposed, or to be imposed by Authority of Parliament, or for any other Matter or Thing whatsoever; and that the same shall not be subject to any such Rates or Taxes whatsoever; the first Payment thereof to be made at such of the said Feast Days, or Days of Payment, as shall first happen after the End of two Kalendar Months, next after the Consecration of the said Church; and the Monies so paid shall be allowed to such Church-warden or Church-wardens, in his or their Accounts, out of the Monies by him or them to be received, in Pursuance of this Act; and in case such Monies shall happen to be deficient for that Purpose, then out of any other publick Money in his or their Hands, belonging to the said new intended Parish (not arising by any Poores Rate) as the major Part of the Vestry Men assembled shall direct or appoint; and which other Money shall be replaced or made good out of the Monies hereby appointed for the Payment thereof; which yearly Sum of one hundred and thirty Pounds, shall be deemed a full Equivalent and Satisfaction for all small Tythes, Easter Offerings, and other Dues (except surplice Fees as aforesaid) arising within the Limits of the said new intended Parish.

“ And be it further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That if Default shall happen to be made in Payment of the said yearly Sum of one hundred and thirty Pounds, or any Part thereof, to the Rector aforesaid, by the Space of thirty Days next over or after any of the Days of Payment, whereon the same ought to be paid as aforesaid, then it shall and may be lawful, to and for such Rector to sue for and recover the same, with full Costs of Suit, against such Church-warden and Church-wardens, and his and their Successors, by Action of Debt, in any of his Majesty's Courts of Record at Westminster, wherein no Effoin, Protection, Privilege, or Wager of Law, or more than one Imparlance shall be allowed.

“ Provided always, That if Default be made as aforesaid, it shall be lawful to and for such Rector, instead of proceeding by Action as aforesaid, to make his Complaint of such Default to any one or more of his Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the said County of Middlesex; and that, upon such Complaint and Oath made before such Justice or Justices of the Peace (which Oath he or they are hereby impowered to administer) of the Sum or Sums of Money then in Arrear, and unpaid, of such yearly Sum as aforesaid, it shall and may be lawful to and for such Justice or Justices of the Peace, by Warrant under his or their Hands and Seals, to summon the Person or Persons making such Default, to attend such Justice or Justices, at such Time and Place within his or their respective Jurisdictions, as he or they shall thereby appoint, not exceeding exceeding five Days from the Date of such Warrant, to shew Cause why such Money, so in Arrear, should not be paid: And in case sufficient Cause shall not be shewn, to the Satisfaction of such Justice or Justices, (Oath being first made before such Justice or Justices, of due Notice of such Summons, in case the Party concerned shall not attend thereon) then it shall and may be lawful, to and for such Justice or Justices, and he or they are hereby required, by Warrant under his or their Hands and Seals, to cause all such Monies which shall appear to such Justice or Justices to be in Arrear, of the said yearly Sum of one hundred and thirty Pounds, to be levied by Distress and Sale of the Offender's Goods and Chattels, rendering to him or them the Overplus, (if any such shall remain) after Deduction of all reasonable Costs and Charges, (to be ascertained upon Oath before such Justice or Justices) in and about making such Distress and Sale; and in case sufficient Distress cannot be had for the Purpose aforesaid, then it shall be lawful to and for such Justice or Justices of the Peace, and he and they are hereby required to commit the Offender or Offenders to the County Gaol, there to remain without Bail or Mainprize, until he or they shall have fully paid all such Arrears as aforesaid.

The South West Prospect of the Parish Church of S.^t Paul's at Shadwel.

The South East Prospect of the Parish Church of S.^t John's at Wapping.

“ Provided also, and it is hereby further enacted and declared, That all and every the succeeding Church-warden and Church-wardens of the said Parish, shall be chargeable with, and subject, and liable to make good, and to pay and satisfy out of any Parish Monies as aforesaid, in his or their Hands, all Arrears of the said yearly Sum of one hundred and thirty Pounds accrued or happening in the Time of his or their Predecessors; and that such Arrears shall and may be sued for, had and recovered against such succeeding Church-warden or Church-wardens, by or upon such Action or Complaint as aforesaid, and in like Manner as against the Church-warden or Church-wardens in whose Time such Arrears happened, so as such Arrears to be had and recovered against such succeeding Church-warden or Church-wardens, do not in the whole exceed one whole Year's Payment, and so as such Action or Complaint be made against such succeeding Church-warden or Church-wardens within the Space of three Months, next after his or their first entering upon, and being sworn into the Office of Church-warden.

“ And be it further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That the said new intended Parish, and the Inhabitants and Parishioners thereof, shall be discharged and exempt, as well against the Rector of the said new intended Church, as against the Rector and Incumbent of the said Parish Church of Stepney, from the Payment of all small Tythes, Easter Offerings, Garden Pennies, and all other Dues whatsoever, except Surplice Fees, arising within the Limits of the said new intended Parish.”

Part of St. Pancras's in the Fields.

Though the Parish of St. Pancras in the Fields be without the Bill of Mortality, I have nevertheless thought it necessary to insert an Account of that Part thereof where the Houses are contiguous to the Suburbs of London; therefore I think 'twill not be amiss, to acquaint all those, who, from a vulgar Tradition, are of Opinion, that the Church of this Parish is of greater Antiquity than that of St. Paul's Cathedral in the City of London, (of which 'tis only a Prebend), that this is not the Church of St. Pancras which may justly be termed the Mother of St. Paul's, but one of the same Appellation at the City of Canterbury; which Austin, the Monk, in the Year 598, converted from a Pagan to a Christian Temple, and dedicated the same to St. Pancras, divers Years before the Founding of St. Paul's Church in London.

Chron.
Guil.
Thorn.

This Part of St. Pancras's Parish, which pays to the Poor about 132 l. per Annum, contains one hundred and twenty-two Houses. Here adjoining to the South Side of the Church-yard is a good Spaw, whose Water is of a sweet Taste, very clear, and operates gently by Stool.

St. Paul's, Shadwell.

The Hamlet of Shadwell, which formerly belonged to the Parish of Stepney, having greatly increased both in Number of Houses and Inhabitants, Thomas Neale, Esq; Lessee of that District, erected the present Church in the Year 1656, for their Accommodation in the Performance of their Religious Duties. This District, Anno 1669, was by an Act of Parliament constituted a Parish, in all Respects distinct from and independent of that of Stepney, as if it had never had belonged to the same. And toward the Maintenance of a Rector, beside a considerable Glebe vested in him, he is allowed all Oblations and such Church Duties as are paid in the Parish of Stepney. And as a farther Provision for the said Rector and his Successors, he is to have one hundred and twenty Pounds per Annum, in lieu of Tythes, which is to be raised by an Assessment upon the Inhabitants by an equal Pound Rate, not exceeding six Pence in the Pound; which is to be made by the Church-wardens within twenty Days after every Easter Tuesday; which Rate is to be confirmed by two Justices of the Peace of the County of Middlesex, or by the Bishop of London, under their Hands and Seals, to be paid at Quarterly Payments, with a Power to distrain in case of Non-payment. And in case the Church-wardens refuse, or neglect to make the said Assessment, or Rate, within the Time limited, they are to forfeit to the King for every such Offence the Sum of twenty Pounds; on which Occasion, the Parson himself is impowered, before the Feast of St. John Baptist, or the 24th of June, in any Year, to make the said Assessment, or Rate for 120 l. which being confirmed as aforesaid, it may be levied and recovered in the same manner as one made by the Church-wardens.

Act Parl.
21 Car. II.

Some Time after, a Controversy happened between the Parish and Robert Marriot, the Rector, who pretended a Right to collect, for his own Use, of every Parishioner above sixteen Years of Age, two Pence, or three Pence each, for Easter Offerings; which the Inhabitants refusing to comply with, alledged the same were included in the hundred and twenty Pounds annually paid him by the Parish; but to accommodate the Dispute in an amicable manner, and to obviate all Contests for the future, it was agreed, that an annual Stipend of one hundred and twenty Pounds should thenceforth be collected by the Parishioners, and paid to the Rector Quarterly, without the least Deduction: And the said Parishioners farther agreed to pay their said Rector one Shilling for every Corps buried in their Church-yard; whereupon Marriot gave up and relinquished all Pretensions to Oblations, Easter Dues, and other Offerings whatsoever. Which Agreement has been ratified and confirmed by all the succeeding Rectors.

Par. Rec.

This Church, which is a Rectory, situate on the South Side of Upper Shadwell, owes its Name to its being dedicated to St. Paul the Apostle, and the Place of its Situation; the Advowson whereof belongs to the Dean of St. Paul's in the City of London, as Ground Landlord of the whole Parish:

But

But in Matters Ecclesiastical it is subject to the Bishop.

Receipts on Account of the Cure.	l.	s.	d.
By Money from the Parish	120	0	0
By Surplice Fees	25	0	0
By Glebe	65	0	0
By Burials	20	0	0
By a Parsonage House	20	0	0

Disbursements on Account of the Cure.	l.	s.	d.
To the Bishop's Procuration	—	0	3 4
To the Vicar of Stepney	—	1	6 8

Donations, per Annum.	l.	s.	d.
Anno 1669, William Curtis	—	4	10 0
1681, Thomas Bryan	—	5	0 0
1684, George Wilkinson	—	2	0 0
1690, Capt. James Cook	—	3	0 0
— James Cook, the Son	—	3	0 0
1706, Richard Batson	—	2	10 0
1720, Capt. Thomas Lemon	—	5	0 0
And 17 others in Money 324 l.	16	4	0

Monumental Inscriptions.
Here lies the Body of Ann Goodwin. Obit
Febru. 20th, 1673.

No Age so young that Death will spare;
All Ages they must die;
Therefore to die let all prepare,
To live eternally.

Here lies interred the Body of Mr. James Cook, who departed this Life the 8 Jan. 1699. aged 16 Years 7 Months.

To the pious Memory of Mr. James Cook.
View, Traveller, as you pass by,
Cook's Relicks of Mortality;
Whose Angel Face, Seraphick Skin,
Proclaimed some noble Soul within;
Whose blooming Hope, whose airy Breath,
Whose Bud was nip'd by cruel Death.
Whose sacred Guest was forc'd to fly,
By Death's tyrannick Cruelty,
And take a Mansion in the lofty Sky.
View all his Virtues (if you could Have Time to stay) modest and good,
Pious to God, to all was kind;
In short, a universal Friend.
Go, Traveller, and now begin
A virtuous Life; make God thy Friend.
Give him thy Heart in youthful Days,
As pious Cook, whose very Praise
Will warbled be; Ages shall hear
Cook's great and mighty Character.

Officers, &c. belonging to this Parish.
The Vestry is general; two Church-wardens, four Collectors for the Poor, one Constable, seven Headboroughs, two Scavengers, who pay the Raker, for cleansing the Streets, and carrying away the Ashes, the Sum of one hundred Pounds per Annum; two Beadles, nine Watchmen, sixteen hundred and ninety-six houses.

Antiquities, &c. in this Parish.
This Parish, which is one of the Tower Hamlets, has the Name of Shadwell from a fine Fountain, which issues from under the South Wall of the Church-yard: And the South Part of the Parish, denominated Lower Shadwell, being antiently Part of Wapping Marsh, it was within the Course of the River Thames, till the same was imbanked.

The Streets in this Parish, called Old and New Gravel Lanes, were so denominated from their being antiently Ways, wherein Carts laden with Gravel from the neighbouring Fields used to pass to the River Thames, where it was employed in ballasting of Ships, before Ballast was taken out of the said River.

In the North-east Part of this Parish (at present denominated Sun-Tavern Fields) where formerly Gravel was dug for ballasting Ships, a Roman Cemetery was discovered about the Year 1615, wherein were found two Coffins; one whereof, being of Stone, contained the Bones of a Man; and the other of Lead, beautifully imbellished with Scollop Shells and a Crostifer Border, contained those of a Woman, at whose Head and Feet were placed two Urns of the Height of three Feet each; and at the Sides divers beautiful Red Earthen Bottles, with a Number of Lachrymatories of Hexagon and Octagon Forms: And on each Side of the inhumed Bones were deposited two Ivory Scepters of the Length of eighteen Inches each; and upon the Breast, the Figure of a small Cupid curiously wrought, as were likewise two Pieces of Jet, resembling Nails, of the Lenth of three Inches.

The Person here interred (according to the Opinion of that judicious Antiquary Sir Robert Cotton, who made the Discovery) must have been the Consort of some Prince, or Roman Pretor, by the Decorations of the Coffin, and Things therein contained.

In this Place were likewise discovered divers Urns, with Roman Coin, which on one Side had this Inscription, Imp. Pupienus Maximus P. F. and on the Reverse, with Hands conjoined, Patrus Senatus.

Also in this Place was lately discovered a very strong Alomish Water, said to be impregnated with Sulphur, Vitriol, Steel and Antimony. This Water shews itself to be a very great Antiscorbutick, infomuch, that by the numerous Cures it has performed in the Leprosy, Scurvy, Scald-heads, Itch, and other Cutaneous Distempers, 'tis thought to be a specifick Remedy for all Diseases of the Skin.

Things remarkable at present are, the Church, a Presbyterian Meeting-house, two Church and one Presbyterian Charity-Schools, an Alms-house, a Market, a Medicinal Spring, two Engines for supplying the Neighbourhood with River Water, two Wells, which flow plentifully, and supply the Inhabitants with Spring-water, a Dock for Ship-building, five Places, denominated Stairs, for People to go upon, or return from off the River, and a Workhouse for the Reception of the Poor.

St. Sepulchre's Liberty in Middlesex.

This Precinct, which is that Part of the Parish of St. Sepulchre's without the Jurisdiction of the City of London denominated Middlesex Liberty, is in the Manor of Finsbury and Hundred of Osulston; and in regard to its Government, 'tis in all Respects independent of the City Liberty, as if it was not of the same Parish.

Donations, per Annum.	l.	s.	d.
Thomas Kifford, by Will, Anno 1683,	46	0	0
Beside the above, the Liberty have, without mentioning the Donors Names, Estates to the Amount of	—	—	—
	116	6	3

Officers, &c. belonging to this Liberty.

One Church-warden, four Overseers of the Poor, five Constables, nine Headboroughs, four Scavengers, who pay the Raker for cleansing the Streets, and carrying away the Ashes, the Sum of eighty Pounds per Annum; one Beadle, five Watchmen, six hundred and seventy-six Houses.

Antiquities, &c. in this Liberty.

The Street in this Liberty, vulgarly called Turnbull-street, was antiently denominated Turnmill-street, from the Mills thereon erected, which were wrought by a Stream of Water from Hampstead and Highgate; which being at present seemingly dried up, it has given Occasion to some Writers to represent the same as lost: Whereas had they taken the Trouble to inquire, they would easily have discovered, that the said Stream is brought Weav.

Fun.Mon.

Ibid.

Camd.
An. Apar.

The Southwest prospect of the Parish Church of St. Matthew at Bethnal Green.

The North West Prospect of the parish Church of St. George in Southwark.

brought to the Suburbs of London in two large Wooden Pipes of a seven Inch Bore each.
The Remarkables at present are, Hicks's-ball, where the Quarter Sessions for the County of Midlesex is held; and a Workhouse for the Accommodation of the Poor.

As I have, for the Ease and Satisfaction of the Reader, added the Numbers Total of the respective Officers and Servants belonging to the several Wards of the Cities of London and Westminster, I shall now, for the like Reason, subjoin an Account of the Sums Total of divers of the Officers and Servants appertaining to the respective Vicinal Parishes, &c. above-specified, viz. Constables, Headboroughs, Scavengers, Surveyors of the Highways, Beadles and Watchmen; together with the respective Sums annually paid by each of the said Parishes, &c. to the Raker, for cleansing the Streets, and carrying away the Ashes.

Parishes.	Const.	Headb.	Scav.	Surv.	Bead.	Watch.	Raker.
Christ's Church	1	9	4	0	2	17	270
Glasshouse Liberty	1	0	1	0	1	3	20
High Holborn Liberty	3	3	8	0	2	17	700
Nortonfalgate Liberty	1	3	1	0	1	3	40
Old Artillery Ground Liberty	1	2	1	0	1	3	28
Rolls Liberty	1	0	3	0	1	4	46
Saffron-hill Liberty	1	2	2	0	1	13	100
St. Anne's	1	4	2	2	1	1	40
St. Dunstan's, Stepney	5	27	5	6	5	17	200
St. George's, Bloomsbury	2	2	4	0	2	0	0
St. George's, Queen's-square	2	2	0	0	1	17	0
St. George's in the East, Ratcliff	2	12	4	2	2	12	175

Parishes.	Const.	Headb.	Scav.	Surv.	Bead.	Watch.	Raker.
St. Giles's	5	10	10	10	6	40	900
St. James's	5	9	4	3	2	15	210
St. John's, Hackney	3	10	0	2	1	20	0
St. John's, Wapping	1	7	4	0	1	10	150
St. Leonard's	4	18	6	4	4	17	240
St. Luke's	4	16	13	0	4	18	282
St. Mary's, Islington	6	6	0	3	1	6	0
St. Mary le Bonne	2	2	0	2	1	6	50
St. Mary's, Whitechapel	1	16	10	2	3	22	314
Part of St. Pancras's	1	1	0	0	0	0	0
St. Paul's	1	7	2	0	2	9	100
St. Sepulchre's	5	9	4	0	1	5	80
Sums Total	58	177	88	36	46	275	2745

The Numbers Total of the Church-wardens and Overseers of the Poor, with the Sums Total paid by them in one Year, on Account of the Church and Poor, in the several Parishes, &c. above-specified, with the Numbers Total of Dwelling and Work-houses :

Church Ward.	Over-seers.	Paid on Acc. of the Church.	Paid on Account of the Poor.	Numb. Houses.	Wor. Hou.
38	89	4594 l. 18 s. 3 d.	26899 l. 4 s. 1 ½d.	32375	16

This District of Parishes, &c. being neither City nor Corporation, they are upon the same Foot in Respect to Government as so many Villages; Petty Crimes being tried by the County Justices at their Courts of Sessions; and Processes concerning Property, &c. in the Superior Courts at Westminster.

BOOK IX.

Containing the Ancient and Present State of the Borough of Southwark, &c. with an ample Description of the several Parishes, and Remarkables therein at present, alphabetically digested.

THE Borough of Southwark consists of the Parishes of St. Olave, St. Saviour, St. George and St. Thomas; which, together with the adjacent Parishes, compose that Part of the District within the Bill of Mortality situate South of the River Thames, in the Hundreds of Kingston and Brixton, and County of Surrey; which is in Length six Miles twenty-three Poles and two Feet: viz. From Vauxhall Bridge to Stangate, one Mile; to within three Doors of the Sign of the Earl of Warwick in Upper Ground-street, one Mile; to four Doors East of the Maze Gateway in Tooley-street, one Mile; to within nine Doors of Blackman's-alley on Rotherhithe-wall, one Mile; to within three Doors of the Bull's-head in Brimstone-street, one Mile; and from thence to the East End of Holding-street, one Mile, twenty-three Poles and two Feet.

The first Mention I find of Southwark in History is in the Year 1052, when Earl Godwin arrived at this Place with a potent Fleet; where having anchored till the Return of the Flood, he passed London-bridge without Opposition, and advanced to engage the Royal Navy, (then lying opposite Westminster) consisting of fifty Ships of War; but by the Interposition of the Nobility, Matters were happily accommodated between the King and Godwin, without the Effusion of Blood: However, Godwin, by way of Bravado, failed round Edward's Fleet, and repassed the Bridge, which was then of Wood. Whereby we may perceive what Sort of Ships the Royal Navy then consisted of. The next Mention I find of this Borough is in the Conqueror's Survey; where 'tis said, that a Monastery, with a Watercourse and Haven, in this Town, belonged to the Bishop of Bayonne, in Gascony in France.

That the Citizens of London have long endeavoured to get this Borough under their Jurisdiction, is apparent, from their Application to Parliament, in the Year 1327, setting forth the numerous Losses and Mischiefs that befel the Citizens, occasioned by Bankrupts, Thieves, &c. who, after they had perpetrated their respective Villanies, fled into Southwark, as a certain Asylum. For the remedying of which Evil, the Bailiwick of Southwark, with its Appurtenances, were granted (as elsewhere recited) to the Citizens and their Successors, to be held of the Crown for ever, at a Fee-farm Rent of ten Pounds per Annum; which was not only confirmed by divers succeeding Kings, but likewise additional Powers granted the Citizens over the said Borough: However, it seems, that they have not hitherto been able to erect the same into a twenty-sixth Ward.

The few historical Occurrences which have happened in this Town and Neighbourhood chiefly belonging to London, I have therefore inserted them

Ex
Dooms. in Rec.
Exch.

Roy. Cha.
Lond.

Sim. Dunelm. Hist.

them in the History of that City. However, in treating of the several Parishes, I shall give Hints thereof, as they occur.

Christ's Church.

John Marshal, of the Borough of Southwark, Gent. by his last Will, of the 21st of August, Anno 1627, did devise the Sum of seven hundred Pounds, towards erecting a Church, with an Estate of sixty Pounds per Annum, clear of Reprizes, toward the Maintenance of a Minister, to officiate in the said Church. In pursuance of which Will, the Trustees appointed for the Management of this Affair, having obtained a Piece of Ground, in the Precinct of Paris-Garden, whereon to erect the intended Church, with a convenient Cemetery, they heartily set about the Work; wherein they expended the said Sum of seven hundred Pounds, together with divers others, collected for the same Purpose; and altho' the said Sums were not sufficient to finish the Work, yet the Inhabitants of the District wherein it is built applied to Parliament; in the Year 1670, to have the same erected into a Parish, for accomplishing the Intention of the Founder: Which the Parliament taking into Consideration, they constituted the said District a distinct Parish, by the Appellation of Christ's-Church, according to the Will of the Founder; and in all Respects made it independent of that of St. Saviour, as if it never had belonged to the same.

Akt Parl.
22 & 23
Car II.

Ibid.

And by the Authority aforesaid, the Trustees, their Heirs and Assigns, were appointed Patrons of the said Church for ever; with a Power of raising Money out of the Founder's Estate, for completely finishing the said Church, and for paying the Sum of one hundred Pounds to the Parish of St. Saviour, in lieu of the Contributions formerly paid by the Inhabitants of this District, towards the Repairs of that Church.

Ibid.

And it was by the same Authority enacted, That the Ground of the new Church and Church-yard shall be vested in the aforesaid Trustees and their Successors; who are to apply the Profits arising therefrom, (exclusive of certain Vaults belonging to William Angel, Lord of the Manor) toward the perpetual Repairs of the Church.

And for the better Maintenance of the Rector, he and his Successors are impowered to receive all Tythes, Compositions for Tythes, Oblations and Dues whatsoever, which the Inhabitants of the new Parish were accustomed to pay, before they were separated from that of St. Saviour.

The Brick Church and Steeple of this Parish, by reason of bad Foundations, became very ruinous, insomuch that Mr. Marshal's Trustees applied to Parliament in the Year 1737, for a Power to rebuild the same, with the Sum of two thousand five hundred Pounds in their Hands, which arose from the said Trust. Pursuant to their Petition, an Act was made to enable them to rebuild the said Church within the Space of three Years, from the 25th of December 1738.

Receipts and Disbursements on Account of the Rectory, Church and Poor.

This being a new Church, and the Foundation of a private Person, the Profits thereof to the Rector amount to about one hundred and twenty Pounds per Annum; but in Respect to Disbursements, it pays neither First-fruits, Tenths, nor other Charge on Account of the Cure.

Church-warden's Account, Anno 1726.

	l.	s.	d.
Isaac Adams received	—	160	11 6
Paid on Account of the Church	—	33	12 2
Paid on that of the Poor	—	123	13 7
Balance to the Parish	—	3	5 9
Sacrament Money, about	—	20	0 0

Overseers of the Pools Account, Anno 1726.

	l.	s.	d.
John Mott , &c. received	—	406	14 10
Paid on Account of the Poor	—	403	9 1
Balance to the Parish	—	3	5 9
Paid for the Poor in both Accounts	—	547	6 8

Donations, per Annum.

Anno 1603, John Wrench	—	2	0 0
1607, William Mosier	—	2	0 0
1662, Catharine Taylor	—	2	0 0
1685, Sir Barnet Degome	—	2	10 0
1688, Sir John Shorter	—	5	0 0
1695, John Marshal's Trustees	—	5	0 0
1699, Augustine Martin	—	2	10 0
— Catharine Bovey	—	7	10 0
1707, Thomas Johnson	—	2	10 0
1730, Neve Hammerton	—	11	0 0
— Alexander Killit	—	4	2 0

Monumental Inscription.

In Memory of Elizabeth Dauling, the late virtuous and truly loving Wife of John Dauling, junior, Esq; who (in hope of a blessed Resurrection) departed this Life on May the 14th 1695, aged twenty-eight Years, and lies interred under the Communion Table in this Church.

Officers, &c. in this Parish.

The Vestry is general; two Church-wardens; two Overseers of the Poor; four Constables; three Headboroughs; two Scavengers, who pay the Raker, for cleansing the Streets, and carrying away the Dust, the Sum of thirty Pounds per Annum; one Beadle; six Watchmen; one thousand and eleven Houses.

Antiquities, &c. in this Parish.

This Parish, (as already mentioned) till of late, was a District belonging to that of St. Saviour's, denominated Paris-Garden; in which were anti-Stow. Sur. Lond.
quently kept two Bear-gardens, (which, for any thing appears, were the first that were erected in the Neighbourhood of the City of London) for the Entertainment of the Populace; one whereof being overcharged with Spectators, on a Sunday in the Year 1582, it fell down during the Performance, whereby a great Number of Persons were killed and maimed.
Stow. Sur. Lond.

Things remarkable at present, are, the Church, which, as before related, was founded by John Marshal, and the Ground whereon it stands, together with that of its Cemetery, given by William Angel, Lord of the Manor; two Charity-schools; a very large Glass-house, for making of Bottles; three Sets of Steps, or Stairs to take Water at; and a Work-house, for the Reception of the Poor.

St. George's.

Though I cannot trace this Church to its Origin, yet that it is of great Antiquity is manifest, from its being given by Thomas Arderne to the Abbot and Monks of Bermondsey, in the Year 1122. However, the late Fabrick being greatly decayed by Age, the Parishioners applied to Parliament, to have the same rebuilt; and having obtained an Act for that Purpose, the same was taken down, and the first Stone of the present Structure laid in the Beginning of the Year 1734, and the Work being carried on with great Expedition, the same was finished in the Year 1736.
Stow. Sur. Lond.

This Church, which is a Rectory, situate at the South-east Corner of St. Margaret's-Hill, is so denominated from its Dedication to St. George, the Cappadocian Martyr; and the Advowson thereof is in the Gift of the Crown.

The Profits of this Rectory to the Incumbent amount to about two hundred and twenty Pounds per Annum.

Disburse-

The South East Prospect of Christ Church in Surry.

The South East Prospect of the Parish Church of St. Mary at Lambeth.

Disbursements on Account of the Cure.				l.	s.	d.
Ecc. Lib. Val.	To First-fruits	—	—	18	13	9
	To Tenths	—	—	1	17	4½
	To the Archdeacon's Procuration	—	—	7	7	7½
	To Synodals	—	—	0	2	1
Donations, per Annum.
Anno 1581, William Evans				5	4	0
1587, James Savage				5	0	0
1606, Stephen Scudamore				1	0	0
1622, William Cowper				15	6	8
1624, John Sawyer and Son				20	0	0
1625, John Simon				20	0	0
1626, Henry Smith				20	0	0
1627, William Brook				2	0	0
1630, Thomas Dickenson				8	0	0
1633, Sir John Fenner				8	0	0
1635, Humphrey Williams				16	0	0
1645, Edward Martyn				3	0	0
1648, William Brook				5	0	0
1659, Robert Shaw				5	0	0
1672, Edward Dodson				3	6	8
1692, Thomas Grayson				2	0	0
— Laurence Kemp				5	0	0
Officers, &c. belonging to this Parish.

The Vestry is select; two Church-wardens, four Overseers of the Poor, eight Constables, four Scavengers, who pay the Raker, for cleansing the Streets and carrying away the Ashes, the Sum of one hundred and eighty Pounds per Annum, two Beadles, eight Watchmen, fifteen hundred and three Houses.

Antiquities, &c. in this Parish.
Opposite the West End of St. George's Church antiently stood a magnificent Structure, belonging to the Duke of Suffolk; which coming to Henry VIII. he erected a Mint therein, from which that Neighbourhood is still denominated, and which for many Years was a noted Asylum for insolvent Debtors; which Persons villainously inclined taking the Advantage of, fled hither with all their Effects, in order to defraud their Creditors. This detestable Practice becoming a national Grievance, the Parliament, for the Support of Trade, judged it necessary to suppress this Nest of Spoilers.

On the East Side of St. Margaret's-hill are situate the King's-bench, Marshalsea, and County Gaol Prisons. How long these Prisons have been kept in Southwark, I cannot ascertain; however, that of the Marshalsea appears to be of a considerable Standing, by the following Occurrence:

Ibid. In the Year 1377, the Duke of Lancaster, Lord High Admiral of the Kingdom, having assembled the Royal Navy at London, a Sailor belonging to the same happened to be killed by a Gentleman; which was so highly resented by the Sailors in general, that they commenced a Prosecution against him for Murder; but observing the Partiality of the Court in his Favour, and that a Pardon had been obtained to secure him in case of Danger, these Proceedings exasperated the Prosecutors to such a Degree, that they ran in a Body to the Marshalsea Prison; and breaking open the same, seized the Prisoner, and murdered him upon the Spot; and dragged his Body to the Gallows, hung it thereon, and by Sound of Trumpet returned to their respective Ships in Triumph. And some Time after, in the Year 1381, Wat Tyler, with his rebellious Crew, broke up both this and the King's bench Prisons, and released the Prisoners.

Ibid. The Remarkables at present, are, the beautiful new Church, a Charity-school, one Alms-house, a Hay-market, an annual Fair, three Prisons, a Parish Workhouse, and a House of Correction denominated Bridewell.

St. John's.
The Parish of St. Olave, like many others in the Suburbs of the City of London, being greatly increased, both in Number of Houses and Inhabitants, the Commissioners for erecting the fifty new Churches within the Bill of Mortality having purchased a Site for a Church and Cemetery, laid the Foundation of the intended Church; which being finished in the Year 1732, and the District of Horsley-down appointed for its Parish, the Inhabitants thereof applied to Parliament, to have the same converted into a new Parish: Which being taken into Consideration, the said District was constituted a Parish in all Respects separate from and independent of that of St. Olave, as if it never had belonged to the same. Whereupon the Church was consecrated on the 13th of June, Anno 1733, and towards the Maintenance of a Rector and his Successors, to officiate in the said Church, the Sum of three thousand five hundred Pounds was granted by Parliament, to be laid out in Lands, Tenements, &c. in Fee-simple. And as a further Provision for the said Rector, the Church-wardens are to pay him annually, at quarterly Payments, the Sum of sixty Pounds, to be raised by Fees arising from Burials; for which Purpose, the Parish Burial-grounds and Vaults are vested in the Vestry, (exclusive of the Rector) who with the Consent of the Bishop are empowered to appoint such Fees for Burials, as shall not exceed thirty, nor less than two Shillings, and ascertain Rates for Leave to make Vaults, lay down Grave-stones, and erect Monuments. And for the better securing the Payment of the said sixty Pounds per Annum to the Rector and his Successors, it is enacted, That in default of Payment, the Rector for the more speedy and easy Recovery of the same, may apply to two, or more Justices of the Peace of the County of Surrey; who upon Oath made of the Sum, or Sums in Arrear, may compel such Defaulters by Distress and Sale of their Goods; and if Distress cannot be had to satisfy such Arrears, then the succeeding Church-wardens are to be responsible for the same.

It is also ordained, That the Vestry of this Parish shall consist of the Rector, and all the Inhabitants renting ten Pounds per Annum and upwards; and that the Provision made by the said Act of Parliament, for the Rector and his Successors, shall be in lieu of all Modus's, Tythes, Easter Offerings, and other Demands whatsoever; except such Surplice Fees and Perquisites allowed by the said Act, and such other as the Vestry, with the Consent of the Bishop, shall think proper to appoint. And it is further ordained, that the Rectory shall not be held in Commendam, and that all Licences and Dispensations for that Purpose are declared void and of no Effect.

It is likewise enacted, by the Authority aforesaid, That the Church-wardens may provide three handsome Palls, for Burial of the Dead; and for the Use of which to take a Sum of Money not exceeding ten, nor less than two Shillings; and that no Person whatsoever shall presume to bring any Pall into the Church-yard, or Burial-grounds belonging to this Parish, without paying such Sum as the Church-warden shall demand, not exceeding ten Shillings; unless such Palls belong to the Parish of St. Olave.

And by the same Authority, the Vestry, after the Consecration of the Church, is empowered to raise the Sum of five hundred Pounds, by a Pound Rate upon the Inhabitants, for purchasing Necessaries to be employed in and about the Church and Steeple.

And it is also ordained, that the Inhabitants of this Parish shall enjoy all the Advantages of the Free-school; and that the Donations given to St. Olave's Parish before the same was divided, be divided between both Parishes, viz. three Fifths to that of St. Olave, and the remaining two

Act Parl.
6Geo.II.

Ibid.

Ibid.

Ibid.

Ibid.

two to this; subject nevertheless to an annual Payment of twenty-nine Pounds, clear of Re-prizes, to the Church-wardens of the Mother Parish.

This Church, which is situate on the South Side and near the lower End of Fair-street, is in the Gift of the Crown, as well as that of St. Olave's, from whence this Parish was taken.

Receipts on account of the Cure. l. s. d.

By the Glebe	—	120	0	0
By Money from the Parish	—	60	0	0
By Surplice Fees	—	25	0	0
By a Parsonage House	—	20	0	3

Disbursements on account of the Cure.

To the Archdeacon's Procuration	0	7	7½
To Synodals	—	0	2 1

Officers, &c. in this Parish.

The Vestry is neither select, nor general, all being admitted that rent 10 l. per Annum, or upwards; three Church-wardens, four Overseers of the Poor, four Constables, four Scavengers, who pay the Raker ninety-five Pounds per Ann. two Surveyors of the Highways, one Beadle, eight Watchmen, twelve hundred and fifty-five Houses, and a Workhouse for the Reception of the Poor.

Antiquities, &c. in this Parish.

The Site of this Parish being anciently a grazing Ground, it was therefore denominated Horse-down, now corruptly Horsley-down; and the Spot of Ground, which is occupied by the new Church and Cemetery, was a spacious inwall'd Field, called the Artillery-ground, wherein the Trained-bands of Southwark used to exercise; unto which belonged a large and handsome Building in Parish-street, denominated the Artillery-house, which was lately converted into two Workhouses, for the Reception of the Poor, both of the old and new Parishes.

Things remarkable at present, are, the beautiful new Church, one Presbyterian, four Anabaptist, and one Quaker Meeting-houses; two Charity-schools, one half of that spacious Haven, or Harbour for Ships, called St. Saviour's Dock; four Sets of Steps, or Stairs, to go upon and return from the River Thames; and a Workhouse for the Reception of the Parish Poor.

St. MARY's, Lambeth.

Upon the Death of Richard, Archbishop of Canterbury, Anno 1184, a Contest arose between the Suffragan Bishops of that Province and the Monks of Canterbury, concerning their several Pretensions to the Right of electing their Archbishop; on which Occasion, the Monks appealing to Rome, great Interest was made in behalf of each Party, till at length a Mandate was obtained of the Pope, wherein the Bishops and Monks were enjoined to unite in the Election: Pursuant to which, the Time of chusing was appointed; but the refractory Monks not appearing, the Suffragans chose Baldwin, Bishop of Worcester, for their Metropolitan; which the Monks highly resenting, strenuously exerted themselves to invalidate the Election. But the King, who was a great Favourer of Baldwin, being made acquainted with the Demands and Promises of the Monks, prevailed upon him to renounce his Election, and the Electors to declare the same void. The Monks having obtained what they wanted, proceeded to a new Election, and, according to their previous Declaration, re-elected Baldwin.

However, the King, willing to repress the Insolence of the Monks, endeavoured, by the following Stratagem, to wrest from them the Power of electing their Archbishop:

He commanded Baldwin, the Archbishop, to build a College at Hackington, near Canterbury; for which he (the King) was to erect one Prebend, and each of the Suffragans of the Province another, whereof, as Founders, they were to have the perpetual Patronage; which was done with a View to deprive the Monks of the Right of Election, and to vest the same in the Canons of the intended College. And the more easily to prevail upon the Pope to come into this Scheme, they proposed to dedicate the said College to Thomas Becket, the most celebrated Saint of that Time, and who was held in such Veneration by the Pope, that it was not in the least doubted, but he would readily transfer the Right of Election from the Monks of Canterbury to the Canons of Hackington.

The Foundation being dug, and Materials provided for the intended Work, the Part thereof allotted to the Archbishop to erect, was the Church, and a certain other Part of the Building. The Monks, apprehensive of the King's and the Archbishop's Design against them, applied to Rome for Redress. In the mean Time the Work was carried on with such Expedition, that the Church being almost finished, it was consecrated, and divers secular Priests instituted and installed therein. But the Monks having succeeded in their Application to Rome, obtained a Mandate from the Pope, to dissolve the new Corporation, and raze the Edifice; which neither the King, nor Archbishop daring to oppose, the arbitrary Order was executed accordingly.

Pope Urban, the great Protector of the Monks, dying soon after, he was succeeded by Gregory the Eighth, a great Favourer of Baldwin, who was thereby encouraged to renew his Design, but in another Place; for which End having obtained of the Bishop and Convent of Rocheſter, a certain Spot of Ground at Lambee, Lambitbe, or Lambeth, (where the Archiepiscopal Palace is situate) he began to erect a Church, and Mansions for the Canons, about the Year 1188, which he lived not to finish. Wherefore Hubert, one of his Successors, soon after endeavoured to accomplish the same; but the Monks of Canterbury, to defeat his Design, as they had done that of his Predecessor Baldwin, applied to Rome for that Purpose; when, after great Solicitations on both Sides, a Composition was brought about, on the following Terms: viz. That upon Condition it were pulled down, Hubert might erect another upon a new Foundation, and endow the same with an annual Revenue of one hundred Pounds, and place therein twenty Canons. Pursuant to this Agreement, the Church was pulled down, and the Foundation of a new one laid, where the present Church is situate, by Hubert, for Canons Regular, about the Year 1200.

Receipts on Account of the Cure.

I have not been able to come at the Profits of this Cure, other than they amount to above three hundred Pounds per Annum.

Disbursements on Account of the Cure.

	l.	s.	d.
To First-fruits	—	32	15	7½
To Tenths	—	3	5	6½
Ty the Archdeacon's Procuration	0	7	7½
To Synodals	—	0	2	1

Donations, per Annum.

A Pedlar, an Acre of Land, now built on	—	—	150	0	0	Don. Book
1622, Roger Jeſſon	—	—	3	10	0
1623, Sir Nowell Carroone	—	—	3	0	0
1640, Alice Eaſton	—	—	6	0	0
1642, Henry Smith, Eſq;	—	—	10	0	0
1655, William Hind	—	—	20	0	0
1661, Richard Laurence	—	—	15	0	0
1667, Edward

Park de
Ant. Brit.
Godw.
de Præſul.
Angl.

Ibid.

Ibid.
Chron.
Gerv.
Dorob.

Gerv. Do-
rob. Aſt.
Pont.

Godw. de Præſul.
Angl.

Mat. Par.
Hiſt.
Angl.
Harpl.
Hiſt. Eccl.

Stow. Sur.
Lond.

Gerv. Do-
rob. Aſt.
Pont.

		l.	s.	d.
1667,	Edward Walcot	—	28	0 0
1671,	Margaret Oakly	—	7	0 0
1678,	John Scaldwell	—	4	6 8
1684,	George Peterson	—	32	0 0
1700,	Ralph Snow, Esq;	—	5	0 0
1701,	Capt. Philip Forster	—	2	10 0
1713,	Mary Fairbrother	—	1	0 0
1718,	Bryan Tuberville, and Executors	10	0	0
1728,	Henry Barnaby	—	2	0 0
— —	John Reynolds	—	5	0 0

Monumental Inscriptions.

Stryp. Ed.
Stow. Sur. Hic jacet Magister Willielmus Utting, S. T. P. quondam Capellanus cum Reverendiss. in Xto. Patre Dno. Thoma Bourgbier, Cardinale Archiep'o Cantuar. Ecclesiarum Parochialium de Clyve & Chertam Cantuarien. Dioc. Rector meritiss. Qui ob. 10. d. Feb. An. 1480. Cujus Anima, &c.

Mund. Ed.
Stow. Sur. Sub pedibus ubi statis, jacet Corpus Magistri Hugonis Peyntwin, Legum Doctoris, nuper Archi. Cant. Reverendissimorum Patrum in Domin. Joannis Morton, Cardinalis, Henrici Dene & William. Warham, Cant. Archiepiscop. Audien. Causar. Auditoris. Qui obiit VI. Die Augusti, Anno Dom. M. D. iiij. Cujus Animæ propitiatur Deus. Amen.

Ibid. Here lieth Sir John Legh, Knight of the Bath, Sonne of Ralph Legh, Esq; Lord of the Mannors of Stockwell and Levehurst, and Dame Isabel his Wife, Daughter of Otwell Worsley; which Sir John deceased the 17th Day of August, Anno Dom. M. D. xxij. and the same Isabel deceased the 18th Day of Aprill.

Stryp. Ed.
Stow. Sur. Of your Charity pray for the Sowl of Sir Ambrose Payne, Parson of Lambeth, and Bachelour of Musick, and Chapleyn to the Lords Cardinals Bousar and Morton, who departed May the 28th, A. D. 1528.

Mund. Ed.
Stow. Sur. Here under this Tombe lyeth buried the Body of Thomas Clere, Esq; Sonne of Robert Clere, in the County of Norfolke, Knight; which Thomas deceased the 14th Day of April, Anno Domini 1545. on whose Soule, and all Christian Soules, Jesus have Mercy.

Epitaphium Thomæ Clere, qui Fato functus est, 1545. Auctore Henrico Howard, Comite Surrey, in cujus fælicis Ingenii Specimen, & singularis Facundia Argumentum, appensa fuit hæc Tabula per W. Howard, Filium Tho. nuper Ducis Norfol. Filii ejusdem Henrici Comitis.

Norfolke sprung thee, Lambeth holds thee dead:
Clere of the County of Cleremont, thou hight;
Within the Wombe of Ormond's Race thou bred,
And sawest thy Cosin crowned in thy S. ht.
Shelton for Love, Surrey for Lord thou chafe;
Aye me! while Life did last, that League was tender,
Tracing whose Steps, thou sawest Kelsall blafe, Lauderfey burnt, and batter'd Bulley render,
At Muttrell Gates, hopelesse of all Recure, Thine Earle, half dead, gave in thine Hand his Will,
Which Cause did thee this pining Death procure,
Ere Summers four times seven thou couldst fulfil.

Ah, Clere! if Love had booted Care, or Cost,
Heaven had not wonne, nor Earth so timely lost.

Anglia Cuthbertum Tunstallum mœsta requirit,
Cujus summa domi laus erat atq; foris.
Rhetor, Arithmeticus, Juris consultus & Æqui,
Legatusq; fuit deniq; Præsul erat.
Annorum sator, & magnorum plenus honorum,
Fertitur in Cineres Aureus ille senex.
Vixit Annos 85. Ob. 28. Novemb. Ann. 1559.

Ibid. Hic jacet Thomas Thirleby, olim Episcopus Eliensis, qui obiit XXVI. Aug. Ann. Dom. 1570.
Vol. II. NUMB. CXVII.

Agnes Tydnam, married first
To Thomas Marshall, then
To John Manning, lyes buried here:
She lived eight times ten,
And full five Years. Six Childeren
By Marshall she had, three Were Sons; the other Daughters; of Them none now living be.
She dyed the twenty-second Day
Of March, and in the Year
Of our Lord God, as by the Date
Here written may appear. 1583.

Ibid. Andreae Perne, S. T. D. Cathedralis Ecclesiæ Eliensis Decano, Collegii Sti. Petri in Academia Cantabrigiæ Magistro, munifica bene merendi virtute insigni, Literarum Mæcenati optimo, hoc Monumentum, pietatis & amoris ergo, Ricardus Perne Nepos posuit. Ob. 26 die Aprilis, An. 1589.

Scientia inflat. Charitas ædificat.
Hic jacet Richardus Bancroft, S. Theologiæ Professor, Episcopus Londinensis primo, deinde Cantuariensis Archiepiscopus, & Regi Jacobo, à Secretioribus, Anno Dom. 1610. Ætatis suæ 67. volente Deo.

Ibid. Here lieth the Body of John Arundell, of Gwar-nicke, in the County of Cornwall, Esquire, Sonne and Heire of Roger Arundell, of the said County, Esquire; of an ancient, honourable and fair-descended Family, who died the 25th of May 1613. without Issue, and in the 56th Yeere of his Age.

Ibid. Here lieth the Lady Elizabeth Howard, sometime Countesse of Wiltshire.

Ibid. On the South Side lieth the Body of Sir Nowell Caroone, Ledger Ambassadour for the States of Holand, with his Armes and Hatchments, as namely, his Crest, Helmet, Armes, Sword, Gantlet and Spurres.

Ibid. Here lieth the Body of Elizabeth Bayly, late Wife of John Bayly. Obiit 24th of June, Ætatis suæ 25.

Reader, tread soft, under thy Foot doth lye,
A Mother bury'd with her Progeny:
Two Females and a Male, the last a Sonne,
Who with his Life his Mother's Thred hath spun:
His Breath her Death procur'd (unhappy Sinne, That thus our Joy with Sorrow ushers in);
Yet he being loth to leave so kind a Mother,
Changes this Life to meet her in another.
The Daughters first were robb'd of vitall Breath;
The Mother next, in Strength of Yeeres met Death.
The Father's only Joy, a hopefull Sonne,
Did lose his Life, when Life was scarce begun.
If harmlesse Innocence, if loyal Truth,
Found in a constant Wife combin'd with Youth;
If a kind Husband's Prayers, or Father's Teares,
Could have prevailed, they had lived many Yeeres.
But these all fayling here, rak'd up in Dust,
They wait the Resurrection of the Just.
A Husband's Love, a Father's Piety,
Dedicates this unto their Memory:
And when he hath his Debt to Nature paid,
In the same Grave himself will then be laid;
That all together when the Trump shall sound,
Husband, Wife, Children, may in Christ be found.

Good Dutcheſs of Norfolk, the Lord have Mercy upon thee; which dyed at Lambeth the last of November
Farewel, good Lady, and Sister dere,
In Erth we shall never mete here;
But yet I trust, with Godis Grace,
In Heaven we shall deserve a Place:
Yet thy Kindnesse shall nere depart,
During my Life, out of my Heart.
Thou wast to me both fare and nere,
A Mother, a Sister, a Frende most dere:
And to all thy Fren-des most sure and fast,
When Fortune had founded the froward Blast.

And to thy Powre a very Mother,
More than was known to any other.
Which is thy Treasure at this Day,
And for thy Sowle they heartily pray.
So shall I do that here remayne;
God thy Sowle preserve from Payne.

By thy most bounden Brother,

Henry Lord Stafford.

Mund. Ed. Stow. Sur. Neere to this Place lyeth interred the Body of Robert Scot, descended of the ancient Barons of Bawery in Scotland. Hee bent himself to travell and study much, &c. and amongst many other Things, he invented the Leather Ordinance, and carried to the King of Sweeden 200 Men; who, after two Yeeres Service, for his Worth and Valour, was presented to the Office of a Quarter-master General of his Majesties Army; which he possessed three Yeeres.

From thence, with his Favour, he went into Denmarke (where he was advanced to be General of that King's Artillery); there being advised to tender his Service to his own Prince, which hee doing, his Majesty willingly accepted, and preferred him to be one of the Gentlemen of his most Honourable Privy Chamber, and rewarded him with a Pension of 600 l. per Annum.

This deserving Spirit, adorn'd with all Indowments befitting a Gentleman, in the Prime of his flourishing Age, surrendered his Soule to his Redeemer, 1631.

Of his great Worth to know, who seeketh more, Must mount to Heaven, where he is gone before.

In France he took to Wife Anne Scot; for whose Remembrance she lovingly erected this Monument.

NewView Lond.

In Memory of Anthony Burleigh, third Son of John Burleigh, of the Isle of Wight, Esq; who was Lieutenant General to King Charles the First of blessed Memory; and was put to Death at Winchester, the 26th of January, for endeavouring to release his sacred Majesty, then Prisoner in Carisbrook Castle in the said Isle of Wight. His two elder Brothers were slain in Worcester Fight, in the Forces of his present Majesty King Charles the II^d. This being the last of that loyal Family, except his truly loving and sorrowful Sister, who caused this Monument to be erected. Ob. 17. Feb. 1681. Ætat. suæ 48. Spe resurgendi.

Near this Place lye interred in the same Grave, the Bodies of the honourable Colonel Cuthbert Morley, who was buried on the 30th of June, 1669, and of the honourable Bernard Granville, Esq; who espoused Ann, the Daughter and Heiress of the said Cuthbert, and died the 14th of June 1701, aged 71 Years. As also of the honourable Ann Granville, Relict of the said Bernard Granville, and Daughter to the said Cuthbert Morley, by Catharine, Daughter to Francis Earl of Scarsdale, who died the 20th of September 1701.

Ibid.

M. S. Robertus Thompson, L. L. D. Reverendissimis in Christo Patribus Gilberto & Gulielmo Archiepiscopis Cantuariensibus, nuper a Secretis I. Sextus peritissimus, Servus optimus, Eruditione non vulgari, Benignitate Morum suaviss. Amicitia structissima, Vitæq; Integritate summa spectabilis, heic quod mortale deposuit Mensis Feb. die 3. Anno Æræ Christianæ 1683. Ætat. 42.

Stryp. Ed. Stow. Sur.

Hic jacet inclytus ille & eruditissimus Elias Ashmole, Litchfeldiensis, Armiger, inter alia in Rep. munera, Tributi in Cervisiis Contrarotulator. Fecialis autem Windsoriensis Titulo per Annos plurimos dignatus. Qui post duo Connubia in Uxorem duxit tertiam Elizabetham, Gulielmi Dugdale, Mil. Garteri Principalis Regis Armorum, Filiam. Mortem obiit 18 Maii 1692. Anno Ætatis 76, sed durante Museo Ashmoleano Oxon. nunquam moriturus.

Near the middle of this Chapel lyeth the Body of Sir Peter Rich, Kt. late Alderman of the City of London. He died the 26th of August 1692, in the 62d Year of his Age. Near his Grave twelve of his Children, who died before him, lye buried.

NewView Lond.

In Memory of Richard Brigham, &c.

The Father, Mother, Daughter in one Grave,
Lye slumbering here beneath this Marble Stone;
Three, One in Love, in Tomb, in hope to have A joyful Sight of him that's Three in One.

Officers, &c. belonging to this Parish.

The Vestry is general, three Church-wardens, four Overseers of the Poor, seven Constables, nine Headboroughs, two Scavengers, who pay the Raker for cleansing the Streets, and carrying away the Ashes, the Sum of twenty Pounds per Annum; one Beadle, but no Watchmen; sixteen hundred and twenty-five Houses.

Antiquities, &c. in this Parish.

Lambeth, which is situate in the Hundred of Brixton, and County of Surrey, is a Place of great Antiquity, as appears by the Death of Hardacnut, in the Year 1041, at which Time it was denominated Lambhythe, which, according to a certain Antiquary, implies Lomekithe, that is, a dirty Station, or Haven. This seems to be a forc'd Construction, seeing that no Part of the River Thames less deserves the Appellation of Lomekithe, than this Place. I am therefore of Opinion, that Lambhythe may more reasonably be construed Lamb's-Haven, and so denominated from the Owner thereof.

Chron. Sax.

Cam. Brit. in Com. Sur.

This Place anciently belonged to the Bishop and Convent of Rocheſter; for the first Building I read of here was the Collegiate Church and Apartments for the Canons, begun by Baldwin, Archbishop of Canterbury, about the Year 1188, which happen'd on this Occasion:

Gerv. Dorob. Act. Pont.

Baldwin, as already mentioned, having laid the Foundation of a new College at Hackington, near Canterbury, he was (for the Peace and Ease of the Monk's at Christ's Church in that City) by the Pope's Mandate, compelled to raze the same.

This proved a great Mortification to Baldwin; however, tho' he was disappointed in point of Place, he nevertheless persevered in his erecting a College elsewhere: For which Purpose he obtained of the Bishop and Convent of Rocheſter, a Piece of Ground at Lambeth, in Exchange for a certain Quantity in another Place.

The Archbishop having brought the Stones, Wood and other Materials from Hackington to this Place, began to lay the Foundation of his new College and Apartments for the Canons, as aforesaid.

The first Part of the Archiepiscopal Palace which was erected, is that on the North Side, which consists of the Lollards Tower, Chapel, Guard Chamber, the Archbishop's Apartments, Library and Cloysters: But when, or by whom the same was built, is unknown. However, I am of Opinion, that all, or Part thereof, must have been built before the Year 1250, when Boniface, Archbishop of Canterbury, for his Mal-treatment of the Sub-Prior and Canons of St. Bartholomew's Convent, was obliged privately to make his Escape to Lambeth, for fear of the enrag'd Londoners.

Mat. Par. Hist. Angl.

The stately Gate of this Palace was erected by Reginald Pole, Cardinal and Archbishop about the Year 1557. The spacious and beautiful Hall by Archbishop Juxon, about the Year 1662, and the handsome Brick Building between the Hall and Gate, by the Archbishops Sancroft and Tillotson. The Cloyster in this Palace I take to be the Apartments that were built by Hubert, the Archbishop,

The Parish Church of S.^t Mary Magdalen Bermondsey.

The Parish Church of S.^t Mary Newington Butts.

Archbishop, for the Accommodation of the Canons of his new Church.

In the uppermost Part of the Lollards Tower is a very strong Room, of the Length of twelve Feet, and Breadth of nine; the Walls whereof are lined with thick Elm Planks, (wherein are fix'd eight strong Iron Rings) and the Cieling covered with those of Oak. This is the Place wherein it is said, that Archbishop Chicheley, the implacable Enemy and Persecutor of the Wickliffites, or Lollards, used to imprison them; from which Prison the Tower received its Name.

Ex. Lib. Conqueror's Survey denominated Chenintune, but at present Kennington, where anciently stood a Royal Mansion, (this I take to be the Place where Hardacnut died) wherein the Kings of England used frequently to reside; and whither John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster, in the Year 1377, fled to Richard, Prince of Wales, to avoid the Fury of the Londoners, who threatened his Life for an Insult offered their Bishop.

Stow An. Engl.

A little Northward from this Palace, ran Cnut's Trench, or Canal, which had its Influx to the River Thames, at the lower End of Chelsea Reach, and through which, as some pretend, he carried his Navy to the West Side of London-Bridge, to attack the City by Water on that Side.

The Remarkables at present are, the Church, the Archiepiscopal Palace, two Charity Schools, two Alms-houses, a Work-house for the Reception of the Poor, three Glas-houses, two Potteries, Vaux-hall Gardens, with beautiful Walks and shady Groves for Recreation; a Well of Mineral Water, and six Sets of Steps or Stairs to go upon and return from off the River Thames.

On Lambeth Wall is a Spot of Ground, containing an Acre and nineteen Poles, denominated Pedlar's Acre, which has belonged to the Parish Time immemorial; it is said to have been given by a Pedlar, upon Condition that his Portrait, and that of his Dog, be perpetually preserved in painted Glas in one of the Windows of the Church, which the Parishioners carefully perform in the South-east Window of the middle Isle. And at the Corner of Kennington-lane, opposite Vauxhall-bridge, is one of the Bulwarks, which was erected by Order of Parliament in the Year 1643, for the Security of those Parts from being surpriz'd by the King's Troops.

St. Mary Magdalen's.

Doomsd. Book. Rec. Exch. This Church, which, by the Conqueror's Survey, appears to be of a Saxon Origin, is a Rectory situate near the South-east Corner of Bermondsey-street, (corruptly Barnaby-street) in the Hundred of Brixton, and County of Surrey; it is denominated from its Dedication and Situation, and the Advowson thereof is in Lay-Patrons.

The Profits of this Rectory are said to amount to about two hundred Pounds per Annum.

Disbursements on Account of the Cure. l. s. d.

Ed. Lib. Val.	To First-fruits	—	15	8	11 1/2
	To Tenths	—	1	10	10 3/4
	To the Archdeacon's Procuration	—	0	7	7 1/2
	To Synodals	—	0	2	1

Church-warden's Account, Anno 1724.

Par. Acc. Book.	Thomas Isaac received	—	590	11	3
	Paid on Account of the Church	—	211	2	5
	Paid on that of the Poor	—	358	6	3
	Balance to the Parish	—	21	2	7
	Sacrament Money, about	—	35	0	0

Overseers of the Poors Account, Anno 1724.

Ibid.	Christopher Peach received	—	745	8	10
	Paid on Account of the Poor	—	745	8	10
	No Balance	—	0	0	0
	Paid for the Poor in both Accounts	—	1138	15	1

Donations per Annum.

Anno 1525. William Gardiner	10	0	0	Don. Book
1563, Owen Clun	7	0	0
1578, Hugh Full	2	12	0
Stephen Skidamore	1	0	0
Ralph Prat	2	15	4
Francis Tirrel	6	0	0
Lucia Esson	6	0	0
Richard Archden	2	12	0
Thomas Chibald	17	10	0
Barnard Hyde	0	5	0
Richard Lockwood	1	10	0
Jane Trapp	6	0	0
William Stevens	2	12	0
Sir John Fenner	5	0	0
Henry Martin	23	0	0
John Marshall and Robert Banyward	6	0	0
Frances Rothwell	5	0	0
Joyce Hewlet	5	0	0
Andrew Dandy	6	0	0
John Wright	20	0	0
John Samuel	2	10	0
George Wheeler	4	0	0
John Taylor	9	0	0

Monumental Inscriptions.

Where once the famous Elton did entrust the Preservation of his sacred Dust, Lyes pious Whitaker, both justly twin'd, Both dead one Grave, both living had one Mind; And by their Dissolution have supply'd The hungry Grave, and Fame and Heaven beside. This Stone protects their Bones, while Fame enrolls Their deathless Name, and Heavens embrace their Souls.

New View Lond.

Here lye the Bodies of Mr. William Williams, and Susanna his Wife, who lived in the Fear of God, and died in the Faith of Jesus Christ; he in November 1661, aged 69 Years; and she in February 1664, aged 64 Years.

Ibid.

Thus Youth and Age, and all Things pass away: Thy Turn is now, as her's was Yesterday.

Siste, Viator: quis heic jacet, operæ pretium tibi scire: nempe Gulielmus Castellus, Armiger, Navalis Mercatorii apud Redrosiam Naupegus, in Agro Surrensi Irenarcha, Militiæque ejusdem majorum vocant instructor, & ob fidelem operam in iis muneribus navatam Serenissimo R. Carlo II. inter paucos charus. Vir in Arte sua præstantissimus; cujus si Pietatem in Deum, in Regem Fidem in Pauperes Munificentiam, in omnes Comitatem spectes, parem illi inter superstites ægre invenies. Plura discere non opus est, Abi & imitare.

Ibid.

Here lyeth interred the Body of Mr. Thomas Bryon, who had twelve Children by his Wife Joanna, and died the 18th of May 1685, aged 41 Years and 8 Months. Joanna (their Daughter) died the 18th of March 1694, in the 11th Year of her Age.

Ibid;

Admir'd, belov'd, lamented Infancy, Hurr'd away does here untimely lye, Too good to live, and yet too young to die. Hard Fate! that best of Things must be Always the Plunder of the Grave and thee. What Grief can vent this Loss, or Praises tell, How young, how good, how beautiful she fell? Complete in all but Days, resigned her Breath, Who never disobey'd but in her Death.

Officers, &c. belonging to this Parish.

The Vestry is general, four Church-wardens, four Overseers of the Poor, two Constables, four Headboroughs, four Scavengers, who pay the Raker, for cleansing the Streets, and carrying away the Dust, the Sum of one hundred and twenty-four Pounds per Annum; two Surveyors of the Highways, two Beadles, ten Watchmen, men, two thousand one hundred and eleven Houses.

Antiquities, &c. in this Parish.

Doomfd.
Book.
Rec.
Excheq.

The Name of this Manor, or District, being a Saxon Compound, and the last Syllable thereof seeming to imply an Island, it might anciently have been such a Place belonging to one Bermond, which the Situation thereof gives room for such a Conjecture. Be that as it will, the Village of Bermondsey, in the Conqueror's Survey, appears to have been a Royal Manor, wherein were twenty-five Villains, or servile Husbandmen; and twenty-three Bordmanni, or Cottagers.

Dugd.
Mon.
Angl.
Chron.
Berm.

Almost contiguous to the Parish Church, on the South, (in the Place denominated St. John's Court) was situate the Priory, or Abby of St. Saviour, founded by Alwin Child, a Citizen of London, Anno 1082, which was some time after not only confirmed by the Charter of William Rufus, together with all the Benefactions thereunto belonging; but he likewise conferred upon the Prior and Monks the Manor of Bermondsey, and erected a beautiful and spacious Conventual Church for their Accommodation.

Stow. Sur.
Lond.

This Priory being an Alien and a Cell to one in France, it was amongst other foreign Foundations, sequester'd by Edward the Third, Anno 1371, who constituted Richard Denton, an Englishman, Prior thereof; in Consideration of which, and the Sum of two hundred Marks, Richard the Second demised the same, Anno 1380; and in the Year 1399, the Priory being converted into an Abbey, Pope Boniface appointed John Attelborough the first Abbot thereof.

Ibid.

At the general Suppression of Monasteries, this House was surrendered to Henry the Eighth, Anno 1539, when the Revenues thereof were found to amount to the Sum of 474 l. 14 s. 4½ d. per Ann. whereupon the Abbey and Site thereof being granted to Sir Thomas (John) Pope, he demolished the same; and in Place thereof erected a stately Edifice, which some time after came to the Earls of Sussex.

Doomfd.
Book.
Rec.
Excheq.

In the Conqueror's Survey mention is made of a Monastery, Watercourse and Haven in Southwark, belonging to the Bishop of Bayonne in France; but as Southwark, by the irregular Disposition of Places in the said Survey, is placed both in the Hundreds of Kingston and Brixton, I cannot ascertain whether the said Monastery, &c. were in the Manor of Southwark, or that of Bermondsey; though I am the most inclined to the latter, because the Priory of St. Saviour appears to have been then in being, whereas that of St. Mary Overie does not by any sufficient Authority. Beside, for divers Ages there appears to have been a Watercourse (at present denominated the Neckinger) and a Haven (now commonly called Savory's Dock) to have belong'd to the latter; whereas we have not the least Account, or Vestigia, of any such Places ever having belonged to the former.

Grant
Hen. VIII.

Upon the Dissolution of the Abbey of St. Saviour, Henry the Eighth, in Consideration of the Sum of one thousand and Eighteen Pounds six Shillings and four Pence, granted the said Convent, together with all the Lands, Fisheries, Mill and Dock, (at present corruptly denominated Savory's Mill and Dock, instead of the rightful Appellation of St. Saviour, from whose Monastery they received their Names) and other Appurtenances, to John Pope and Anthony Foster, to be held in Soccage and Fealty.

Ibid.

This Mill of St. Saviour (which is converted into a Water Machine, for raising Water to supply the Neighbourhood) on the 31st of June, Anno 1536, was, by the Abbot and Monks, demised to John Curlew, at the annual Rent of six Pounds, (the Value of eighteen Quarters of good Wheat) and to grind all the Corn for the Use of the Convent, which Curlew was both to fetch and carry home. The annual Charge of the whole was computed at two Pounds three Shillings and eight Pence, which made the yearly Rent of the said Mill amount to eight Pounds three Shillings and eight Pence.

The Remarkables at present are, the Parish Church, an Independent and two Anabaptist Meeting-houses, three Charity Schools, a Workhouse for the Reception of the Poor, an ancient Watercourse called the Neckinger (which was formerly navigable from the River Thames to the Abby of this Place), a Water Machine, and a large Haven, denominated St. Saviour's Mill and Dock, and two Sets of Steps or Stairs to take Water at.

St. Mary's, Newington.

When, or by whom this Church was at first erected, I cannot learn: However, it is a Rectory, situate on the North-west Side of Newington Butts; and is a Peculiar of the Archbishop of Canterbury's, in the Gift of the Bishop of Winchester; and owes its Name to its Dedication to the Virgin Mary.

The Profits arising to the Incumbent amount to about one hundred and forty Pounds per Annum.

Disbursements on Account of the Cure.			l.	s.	d.	Est. Lib. Val.
To First-fruits	—		16	0	0
To Tenths,	—		1	12	0
To the Archbishop's Procuration			0	6	8

Donations, per Annum.

Anno 1609, John Hacket	—	2	0	0
1611, Mr. Simmonds	—	5	0	0
1613, Mr. Smith	—	10	0	0
1615, Mr. Marshall	—	1	0	0
1650, John Walter	—	8	14	0
1654, Humphrey Williams	—	8	0	0
1675, Robert Hidson	—	1	0	0
1723, Richard Giles	—	2	10	0
Divers Persons in Money for a Stock		21	0	0

Officers, &c. belonging to this Parish.

The Vestry is select; two Church-wardens, four Overseers of the Poor, four Constables, four Headboroughs, no Scavenger, two Surveyors of the Highways, one Beadle, eight Watchmen, seven hundred and fifty-one Houses.

Antiquities, &c. in this Parish.

Newton, or Newington, in the Hundred of Brixton and County of Surrey, had the Epithet of Butts added, from an adjoining Pair of Butts, to distinguish it from Newington in the County of Middlesex.

On the West Side of Hunt's, or the Fishmongers Alms-houses, is a Moorish Ground, with a small Watercourse, denominated the River Tygris, which is Part of Cnut's Trench, or Canal, already mentioned.

About fifty Feet South of the Turnpike, on the East Side of Newington, is a large Gateway under a House, through which lies the King's Road from Lambeth to Greenwich, which till of late has been used by the Kings of England ever since the Erection of a Royal Mansion at Greenwich: But the Proprietor, or Occupier of the Ground through which the said Road lies, having a few Years ago applied to a certain Officer of his present Majesty's for Money to repair the Bridges across the same, he was, to his no small Joy, acquainted, that the King would no longer use that private, but the publick Road; therefore he might dispose thereof according to Pleasure.

Things remarkable at present, are, the Parish Church, a Charity School, the Lock Hospital, but of what Antiquity is unknown; two Alms-houses,

The South Prospect of the Church of St. Martin in South London houses, and a Workhouse for the Reception of the Poor.

St. Mary's, Rotherhithe.

Though I cannot ascertain the Origin of this Church, yet I imagine it to be of great Antiquity, from that of the Place wherein it is situate, which in the Reign of Henry the First is said to have belonged to the Manor of Bermondsey, by the Name of Rederbithe; whence we may justly conclude it to be of a Saxon Origin.

This Rectory Church, which is situate on the South Bank of the River Thames, is in the Gift of a Lay Patron.

The Profits arising to the Incumbent of this Parish are said to amount to above one hundred and fifty Pounds per Annum.

Dug.
Mon.
Angl.

Ect. Lib.
Val.

Don. Book

Disbursements on account of the Cure.
	l.	s.	d.
To First-fruits	18	0	0
To Tenths	1	16	0
To the Archdeacon's Procuration	0	7	7½
To Synodals	0	2	1

Donations, per Annum.
William Stephens	5	4	0
Thomas Gattaker	2	0	0
Roger Tweedy, Esq;	5	4	0
Thomas Hart	2	0	0
Mr. Simonson	16	17	0
Henry Smith, Esq;	10	0	0
Ambrose Bennet, Esq;	9	0	0
Richard Hills	3	0	0
Mr. Hacket	10	0	0

Officers, &c. in this Parish.

The Vestry is general; two Church-wardens, four Overseers of the Poor, one Constable, six Headboroughs, two Scavengers, who pay the Raker, for cleansing the Streets, and carrying away the Ashes, the Sum of forty-two Pounds per Annum; one Beadle, three Watchmen, thirteen hundred and twenty Houses.

Antiquities, &c. in this Parish.

Rotherbithe, which is situate on the South Bank of the River Thames, in the Hundred of Brixton, and County of Surrey, appears, as already mentioned, to be of great Antiquity. On the East Side of this Parish, where the great Wet-dock is situate, was the Out-flux of Cnut's Trench, or Canal, so often above-mentioned.

Things observable at present are, the Parish Church, a Presbyterian Meeting-house, a Charity-school, a Workhouse for the Reception of the Poor, three Docks for Ship-building, a Corn-mill belonging to the King, which is wrought by the Thames Water; a Copperas Work, and eleven Sets of Steps of Stairs to go upon and return from off the River Thames.

St. Olave's.

Stow. Sur.
Lond.

Though the Time of the first Erection of this Church cannot be discovered, yet it appears to be of a considerable Standing, by a Grant of John, Earl Warren, in the Year 1281, to the Abbot and Convent of St. Augustine in Canterbury, of certain Messuages, situate between this Church and the Bridge-Yard. However, it is a Rectory which stands on the North Side of Tooly, alias St. Olave's-street, in the Gift of the Crown.

Act. Parl.
10Geor. II.

Part of this Church having fallen down in the Year 1736, and the rest in a ruinous Condition, the Parishioners applied to Parliament for a Power to rebuild the same; which being granted, they were thereby enabled to raise the Sum of five thousand Pounds, by a Rate of six Pence in the Pound, to be levied out of the Rents of all Lands and Tenements within the Parish; of which the several Landlords were to pay four, and the Tenants two Pence. Pursuant to which, the Church was taken down in Summer Anno 1737, and the

No. 117.

Work prosecuted with so great Affiduity, that the same was finished in the Year 1739.

The Profits of this Rectory are said to amount to about four hundred Pounds per Annum.

Disbursements on account of the Cure. l. s. d.

To First-fruits	68	4	9½	Ect. Lib.
To Tenths	6	16	5½	Val.
To the Archdeacon's Procuration	0	7	7
To Synodals	0	2	1

Donations per Annum. l. s. d.

Anno 1561, Richard Dowset	5	8	0	Don. Book
1600, The Lady Osborn	4	0	0
1610, Waffell Webling	4	0	0
1626, Henry Smith, Esq;	30	0	0
1626, Robert Brockbank	2	0	0
1629, Thomas Burt	8	0	0
1631, Thomas Dickenson	2	16	8
1633, Sir John Fenner, Knt.	11	0	0
1633, William Humphreys	5	0	0
1636, Michael Dowell	2	0	0
1638, Mary Paradine	6	0	0
1640, John Sampson	1	0	0
1642, Edmund Turville	5	0	0
1643, Francis Terrill	5	0	0
1656, Jeremiah Blackman	10	0	0
1656, Roger Harry Young	4	0	0
1661, William Hoskins	2	0	0
1663, George Mussen	2	0	0
1668, Matthew Clarke	1	10	0
1668, Edmund Walcot	18	15	0
1669, John Seaton	3	0	0
1670, Capt. John Man	10	0	0
1677, Thomas Morgan	1	10	0
1677, George Meggott	3	0	0
1679, Jacob May	1	10	0
1679, William Fitzbugh	1	12	0
1681, Francis Wilkinfon	1	10	0
1694, Elizabeth Boufine	3	0	0
Bernard Hyde, every tenth Year	4	10	0
Edward Martin	3	0	0
William Whitworth	2	0	0
Stephen Scudamore	1	0	0
William Hittorks	0	15	0
John Scragg	0	6	8
George Swaine	0	5	0
The Bridge Masters	2	13	4
Christopher Searle	6	0	0
Divers Persons in Money, to the Amount of	16	10	0

Antiquities, &c. in this Parish.

Opposite St. Olave's Church anciently stood a spacious Stone Building, the City Mansion of the Prior of Lewes in Suffex; the Chapel of which, consisting of two Isles, being still remaining at the upper End of Walnut-tree Alley, it is converted into a Cyder Cellar, or Warehouse; and by the Earth's being greatly raised in this Neighbourhood, it is at present under Ground; and the Go-thick Building a little Westward of the same, (at present a Wine Vault, belonging to the King's-head Tavern) under the School-house, representing a small Chapel, I take to have been Part of the said Mansion-house. Contiguous to the Bridge-yard on the West, was situate a large House of Stone and Wood, the City Residence of the Abbot of St. Augustine's in Canterbury; which coming afterwards to Sir Anthony Sentlegar, the Site thereof was converted into a Quay; which, by an easy Transition, is at present denominated Sellenger's Wharf.

On the East Side of the Bridge-yard, was situate the Abbot of Battle in Suffex's City Mansion (the Name whereof is partly preserved in that of Battle-Bridge); opposite to which, on the South, lay its fine and spacious Garden, wherein was a

Stow. Sur.
Lond.

Ibid;

Maze, or Labyrinth, the Name whereof is still preserved in the Streets, &c. thereon erected.

The Remarkables at present, are, the beautiful new Parish Church, an Independent Meeting-house, two Charity-schools, an Alms-house, a Work-house for the Reception of the Poor; the Bridge House and Yard, wherein are prepared all Materials for the Repair of London-bridge, and which probably have belonged to the same ever since the Erection of the Stone, if not the original Wooden Bridge. Here are many Wharfs for the shipping and landing of Merchandize; and two Pair of Stairs, or Steps, for the Convenience of Passengers to go upon and return from off the River Thames.

St. Saviour's.

Stow. Sur.
Lond.

In the Place where this Church is situate, anciently (according to Tradition) stood a Priory of Nuns, which was founded by one Mary, a Virgin, the Owner of a Ferry in this Neighbourhood, (before the Erection of London-bridge) wherewith she endowed her new Convent; which House, it seems, was some Time after converted into a College of Priests, by the Lady Swithin. But that Establishment, like the former, proving of no long Duration, it was in the Year 1106, refounded by Sir William Pont de l'Arch and Sir William Dancy, two Norman Knights, with the Assistance of William Giffard, Bishop of Winchester, for Canons Regular. And from its Dedication to the Virgin Mary, and Southern Situation to the City of London, it received the Appellation of St. Mary Overie, that is, St. Mary's beyond the River.

The former Part of this Relation being only a Tradition of Bartholomew Linsted's, the last Prior of this Convent, it is not to be depended upon, especially if we consider, that the same is not mentioned by any of our Historians, that I can learn. I therefore imagine, that the Origin thereof is owing to the said Knights and Bishop in the aforesaid Year.

Ibid.

This Priory was destroyed by Fire, about the Year 1207, but it being soon after re-edified, Peter de Rupibus, Bishop of Winchester, added thereunto a spacious Chapel, and dedicated the same to St. Mary Magdalen; which being afterwards appointed for the Use of the neighbouring Inhabitants, it at last became their Parish Church.

Ibid.

This Monastery, together with its fine Church, (as it at present appears) which was rebuilt in the Reigns of Richard the Second and Henry the Fourth, was, at the general Suppression of religious Houses, surrendered to Henry the Eighth, Anno 1539, when the Revenues thereof amounted to 624 l. 6 s. 6 d. per Annum. Whereupon the Inhabitants of the Parishes of St. Mary Magdalen and St. Margaret, by the Assistance of Stephen, Bishop of Winchester, purchased of King Henry the stately Conventual Church; which Parishes in the Year following were united by Act of Parliament, by the new Appellation of St. Saviour's, and the Church-wardens thereof constituted a Body Politick and Corporate. And the Churches of St. Mary Magdalen and St. Margaret being laid aside, this has ever since been used as the united Parish Church.

Ibid.

In the Year 1611, King James the First, for a valuable Consideration, granted by Letters Patent to the Church-wardens and Parishioners, in Free-Socage, the Rectory and Parish Church of St. Saviour, together with all the Glebe-lands, Tythes, Tenths, Oblations, Profits, &c. with all those that belonged to the Rectories of St. Mary Magdalen and St. Margaret: In Consideration of which, the said Church-wardens and Parishioners are obliged to provide a fit House, for a Grammar-school, and to keep a good Master to teach the Children of the Parish, paying to the said Master twenty Pounds, and to an Usher ten Pounds per Annum; and also, to provide two able Chaplains to preach in the Church, and to pay them thirty Pounds per Annum each. These Conditions were performed till the Year 1672, when the said Sums were found insufficient to maintain the several Officers aforesaid; wherefore their respective Stipends were by Act of Parliament advanced, those of the Chaplains to one hundred Pounds per Annum each; and those of the Schoolmasters to thirty Pounds each. For the paying of which Sums, and the Repairs of the Church, the Church-wardens, &c. were empowered to raise upon the Inhabitants, in lieu of Tythes, the Sum of three hundred and fifty Pounds per Annum, clear of Reprizes.

Though the Name of this Church has by Act of Parliament been changed, from St. Mary Overie, to that of St. Saviour, yet the former still prevails. It is a Rectory, situate in a Close, on the West Side of the Borough, the Advowson whereof is in the Gift of the Parish.

The Profits arising to the Chaplains by this Cure, are said to amount to above three hundred Pounds per Annum.

Disbursements on account of the Cure.		l.	s.	d.
To the Archdeacon's Procuration		0	15	3
To Synodals	—	0	4	2

Donations, per Annum.

Anno	Donor	l.	s.	d.	Don. Book
1540,	Thomas Cure	2	0	0
1540,	Mr. Chambers	2	10	0
1594,	George Cure	3	9	8
1607,	Hugh Brooker	8	0	0
1607,	James Taylor	4	0	0
1617,	Richard and Peter Humble	5	4	0
1618,	Edward Hewlet	20	0	0
1618,	Elizabeth Paget	2	12	0
1620,	Thomas Emmerson	5	4	0
1624,	John Bingham	1	0	0
1625,	John Symons	8	0	0
1626,	Henry Smith	28	0	0
1627,	Henry Leakee	5	6	8
1628,	Robert Buckland	31	0	0
1628,	John Simmonds	8	0	0
1630,	Thomas Marshall	6	0	0
1631,	Elizabeth Marshall	6	0	0
1632,	Anne Austin	16	0	0
1633,	Sir John Fenner	19	8	0
1638,	Mr. Markhouse	24	0	0
1646,	John Hayman	10	12	0
1650,	John Marshall	4	0	0
1653,	Ralph Handsome	5	0	0
1656,	Grace Richardson	2	8	0
1670,	James Shaw	5	0	0
1673,	Ralph Carter	5	0	0
1674,	Elizabeth Newcombe	20	0	0
1677,	Richard Middleton	6	0	0
1677,	Jonathan Barford	3	0	0
1677,	Hannah Scott	5	0	0
1681,	Dorothy Applebee	40	0	0
1716,	John Banks	25	0	0
	John Snell	1	6	8
	Daniel Newman	1	0	0
	Mr. Allen	13	0	0
	The Vintners Company	1	0	0
	John Maybew	1	0	0
	Mr. Palyn	2	0	0
	Mr. Scrags	0	6	8
	John Manford	0	8	0
	Grace Loveday	2	10	0
	Susan Soanes	1	10	0
	Mr. Bingham	1	0	0
	From the Exchequer	6	0	0
	Thomas Cambell	9	0	0
	King James the First	17	8	0
	Thomas Littlebaker	2	8	0
	Bernard Hyde, every tenth Year	4	10	0

Susan

These Plans of LONDON BRIDGE exclusive of the Houses No 1 As it may be amended by reducing the Sterlings. No 2 As it may be altered by reducing the Arches; are most humbly presented unto the R.^{HON.} S.^{RICH} HOARE, LORD MAYOR of the said CITY at whose request they were drawn by his Lordship's most Obedt^l and most Obedient servant Charles Labelye Esq. 1746.

No 1

The Plan and Western Front of LONDON BRIDGE exclusive of the Houses with the Sterlings reduced to such a size as to afford twice as much Water-way as they do at present. By this Sketch it appears that the clear Water-way at High-water is 430 Feet and at low Water 400 Feet and the Perpendicular fall only 15 Inches.

No 2

The Plan and Western Front of LONDON BRIDGE, so which might be altered is according to the opinion of the Celebrated Architect Sir Christopher Wren by taking away every other Arch & reducing two into one. By this Sketch it appears that there would be at all times a Clear Water-way of upwards of 540 Feet & the fall would not be above 9 Inches at the most.

Susan Scott	—	5	0	0
George Peterfon	—	32	0	0
Daniel Freeman	—	10	0	0
John May	—	1	0	0
Stephen Scudamore	—	1	0	0
Stephen Little	—	2	8	0
Henry Jackson	—	10	0	0
By divers Persons, Money, to the Amount of	—	39	0	0

Monumental Inscriptions.

Mund. Ed. Stow. Sur. Here lies buried the Body of John Buckland, Glover, 1625, who deceased the 16th of August. Not twice ten Years of Age, a weary Breath Have I exchanged for a happy Death; My Course so short, the longer is my Rest; God takes them soonest, whom he loveth best. For he that's born to-day, and dies to morrow, Loseth some Dayes of Rest, but more of Sorrow.

New View Lond. This Monument is dedicated the Memory of John Bingham, Esq; Sadler to Queen Elizabeth and King James; who was a good Benefactor to this Parish and Free-school. He departed this Life in September 1625, in the 75th Year of his Age; and his Body lies buried in the Vault before this Monument, where it expects the Resurrection of the Just.

Officers, &c. in this Parish.

The Vestry is select, consisting of thirty Members; six Church-wardens, eight Overseers of the Poor, nine Constables, three Headboroughs, nine Scavengers, who pay the Raker, for cleansing the Streets, and carrying away the Ashes, the Sum of two hundred and twenty Pounds per Annum; two Beadles, twenty-three Watchmen, two thousand five hundred and fifty-four Houses.

Antiquities, &c. in this Parish.

The Church of this Parish, according to the Tradition of Bartholomew Linsted, as already mentioned, was at first erected by one Mary, a Maiden, the Proprietor of the Ferry in this Neighbourhood; which Ferry was anciently the Traiectus of the Roman Military Way, denominated Watling-street, which ran on the West Side of Winchester-house, and intersected the River Thames to Dowgate.

Stow. Sur. Lond. At the North End of St. Margaret's-hill, where at present is situate the Town or Court House, anciently stood the Parish Church of St. Margaret, which (gave Denomination to the present Street or Hill) was demolished upon the uniting its Parish to that of St. Mary Magdalen, when both were converted into a new one of St. Saviour, and the Priory Church of St. Mary Overie constituted the united Parish Church thereof.

Ibid. Opposite St. Saviour's Church on the West, fronting the River Thames, was situate Winchester-house; which was at first erected by William Giffard, Bishop of that See, about the Year 1107, for his City Mansion and that of his Successors: But this House (which undoubtedly was one of the most magnificent of its Kind, in the City, or Suburbs of London) having been long disused by the said Bishops, it is now converted into Warehouses, and Apartments for the Poor.

Ibid. Adjoining to Winchester-house, on the South, was situate that belonging to the Bishop of Rochester, but when, or by whom erected, is unknown.

Ibid. A little Westward from these Houses is situate the Bankside, so denominated from its Situation on the Southern Bank of the River Thames; which Place was anciently very notorious for its being the Seat of the Stews, or licenced Bawdy-houses, wherein Whores were publicly tolerated to act according to their vicious and depraved Inclinations.

Ibid. The first Mention I find of these Houses is in the Reign of Henry the Second, Anno 1162, when they were eighteen in Number, under the Jurisdiction of the Bishop of Winchester, wherefore they were commonly called Winchester Geese; for whose Regulation certain Constitutions were published by the said Bishop, which were confirmed by Parliament; among which were the following, viz.

That no Stewholder shall molest, or obstruct any single Woman from having Access to, and Liberty to withdraw from his House at Pleasure.

That no Stewkeeper permit any Woman to board in his House.

To take no more for a Woman's Apartment, than fourteen Pence per Week.

Not to keep open his Doors on Holidays.

Not to permit any single Woman to continue in his House on Holidays.

Not to detain any single Woman, that is willing to reform.

Not to receive any Woman that's devoted to Religion, nor any Man's Wife.

No Woman to take Money for lying with a Man, unless it be for a whole Night.

No Man to be artfully deluded into a Stew.

That the several Stews be searched weekly, by the Bailiff, Constables, &c.

That no Stewholder entertain any Woman that has the perilous Infirmity of Burning, (the Venereal Distemper) nor to sell Bread, Flesh, Ale, nor any other Sort of Provisions.

These and divers other Orders were to be observed by the said Stewholders, upon very severe Penalties. And for securing all Persons that were accused of Crimes committed in this District, a Prison was erected, denominated the Clink; which is still in being.

These Stews, or Bawdy-houses, in the Year 1381, were plundered by Wat. Tyler; at which Time it appears they were kept by Flemish Bawds. And in the Year 1506, they were, by Order of Henry the Seventh, shut up; but being re-opened soon after, their Number was reduced from eighteen to twelve: But in the Year 1546, they were by Proclamation of Henry the Eighth intirely suppressed.

Things worthy of Observation at present, are, the stately and spacious Parish Church, an Independent, Anabaptist, and a Quaker Meeting-houses, four Charity-schools, four Alms-houses, the Town-house, a Market, two Machines for raising Water to supply the neighbouring Inhabitants; an Iron Foundry, six Sets of Steps, or Stairs, for Passengers to go upon, and return from off the River Thames; and a Workhouse for the Reception of the Poor.

St. Thomas's.

This Church, as already mentioned, was at first erected for the Use of the adjoining Hospital, from which it is denominated; but the Numbers of Houses and Inhabitants having greatly increased in the Precinct of the said Hospital, it was judged necessary to make the said Church parochial, for the Use of the said Inhabitants, and to erect a Chapel in the Hospital, for the Use of the Patients.

This Church, which is situate on the North Side of St. Thomas's-street, contiguous to the Hospital, is neither a Rectory, Vicarage, nor Donative, but a Sort of Impropriation in the Gift of the said Hospital.

Receipts on account of the Cure. l. s. d.

By Money from St. Thomas's Hospital 6 0 0
By Surplice Fees — 20 0 0

This Church belonging to the Hospital, the Incumbent pays neither First-fruits, nor Tenths, nor other Disbursements on account of the Cure.

Donations.

Bernard Hide, every tenth Year 4 10 0
Henry Smith, yearly — 10 0 0

Officers,

Officers, &c. in this Parish.

Here being no remarkable Monumental Inscriptions. I shall proceed to the Account of Parish Officers, &c.

The Vestry is select, consisting of sixteen Members, two Church-wardens; two Overseers of the Poor, two Constables, two Scavengers, who pay the Raker, for cleansing the Streets, and carrying away the Ashes, the Sum of eight Pounds per Annum; one Beadle, two Watchmen, two hundred and twenty-nine Houses.

Antiquities, &c. in this Parish.

The only Antiquity in this Parish is the Hospital, (the Chapel at first belonging thereto, I take to be that situate where now is the Parish Cemetery) which was founded Anno 1215; and the Remakables at present are, the Church, a Presbyterian and an Anabaptist Meeting houses; two Hospitals, with their Chapels; an Alms-house, and a Charity-school.

An Account of the Numbers Total of divers of the Officers and Servants belonging to the several Parishes in Southwark, &c. within the Bill of Mortality on that Side the River, viz. Constables, Headboroughs, Scavengers, Surveyors of the Highways, Beadles and Watchmen, together with the respective Sums annually paid by each of the said Parishes to the Raker, for cleansing the Streets, and carrying away the Ashes:

Parishes.	Cont.	Headb.	Scav.	Surv.	Bead.	Watch.	Raker.
Christ's Church	4	3	2	0	1	6	1.
St. George's	8	0	4	0	2	8	30
St. John's	4	0	4	2	1	8	180
St. Mary's, Lambeth	7	9	2	4	1	0	95
St. Mary Magdalen's	2	4	4	2	2	10	20
St. Mary's, Newington	4	4	0	2	1	8	124
St. Mary's, Rotherhithe	1	6	2	0	1	3	0
St. Olave's	9	0	9	0	3	24	42
St. Saviour's	9	3	9	0	2	23	246
St. Thomas's	2	0	2	0	1	2	220
Sums Total	50	29	38	10	15	92	18
							975

The Numbers Total of Church-wardens and Overseers of the Poor, with the Sums Total paid by them in one Year, on account of the Church and Poor, as mentioned in the several Parishes above specify'd, with the Numbers Total of Dwelling-houses and Parish Workhouses, within the said District:

Church Ward.	Overseers.	Paid on Acc. of the Church.	Paid on Account of the Poor.	Numb. Houses.	Wor. Hou.
29	44	1953 l. 16 s. 6 d. ³ / ₄	9653 l. 4 s. 5 d.	14371	9

And, that the chief Things which compose this vast City may at one View appear to the Reader,

I shall subjoin a recapitulary Account of the same: viz. the Number Total of all the Streets, Lanes, &c. together with those of the Houses, Inhabitants, Parishes, Parish Churches, Church-wardens and Overseers of the Poor, with the Sums Total of their Disbursements on account of the Church and Poor; Number of Chapels belonging to the Church of England, that of the Meeting-houses of all Denominations, with the Disbursements of the latter on account of the Poor; Companies of Merchants, Incorporations of Trades, and Offices, with the Sum disbursed by the two latter on account of the Poor; the Number of Ships; Lighters, Boats, Carts, Yards for Ship-building, Quays, Wharfs; those of the Charity-schools, Hospitals and Alms-houses, with the several Sums disbursed by the latter for the Use of the Poor; with the Amount of the whole, for one Year, paid on account of the Poor; the Number of Constables, Headboroughs, Surveyors of the Highways, Scavengers, Beadles and Watchmen, with the Sum Total annually paid the Rakes, for cleansing the Streets and carrying away the Ashes; together with the Number of Markets, publick Walks, Horses, Hackney-Coaches, Chairs, Parish Workhouses, Houses of Correction, and Prisons.

And although the Chapels of the Temple in Fleet-street, Trinity, St. George Hanover-square, and St. John Baptist in the Savoy, and the Presbyterian Meeting-house in St. Thomas's, Southwark, are treated in the respective Places wherein they are situate; yet as they are not inserted in the Lists of Chapels and Meeting-houses above specified, I shall add them to their respective Accounts in the following Table; whereby the Number Total of the former will be increased to seventy-one and that of the latter, to one hundred and forty-seven.

A Table of the principal Things within the City and Suburbs of London.

Streets	Houses	Inhabitants	Parishes	Parish Church.	Parish Chap.	Church Ward.	Overseers of the Poor.
5099	95968	725903	143	108	71	307	242
Disburim. on Ac. of the Church.	Disburim. on Ac. of the Poor	Meeting houses	Disburim. Meetings	Comp. Merch.
35722 l. 11 s. 6 d. ¹ / ₄	90835 l. 4 s. 5 d. ² / ₃	147	31240 l.	8
Incorp. Trade	Offices	Incorp. to the Poor	Disburim. to the Poor	Offices Disb.	Ships	Lighters	Boats
91	45	26375 l.	6000 l.		141	1700	6972
Carts	Yardst. Shipbuil.	Quays	Wharfs	Charity Sch.	Hospitals	Alms houses	Char. Schools Disb. Poor.
607	23	17	21	166	14	95	17547 l. 13 s. 5 d. ³ / ₄
Hosp. & Almsh. Disburim. Poor	Total Disburim. on Ac. of the Poor.	Constables	Headboroughs
78519 l. 1 s. 2 d.	250516 l. 19 s. 1 d. ¹ / ₄	420	227
Surveyors	Scavengers	Beadles	Watchmen	Paid the Rakers	Markets
58	443	134	1318	11728 l. 19 s.	33
Publick Walks	Horses	Hackney Coaches	Hackney Chairs	Parish Work-h.	Houses of Correction	Prisons
8	22639	800	300	50	5	14

A perspective View of the ROYAL HOSPITAL at GREENWICH.

B. Cole sculp.

A N

A P P E N D I X.

29 Geo. II. *An Abstract of an Act * to improve, widen, and enlarge the Passage over and through London-Bridge.*

IN this Act, the Petitioners having set forth, That the Passage over and through London-Bridge is very dangerous and incommodious; and that it is absolutely necessary immediately to widen and enlarge the same, and that the widening and enlarging the said Bridge, and one or more of the Arches thereof, will be of publick Utility, of great Benefit to Trade and Commerce, make the Navigation upon the River Thames more safe and secure, and greatly tend to the Preservation of the Lives of his Majesty's Subjects passing over and through the said Bridge; It is enacted by the King's most excellent Majesty, by and with the Advice and Consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, That the Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common Council assembled, shall with all convenient Speed after the twenty-fourth Day of June, One thousand seven hundred and fifty-six, contract and agree for the purchasing (if they can) of all Houses, Tenements, Edifices, Erections, and Buildings, now standing or being on the said Bridge, or contiguous or adjoining thereto, (which do not belong to the Mayor and Commonalty and Citizens of London) which the said Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons, in Common Council assembled, shall judge necessary to be taken down and removed, for the Enlargement and Improvement of the Passage over, and the Avenues leading to and from the said Bridge; and are hereby authorized and required with all convenient Speed afterwards to cause to be taken down all such Houses, &c. as they shall deem necessary and proper to be taken down, for the Purposes aforesaid; and also to cause the Materials thereof to be removed and taken away; and likewise to widen or enlarge one or more of the Arches of the said Bridge, as the said Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons, in Common Council assembled, shall from Time to Time judge necessary and direct.

And it is further enacted, That the said Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons, in Common Council assembled, shall also, from Time to Time, design, assign, and lay out how and in what Manner, and with what Materials, the Passage over and through the said Bridge shall be widened, enlarged, and rendered more safe and commodious, and how the same, and the said Bridge, may, and shall, from Time to Time, be preserved and kept in good Repair and Order.

And that the Passage over the said Bridge shall be secured and preserved by a proper and uniform Ballustrade, to be erected on each Side thereof, and that the said Passage shall be Forty-five Feet wide; that is to say, The Passage for Carriages, Horses, and other Cattle, shall be Thirty-one Feet wide; and the Footways for Passengers on each Side of the said Bridge, shall be Seven Feet wide.

And that such convenient and sufficient Number of Glass Lamps, of such Sort and Fashion, and put up in such Parts and Places of the said Bridge, as to the said Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the said City, in Common Council assembled, shall seem meet and expedient, shall be erected and fixed upon proper Parts and Places of the said Bridge; and be kept lighted and burning from Sun-setting to Sun-rising throughout the Year; and that from Time to Time, after any Houses on the said Bridge shall be taken down in pursuance of this Act, they shall nominate and appoint such a Number of able-bodied Watchmen as they shall judge necessary and proper to be kept upon the said Bridge, which Watchmen to be removeable at Pleasure; and that the Expence of buying and erecting of such Lamps or Lights, and also the yearly Charges of supplying, maintaining, and repairing the same, and the Charges and Expences of watching the said Bridge, shall be borne and paid out of the Estate and Revenues belonging to the said Bridge; that the Penalty of breaking, &c. any of the Lamps, shall be the same as inflicted by Act 17 Geo. II.

And that if any Person or Persons shall unlawfully, wilfully, and maliciously blow up, pull down, or destroy the said Bridge, or any Part thereof, or remove, destroy, or take away any Works which now do or shall belong thereto, or in any wise direct or procure the same to be done, whereby the said Bridge or the Works thereof shall be damaged, or the Lives of Passengers endangered, every such Offender or Offenders, being lawfully convicted thereof, shall be adjudged guilty of Felony, and shall suffer as a Felon.

And it is enacted, That all Materials appertaining to the several Houses, that shall be taken down by virtue of this Act, shall be vested in the Mayor and Commonalty, and Citizens of the said City of London, to be employed towards Reparation of the other Estates belonging to the said Bridge-house, or else to be sold and disposed of for as much Money as can be had or gotten for the same, to be applied to and for the Purposes of this Act.

And it is enacted, That Bodies Politick, &c. Trustees, and other Persons may sell and convey their Property in any of the said Buildings for the Purposes of this Act: And that where any Persons shall refuse to treat and agree, or are prevented from treating, &c. or shall not make out a Title to the Premises, the Court of Lord-Mayor and Aldermen is to issue a Precept for the summoning and returning a Jury, who are to be drawn as Act 3 Geo. II. directs. And that the Court may summon and examine Witnesses on Oath, and direct the Jury to view the Place in Question, &c. And that the said Jury shall assess the Value on Oath. And the said Court of Mayor, and Aldermen, or Justices, shall and may respectively give Judgment for such Sum and Sums of Money to be assessed; which said Verdict or Verdicts, and the said Judgment, Decree, and Determination thereon (Notice in Writing being given to the Person or Persons interested, terested, at least Fourteen Days before the Time of such Assessment, declaring the Time and Place of the Meeting of the said Court of Mayor and Aldermen, or Justices as aforesaid, and Jury, by leaving such Notice at the Dwelling-house of such Person or Persons, or at his, her, or their usual Place or Places of Abode, or with some Tenant or Occupier of some of the said Houses, Ground, Tenements, Edifices, Erections, or Buildings, intended to be valued and assessed, in case such Party cannot otherwise be found out, to be served with such Notice) shall be binding and conclusive to all Intents and Purposes whatsoever; and that the Verdict of the Jury, and Judgment and Proceedings of the Court, shall be signed and sealed by the Mayor, and recorded; and the same, or some Copy thereof, shall be deemed and taken to be good and effectual Evidence and Proof in any Court or Courts of Law or Equity whatsoever, and all Persons may have Recourse to the same gratis, and take Copies thereof, paying for every Copy, not exceeding Two Hundred Words, six Pence; and so proportionably for any greater or lesser Number of Words.

And it is further enacted, and declared, That upon Payment of the Purchase Money, Conveyance shall be executed of the Premises, in Trust for the Use of the City. And where a good Title can't be made out, or legal Conveyance executed, &c. or the Parties are not to be found, &c. or Mortgagee shall refuse to take his Mortgage Money, the Court may pay the Money into the Bank; and the Cashier or Cashiers of the Bank of England, who shall receive such Sum and Sums, is and are hereby required to give a Receipt or Receipts for such Sum or Sums, which Receipt or Receipts shall be entered on Record, and registered; and immediately on such Payment and Registry, all the Estate, Right, Title, Interest, Use, Trust, Property, Claim, and Demand in Law and Equity, of the Person or Persons for whose Use the same was paid, in, to, and out of such Houses, Ground, &c. shall vest in the said Mayor and Commonalty, and Citizens, in Bar of all Right and Dower.

And it is further enacted, That after Purchase made, Tenants shall deliver up quiet Possession of the Tenements, within a Year after Notice given for that Purpose. And on Refusal that the Court shall Issue a Precept to the Sheriff to take Possession, and levy such Costs as shall accrue by Means of the issuing and Execution of every such Precept or Precepts, by Distress and Sale of the Goods and Chattels of any Person or Persons, who shall neglect or refuse to pay the same.

And it is further enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the said Court of Mayor, and Aldermen, or Justices, to impose any reasonable Fine, not exceeding the Sum of Ten Pounds, on any Sheriff or Sheriffs, or their Deputy or Deputies, Bailiffs or Agents respectively, who shall make any Default in the Premises, and on any Persons who shall be summoned and returned on any such Jury or Juries, who shall not appear, and also on any Witnesses or Witnesses who shall not attend, or who shall attend and refuse to be sworn, or who being sworn shall refuse to give Evidence, and on any Persons summoned and returned on such Jury or Juries, who shall refuse to be sworn on any such Jury or Juries, or being sworn thereon shall not give his or their Verdict, or shall in any other Manner wilfully neglect his or their Duty, in or touching the Premises, contrary to the true Intent and Meaning of this Act, and from Time to Time to levy such Fine or Fines, by Order of the said Court of Mayor and Aldermen, or Justices as aforesaid, as the Case may require, by Distress and Sale of the Offender's Goods, together with the reasonable Charges of every such Distress and Sale, returning the Overplus, if any, to the Owner, and that all such Fines, which shall be so recovered and received, shall be applied towards the Purposes of this Act.

And it is further enacted, That the principal Money arising from the Sale of any Houses, &c. purchased for the Purposes contained in this Act, shall be paid to such Persons as they shall respectively nominate to receive the same, in Trust, subject to the like Uses.

And, to the Intent the Passage over the said Bridge may always be kept open and rendered more safe and commodious, and be clear of all Buildings (except as herein is mentioned) it is further enacted, That after the Houses and Tenements intended as aforesaid to be taken down, shall be taken down, the Ground and Soil on which the same now stand, shall lie open, and be deemed and used as a Common and Publick Highway for ever; and that no House or other Building shall be erected on the said Bridge (except such Gates and Toll-houses as are herein provided and directed) and that all Carriages passing over the said Bridge from London shall go on the East Side thereof as near as may be, and that all Carriages passing over the said Bridge to London shall go on the West Side thereof as near as may be; and that no Coachman or Driver shall stand or ply for Hire with any Coach or other Carriage whatsoever upon the said Bridge, or leave any empty Coach or Carriage there; and that no Carman, Carter, Drayman, or Driver of any Carriage whatsoever, shall wilfully remain with any Cart, Carr, Dray, Waggon, or other Carriage whatsoever on the said Bridge, longer than shall be necessary for going over the same, or leave any empty Cart, Dray, or other Carriage upon the said Bridge; and that no Person shall put any Filth, Dung, Ashes, or Rubbish on the said Bridge, or do any Act which may be an Annoyance there; and every such Offender being of any of the said Offences convicted, by the Oath of one or more credible Witness or Witnesses, or by his or her Confession, shall, for every such Offence, forfeit and pay a Sum not exceeding Twenty Shillings, nor less than Two Shillings and six Pence; to go and be applied between the Parties informing against and apprehending every such Offender, and on Default of immediate Payment thereof, the Offender shall be committed to the London Workhouse, and if in the County of Surry, to a House of Correction, to be kept to hard Labour for any Time not exceeding Three Days, or until the Money shall be paid.

And it is enacted, That after pulling down the Houses on the Bridge, the Tythes and customary Payments due from thence, shall be charged on the Bridge-house Lands; and paid Half yearly, free of all Taxes and Deductions, viz. 7 l. 15 s. 1 d. to be paid yearly to the Rector of St. Magnus and St. Margaret, in lieu of Surplice Fees, and Easter Offerings, and 4 l. 11 s. 4 d. to the Rector of St. Olave; and that the City shall make good out of the Bridge Estate the Deficiency in the Poor Rates, and Land Tax, occasioned by pulling down the said Houses, and also the Rates chargeable thereon, to the Parish of St. Olave.

Provided always, That nothing in this present Act contained shall extend, or be construed, deemed, or taken to extend, to empower the said Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the said City, to remove or alter any of the Arches under the said Bridge, or any Engines fixed up therein, which now belong to the Proprietors of the London-Bridge Water-works, or to take away away any Right, which the said Proprietors of the said London-Bridge Water-works now have to the Use or Enjoyment of any of the Arches of the said Bridge, by Grant or Lease from the said Mayor and Commonalty, and Citizens of London, for raising Water therefrom.

And that if it shall be found necessary to take down or alter any of the Piers of the said Bridge, in order to enlarge any of the Arches thereof, and thereby the raising of Water by the said Works shall be prejudiced; that then, and in every such Case, the said Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the said City, in Common Council assembled, shall, and they are hereby required, on Complaint and Proof of such Damage, to stop or pen up, or cause to be stopped or pent up, a like Body of Water as shall be discharged by the taking down or altering any of the said Piers, for the Use of the Proprietors of the said Water-works.

And it is enacted, That from and after the said Twenty-fourth Day of June, there shall be paid for Pontage, or in the Nature of a Toll, for passing over the said Bridge, over and above the Toll now paid and payable for loaded Waggon, Carts, Drays, and Carriages, passing over the said Bridge, the following Sums of Money (that is to say)

For every Horse drawing any Coach, Chariot, Hearse, Berlin, Landau, Calash, Chaise, or Chair, over the said Bridge, the Sum of One Halfpenny.

And for every such Coach, Chariot, Hearse, Berlin, Landau, Calash, Chaise, or Chair, One Penny.

And for every Horse not drawing, passing over the said Bridge, One Halfpenny.

Provided always, That no Hackney Coach which shall pass over the said Bridge empty, or the Horses drawing the same, shall pay any Toll whatsoever; nor shall any Horse, or any Coach or Carriage whatsoever, pay more than once a Day for passing over the said Bridge: Which said respective Sums of Money, are hereby vested in the said City of London. And the said Toll may be levied by Distress of any Horse or Horses, or Carriage, upon which such Toll or Duty is by this Act imposed, or upon any other of the Goods and Chattels of such Person or Persons as ought to pay the same; and all such Horses or Goods may be detained till such Toll or Duty, with the reasonable Charges of such Distress, shall be paid; and it shall be lawful for the Person or Persons so distraining, after the Space of Four Days after such Distress made and taken, to sell such Horse or Horses, or other Goods or Chattels, so distrained, for Payment of the said Toll or Duty, rendering to the Owner or Owners thereof the Overplus, upon Demand, after Satisfaction of the said Toll or Duty, and the reasonable Charges in or about making such Distress, detaining, keeping, and selling the same, shall be deducted and paid.

And it is further enacted, That from and after the Twenty-fourth Day of June, One thousand seven hundred and fifty-six, there shall be paid to the Receiver or Receivers, Collector or Collectors, who shall be appointed by the said Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons, in Common Council assembled, by the Owner or Owners of every Hoy, Barge, Vessel, Lighter, or other Craft, having any Goods on board, every Time any such Hoy, Barge, Vessel, Lighter, or other Craft, shall pass through any of the Arches of the said Bridge, the several Tolls or Sums of Money following; that is to say,

For every Hoy, Barge, Vessel, Lighter, or other Craft, having any Goods on board, not exceeding five Tons Burthen, the Sum of two Pence.

For every such Hoy, Barge, Vessel, Lighter, or other Craft, not exceeding Ten Tons, the Sum of Three Pence.

For every such Hoy, Barge, Vessel, Lighter, or other Craft not exceeding Twenty-five Tons, Six Pence.

And for every such Hoy, Barge, Vessel, Lighter or other Craft, above the Burthen of Twenty-five Tons, One Shilling.

Save and except out of such Tolls, all such Crafts as shall be loaded only with Straw, Manure, Dung, Compost, or Lime, to be used for Tillage.

All which Tolls or Sums of Money shall be paid within the Space of three Months, under the Penalty of five Pounds, to be levied from Time to Time, by Distress and Sale of the Goods and Chattels, together with the reasonable Charges of every such Distress and Sale.

Provided always, That it may be lawful to compound or agree by the Year, or otherwise, with the Owner or Owners of any Craft, having Goods on board, to pass through the Arches of the said Bridge, for such Sum of Money, and to be paid in such Manner as the said Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons, in Common Council assembled, shall think fit and reasonable.

And it is enacted, That the Owner's Name and Tonnage be painted on some conspicuous Parts of the Vessel, on Penalty of 20s. besides the Tolls; to be paid on Conviction to the Informer, and may be levied by Distress and Sale.

And it is enacted, That the Tolls and Duties payable by this Act, shall not be rated or taxed for or towards the Land Tax, Church, Poor or any other Rates or Taxes, Ward or Parochial, or for or towards the Repairs of any Highways.

Provided, That all and every the Powers and Authorities in and by this Act given and granted to the Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons, of the said City of London, in Common Council assembled, shall and may at all Times hereafter be exercised and performed, as fully and effectually to all Intents and Purposes whatsoever, by any Committee who shall be appointed from Time to Time, by the said Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons, of the said City of London, in Common Council assembled, for putting in Execution this Act, or performing any Matters hereby directed to be done, according to the Authorities which from Time to Time, by the said Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the said City of London, in Common Council assembled, shall be delegated or given to such Committee; and that all and every Acts, Matters, and Things, which at any Times hereafter shall be done or transacted by any such Committee, who shall be appointed as aforesaid, shall be as valid and effectual, to all Intents and Purposes whatsoever, as if the same were or had been done, transacted, or performed by the said Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the said City of London, in Common Council assembled; any thing in this Act before contained to the contrary thereof in any wise notwithstanding.

And it is enacted, That an Order of Justice, &c. shall not be liable to be quashed for want of Form, nor removed by Certiorari. That Persons aggrieved may appeal to the General or Quarter Sessions, and the Court may award Costs.

And it is enacted, That the several Tolls and Duties hereby appointed to be raised and levied for the Purposes aforesaid, shall have Continuance and be received, had, raised, collected, and taken, until such Time as the Money which shall be borrowed by virtue of this Act, and the Interest thereof, shall be fully satisfied and paid.

An Abstract of an Act for building a Bridge cross the River of Thames, from Black-Friars in the City of London, to the opposite Side in the County of Surry.

IN this Act, the Petitioners having set forth, That it will be advantageous, not only to the City of London, but to many others of his Majesty's Subjects, and to the Publick in general, That a Bridge be built cross the River Thames, from Black-Friars in the said City, to the opposite Side in the County of Surry; It is enacted, That the Mayor, Aldermen and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council assembled, shall have Power and Authority, and are authorized and empowered to design, direct, order and build a Bridge cross the River Thames as aforesaid, and to maintain, preserve and support the same when built, and for that Purpose to appoint a Committee from Time to Time to manage and transact such Matters as they may find necessary; which Committee so to be appointed shall have such Powers and Authorities as shall from Time to Time be delegated or given to them by the said Mayor, Aldermen and Commons, in Common Council assembled, or such general Powers as by this Act are given and granted to the said Committee.

Provided, That no Person concerned in building, or dealing in any Materials for building, nor during such Time as he shall have or execute any Office or Place of Profit by or under the Authority of this Act, or during such Time as he shall have any Share or Interest in any Contract or Agreement for effecting the Purposes aforesaid, or have or hold any Place or Employment under the Mayor and Commonalty and Citizens of the said City, shall be eligible or capable of acting as a Member of the Committee.

And it is enacted, That the said Mayor, Aldermen and Commons, in Common Council assembled, are empowered to design, assign and lay out in what Manner the said intended Bridge shall be erected and built, and the Ways, Streets and Passages to and from the same made, widened, enlarged or improved, and to do all Matters and Things for carrying on and effecting the Purposes aforesaid.

And that there shall remain a free and open Passage for the Water through the Arches thereof, or Passages under the same, of Seven Hundred and Fifty Feet at least, within the present Banks of the said River.

And that it shall not be lawful to erect any House or Building upon the said Bridge, other than Gates and Toll-Houses.

And that if any Person or Persons shall wilfully and maliciously blow up, pull down, or destroy the said Bridge, or any Part thereof, such Offender or Offenders, being thereof lawfully convicted, shall be adjudged guilty of Felony, and shall suffer as a Felon.

And that the said Mayor, Aldermen and Commons, in Common Council assembled, shall have full Power and Authority to agree with the Owners or Occupiers of, and other Persons interested in such Lands, Tenements, or Hereditaments, as they shall Judge fit to be purchased, removed or pulled down, for the Purchase thereof; and, to appoint Workmen to pull Houses down, and to lay such Ground into Streets, Ways or Passages, or any of them, for the making, widening, enlarging or improving the same.

And if it shall happen that any Person or Persons, Bodies politick, corporate or collegiate, or other Person or Persons seized or possessed of, or interested in, any such Lands, Tenements or Hereditaments as aforesaid, shall refuse to treat or agree for the Sale and Conveyance of their respective Estates and Interests therein with the said Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons, in Common Council assembled, or with any Person or Persons authorized by them, or shall not produce and evince a clear Title to the Premises they are in Possession of, or to the Interest they claim, to the Satisfaction of the said Mayor, Aldermen and Commons, in Common Council assembled, or of the Person or Persons so authorized by them, then and in every such Case, a Jury shall be impannelled by the Sheriff of London or Surry, as the Case shall require; and the said Jury upon their Oaths shall inquire of the Value of such Lands, Tenements and Hereditaments, and of the respective Estate and Interest of every Person seized or possessed thereof, or interested therein, or of or in any Part thereof, and shall assess and award the Sum or Sums to be paid to every such Person or Persons for the Purchase of such their Estates and Interests.

And it is enacted, That all Sums of Money, or other Consideration, Recompence or Satisfaction to be paid and made pursuant to any such Agreement or Verdict as aforesaid, or which shall be due on any Mortgage, shall be, and are hereby charged and chargeable upon all Monies, which shall be raised or received for the Purposes of this Act, and shall be tendered to the Party or Parties entitled to the same; and in case of Refusal to accept the same, shall be paid into the Bank of England, in the Names of any Person or Persons appointed by the said Court of Mayor and Aldermen for that Purpose, in Trust for such Person and Persons as shall be entitled to receive the same, before the said Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons in Common Council assembled, shall proceed to pull down any House or Houses, or other Erections and Buildings, or to use the Ground for the Purposes of this Act.

And it is enacted, That before the said Bridge shall be compleatly finished and made passable, the said Mayor, &c. shall agree with the Company of Watermen, touching the Recompence to be made to the said Company, for and in respect of the Sundays Ferry from Black-Friars aforesaid, to the opposite Side in the County of Surry. And in Case such Recompence cannot be settled by Agreement, then the Justices of the County of Surry, at some General Quarter Sessions of the Peace for the said County, or some Adjournment thereof, shall assess the same by a Jury of the County of Surry. And the Verdict of such Jury and the Judgment of the said Justices thereupon shall be binding to both Parties and their Successors. And such Sum or Sums so to be paid, shall be laid out in the Publick Funds, and the Income and yearly Produce thereof shall be applied to the same Purposes, and in such manner as the Money arising by the said Ferry hath been applied.

It is enacted, That it shall and may be lawful to and for the said Mayor, &c. out of the Monies to be received by this Act, to fill up the Channel of Bridewell-Dock, lying between the said River Thames and Fleet-Bridge; and also to remove, remove, pull down, and take away the Bridge cross the said Channel of Bridewell-Dock, and the Erections and Buildings, or any Part thereof, standing and being upon Fleet Bridge.

Provided, at the Time of the filling up the said Channel as aforesaid, they shall make, erect, and build a good and sufficient Drain or Drains, Sewer or Sewers, in and through the said Channel, of convenient Depth, and from Time to Time cleanse and repair the same, out of the Monies which shall be raised, or received for the Purposes of this Act.

And it is enacted, That when the said Bridge shall be compleatly finished, and made passable, it shall not be lawful for any Coachman or Driver to stand or ply, for Hire, with any Coach or other Carriage whatsoever, or to leave any empty Coach or Carriage on the said Bridge, or within the Space of One Hundred Yards on either Side of the same; or for any Carman, Carter, Drayman or Driver of any Carriage whatsoever, wilfully to stand or remain with any Cart, Car, Dray, Waggon or other Carriage whatsoever, or to leave any empty Cart, Dray, Waggon or other Carriage upon the said Bridge, or within the Distance aforesaid; or for any Person or Persons to put any Filth, Dung, Ashes or Rubbish on the said Bridge, or to do any Act which may be an Annoyance there; and that every Person so offending herein, and being thereof convicted, shall forfeit and pay for every such Offence a Sum not exceeding Twenty Shillings, nor less than Two Shillings and Six Pence, to be applied between the Parties informing against and apprehending every such Offender or Offenders; and in Default of immediate Payment thereof the Offender or Offenders shall be committed to the Work-house, or to a House of Correction, there to be kept to hard Labour for any Time not exceeding three Days, or until Payment thereof.

And it is enacted, That from and after the said Bridge shall be erected and made passable a convenient and sufficient Number of Glass Lamps shall be fixed on some proper Parts and Places of such Bridge; and the same shall be kept lighted and burning from Sun-setting to Sun-rising throughout the Year; and the Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons shall appoint such a Number of able-bodied Watchmen as they shall judge necessary to be kept upon the Bridge, for the Safety and Protection of Persons passing over the same: The Expence and the yearly Charges thereof to be borne and paid by and out of the Monies to be raised and collected by Virtue of this Act.

And it is enacted, That it shall and may be lawful to and for the said Mayor, Aldermen and Commons, in Common Council assembled, to take and receive, or cause to be taken and received, in the Nature of a Toll, before any Passage over the said Bridge shall be permitted, any Sum which the said Mayor, Aldermen and Commons, in Common Council assembled, shall direct, not exceeding the following Rates; that is to say, For every Coach, Chariot, Berlin, Chaise, Chair or Calash, drawn by Six or more Horses, Two Shillings: For every Coach, Chariot, Berlin, Chaise, Chair or Calash drawn by Four Horses, One Shilling and Six Pence: For every Coach, Chariot, Berlin, Chaise, Chair or Calash, drawn by less than Four Horses, One Shilling: For every Waggon, Wain, Car, Cart, or Carriage, drawn by Four or more Horses, or other Beasts, One Shilling, or less than Four Horses, or other Beasts, Six Pence: For every Horse, Mule, or Ass, laden or unladen, and not drawing, One Penny: And for every Foot Passenger on Sunday One Penny, and every other Day One Halfpenny. And the said Mayor, Aldermen and Commons, in Common Council assembled, are hereby impowered, by any Person or Persons by them thereto authorized as herein after mentioned, to levy the Tolls or Duties hereby required to be paid upon any Person or Persons who shall, after Demand thereof made, neglect or refuse to pay the same as aforesaid; or to deny or hinder any Passage over the said Bridge until Payment thereof. Which said Tolls or Duties shall and may be levied by Distress of any Horse or Horses, or other Cattle or Goods upon which such Tolls or Duties are by this Act imposed, or upon any other of the Goods and Chattels of such Person or Persons as ought to pay the same; and all such Horses or other Cattle or Goods may be detained until such Tolls or Duties, with the reasonable Charge of such Distress, shall be paid. And it shall be lawful for the Person or Persons so distraining, after the Space of four Days after such Distress made or taken, to sell the Cattle, or other Goods or Chattels so distrained, for Payment of the said Tolls or Duties, rendering to the Owner or Owners thereof the Overplus upon Demand, after Satisfaction of the said Tolls or Duties, and the reasonable Charges in and about making such Distress and Sale, and keeping the same.

And it shall be lawful to and for the said Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons in Common Council assembled, to nominate and appoint such Person or Persons to be Receiver or Receivers, Collector or Collectors of the said Tolls and Duties as they shall think fit.

And it is enacted and declared, That the whole of the said Bridge shall be deemed to be within the Parish of Saint Anne, Black-Friars, in the City of London; and the same or any Part thereof, or the Tolls to be taken thereon, shall not be rated or assessed for or towards the Land-Tax, the Repairs of Highways, Poors Rate, Church-wardens or any Ward or Parish-Rate whatsoever, nor shall the County of Surry be subject or liable to be taxed or assessed for the Repairs or supporting the same.

And it is further enacted, That it shall and may be lawful to and for the said Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons, in Common Council assembled, from Time to Time, to raise, upon the Credit of the Tolls and Duties created and made payable by this Act, any Sum or Sums of Money not exceeding Thirty Thousand Pounds in any one Year, until a Sum, not exceeding One Hundred and Sixty Thousand Pounds in the whole, shall be raised.

And that the Tolls and Duties which shall be payable by Virtue of this Act shall be payable and have Continuance until all principal Money, which by Virtue of this Act shall be borrowed upon the Credit of the said Tolls and Duties, together with the Interest thereof, shall be paid.

Provided, That nothing in this Act contained shall extend, or be construed to extend, to lessen or affect the Security of any of the present Creditors of the said Mayor and Commonalty and Citizens.

And it is enacted, That the Chamberlain of the said City of London shall yearly, after the said Bridge shall be begun, lay before each House of Parliament a true State of the Application of all Money which shall be received by Virtue of this Act.

A N ALPHABETICAL INDEX

To the TWO VOLUMES of the HISTORY and SURVEY

O F

London, Westminster, Southwark, and Places adjacent.

A

ABBOT, George, Bishop of London, Page 1223.
Acon or Acars (St. Thomas of) 886, Monumental Inscriptions 887.
Accounts (City) inspected by Order of the House of Commons 498.

AA of Common Council for building Cheapside Conduit, and repairing others 192, for enforcing the Observation of the Sabbath ib. Mercenary repealed by Parliament 217; for erecting a Court of Conscience 226; concerning the Dealing in Woad 228; concerning luxurious eating 238; for retrenching the Tables of the Mayors and Sheriffs 251; concerning Beggars 257; concerning Plays 262; against Hawkers and Pedlars 282, 290, 301, 498; for fortifying the City 368; for well ordering the City Watch 374; for regulating Carmen and Woodmongers 431; for enlarging the Streets after the Fire 443; for levelling the Streets 444; for providing Fire-Engines, and preventing Fires 450, 506; for removing Markets 451, for well ordering and settling publick Markets 460, for regulating Blackwell-Hall; Leaden-Hall, Welch-Hall, and for preventing of foreign buying and selling 462; about weighing Goods and Merchandize at the King's Beam 469, 470; for preventing Impositions, Frauds, &c. in Cars, Carmen, Coals, &c. 471, 513; to disclaim and repeal the Acts and proceedings in the Times of Usurpation 476; for the Nomination of Aldermen and Elefing of Common Councilmen 495; for explaining the last Act against Hawkers and Pedlars 498; prescribing the Method and Rule of Proceedings upon all Elections, &c. in London 499; for regulating the Watch 505; prohibiting Foreigners occupying any Trade or keeping any Shop for Sale of any Ware within the City 511; for regulating Coalmeeters 512; for lighting the City 521, 565; touching the Nomination and Election of Sheriffs 664; concerning Blackwell Hall 789; for establishing a Workhouse 813; for its Support 818.

Adams chosen Recorder 672.

Admiralty, the Court of, 872, 1279.

Admiralty, the Office of, 1263.

Adrian, John, becomes Surety for the City 102.

Aelmer, John, Bishop of London 1223.

African Company 1258.

Ages, a Table of all, who die within the City and Suburbs of London 591, 709.

Agreement (Articles of) for composing Differences in the City 115; confirm'd 126; proposed with K. Charles I. 376; rendered abortive 377.

Agin court (Victory of) Rejoicings thereon 186.

Alderman, (Simon Fitzmary, an) degraded 87.

Aldermen, their Number and Names in 1284, p. 105; summoned to pass their Accounts 110;

answerable for the Money assessed in their respective Wards, ib. turn'd out and replaced by the Common Council 145; imprison'd and fin'd for a Riot 179; restored for a Sum of Money 180; to continue during their good Behaviour 181; keep Guard 198; pass the Chair to be perpetual Justices of the Peace 201, 202, 203; divers of their Estates condemned 206; one fin'd for abusing the Mayor ib. twelve of them knighted 207; committed to Prison 158, 321; dispute about Precedency 287; three of them confin'd in the Tower, and petition Parliament 347; four Aldermen sent to the Tower 408; three of them released from Imprisonment 414; two of them degraded 420; several of them prosecuted and fin'd 483; Act of Common Council concerning the Choice of Aldermen 495; address the King 521; a Contest about the Choice of them ib. not to be elected annually ib. Manner of their Election ib. Debates thereon 600, 601, 611; take Part with Sir George Champion against the Livery 609; Justices in their Wards 620; the Meaning of the Name 1199; Court of, 1209.

Aldersgate 25; Ward its Bounds 761; remarkable Places 763; Parishes ib. See St. Martin's le Grand.

Aldgate 22, 776; Ward its Name and Extent ib. present State 777; most remarkable Places 779, 787; Parishes ib.

Ale, the Price of, 114.

Alehouses put down 263; regulated and licensed 702.

Allen (Sir John) his Donations to the City 238.

Alexandria compared with London 750.

Alley's Alms-houses 1288, 1289.

Alleys, a List of them 720.

Allhallows Barking 1051, Antiquities 1053.

Allhallows Breadstreet 1053, Antiquities 1054.

Allhallows Honey lane 1055.

Allhallows Lombard-street 1056, Antiquities 1057.

Allhallows London-wall 1057, Antiquities 1058.

Allhallows Staining 1058, Antiquities ib.

Allhallows the Great 1054, Antiquities 1055.

Allhallows the Less 1055, Antiquities 1056.

Allhallows School 1274.

All Souls Chapel, a Guild of St. Paul's Cathedral

947.

Albure, Bishop of London 1216.

Alom, see Citizens.

Alom-works at St. Catharine's 1118.

Allot, Sir John, his Epitaph ib.

Almonry 1342.

Almonry School 1274.

Alms-houses 1288; Number of Persons contained in them 1326; Sums for their Relief ib.

Alwy, Bishop of London 1216.

Ambassadors, Dutch, their Publick Entry 492, 518, 544.

Ambassador, French, his Publick Entry 492, 501.

Ambassador, Russian, his Publick Entry 253.

Ambassador, Spanish, his Publick Entry 492.

Ambassador, Sweedish, his Publick Entry 502.

Ambassador, Venetian, his Publick Entry 342.

Ambassadors Houses spoil'd 488.

Amicable Society 1263.

Amsterdam compared with London 753; its Bill of Mortality ib.

Amyas's Alms-house 1289.

Anne, Princess of Bohemia, her Publick Entry 143.

Anne, Queen, her Accession to the Crown 503, addressed by the Common Council ib. entertained at Guildhall ib. comes to St. Paul's Church ib. returns Thanks at St. Paul's 504, 506, 507, 512; orders her Guards to suppress a Tumult 508; her Letter to the Lord Mayor ib. addressed by the Citizens 513.

Anne, Queen, attended by the Citizens in two pompous Processions 233. &c.

Annis (Dame) de clear Spring 83.

Anseatick Company 78; Privileges confirmed 93, 208; obliged to repair Bishopsgate 105; plundered 218; dissolved 248; their Hall 915.

Anselm, Bishop of London 1217.

Anthony's (St.) Hospital 844; School 845; Monumental Inscriptions 845; now a French and Walloon Church ib.

Antiquaries, the Society of, 1282; incorporated 689.

Antiquities dug up in Blackfriars 451.

Apothecaries, the Company of, 1235; Hall 927.

Applebee's School 1274.

Apprentices, Statute of, repealed 189; ought to be Gentlemen born 217, 230; none to be put, but such whose Parents were possessed of 20 s. per Annum 189; Orders to be observed by Masters in taking of them 224; Instructions for Apprentices 230; their Apparel ascertain'd 266; punished for Disobedience ib. not to frequent Dancing schools, &c. ib. design an Insurrection against Foreigners 278; attempt to plunder the Archbishop's Palace at Lambeth 320; threaten to pull down the Spanish Ambassador's House 338; petition Parliament for the Removal of Lunsford 350; against Bishops ib. riotous 351; ordered by Parliament to be inflist 361; petition to Parliament 396, 397; to the Lord Mayor, &c. 398; their Engagement ib. Petition concerning the Militia 399, 400, 401; in what Manner presented to the House 401; its Effect ib. declare for a free Parliament 422.

Archdeacon, his Office, 1225.

Archers have a great Shooting Match 268, see Page 223; King Henry the VIIIth's Grant to them 237; a Commission in their Behalf 294.

Archery to be practised 131, 223, 294.

Arches, the Court of, 871, 1279.

Armour in the Middle Temple 973.

Armourers, the Company of, 1235, Hall 893.

Armoury (Spanish) in the Tower 165; (small) 166; (royal Train of Artillery) 167; (Horse) 169.

Army, the Parliament's, approach the City 394; advanceth to Colebrook 404; march through the City 406; arrive at London 417; seize the Cash at Weavers-hall 418; resolves to bring the King to public Trial 418; seizes the City Treasure ib. Part whereof declare for the Parliament 424.

Artillery Company revived 422; their honourable Actions 1226, 1231; take a Lease of the Artillery ground 1370.

Artillery ground, the old, 219, 798, 1162; its Purposes and Uses 798; Armoury built 799; Inscription thereon ib. a Tower Liberty 1175.

Artillery ground in Gerrard-street 1335.

Artillery ground in Southwark 1383.

- Arundel House* 1337.
Artirce (the King's) 1004.
Ashton's (Sir Thomas) Speech against Excise 560.
Aske's Hospital 1289.
Affassination Plot 499.
Affize of Bread, &c. 203.
Association for preserving his Majesty 499.
Atkins (Ald.) chosen Mayor 420.
Atkinson's (Margaret) Will and Funeral 238.
Attornies of the City Courts and their Oath 1209.
Audience Court 872.
Aurum Reginae, see Queen Gold.
Ave-mary-Lane 949.
Austin the Monk 1214.
Austin or Augustine Friars Foundation 841; Funeral Monuments therein ib. granted to Dutch Protestants 842, and to the Marquis of Winchester 840, 842.
Ayre's Alms house 1289.
- B
- Bak-street School* 1274.
Babylon compared with London 746.
Bacon, Lord, his House 1370.
Badger's Alms-house 1289.
Bailey, the Old, 89, 1210.
Bailiff, City allowed to chuse two 98; Bailiffs account to the King of the Issues and Profits arising to him in the City 101; the Meaning of, 1202; see Water.
Bakers punished 92, 103; Ordinance concerning them in the Star Chamber 302; Petition to Parliament against Meal weighers 568; the Company of, 1235; Hall 1032, 1038.
Bakewell-hall, see lackwell-hall.
Baldock (Ralph) Bishop of London 1219.
Balliage Table of Rates 328.
Balmerino's (Lord) Execution 655.
Bancroft's Alms-house 1289; his Monument ib.
Bancroft's School 1275.
Bancroft, Richard, Bishop of London 1223.
Bank and Water-works 1264.
Bank of England 846, 1261; its Establishment and Government, ib. Privileges 847; vindicated, ib. Directors 848; the Directors send a Message to the Secretary of State, and protected by the Queen's Guards 5 8.
Banks, their Names and Number, 720.
Banquet (royal) at Guildhall 542.
Banqueting-house 1373.
Barber's Hall 911, Library ib. the Company of, 1235.
Barbican a Watch-tower 913.
Bards, their Office, as Historians 1.
Baremore's Alms-house 1200.
Barges, when first used on a Lord-mayor's-day 106.
Barking Chapel 1084; a College of royal Foundation ib.
Barking (the Vicar of) his Artifice 191; detected and punished ib.
Barnard's (Sir John) Speech against a general Exercise 547, 553; against the Convention, and for the City's Right to be heard before Parliament by their Counsel 595; Speech on the Merchant's Petition against the Bill for increasing of Seamen 615; Speech against Jews Naturalization 704.
Barnard's Inn 975.
Barons, William, Bishop of London 1222.
Barons demand a Confirmation of their Privileges 76, enter the City ib. excommunicated by the Pope ib. admitted into the City 77, swear Fealty to Lewis ib. desert the City ib. their Army enters London 95, their Letter to the Mayor and Citizens ib. make Peace with K. Henry III. ib.
Baron's Alms-house 1290.
Bartholomew Hospital, Situation and Foundation 983, 1319; Suppression ib. Improvement under the Care of the City ib. Government 984, Charges ib. Charge given to Governors 985, Form of Thanksgiving for Patients recovered ib. present Building 986, Benefactors ib. President and other Officers 986.
Bartholomew Fair 989, a Contest about it 107, an Accident thereat 676, Pie Powder Court 1213, Dispute about the Toll demanded of the Citizens ib. and Page 712, Regulations 989.
Basingball or Bassiflaw Ward 788, Name, Situation and Bounds ib. Government 788, remarkable Places 789.
Basing House 788, 789.
Basket-makers, the Company of, 1242.
Basset, Fulk, Bishop of London 1218.
Bassets, their House 782.
Bassiflaw, see Basingball.
Batt, Gerrard, the Mayor, degraded 85.
Batt, Nicholas, convicted of Perjury 86.
- Battle of Chertton-down* 375.
Battle, the Abbot of, his House 1390.
Baynard's Castle 874; demolished 51, 879; destroyed by Fire 188, 878; rebuilt 217, 878.
Bayning's Alms-house 1290.
Beam, of Goods weighed at the King's 469.
Bear-gardens, the first erected 1382.
Beasts, see Slaughter.
Beatrice Countess of Provence 86.
Beaumont (Lord) his House 874.
Becket (St. Thomas à) his Life 886.
Beckford (William) Esq; 692.
Bedford (Duke of) Regent of France 188.
Bedford House 1347.
Bethnal-green Hamlet 1374.
Beech-lane Alms-house 1290.
Beef, its Price 235.
Beggars banish'd 222, how to be dealt with 257, 275; in Time of the Plague 260, a Presentment against them ib. and 620.
Bellknappe, Robert, his House 1142.
Bele or Bell (Dr.) 224.
Bellman, the first employed by Night 252, his Speech at Newgate, and his Exhortation to the Prisoners, see Newgate and St. Sepulchre.
Belmeis (Richard de) 1st Bishop of London 1216.
Bellmeis (Richard de) 2d Bishop of London 1217.
Bell-tower, in the Little Sanctuary, and in the New-palace-yard 1341, 1342.
Benbridge's Inn 1004.
Benevolence demanded for the King by Cardinal Woolsey 227, rejected by the Common Council 228, levied arbitrarily 238, given by the Citizens 2 8.
Berkley, Robert, a wicked Judge 306.
Bermeester's Alms-house 1290.
Bermondsey, the Antiquity thereof 1387, &c.
Bermondsey School 1275.
Berneye, Walter, fin'd 132.
Bethlehem or Bedlam (old) founded 795, 796; revived ib. 798, present State ib. added to Bishopsgate Parish 797, Burial Ground ib. a Sermon thereon ib. Inscription over the Gate 798.
Bethlehem Hospital 1290.
Bethel (Slingsey) chose Sheriff 468.
Bewis-Marks 782, School 1275.
Bible printed in English 238.
Billinggate Ward, Situation, Name, Bounds, 790, present State and Condition ib. memorable Places 790, 791, 792; Government 793, Parishes ib.
Billinggate 30, 791; constituted a Market 501, 791, 792.
Bills of Mortality, divers Accounts thereof 736 to 746.
Bishops (ten) committed to the Tower 356, seven committed 485.
Bishops of London 1214, &c.
Bishopsgate 23, repaired 105.
Bishopsgate Ward 793, its Name and Bounds ib. Extent and present State 794, Government 796, remarkable Places ib. Parishes ib.
Black-Friars, near Fleetditch, its Foundation 104, King Edward II's Charter to them 110, their House in Holbourn 951, a new one erected in the City 951, 1066; Parliament held there 951, dissolved ib. and 958, to whom granted ib. Records of the Crown kept there ib. contest with the City about Liberties 952, Pretences on both Sides ib. Monumental Inscriptions 958, four Heads found in its Ruins 959.
Black-Friars, the Precinct of, exempt from certain Taxes 291, restored to the City 563, see Farringdon Ward within.
Black-Friars School 1275.
Blackloft Palace 880.
Blacksmiths, the Company of, 1242, their Hall 1026.
Blackwell-hall, the Cloth Market 229, regulated 462, 789; its Situation and Origin 789, rebuilt ib.
Blackison (Ald.) sworn in 680.
Bleckmidt, Felix Adams, his unparrallel'd Epitaph 1334.
Bloomsbury, the King's Stables 136.
Blud, or Blood, steals the Crown 161.
Boars-head Tavern 793.
Bolingbroke-House 1335.
Bone, a huge one 1135.
Bones, Human, very large 1345.
Bonner (Edmund) Bishop of London 1222.
Borgate (John) arrested 186.
Borough, the Court of, 1282.
Bosworth (Sir John) his Resignation of the Chamberlainship 686.
Botolph's Wharf 791.
Botolphsgate 30.
Bottle, the Man in the 670.
Bounty of Queen Anne, the Office of, 1265.
Bourne, a factious Priest, his Sermon 248.
- Bourn's Alms-house* 1290.
Bow Steeple fell down 102.
Bowyers, the Company of, 1242, Hall 911.
Box Clubs 1326.
Bradby, John, burn'd for Religion 185.
Bramber, Sir Nicholas, executed 178.
Braybroke, Robert, Bishop of London 1220.
Braziers, see Armourers.
Bread, its Affize in the Citizens of London 203.
Breadstreet Ward 823, its Name and Bounds ib. Extent and present State 824, Government ib. Parishes 825, remarkable Places ib.
Brembre (Sir Nicholas) 144, executed 878.
Bretagne, the Duke of, his House 765.
Brewers, the Company of, 1242, Hall 911.
Brewers may employ Non-freemen 512.
Brewhouse, the King's, 1084.
Bricklayers Hall 787.
Bridewell, King John's Palace 75, the Hospital of, 979, 1290; Benefactors 980, 983; King Edward's Grant thereof to the City 281, its use ib. Apprentices ib. Burnt 982, Chapel ib. Court Room ib. Government and present State ib. septenary Account 1290.
Bridge of London built and described 44, Buildings thereon 45, not built on Woolpacks 46, no Trench or Canal made to divert the Stream ib. destroyed by Fire 50, Encomium thereon ib. Mills and other Works ib. see P. 832; present State of its Buildings 52, 827; Orders for Carriages passing thereon ib. new Drawbridge ib. Toll ib. great Fire thereon 75, five Arches carried away by a Frost 105, Rock Lock what 190, ordered to be surveyed 710, 711; Reports 711, Method of repairing and improving it 827, Sterlings how to be removed ib. Sir Christopher Wren's Plan for repairing it ib. Queries thereupon made by a Committee of the Bridge house, and answered by Messrs. Dance and Sparruck 828, 830; further Proceedings of the Committee 830, Queries to Mr. Labeye ib. his Answer 831, his Proposals 831, Messrs. Folke's, Jurin's and Hawksbee's Answer to the Queries of the Committee 832.
Bridge at Westminster, see Westminster Bridge.
Bridge (New) at Fleetditch, its Benefits 709, proposed in Common-council 710, Mr. Duck-er's Opinion thereof ib. Survey ordered ib.
Bridgegate 40, two Arches fall 190.
Bridge Chapel, see London Bridge.
Bridge Ward within, its Name and Bounds 827, Extent and present State ib. and 833, Government ib. remarkable Things ib. Churches ib.
Bridge Yard 1 86.
Bridewell Precinct 1390.
Bridtoll, what 53.
Britain's (Duke of) House 949.
Britain's Burse 1344.
Britons attack the Romans 4, conclude a Peace with them 5, their Hostages withdraw from the Roman Camp ib. attack the Roman Foragers, but repuls'd ib. sue for Peace 6, desert the Coast, pursu'd, and their Camp taken by Cæsar ib. attack the Romans divers times, but repuls'd ib. drove from their Intrenchments ib. their chief Town taken ib. attack the Roman Camp, but defeated ib. Manner of fighting ib. a Peace with Cæsar ib. an Account of their Towns, Temples and Houses 7, first taught to build ib. live quietly under the Romans ib. cease to pay Tribute to the Romans ib. revolt and forbid all Intercourse with Rome ib. defeated by the Romans ib. routed by Claudius 15.
Broadstreet Ward, Contest about its Alderman 421, &c. Petition of the Inhabitants 524, Committee of Enquiry ib. Resolution of the House of Lords thereon 525, Scrutiny demanded 618, its Name and Bounds 838, Extent ib. present State 839, Parishes 845, remarkable Places 845, Ward School 853.
Broderers, the Company of, 1242.
Brokers, who may act as such 133, Fees paid to the Register 319.
Broken, see Brooke's Wharf.
Bromfield, see Chambers.
Brook-house 1351.
Brook, Sir Basil, &c. endeavours to accommodate Matters between the King and City 374, taken up and secured for the same 375.
Brookbank (Stamp) Esq; refuses to fine or serve Sheriff 628.
Brooke's Wharf, or Broken Wharf 1030.
Brutus not the Founder of London 14.
Bubberwith, Nicholas, Bishop of London 1221.
Bubbles set on Foot 517, an Order against them, ib. a List of them ib. ordered to be prosecuted 529.
Buchanan (James) rescued from Execution 592.
Buck's (Sir John) Works characterized 810.
- Buckingham,

Buckingham, Duke of, &c. their Letters to the City 415, 416.
 Buckle's House 889.
 Buildings first erected in London 15, Queen Elizabeth's Proclamation against new Buildings 264, King James I's Proclamation against them 283, 289, 294; Cromwell's 422.
 Buildings after the Fire of London in 1666, Rules and Directions for them settled by Parliament 441, a Plan of the Dimensions of the several Stories 442, Scantlings of Timber ib. of Laths, Stone and Sewers ib. confirmed by Order of Council 443, Sir Christopher Wren's Plan of a new City, 446.
 Bullen's (Anne) Coronation, and Treatment by the City 233, 234, 235; beheaded 236.
 Bulleyn, Godfrey, his Charity 196.
 Bulls, see Oxen.
 Bunhill-fields 137.
 Bunhill School 1275.
 Burgavenny House 949.
 Burgundian Merchants murdered 190.
 Burial Grounds purchased in Time of Plagues 128; for Bethlehem 797.
 Burials not mentioned in the Bills of Mortality 741.
 Buris-Marks, see Bevis-Marks.
 Burleigh House 874.
 Butchers Hall 793.
 Butcherball-Lane 922, 938.
 Butchers, the Company of, 1242.
 Butchers, Laws relating to them 130, 180, 218; obliged to sell in Leadenhall Market 235, see Act of Common-council for the settling and well ordering of publick Markets; incorporated 676.
 Butchers, Foreign, brought into Leadenhall 235.
 Butler's Alms-house 1291.
 Butler, Chief, the Lord Mayor 54, 136; see Page 125, 248.
 Butter consumed in London 758.
 Buying and Selling, King Richard II's Charter concerning it 136, King Henry the VIII's Charter concerning it 221, Act of Common-council for preventing Frauds.
 Byntworth, Richard de, Bishop of London 1220.

C

CADE, Jack, his Rebellion 194, beheads Lord Say, &c. and robs divers Citizens ib. the City Gates shut against him 195, endeavours to force the Bridge ib. abandoned by his Followers and kill'd ib. his Character ib.
 Cadix, the Town of, taken 280.
 Cæsar Lud, or Cæsar London, 10, 11.
 Cæsar Lands in Britain, &c. 4.
 Cairo compared with London 750.
 Calais, the Siege of, rais'd 190, besieged and taken 253.
 Calculations concerning the Number of Inhabitants 736 to 760.
 Calvert (Sir William) chosen Member of Parliament 628.
 Calves consumed in London 757.
 Cambricks, and French Lawns, Petitions against them 701.
 Cambray House 1371.
 Cameron's (Dr) Execution 707.
 Camp's Alms-house 1291.
 Candles consumed in London 760.
 Candlewick Ward 853, its Name, Bounds, and Extent, ib. modern state ib. Government 854, remarkable Places ib. Parishes and Churches ib. Antiquities 854, Antiquities 874.
 Canning's (Eliz.) Case 694, suspected 696, Trial 697, Motion for a new Trial 701, Transported 712.
 Canonbury House 1370.
 Canons of St. Paul's 1225.
 Canons Houses at Westminster 1342.
 Canute proclaimed King 35, his Fleet, and Manner of sailing above Bridge ib. his various Success before London ib.
 Capel, Sir William, committed to the Tower 222.
 Capitello (Sig.) Jumped 671.
 Capthickers may employ Non-freemen 512.
 Carders may employ Non-freemen 512.
 Cardinals of St. Paul's, their Office 1226.
 Cardmakers, the Company of, 1243.
 Carmen, the Fellowship of, 1243, Regulations for them 452, 454, 471.
 Carmelite Friars, see White-Friars
 Caroline, Queen, complimented by the Lord Mayor, &c. 541, a Design to rob her 543, congratulated by the Mayor, &c. ib. by the Common Council 563, by the Mayor, &c. 570.
 Caron's Alms-house 1291.
 Carpenters, the Company of, 1243, Hall 845.

Carriage of Wool, &c. granted to the City 209.

Cartaret's (Lord) Speech on the City's Right to be heard before the Parliament by Counsel 594, &c.

Carthusians 973.

Cases (Chirurgical) extraordinary 661.

Casimire, John, Prince Palatine, arrives in London 264.

Cass (Sir John) built two Schools 787, Demur and Proceedings about his Foundations and Charity ib. confirmed in Chancery 788, 1010.

Casswellan's Wars with Cæsar 5, 6.

Cassle-street Library 1286.

Cassle Baynard Ward 854, Name, Bounds, Extent 855, present State ib. Government 856, remarkable Places 856, Parishes and Churches ib.

Cassle-street School 1275.

Catharine, Princess of Spain, her publick Entry 220.

Cattle, the Price of, 34, 39, 42, 128, 241, see Slaughter, Butchers.

Cattle, Mortality of, 238, see Distemper.

Catur (William) and John Davis his Apprentices 192.

Causeway, Roman, discovered at the rebuilding of Bow Church 897.

Chamberlain's Court 1213.

Chamberlain's Office, farm'd of the King 75.

Chamberlain, his Office, 1206, Proceedings at the Choice of one 686, the Number of the Poll 688

Chambers and Bromfield's Cafe 306.

Champion's, Richard, Benefaction to Milborne's Alms-houses 786.

Champion (Sir Geo.) set aside from being Mayor 599, 608, 618; Speeches and Proceedings ib. and 600, 601.

Chandlers (Corn) Ordinance concerning them in the Star Chamber 302.

Chancellor of St. Paul's, his Office 1225.

Chancery, an Inn of, 1180.

Chancery, the Court of, 1280.

Chanter's Office in St. Paul's 1225.

Chapel House 1359.

Chapel (St. Thomas's) on London Bridge 45.

Chapel of the Pew 1340, 1342.

Chapel, a subterraneous one 1176.

Chapels, a List of them 1188.

Chapter House of St. Paul's 943.

Charing-Cross 1344.

Charitable Corporation 1265.

Charity of a Lord Mayor 191.

Charity Schools, see Schools.

Charles V. (Emperor) at London 227.

Charles I. created Prince of Wales 297, proclaim'd King 299, demands a Loan of the City ib. commands them to furnish 20 Ships of War ib. Letter to the Lord Mayor concerning the Murder of Dr. Lamb 300, threatens to take away the City's Liberties ib. Order concerning Shops in Cheap-side 301, entertained with a Masquerade by the Inns of Court 302, at Merchant Taylors Hall 304, Writ for raising Ship-money ib. refers the Clergy's Petition for Increase of Tythes to Commissioners 306, his Letter to the City ib. arbitrary Proceeding against the City 321, demands 4000 Men against the Scots ib. applies to the City for a Loan of 200000l. 332, his Answer to the Recorder's Speech 342, march through the City 343, entertain'd by the Citizens 344, embraces the Lord Mayor 345, his Message to the City ib. demands five Members of the House of Commons ib. bad Policy in removing Balfour 350, orders the Train'd-bands to do Duty at Whitehall 351, his Speech to the Common Council 352, dines with one of the Sheriffs ib. his Answer to the City Petition ib. breaks with the Parliament 356, writes to the City to raise neither Men nor Money ib. denied Entrance into Hull ib. issues out Commissions of Array, ib. his Proclamation against the Practices of the Parliament 360, promises Redress of Grievances 360, disavows any bad Intention against the City, ib. takes Brentford, ib. his Proclamation concerning Trade 362, his Answer to the City Petition 363, his Letter declaratory to the City 367, his Commission to Sir Nicholas Crispe, &c. to raise Forces 369, Resolutions thereupon 370, his Proclamation against trading to London 371, forbids all Intercourse with the City 374, his Letter to the Citizens 374, writes to the Common Council 385, his Trial proclaim'd in Cheap-side 419.

Charles II. Letter to the City 425, proclaim'd 426, knights divers of the Citizens ib. met by the Lord Mayor ib. his publick Entry ib. renews the City Charters 429, Care to suppress the Fire of London 433, Declaration thereon 438, entertained at Guildhall 462, accepts of the Freedom ib. shews his Dislike of the Sheriffs of London 472, gives a Brace of Bucks to the loyal Apprentices 473, requires the Citizens to agree to divers Particulars 482, causes the Judgment upon the Quo Warranto to be enter'd 483, appoints a Mayor, Sheriffs and Recorder ib. degrades divers of the Aldermen ib.

Charnel House, see St. Paul's Cathedral.

Charters—of Edward the Confessor 81—of William the Conqueror 37; his 2d, 38 of Henry I 39—of Henry II. 44, 53—of Richard I. 1st, 55; 2d, 56—of John, 1st, 73; 2d and 3d, 74; 4th, 75; 5th, 76—of Henry III. 1st, 79; 3d, 4th, 5th, 79, 80, 81; 6th, 86, 88; his Charter of Remission 98—of Henry III. 7th, ib. 8th, 99—of Edward I. 108—of Edward II. to the Black-Friars, 110; to the City, 118—of Edward III. 120, 122, 124, 132, 133—of Richard II. 136; to the Constable of the Tower 143—of Hen. IV. 184—of Edward IV. 1st, 200; 2d, 204; 3d, 208; 4th, 209—of Henry VII. 221—of Henry VIII. 1st, 226; 2d, 231—of Edward VI. 242—of James I. 1st, 284; 2d, 288; 3d, 295—of Charles I. 1st, 308; 2d, 322—all the above confirm'd by Charles II. 429, and by Parliament 491—of King George II. for the Increase of Justices of the Peace, 620.

[After each of the Charters above-mention'd are subjoin'd an Explanation of the respective Privileges therein granted to the Citizens.]

Charter, of London, often questioned 319, seized by Quo Warranto 467, restored 485.

Charter House Hospital 1291.

Charter-House School 1275.

Cheap-side, why so called 890, Cross new built 891, finish'd 217, ordered to be repaired 891, pulled down 266, King's Order concerning Shops therein 301, 307, 826; how the Streets has been raised 827, Standard 890.

Cheap Ward, its Name 88, Bounds and Extent 881, modern State ib. Government 882, remarkable Things ib. Parishes and Churches ib.

Chelsea Waterworks 1265.

Cheese consumed in London 759.

Cherrytree-Alley School 1275.

Chester House 1345.

Chesterwell-street, at first pav'd 1104

Chichester House 1352.

Chicheley (Sir Robert) his Donation to the City 187, his House 1038.

Childwite, what 53.

Chisul, John, Bishop of London 1219.

Chirurgical Cafes 661.

Cholmondeley's Alms-house 1292.

Christ's Church 1087, (see Grey Friars) Antiquities 1090.

Christ's Church, in Spittlefields 1350, in Southwark 1382.

Christ's Hospital 1292, Donations thereto 789, 937, 938, Situation 935, Foundation, ib. Habit 936, for whom designed 937, Mathematical School 938, Number of Children ib. Hall ib. Wards 939, 941, enlarged by private Benefactors ib. 941, 942, the Schools ib. Masters 940, Governors ib. their Charge, ib. Officers and Provisions ib. Rules and Orders ib. Country Schools 941, Expences and Revenues ib. its present State 942, Names of the Prefident, &c. ib.

Christ's Hospital School 1275.

Christian, King of Denmark, his publick Entry 227, 286.

Christian Religion, when settled in London 1214, its Progress 1214 to 1226.

Church, a subterraneous one 1176, 1127.

Churches, fifty appointed to be built 509.

Citizens of London attack the Danish Camp 34, take the Castle of Southbemsfleet ib. engage the Scots at Brunanburg ib. beat the Danes at Sea, 36, send Representatives to the Council at Oxford 36, invite Hardacnut from Flanders ib. attack the Normans 37, submit to the Conqueror, ib. pay King Stephen 100 Marks 41, summoned to the Council of Winchester 42, treat with Matilda the Empress, ib. receive her into, and compel her to fly the City ib. besiege her in Winchester ib. take the Castle of Farrindon, ib. their Licentiousness 43, pay Henry II. divers Sums of Money 53, erect themselves into Fraternities, ib. give Security to pay a certain Sum to King Richard I. 54, their Houses of Wood, and thatch'd ib. to be built of Stone, ib. meet the Nobility in St. Paul's Church-yard ib. have their Privileges confirm'd ib. contend with the Citizens of Winchester about the Chief Butler's Office ib. pay towards the King's Ransom ib. receive Otho, the Emperor, in great State 75, make a Present to the King ib. commanded to degrade and imprison their Sheriffs ib. intercede for them them 75, interdicted ib. join the Barons against King John 76, a great Number destroy'd ib. their Privileges confirmed by Magna Charta 77, invite Lewis the French Prince over ib. open their Gates to fight the King's Army ib. destroy sixty-five Pirate Ships ib. receive a Letter of Thanks from the French Prince ib. deserted by the Barons ib. receive King Henry III. with great Tokens of Joy 78, pay 40 Marks ib. pay a fifteenth Part of their personal Estate ib. rise against the Abbot of Westminster ib. severely punished 79, compelled to pay 5000 Marks ib. apply for a Confirmation of Magna Charta ib. pay a Fifteenth of their personal Estates for five Charters ib. viz. 1st, for Election of Sheriffs ib. 2d for Election of Mayor 80, 3d for Jurisdiction upon the Thames ib. 4th, for pleading and recovering Debts in the City, and for acquitting the Londoners of Toll in his foreign Dominions ib. 5th, confers the disforested Warren of Staines 81, obliged to pay Tallage ib. meet the King and Queen 82, agree with foreign Merchants for landing, &c. their Wood 83, bring Water by Pipes into the City from Tyburn ib. receive the Emperor of Greece in great State 85, make great Rejoicings ib. commanded to chuse Simon Fitz-Mary Mayor ib. swear Fealty to Prince Henry ib. Money extorted from them 86, present the King with rich Gifts ib. receive the Countess of Provence in a pompous Manner ib. 2500 Marks extorted from them ib. their Liberties seized ib. chuse the Keeper of the Mint ib. purchase Queenhithe ib. beat the Royal Domesticks 88, accommodate a Difference with the Abbot of Waltham 89, Stone to Death the Valet of the King's Half-Brother 92, receive fresh Marks of the King's Displeasure ib. swear to maintain the Constitutions of Oxford 93, Collectors embezzle their Cash ib. deny Entrance to the Prince of Wales and the Earl of Gloucester 94, swear to be true to the King ib. arm against Prince Edward ib. join the Earl of Leicester 95, march out to fight the King ib. many killed at Croyden 96, beaten by Prince Edward ib. disfranchised by Act of Parliament ib. several of them imprisoned ib. greatly oppressed ib. emerged in the Sum of 20000 Marks ib. the Form of their Pardon 98, Warrant of Discharge ib. give Recognizance for Payment of Money on behalf of the King to the Merchants of Dorway and to the Duke of Brunswick ib. are allowed to chuse two Bailiffs ib. shut their Gates against the Earl of Gloucester 99, are overpowered by the Earl ib. are plundered and interdicted by the Pope's Legate ib. submit to Henry III. ib. pay 1000 Marks to the King of the Romans ib. the Power of electing their Magistrates restored 102, present the King and Prince with Money ib. enter into a Recognizance to pay 1000 Marks to the Queen ib. receive Edward I. in great State ib. chuse two Mayors ib. indebted to the King 102, rejoice exceedingly at the King's Return from the Holy Land 102, complain of many Grievances from their Magistrates 104, loose their Liberties 106, break up the Tun Prison 107, fined 20000 Marks for the same ib. insist upon their Customs in answer to the King's Letter for apprehending Felons 109, paid 2000 Marks 110, undertake to pay 1000 l. for the King ib. obliged to answer the Deficiencies of the Sheriffs Accounts 111, declared to be the Sheriffs of London and Middlesex ib. refuse to be tallaged ib. exempt from Taxes at Henley upon Thames ib. make Constitutions for regulating the City Government 115, receive a Writ from Edward II. to chuse Members of Parliament 116, send Troops for an Expedition into Scotland 117, take the Castle of Leeds 118, exempt from warring out of the City ib. obliged to pay a large Sum of Money to the King ib. refuse to supply him with Men ib. receive the Queen and Prince with great Joy 119, behead the Bishop of Exeter ib. seize upon the Tower ib. obtain new Privileges from K. Edw. III. 120, the Farm of the Borough of Southwark 122, receive the Dutchess of Hainault with great Magnificence 122, receive a Charter of Confirmation 124, advance the King 20000 Marks on the Faith of Parliament 125, will not suffer the Judges to sit in the City 126, obtain a Renewal of their Privileges ib. desire they may not be knighted 127, petition the King against being tried out of the City 128, obtain a fourth Charter of Privileges 129, aid his Majesty with twenty-five Men at Arms and five hundred Archers against France ib. invade France 130, advance 4601 l. 3 s. 4 d. on Faith of Parliament 132, petition King and Parliament against unjust Licences to Foreigners ib. obtain another Charter ib. petition the King to chuse their Coroner 134, divert the Princess of Wales, &c. at Kennington ib. endeavour to excuse themselves to the Duke of Lancaster 135, invite Prince Richard to reside in the City 136, petition a Confirmation of their Liberties ib. appeal against K. Richard II's Charter to the Constable of the Tower 143, obtain a Confirmation of their Charters by Parliament 144, assert their Right to part of Tower-hill 148, claim the Chief Butlership ib. desire the Duke of Gloucester to assume the Government of the Kingdom 177, attend the King at Windsor ib. a bold Speech by one of them ib. supply the Barons Army with Provisions 178, refuse to lend the King Money 179, summon'd to attend the King at Nottingham ib. impeach one another ib. throw themselves on the King's Mercy ib. committed to Prison ib. fined in 3000 Marks, and their Liberties seized 180, restored again ib. present Richard II. with rich Gifts ib. pay the King 10000 l. for the Liberty of chusing their Mayor again ib. not to be punished for the Mal-Administration of their Magistrates ib. petition against St. Martin's le Grand 184, debar Country Chapmen from dealing with Foreigners in London ib. Contest with the Archbishop of Canterbury 185, granted a free Passage by Land and Water for the erecting of Guildhall ib. petition the King against Taxes 182, receive Q. Isabella with great Pomp ib. receive Henry Duke of Hereford into the City ib. assist K. Henry IV. against the Conspirators 184, obtain new Privileges ib. complain against St. Martin's le Grand ib. right to Tolls and the weighing of Lead, Wax, Pepper, Alom, Madder, &c. ib. petition against Nuisances in the Thames 186, coldly received by the Duke of Bedford 188, receive the King in great Pomp 189, forbid to put their Children Apprentices ib. present him with Money 190, agree to maintain their Troops in the Field ib. force St. Martin's le Grand 191, received Queen Margaret with great Pomp 192, receive Jack Cade into the City 194, shut him out 195, five thousand by order of the Mayor mount Guard 198, would not admit the King's Troops into the City 199, receive the Earl of March's Army into the City 199, 200, present the Princess Margaret with Golden Basons 205, repair the City Walls, &c. 208, lend the King 5000 Marks 210, amazed at the Treason of the Duke of Gloucester 214, their Horror at his Proceedings ib. write concerning the Chief Butlership 215, become great Sufferers by Foreigners 216, to carry no Merchandize either to Fair or Market ib. raise a great Sum by way of Benevolence 218, pay 5000 Marks for a Confirmation of their Liberties 220, in a great Consternation 223, destroy the Fences in the Fields on the North Side of the City 223, commanded to keep their Doors shut, &c. 224, will not contribute to a Benevolence 226, forbid to traffick with Foreign Merchants 227, mustered at Mile-end 233, march thro' the City ib. conduct Q. Ann Bullen by Water from Greenwich ib. their Procession from the Tower to Temple-bar 234, mustered at Mile-end 233, 236, receive Q. Anne of Cleve into the City 237, send a Regiment of Foot to France 239, the Companies mount Guard 240, their Message to the King upon demand of Aid against the Protector 241, Entertainment of the Queen of Scots 241, send 500 against Wyat 248, restrained from employing Foreigners 252, advance 20000 l. to Q. Mary 253, in great Misery 256, the Younger selected, and instructed in the Art Military 261, their Right ascertained to the District of Ely-house ib. impowered to bring Water from Ware ib. compliment the Queen 268, send Troops to assist the Dutch 269, Contest with the Lieutenant of the Tower 269, grant the Queen 10000 Men 272, grant ditto twenty Ships of War 274, lend her 15000 l. ib. supply the Queen with 1000 Men ib. Contest with the Lord High Admiral ib. raise 6000 Men for the Publick Service 280, fit out sixteen Ships for the same Purpose ib. in great Confusion 281, fit out divers Ships of War ib. defeat the Earl of Essex 281, aid against Privateers ib. are thanked by the Queen ib. fit out two Ships of War 282, lend K. James I. 60000 l. 284, raise 20000 l. for the Purchase of Ulster 293, present the King of Denmark with a Golden Cup 288, send a Deputation to Ireland 294, their Presents to the Prince Palatine, &c. 294, present Swords of State to the Cities of Londonderry and Colerain 297, address his Majefty returned from Scotland 297, grant a Benevolence to the King 298, raise 2000 Men for Foreign Service 299, fit out twenty Ships of War ib. fined 6000 l. 300, divers imprisoned ib. fined for opposing new arbitrary Impositions 301, ordered by the King to fit out several Ships of War 306, petition against the same 307, obtain a most extensive Charter 308, their great Riches 319, petition'd against by their Parish Priests concerning Tithes ib. petition against the Manner of their being settled ib. condemn'd to lose their Lands in Ireland and to pay a great Fine 319, supported by Parliament ib. send Soldiers to Scotland 32, ordered to be prosecuted in the Star-chamber 322, obtain a second Charter ib. petition the King ib. agree to a Loan of 200 00 l. 333, petition the Parliament, with Schedule of Grievances 334, deny the Parliament a Loan of 100000 l. 337, petition against the Earl of Strafford ib. 6000 arm'd repair to Westminster 338, petition against Lord Strafford ib. petition against Protections 339, Contest about the Election of Sheriffs ib. lend the Parliament 50000 l. 340, Preparations for the Reception of the King returning from Scotland ib. Manner of receiving his Majesty into the City 34, entertain his Majesty 344, return Thanks to the King 345, two Petitions to his Majesty 345, 346, petition Parliament for Reformation 349, against appointing Col. Lunsford Lieut. of the Tower 350, protect the five Members 352, escort them to the Parliament-house 353, thank'd by the House of Commons 354, obtain an Act of Indemnity ib. their Answer to the Message of the House of Commons ib. petition the King to return 362, raise 500 0 l. for the Parliament 372, petition against an Accommodation ib. raise 50000 l. more for their own Defence 373, raise six Regiments to relieve Gloucester ib. invite the Parliament to Dinner 375, harangued by the Commissioners of the Parliament 378, 379, Trade Westward obstructed 382, means for protecting thereof ib. Newcastle Trade obstructed ib. petition for settling Church Government 384, against Sectaries 385, Independents petition the Parliament 388, in a great Consternation 389, become Mediators between the Parliament and Army 394, arm in their own Defence 401, insulted for opening their Shops on Christmas-day 411, behaviour to Oliver Cromwell 420, 421, 422, Citizens join General Monk to restore the King 423, 424, 425, receive the King's Messengers kindly 426, send fourteen Deputies and 10000 l. to the King ib. under terrible Apprehensions 450, petition the King for a Parliament 468, give great Disgust 469, elect and instruct their Members ib. invited to oppose the Duke of York's Succession 473, invite the King to Dinner ib. their Proceedings in the Election of Sheriffs in 1682 ib. oppose the arbitrary Proceedings of the Lord-Mayor 475, oppose an Order of Council ib. Duty according to their Oath 479, Privileges 480, petition for Pardon upon the Judgment on the Two Warrants 482, fourteen fined ib. yield to slavish Conditions 483, address the Prince of Orange 487, entertain King William and Queen Mary at Guildhall 491, obtain a Confirmation of their Charter and Privileges from the Parliament ib. Sums paid for Charters 494, Rejoicings on his Majesty's Return from Holland 496, entertain their Majesties at Dinner ib. apply to Parliament for Relief in the Orphan's Fund ib. address the Queen after the Battle of Landen 497, advance the Sum of 300000 l. ib. congratulate his Majesty on his Return from Holland ib. Instructions to their Representatives in Parliament 500, Address to K. William III. on the Proclamation of the Pretender 502, address Queen Anne on her Accession 503, lend the Emperor 200000 l. 510, prevented in their Intentions to entertain Prince Eugene ib. receive K. George I. 515, 516, Address on the French Invasion in favour of the Pretender in 1715, 516, address him 517, address the King on the Suppression of the Rebellion 520, petition the Parliament relating to the South-Sea Scheme 530, many petition against regulating the City Elections 534, address K. George II. and Queen Caroline on their Accession 541, entertain them at Guildhall ib. Address on his Majesty's Return from Hanover 545, petition against the Excise Bill 560, Right to have it read 561, impowered to erect Lamps 565, address the King, &c. on the Birth of Prince George 588, petition against the Convention 593, their Right to be heard by their Counsel 594, reject Sir George Champion from being Mayor

- Mayor 599, petition against the running of Wool 617, instruct their Members 619, petition for a vigorous Protection of Trade and Navigation 627, Bounty to the Army in 1745 649, Address on the Victory at Culloden 652, petition against naturalizing Foreigners 658, pompous manner of Living 1326, Diversions antient and modern 1327.
- City Liberties 1020.
- Claudius, the Emperor, resolves on the Conquest of Briton 7, Lands 8, Routs the Britons ib. in Britain 15.
- Clement's Inn 1278.
- Clement's Well 1336.
- Clergy cajole the Citizens to desert their Friends, and Interest of their Country 41, desert King Stephen, and join with Matilda, the Empress ibid.
- Clergymens Widows incorporated 466, 1292, petition K. Charles I. for Increase of their Tythes 305.
- Clergymen committed to Prison, see Tun.
- Clerk of the Papers appointed 207.
- Clerks Hall 800.
- Clerkenwell Spring 83, Priory 1363.
- Clerks Well, Plays acted there ib.
- Cleve's (Anne of) Reception into the City 237.
- Clifford's Inn 1278.
- Clifford, Richard, Bishop of London 1221.
- Clink Liberty, the Court of, 1280.
- Clock-makers, the Company of, 1243, petition for a Livery and rejected 675.
- Cloth Trade in decline 229, Wolsey's Proposal for moving the Market 229.
- Cloth-workers, entertain K. James I. 289, the Company of, 1235 Hall 1037.
- Clubs of Tradesmen 1326.
- Cnut, see Canute.
- Cnut's Trench or Canal 35.
- Coaches, Hackney, see Hackney-Coaches.
- Coach-makers, the Company of, 1243, their Hall 762, 763.
- Coalmetage, Controversy about it with the Lord High Admiral 274.
- Cool-meeters, Report of their Irregularities, &c. and Order for their Amendment 513, their Oath 514, Rules and Orders ib. Office 1265.
- Coals (Sea) prohibited to be burnt in London 109, their Price 236, 274, Combination among the Dealers therein 274, to prevent Frauds in them 471, how measured and carried 472, its Unwholsomness 715, consumed in London 760.
- Cobham's Inn 1039.
- Coins, in Saxon Times 156, after the Conquest ib. Table of Weight and Fineness of Silver Coins ib. Coins current 157. See Old Change.
- Cold, an Epidemical one 546.
- Colechurch (Peter of) Architect to London-bridge 44, 45.
- Coldharbour 185, 639, 922, granted to the Heralds 922, Seat of the Bishop of Durham's ib.
- Colemanstreet Ward, its Name and Bounds 892, Extent, and modern State, ib. Government 893, remarkable Places ib. Parishes and Churches ib. Antiquities 894.
- Collar of Gold for the Use of the Lord-Mayor 238.
- College of Heralds, see Heralds-Office.
- College of Physicians, see Physicians.
- Collet (Dean) 932.
- Colours hung up in Guildhall 1121.
- Combat, in Smithfield 189, wherein a perfidious Servant murder'd his Master 192.
- Comb-makers, the Company of, 1244.
- Committee for preventing Abuses in the Markets 500.
- Committee of Safety 392.
- Committee for examining Disputes between Masters and Journeymen 678.
- Committee of the Militia to shut up Shops 372, Order for the Train'd-Bands to march 373, to search for Arms 391, Petition to Parliament for 20000 l. &c. 396, defeated by the City 422.
- Commonalty, an Account thereof, 1207.
- Common Council, their Number and Names in 1284, 105; chosen by Wards 145, 176, 1278, turn'd out their Aldermen ib. Duty 176, send a Deputation to the Privy-Council 272, grant the Queen eight Ships of War and 450 Soldiers 253, petition the King against Ship-Money 305, against appointing Col. Lunsford Lieutenant of the Tower 350, Remonstrance to K. Ch. I. 352, their Act to raise Money to fortify the City 368, 372, petition against an Accommodation with the King 372, an Act to raise Money ib. petition the House of Commons to restore the Committee of both Kingdoms 380, resolve to send out more Troops 382, impower'd to dig for Turf and Peat ib. appoint a Lieutenant for the Tower of London 383, petition the House of Lords to settle Church Government 384, Remonstrance to persecute Sectaries 387, petition to have the Army disbanded 390, petition to give Satisfaction to the Army 390, answer the Army's Letter 392, their Answer 393, petition concerning the Army 394, petition to re-establish the Militia 399, their Declaration 402, promise to guard the Parliament 402, Letter to the General 404, in great Distress 405, write submissively to the General ib. order a Bafon and Ewer of Gold to be made for the General 406, refuse to advance Money to the Parliament 407, write to the General ib. declare they cannot raise Money 408, petition for a Power to raise Money ib. thank the Parliament for their great Care of them ib. Letter to the General concerning Arrears 409, petition the Parliament to provide for the Army 410, Ordinance of Parliament for their Regulation 411, petition to have their Posts and Chains put up again 412, petition the House of Commons 414, resolve to stand by the Parliament ib. petition to nominate the Militia Committee ib. petition for a Treaty with the King ib. explain the same ib. pray that Skippon may not enlist Men in the City 415, Engagement ib. receive the Prince of Wales's Declaration ib. petition that the King may be set at Liberty 416, petition for Unity and Amity between the Parliament, City and Army ib. acquaint the Parliament with the General's Letter 417, Propositions to the General 418, difficult to get Persons to serve as Common Councilmen 419, petition to have the King brought to Justice ib. return Thanks to the Parliament 420, lend the Parliament 120000 l. make a Present to Fairfax and Cromwell ib. keep a Day of Thanksgiving ib. petition to have the Gospel preserv'd in Purity 421, refuse to agree with the Committee of Safety 422, refuse to assist the Parliament 423, agree to stand by General Monk 423, chuse Monk their Major General 425, present Lord Mor-daunt with Money 426, send a Deputation to attend K. Charles II. in Holland ib. restore Richmond Park to the King ib. present him with 10000 l. ib. lend Money to the Government 430, is thank'd by the Parliament ib. make Regulations to prevent Fires 450, Qualifications for their Members 462, petition the King concerning the Parliament 468, petition about the Quo Warranto 482, agree to divers slavish Particulars 483, disclaim arresting the Lord-Mayor ib. address the Prince of Orange 487, petition against some arbitrary Proceedings 494, address King William III. 495, resolve to stand by the King ib. advance 200000 l. to the State ib. Act concerning their Election ib. enter into an Association for his Preservation 499, address the Queen 502, censured by the House of Peers 522, petition the Parliament concerning the South Sea Directors 530, against the Bill for regulating Elections 534, petition against the Excise Scheme 548, 560, address the King on the Marriage of the Princess Royal ib. address the King on the Marriage of the Prince of Wales 564, (see Citizens and Acts of Common Council) a scandalous List of this Court 599, Thanks to their Representatives 608, Instructions to their Representatives 628, address the King on account of the Rebellion 646, on the Victory at Culloden 652, on the Birth of a Princess 672, appoint a Committee for examining Disputes between Masters and Journeymen 678, Address on the Birth of a Prince 680, 681, on his Majesty's Return from Hanover 694.
- Common Council, an Account of it, 1208.
- Common Council, the Court of, 1278.
- Commons, the House of, appoint a Committee to sit in the City 352, thank and indemnify the Citizens for guarding the same 354, order a Guard to attend their House ibid. order a Guard to be placed round the Tower of London ib. send to borrow 100000 l. of the City ib. their Answer to the City Petition 381, punish the Citizens for their Loyalty 419, borrow Money of the City 420, dine in the City ib. return Thanks for the same ib.
- Commons (the) a religious House 1045.
- Common Crier, his Fees 318, his Office 1207.
- Common Serjeant, his Office, 1206.
- Common Pleas, the Court of, 1280.
- Companies, their Origin 52, 1232, obliged to pay 20 Years Purchase for Church Lands 241.
- Compton, Henry, Bishop of London 1224.
- Compter in Bread-street 825.
- Compter remov'd into Wood street 252, 825.
- Condemn'd Criminals, their last Draught 1363.
- Conduits erected in divers Parts of the City 83, 105, 184, 1031, 1049; see the next Article.
- Conduit at Aldgate 236, Cole-abbey 1031, in Aldermanbury 190, in Cheapside 105, 197, 92, 890, 960, in Cornhill 184, in Fleet-street 197, 992, at Cripplegate ib. in Lotburi 895, at Dowgate 921, Holborn-Hill 992, at Stocks-Market 1049, White 1371.
- Conscience, Court of, erected 826, 283, Clerks Fees 319.
- Conservacy, the Court of, 62, 1210, of the River Thames granted by Charter 56, 120, 218; see Thames and Fishery.
- Conspiracy defeated 271, 371, 495.
- Constable of the Tower of London, who, 173, Charter confirming his Privileges 143, 146, 174, Salary and Fees in Q. Mary's Reign 174, see Conservacy of the Thames and Tower of London.
- Constables, Act for their Relief 709, Number 1117, 1188.
- Constantinople compared with London 740.
- Convention Articles with Spain 591, City Petition against it 593, Debates thereon in the House 594, City's Right to be heard by Counsel against it 597, Lords Protests 598, considered in the House of Commons 598.
- Convocation, where it meets 943, Writ by which summon'd ib.
- Cook's (Sir Tho.) unjust Prosecution 205.
- Cooks, the Company of, 1244, Hall 763.
- Coopers, the Company of, 1244, Hall 790.
- Coppinger, Sir George, 275.
- Coram (Capt.) Founder of the Foundling Hospital 590, Speech to the Duke of Bedford 605.
- Cordwainer-street Ward 895, its Name, Bounds, Extent ib. modern State 896, Government ib. remarkable Places 897, Parishes and Churches ib. Antiquities ib.
- Cordwainers, the Company of, 1244, Hall 825.
- Corn, the Price of, 37, 39, 51, 54, 59, 190, 220, 227, 262, 271, 277, 390, 411, 419, 420, 421, 422, 425, 428, 452, 467, 498.
- Corn Ships stopp'd 55.
- Cornet's Tower 889.
- Cornhill Ward 897, Name, Bounds, Extent ib. modern State ib. Government 898, remarkable Places 898, Fire in 1747, 92; K. John's Court ib. Tun Prison 903, Conduit 904, Cage and Stocks ib. Pillory ib. Standard erected ib. Government 908, remarkable Places ib. Parishes and Churches ib.
- Corn-meeters, see Queenhithe.
- Cornish, Henry, chosen Sheriff 468, sent Prisoner to the Tower 475, committed to Newgate 484, condemn'd and executed ib.
- Coroner 209, 1207.
- Coroner's Court 1210.
- Corporations (City) 1232, their antient Establishment ib.
- Corporation of Clergymens Widows 466, 1292.
- Cotterall's Alms-house 1293.
- Cotton's Library 1286.
- Cotton's (Sir John Hynd) Speech against Excise 558.
- Council of State's Direction to the Lord-Mayor on the Death of Cromwell 422.
- Country Dealers allow'd to trade in London 184.
- Court reviv'd to settle Differences 460.
- Courts of Justice fix'd in Westminster-hall 1342, see London and Westminster.
- Court of Conscience first erected 226.
- Court Leet 247.
- Courts, their Names and Number 1208, 1279.
- Courtney, William, Bishop of London 1220.
- Cowey-Stakes, not the Place where Cæsar pass'd the River Thames 8.
- Cows, see Oxen.
- Craven House 1000.
- Credit, publick, the Merchants, Resolution to maintain 646, Resolutions of the House of Commons concerning publick Credit 851.
- Cripplegate 24, 904.
- Cripplegate Ward, its Name, Bounds, Extent, 904, modern State ib. Antiquities 912, Conduit ib.
- Crokebay (Gertrude) denied Christian Burial 1017.
- Cromwell, Oliver, receives Gifts from the Citizens 428, entertain'd by them ib. cashiers the Parliament 421, appoints a Parliament ibid. chosen Protector 421, entertain'd by the City ib. entertains the Lord-Mayor and Aldermen ib. acquaints them with a Conspiracy ib. intrusts them with the City Militia, and impowers them to revive the Artillery Company ib.

- ib.* releases them from Taxes 422, limits the Number of Hackney Coaches, ib. impowers the City to import 4000 Chalders of Coals Duty-free, ib. publishes an Ordinance to prevent building on new Foundations ib. his Inauguration ib.
- Cromwell, Richard, proclaim'd Protector, 422.
- Cromwell, Thomas, Earl of Essex, his House 1178.
- Cross, a Stone one, 1346.
- Cross in Cheap-side, see Cheap-side.
- Cross in Old-street 1370.
- Cross, Paul's, 948, Sermons, &c. there ib.
- Cross, the Great 1175.
- Cross, the Old 1152.
- Crosby Place or House 800, Residence of several great Persons 801.
- Crossed, see Crucched.
- Crowder's Well 83, 912.
- Crown-side, in Cheap-side 1137.
- Cruden (Alexander) offers himself to represent the City in Parliament 711.
- N. B. "In order to efface any ill Impressions, which might be made on the Memory of this Gentleman, it is an act of Justice to acquaint the Reader, That upon the strictest Enquiry we find him to be a Person of sound Morals, unaffected Piety, a sincere well-wisher to all good Men, and the useful Author of the best Concordance (in any Language) to the BIBLE."
- Cruelties practis'd by the Populace 1327.
- Cruched Friars founded and endowed 782, suppressed ib. how applied 786, a vicious Prior thereof 782, Monumental Inscriptions ib. two Dutch Fraternities therein 783.
- Cullum House 778.
- Cumberland (William Duke of) made free of the City 652.
- Curriers, the Company of, 1244; Hall 911, 993.
- Curfeu Bell 772.
- Cure's Alms house 1293.
- Customhouse 1034, 1265, Wharfs and Keys ib. Orders for landing Goods ib. Rates for Merchandize 1034, State of Queen Elizabeth's Duties 1035, present State ib.
- Custos appointed 180.
- Cutlers, the Company of, 1042, 1244; Hall 1042.
- Cyningston, see Kennington.
- Cynobelin 15.
- D.
- DANE S attack'd by the Citizens of London 34.
- Darkness (great) 466.
- Darwood (Sir Sam.) subscribes 60000 l. to the City Loan for the Prince of Orange 49.
- Davia, King of Scotland, receiv'd in great state 127.
- Davis, see Catur.
- Day (Lord Mayor's) see Feast, Barge, Riding.
- De Alwa, Duke of, forbids Trade 260.
- Dealers in Wholesale, see Country.
- Deaths, very great, 39, 42, 262, 271, 277, 390, 411, 425, 429, 460, 467, 511.
- Debtors discharg'd 281.
- Delegates, the Court of, 872, 1280.
- Denmark House 998.
- Deodand, what 247.
- Deptford, a Fire there 671.
- Derby, Earl of, his House 761.
- Derbyan (John) Alderman fined 205.
- Devereux, Robert, Earl of Essex, enters the City, 281, join'd by Bedford and Cromwell ib. proclaim'd a Traitor ib. endeavours to force Ludgate 282, returns to his House by Water ib. besieged therein ib. surrenders, and executed ib. his House 1336.
- Devonshire House 796.
- Dewy's Alms-house 1253.
- Diana's Chamber 880.
- Directory for publick Worship 383.
- Disfranchisements 229.
- Distemper, Epidemical, 546.
- Distemper among horned Cattle, Orders of Council concerning it 658.
- Distillers, the Company of, 1244.
- Ditch of London at first made 75, cleans'd 175, 186, 227, 278, 286.
- Ditches, &c. their Names and Number 720, &c.
- Dobbs, a main Instrument in procuring the Foundation of Bridewell 980.
- Doctors Commons 871, its Foundation ib. Library ib. and 1287; Courts kept there 871, Causes tried there ib. who practise in these Courts 873, Terms and Times of sitting ib. List of the present Practitioners 874.
- Dolphin, one taken at London-Bridge 180.
- Donum paid to Henry II. 42, 43.
- Dowgate 41, a Boy drowned on Dowgate-bill 262.
- Dowgate Ward 913, Name ib. Bounds, Extent, and modern State 914, Government ib. remarkable Places 915, Parishes and Churches ib. Antiquities 921, Conduit ib. Machine for Thames Water 922.
- Drake's (ir Francis) House 921.
- Drapers, the Company of, 1233; Hall 844, 845.
- Drury House 1336.
- Drury-lane Playhouse, Riot there 605.
- Ducie's (Sir Robert) Orders for the Preservation of the Fish in the Thames 66.
- Ducket, Laurence, hang'd in Bow Steeple 105.
- Dudley and Empson, their Oppressions 221.
- Dudley House 1182.
- Duel 189, 205.
- Duke's-place 1109.
- Dunbar, Rejoicings on account of the Victory at, 421.
- Dung not to be laid in the Streets 178, 454, 455, 456.
- Dun's Alms-house 1293.
- Dunstan, Bishop of London 1215.
- Durham House 1344, the great Feast kept there ib.
- Dutch Fleet enter the Thames 451, Ambassador's publick Entry 491.
- Dutch Alms house 843, 1293.
- Dutch Enthusiast 131.
- Dutch Church in Augustine friars 842, Monumental Inscriptions 843, its present State, 844.
- Dutchy of Lancaster, the Court of, 1280.
- Dyers Alms-house, Holborn 1293.
- Dyers Alms-house, Swan-fields ib.
- Dyers, the Company of, 1245.
- E.
- EARTHQUAKE, 87, 104, 264, 282, 495, 679.
- East-India Company 1003, House 1000, 1003, 1257.
- Eastland Company 1257.
- Eastminster founded 1022, Endowment ib. Dissolution 1023, its Site ib.
- Eastcheap, Eating-houses there 854.
- East-Smithfield Liberty 1083, built upon 1019, Fair 1023.
- East-Smithfield School 1275.
- East-Smithfield, the Courts of, 1083, 1280.
- Eating (luxurious) Act of Common Council against it 238, 251.
- Ebgate 30.
- Ecclesiastical Government 1214.
- Eclipse of the Sun 41, 519, 669, 677.
- Eden (Alexander) kills Jack Cade 195.
- Edgehill, the Battle of, 358.
- Edgar (K) 1215, 1216.
- Edmund the King and Martyr 1106, 1097.
- Edrick cast into Hound-ditch after Execution 1007.
- Edward's Alms-houses 1325.
- Edward the Black-Prince, his Character 129, his Obsequies solemnized at Paris ib.
- Edward the Confessor chosen King 36, his Charter to Westminster, see Westminster.
- Edward I. commands the Mayor to expell all Flemish Merchants out of the City 102, is received with great Pomp into the City ib. appoints a Custos 103, orders the Bakers to be punished ib. sends Letters to the Mayor, &c. 102, discharges two Mayors, and appoints a Custos ib. his Letter to the City 104, grants a Toll for the Repair of the City Wall, and a Tower on the West Side ib. to the Mayor 105, writes to the Barons of his Exchequer ib. degrades the Mayor, and seizes the City Franchises 106, received by the Citizens in great Pomp 107, his Letter to the Custos and Sheriffs ib. restores to the Citizens the Power of electing their Magistrates ib. discharges them from divers Impositions ib. removes the Court of Exchequer into the City ib. his Writ forbidding the Imprisonment of Clergy in the Tun ib. fines the City 20000 Marks ib. is received with extraordinary Joy ib. confirms their Liberties 108, his Letter to the Barons of his Exchequer ib. writes to the Mayor and Sheriffs to execute the Laws against Felons 109, levied a 20th on the Citizens, which amounted to 2000 Marks 110, brings the famous Marble Stone from Scotland 1328, his Charter to the Abbot of Westminster ib. commands all Persons qualified for Knight-hood to appear at Westminster 1329.
- Edward II. ordered the City Effects to be seized 110, commands the Citizens to finish London Wall ib. assigns to them the Farm and Issues of the City ib. writes to them to defend the City from rebellious Attempts and foreign Invasion ib. delays taxing the City upon certain Conditions 111, exempts the Citizens of London from Taxes at Henley ib. his Letters concerning the Tallage ib. to the Sheriffs for rating Provisions 113, his Letter to prevent Riots at the Election of Magistrates ib. his
- Precept for taxing the City 114, repeals his Edict for settling the Prices of Provisions 114, fines the Citizens for throwing down a Wall ib. demands a Supply of Men and Money 118, commits the Custody of the Tower to Sir John Weston and that of the City to the Bishop of Exeter 119, his Palace in Thames-street ib. is deserted by the Londoners and taken Prisoner ib. his Palace on the East End of Crooked-lane 838.
- Edward III. received in great State by the Citizens 119, grants them a large Charter of Privileges 120, grants them the Borough of Southwark 122, Princess of Hainault received in great State ib. his Letters to the Mayor, &c. ib. his Letter to the Mayor 123, reprimands him ib. gives him a Charge ib. writes to the Sheriffs 124, Grants the Mayor 21 l. per Annum ib. confirms the City's Privileges in regard to Merchant Strangers 124, Commission for keeping of the Peace 126, calls the Citizens by Writ to be knighted 127, grants a fourth Charter 128, Order for Slaughter-houses 130, borrows Money of the Citizens 132, grants the Citizens Leave to chuse their Coroner 134, dies 136, his House in London 766, Grant to St. Paul's 1220.
- Edward IV. received in great Pomp by the Citizens 200, 1st Charter 201, 2d Charter 204, taken Prisoner, escapes, returns to London, received in great Joy by the Citizens 205, defeats Warwick at Stamford 205, flies to Holland ib. reembarks at Vere, lands at Ravenspur, received into the City ib. declared a Traitor ib. routs Warwick, and returns to the City in Triumph 207, beats the Queen's Army and takes the Prince of Wales Prisoner ib. is denied Money by his Parliament ib. extorts Money from the People 208, invades France ib. met by the Citizens at Blackheath ib. 3d Charter ib. borrows Money of them 210, diverts them with a Hunting-match ib. dies ib.
- Edward V. seized by the D. of Gloucester 211, met by the Citizens at Hornsey ib. enters the City in great State ib. is murdered in the Tower 214.
- Edward VI's Coronation 239, his pompous Procession 240, demands Aid of the Citizens 241, grants Lands in Southwark to the City 242, his Death 248, Charter to Foreign Protestants 842, is the Founder of the City Hospitals 937.
- Edward, Prince, quarrels with the Duke of Gloucester 93, spoils the Temple 94, routs the Citizens 96, is taken Prisoner ib. escapes and defeats the Earl of Leicester ib. assaults the City 99, Governor of London 102.
- Edwin, see Percival.
- Elders of Mayor and Sheriffs, who allowed to be, 113.
- Elections, their Method and Rule 499. Bill for their Regulation 534. Common-Council petition against it ib. Debates and Resolutions thereon in Parliament 537, Lords Protest against it 538, Soldiers presented for being present at Election of Members of Parliament 619.
- Elstan, Bishop of London 1216.
- Elward, Bishop of London ib.
- Eliaior, Princess of Castile, received in great State by the Citizens 89.
- Eliaior, Queen, insulted by the Populace 93.
- Eliza eth, Queen of England, her Life attempted by Bishop Gardiner before she came to the Throne 251, her Accession to the Throne 253, her Publick Entry 254, attended by the Mayor, &c. by Water to the Tower ib. rides thro' the City to Westminster 254, presented by the Citizens with a Purse of Gold ib. rides thro' the City ib. reviews the Citizens in Greenwich Park 260, borrows Money of them ib. her Progress and Letter to the Lord-Mayor 261, dines with Sir Thomas Gresham ib. gives Name to the Royal Exchange ib. writes to the Mayor concerning the Government of the City 267, enjoins him not to entertain the Citizens at Guildhall ib. reviews the Citizens on Blackheath 269, a Plot against her 271, her Letter to the Mayor ib. writes to the Citizens concerning the Spanish Invasion 272, borrows Money of them ib. issues a Proclamation against Riots and for suppressing of Vagrants 275, 278, congratulated by the Citizens 281, declares herself well pleas'd with them ib.
- Elizabeth, Relict of Edward IV. takes Sanctuary at Westminster 206.
- Elving-sptal 912, Church ib.
- Ely-vents within the City's Jurisdiction 260, 978.
- Emanuel Hospital 1293.
- Embroiderers

- Embroiderers Hall 927.
 Emperor of Germany, his Publick Entry 186, his Publick Entry 227.
 Emperor of Greece, his Publick Entry 184.
 Empson and Dudley oppress the People 221, punished 222.
 Empson's House 1181.
 English Copper Office 1265.
 Engagement of the young Men, &c. 398.
 Entertainment at a Funeral, see Atkinson.
 Entertainment at Ely House, see Serjeants.
 Enthusiasts arrive in London 131, 275.
 Erbar, Dowgate-hill 921.
 Ermin street 16.
 Escheator, the Court of, 1210.
 Essex's (Walter Earl of) Rebellion and Execution 281.
 Essex, the Earl of, fights the King at Edge-hill, 358, joined by the City Train'd bands 361, fronts the King's Army for several Hours ib. raises the Siege of Gloucester 373, attacked by the King at Avon-orn Chase ib. fights the King at New ury ib. complimented by the Lord Mayor 374, drives the King's Troops from Newport Pagnel ib. his Speech at Guildhall 379.
 Eitelbert (K.) 1214, 1215.
 Ethelred II. fits out a numerous Fleet to prevent the Danes from landing 35, betray'd by Elfrick ib. shut himself up in London ib. purchases the Danes Departure ib. massacres the Danes ib. besieged in London by the Danes ib. withdraws into Normandy ib. recall'd and reassumes the Government ib. his Palace 174.
 Evelyn, John, Esq; see Plan and Smoak.
 Everard, John, his Information concerning a Conspiracy 412.
 Eugene, Prince of Savoy, arrives in London 510.
 Ewer, Charles, Esq; Alderman of Broad-street Ward 622.
 Exchange, or the Camhium, let upon Lease 75, see Royal Exchange and Old Change.
 Exchequer remov'd to Northampton 75, to Guildhall 106.
 Exchequer, Court of, 1281.
 Excise Scheme meets with great Opposition 546, 547.
 Excise Bill, Speech thereon by Sir John Barnard 547, 553, 558, 559, Sir Robert Walpole's Speech 548, 551; Mr. Alderman Perry's Speech against it 551, Sir Paul Methuen's Speech 553, Mr. Attorney General's Answer 553, Mr. Alderman Heathcote's Speech, 555, Sir Will. Pulteney's Speech 556, Sir William Wyndham's Speech ib. Sir John Hynd Cotton's Speech 558, the Motion carried in the Affirmative 559, Sir Thomas Ashton's Speech 560, the Bill carried in the Affirmative ib. Lord Mayor's Speech against it 560, Common Council petition against it ib.
 Excise, the Office of, 893, 1296; Commissioners 498.
 Excommunication for wearing long-toed Shoes 204.
 Exeter House 1336, 1350.
- F
- Fabian, Robert, 218.
 Faculty Court 872, 1281.
 Fairfax, Sir Thomas, his Letter to the Common Council 397, writes to the Parliament concerning the Presbyterian Engagement 399, his Letter to the Common Council 401, 404; his Declaration to the City 404, his Letter to the Common Council 405, made Constable of the Tower 406, invited to dine in the City ib. cannot accept of the same ib. his Answer to the City Apprentices Congratulation ib. his Letter to the Common Council about the Loan 407, sends Colonel Hewson with his Regiment to quarter in the City 408, his Letter to the City concerning Arrears ib. his Letter to the Common Council 410, quells an Insurrection 412, his Letter to the Common Council 417, his Proclamation for the Soldiers good Behaviour ib. sends Troops to quarter in the City ib. his Letter on seizing the Cash at Weavers-hall, &c. 418, to the Commissioners of Excise, ib. his Answer to the City Propositions 419, sends Troops to quarter in the City 417, presented by the City with a golden Bason and Ewer 46, 420.
 Fair of St. Bartholomew forbid to be held 306.
 Fair of Southwark forbid 306.
 Fair of Westminster 87, 1235.
 Falconbridge's (Lord) Riot 207.
 Famine, a dreadful one, 39, 92, 102, 190, 229, 28.
 Fan-makers, the Company of, 1245.
 Farringdon Ward 181, 922; within, its Name ib. its Bounds and Extent 923, modern State 924, its Government 926, remarkable Places 927, Antiquities 943.
 Farringdon Ward without, Name, Bounds, Extent 960, modern State 961, Government 966, Divisions 967, Parishes and Churches ib. Antiquities 991.
 Farmers of the Markets impose upon the People 500, compelled to return the Money extorted by them ib.
 Farriers, the Company of, 1245.
 Fauconberge, Eustace de, Bishop of London 1217.
 Fazakerley's (Counsellor) Resolution 598.
 Feast (Lord Mayor's) first kept at Guildhall 220.
 Feast (Serjeants) at Ely House 230, 231.
 Fell's Alms-house 1293.
 Fellows, Order for apprehending of them 109, Houses searched for them 269.
 Fellowship Porters, see Porters.
 Felt-makers may employ Non freemen 512, Act of Parliament against embezzling Materials 689, petition Parliament 692, the Company of, 1245.
 Fences about Wilmington destroyed 223.
 Fencing Schools put down 106.
 Ferrers murder'd 43.
 Ferrers (George) Member of Parliament arrested in London 237.
 Ferrers, the Earl of, his House 1098.
 Ferry Place at London 41, 42.
 Fever, epidemic, 622, its Cure and Account thereof 622.
 Fifth-Monarchy-men 427.
 Fines for not serving Mayor, Aldermen, &c. 127, for Sheriffs settled 476, for Livery recovered 631.
 Finsbury 1369.
 Finsbury Court 1281.
 Fires in London 41, 76, 82, 216, 220; Orders for preventing Fires 54, 86, 450, 506. See London.
 Fire of London in 1666, 432, see Page 792; various Conjectures about it 433, imputed to the Republican Party ib. the Dutch suspected to be concerned in it 434, the French suspected ib. one Huberts apprehended for it ib. Reasons for it ib. Bishop Burnet's Account of this Fire 435, refuted ib. Reasons pro and con upon Hubert's Confession 436, Observations on the Fire 437, Losses occasioned by it ib. and P. 837, its Benefit to the City ib. his Majesty's Declaration to the City of London 438, the Parliaments Proceedings thereon 440, Behaviour of the Judges 440, Rules and Directions for re-edifying the City 441, Charity collected for its Sufferers 451, see Monument.
 Fires (several great) in the City 306, 639, 644; in Cornhill 663, 902; Contributions for the Sufferers 664, Fire at Debtford 671, at Battle-bridge 675, in the Poultry 676 in Lincoln's Inn 682, in Crutched-Friars 786.
 Fire-works for the late Peace described 673.
 Fire Office (Union) 766.
 Fish, Orders for taking them; see Fishery, Billinggate; to be sold by Wholesale or Retail 190.
 Fish confumed in London 758.
 Fishchamp, Abbot of, his House 1074.
 Fisher (Bishop) beheaded 236.
 Fisher's Alms-house 1293.
 Fisher's Folly 796, 798.
 Fisherman 67, see Fishery.
 Fishermen, the Company of, 1245.
 Fishermen (foreign) Laws in their Favour 190.
 Fisher, of the Thames, of what it consists 57, Laws for its Preservation 57, 60, 61, 65, 66, 68, 185; Times for fishing 65, Nets, Places and Baits prohibited 66, 68; see Conservancy.
 Fishery (Free British) their Charter 681, entertain the Prince of Wales ib.
 Fish-mongers, the Company of, 834, 1233; Ordinances for their Behaviour, and their Table of the Prices of Fish 103, disfranchised 143, taken under the royal Protection ib. restored 145, present their Freedom to the Prince of Wales 682, their Clerk's Speech 682, their Hall 833, 1031.
 Fish-mongers and Skinners fight 126.
 Fitz-Alwine, Mayor 54.
 Fitz-Arnulph, Constantine, hang'd 78.
 Fitz-Hugh, Robert, Bishop of London 1221.
 Fitz-Jones, Richard, Bishop of London 1222.
 Fitz-Mary, Simon, one of the Sheriffs, fin'd 81, degraded from the Office of Alderman 84.
 Fitz-Neal, Bishop of London 1217.
 Fitz-Osbert's Insurrection 55.
 Fitz-Thomas, Thomas, his bold Answer to the King 95.
 Fitz-Walter, Robert, flies to France 76, his House demolished ib. his Service due to the City 164.
 Fitz-Walter, Lord, his House 874, Castilian and Banner-bearer of London ib. his Rights ib.
 Fitz-William (Sir Richard) disfranchised for refusing to serve the Office of Sheriff 223, his Character, Will and Charities ib.
 Fleet-ditch 83, restor'd 27, 220, 991.
 Fleet Market erected 546, 571; open'd 572, 989.
 Fleet Prison 989.
 Fleetwood's Letter concerning Reformation 263.
 Flemish Merchants and their Effects seized 102, expell'd the City ib.
 Fletcher, Richard, Bishop of London 1223.
 Fletchers Hall 787, the Company of, 1245.
 Flies, a great Quantity of, fell in the Streets 506.
 Flying (a) Man 239.
 Foliot, Gilbert, Bishop of London 1217.
 Folkemote assembled 89, 90, 91, 92.
 Ford, one at Chelsea 8.
 Foreigners to depart the City 78, obtain Leave to land and house their Woad 84, not to reside in London 106, suffered to take Houses ib. defraud the Citizens ib. seiz'd and fin'd ib. not to sell Goods to one another 138, allow'd to sell Fish in the City 143, 190; massacred in London 138, 190; not to be employed in the City 252, their Number in the City 257, 264, 275; forbid to exercise any Trade in London 511, a Conspiracy against them 271, how to be taxed 292, petition against their Naturalization 658, 939; foreign Painters prosecuted 677, Foreigners Petition considered 677, see Acts of Common council.
 Foreign Journeymen licensed 679.
 Fornication punished 143.
 Forefalling of Markets forbidden by Charter 100.
 Fortifications raz'd 407.
 Founders, the Company of, 1245, Hall 893.
 Foundling Hospital, Licence for its Erection 590, its Foundation, by whom undertaken ib. its Charter 605, 1293; Foundation laid 628, 1300; Foundation of its Chapel 660, 1293, 1302; confirmed by Parliament 1296, Method of admitting Children 1297, Regulations 1298, Orders of the general Courts 1301, Style of the Building ib. Pictures ib. Ornaments by whom given 1302, Children how employed ib.
 Fountain at Westminster 1344.
 Fowls confumed in London 759.
 Frame-work Knitters, the Company of, 1245.
 Francis (Simon) Mayor, his great Riches 130.
 Frankpledge (View of) 247.
 Fraternities viz. of the Holy Blood of Wilsuak 789, of St. Catharine in Crutched-Friars Church 784, in St. Paul's Cathedral 947, in St. Ewen's 960, in the White Friars 993, in Leaden-hall Chapel 1001, in Trinity Priory 1011, in St. Katharine's Hospital 1015, in Barking Church 1039, in St. James's Garlick-Hythe 1045.
 Frauds, see Buying and Selling, Porters, Carmen, Coals.
 Frauds, to prevent, in the Manufactures of Felts or Hats, Woollen, Silk, Cotton, Mohair, Leather, Iron, Hemp, &c. 689.
 Fray in St. Dunstan's Church 187.
 Frederick, Elector Palatine, and the Princess his Bride, entertain'd and presented with rich Gifts by the Citizens 295.
 Frederick Prince of Wales's Arrival 543, City's Address thereon ib. accepts of the Freedom of London and Sadlers Company 567, accepts of the Freedom of the Fish-mongers 682.
 Freeman, their Obligations in Regard to Apprentices 217, 229, to Foreigners 252, their old and new Oaths 1201.
 French land in Suffex 130.
 French Ambassador and Merchants imprison'd 227, his Publick Entry 228, 239.
 French Alms-house 1303.
 French Church in Threadneedle-street 845, in St. Martin's-lane, Cannon-street 854.
 French Hospital 912, 1303.
 French House of Charity ib.
 French Invasion 130, 176, 519, 633; Ambassador and Merchants imprison'd, by way of Reprials 227.
 French Refugees arrive in London 485, a great Sum of Money collected for them ib.
 Friendly Society 1266.
 Friars, Cross'd, the Priory of, see Crutched, and de Sacca or de Penitentia 894.
 Frost, a great one, 75, 101, 190, 223, 256, 290, 298, 520, 606.
 Fruiterers, the Company of, 1246, Hall 1042.
 Fulk (Bp.) of London 1218.
 Fuller's Alms-house 1303.
 Furnival's Inn 1278.
- G
- GAGE (Sir John) repulsed by Wyat 250.
 Gale, Dr. of London's being built in St. George's Fields, 11, 12, 13, 14.
- Gallard's

- Gallard's Alms-house 1303.
 Galley Key 1039, a Fire there 590.
 Gallows at St. Giles's Pound 1363.
 Gaming Houses presented 638.
 Garbling of Spices, &c. 209.
 Gardeners, the Company of, 1246.
 Garden-stuff consum'd in London 759.
 Gardens at Finsbury 219.
 Gardiner's (Bp) Plot against the Life of Princess Elizabeth 251.
 Garret's Alms-house 1303.
 Garter House 913.
 Gascoyne's (Sir Crisp) Suspicion of Elizabeth Canning 696, Proceedings thereon ib. prefers an Indictment against her 697, is thank'd by the City 708.
 Gate at the End of King-street 1342.
 Gate-house at Whitehall 1343.
 Gate-house Prison 1342.
 Gates, Geoffrey, an infamous Robber 206.
 Gates of London, when built 22, secured against the French 64, their Custody granted to the Citizens 184.
 Gates of St. Paul's Church-yard 880, 943.
 Gates of the New Palace Yard 1341.
 Gauger, Office of, granted the Citizens 221.
 Gauging of Wines 29.
 Geoffrey of Monmouth of the Origin of London 4, Characters given his History 9, 10, 30.
 General Assembly's Letter of Thanks to the Common Council 388.
 Geneva Shops, a Presentment against them 544, Act put in force 588.
 Genoa (a) Merchant murdered 138.
 George I. (Elect of Hanover) proclaim'd 515, makes his publick Entry 516, address'd by the City and Lieutenantcy 517, Answer to the same ib. address'd by the City and Merchants on Account of a French Invasion 519, his Answer ib. and 520, address'd on the Suppression of the Rebellion by the City 520, his Answer 520, creates the Lord Mayor a Baronet ib. gives 1000*l.* for the Relief of poor Debtors ib. returns Thanks at St Paul's Church ib. address'd by the City and Merchants thereof 519, his Answer ib. address'd by the Common-council ib. his Answer ib. address'd by the Lord Mayor, &c. 521, his Answer ib. congratulated by the Lord Mayor, &c. 530, his Answer 531, address'd by the Lord Mayor, &c. ib. his Answer 532, congratulated on his Return from Hanover 539, address'd by the Common Council ib. his Answer 540, entertains the Common Council at Dinner ib.
 George II. complimented by the Lord Mayor, &c. 540, by the Common Council ib. entertained at Guildhall, with an Account of the Feast 541, gives 1000*l.* for the Relief of insolvent Debtors ib. congratulated by the Lord Mayor, 545, address'd by the Common Council 568, his Answer ib. congratulated by the Lord Mayor, &c. 562, address'd by the Common Council 563, his Answer ib. complimented by the Lord Mayor, &c. 570, his Answer ib. congratulated on Account of the Birth of Prince George (now Prince of Wales) 588, address'd by Parliament against Spanish Depredations 597, his Answer ib. address'd on the Marriage of Princess Mary 607, on his Return from Hanover 611, on the Birth of a Princess 616, on his Return from Hanover 622, on the Birth of a Prince 631, address'd by the City Merchants, Dissenting Ministers and Quakers on account of the French Invasion 633, 635; by the London Clergy 636, proclaims War against France 636, Reward and Proclamation against Street-robbers 64, address'd by the City on account of the Rebellion 645, his Answer ib. address'd by the Common Council 646, by the Lieutenantcy ib. by the London Clergy 647, by the Dissenting Clergy ib. by the Lawyers 648, by the City on account of the Defeat of the Rebels at Calloeden 652, by the Dissenting Ministers 653, by the Quakers 654, by the Merchants ib. his Proclamation for the Cessation of Hostilities 668, address'd by the Lord Mayor and Aldermen on his Arrival from Hanover 669, Proclamation against Street robbers 672, is address'd by the City on the Birth of a Princess ib. grants a Charter to the British Fishery 681, address'd by the City 681, by the Lord Mayor and Aldermen 688, congratulated on his Return from Hanover 694.
 George's (St.) Hospital.
 George's (St.) Fields 11.
 Georgia Office 1266.
 German Merchants, their Privileges confirm'd 54.
 Gerard's Hall 825.
 German Church 1186, see Augustine Friars.
 Gibbon (Ald.) resigns his Gown 645.
 Gilson's Alms-house 1305.
 Gilson, Edmund, Bishop of London 1225.
 Gilbert, Robert, Bishop of London, 1221.
 Gildas's Account of the Britons 10.
 Ginkle, General, entertain'd in the City 495.
 Gin, see Geneva.
 Gipsy, see Squires.
 Girdlers, the Company of, 1246.
 Gisors's Hall 825.
 Gisors (Sir John). flies from Justice 117.
 Glas-house Liberty 1350.
 Glass sellers, the Company of, 1246.
 Glaziers, the Company of, 1247.
 Gloucester, six Regiments raised by London for its Relief 373.
 Glover's (Mr) Speeches in the Case of Sir George Champion; see Champion—his Speech on Sir John Barnard's declining to stand Representative to the City 613; see Petitions.
 Glovers, the Company of, 1247.
 Gloucester, Gilbert, Earl of, quarrels with Prince Edward 93, with his Army admitted into the City 99, besieges the Tower ib. concludes a Peace with the King ib.
 Gloucester, Richard, Duke of, declared a Traitor 206, seizes upon King Edward V. 211, his political Conduct ib. is declared Protector ib. beheads Lord Hastings ib. sends for the Lord Mayor, &c. to the Tower 211, excuses the Murder of Lord Hastings ib. bribes the Lord Mayor 212, endeavours to bring the Citizens into his wicked Measures, by a Sermon preached by Dr. Shaw, and an Oration at Guildhall by the Duke of Buckingham, 212, 213; address'd by Buckingham to accept the Crown 214, first refuses then accepts the same ib. is crown'd 215, sends for Troops from the North to guard his Person ib. disposes of Part of the Crown Plate for their Support ib.
 Gloucester, Thomas, Duke of, Conspiracy against his Life 177, is invited to take the Government of the Kingdom ib. his Refusal and Advice ib. Protector of the Kingdom 188, his Quarrel with the Bp. of Winchester ib. the City petitions against him ib. murder'd 193.
 Glyn, Recorder of London, his Speech 380.
 Godschall's (Sir Rob.) Speech 611, Death and Character 627.
 Godwin, Earl of Kent, passes the Bridge with his Fleet, and braves the Royal Navy at Westminster 36.
 Gold first coin'd in England 92.
 Gold and Silver Wire-drawers, the Company of, 1247.
 Golding-lane at first pav'd, see Cripplegate Ward.
 Goldsmiths, their Quarrel with the Merchant Taylors 101, Hall 763, petition against Foreigners and Cutlers 826, to have the Assay of Gold and Silver Wares ib. their Shops to be in Cheapside 301, 307, 826, the Company of, 1233.
 Goldsmiths-row 826.
 Gondomar insulted 298, a Man whipped for it ib.
 Government, the Civil, of London 1191.
 Grace, the Abby of, see Portoken Ward.
 Graham's Alms-house 1305.
 Grammar Schools appointed in London 109.
 Granaries new erected 180.
 Grantham's House 921.
 Gravefend burnt by the French 138.
 Gravefend, Richard, Bishop of London 584.
 Gravefend, Stephen, Bishop of London 585.
 Grasers petition the Parliament against the City Officers in Smithfield 181.
 Gray's Inn 1279, 1352.
 Gray's Inn Library 1217.
 Gray, William, Bishop of London 1221.
 Green-coat Hospital 1305.
 Green-coat School 1275.
 Gresham's Alms-house 853, 1305.
 Gresham College 801, Conduct of the Trustees 802, Lectures when and how established 803, Professors how and by whom eligible ib. Dispute with Trustees 804, concerning the Language of the Lectures ib. Method and Times 805, 89; Salaries stopped 806, Professors Queries ib. file a Bill 807, are paid 808, a Bill for rebuilding the College brought into Parliament 88, rejected by the Lords ib. brought in again ib. thrown out ib. Dispute with the Parish about Taxes ib. ill treated by the Parishioners 808, 809; Complaints against the Professors 809, Professors clear themselves ib. Order made by the Trustees concerning the Lecturers 811, not obeyed by the Professors and why 812, all Differences adjusted 813, Names of the present Professors ib.
 Gresham, Sir Thomas, erects the Royal Exchange 256, 801; founds Gresham College 801, his Will 811.
 Grey Friars, their House 943, Library 944, Church ib. Surrender ib. made a Parish Church, ib. granted to the City of London ib. Vicar's Salary ib. its Dungeon ib. Monumental Inscriptions in Grey Friars or Christ's Church 945.
 Grey, Jane, proclaim'd Queen 248, beheaded 248.
 Grey-coat Hospital 1305.
 Grey-coat School 1275.
 Grievances, see Taxes, Agreement and Page 117, 335.
 Griffith (Prince of Wales) breaks his Neck 86.
 Grindal, Edmund, Bishop of London 1222.
 Grocers, the Company of, 1232, Hall 889.
 Grub-street at first pav'd, see Cripplegate Ward.
 Guard, a strong one, appointed 96.
 Guardians of the City appointed 97.
 Guards kept in the City, see Train'd bands and Watch.
 Guards sent to protect the Bank 508.
 Guilds or Companies, their Origin 52.
 Guildhall erected 185, Kitchen and Offices built 230, a Description thereof 882.
 Guildhall Chapel 885, 1121; Library ib. Monumental Inscriptions ib.
 Gun-powder, destroys divers Persons 238, does great Damage 254, blows up a House in Barking Parish 420.
 Gun-smiths, the Company of, 1247.
 Gurney, Sir Richard, degraded and committed Prisoner to the Tower 356.
 Gurney's (Sir Rich.) Prosecution by the Parliament 358.
 Guybalda Teutonicorum granted to the German Merchants, see Anseatic Merchants.
 Guy de Von, indebted to the Crown in a great Sum 51.
 Guy (Mr. Tho.) Memoirs of his Life and Charities 1306.
 Guy's Hospital 1305, Act for its Establishment 1307, Officers, &c. 1308, Chapel ib.
- H
- Haberdashers, the Company of, 1234, their Hall 911.
 Hacket, William, an Impostor 275.
 Hackney, Alice, her Corps uncorrupted 1140.
 Hackney Village 1365.
 Hackney Coaches, a Proclamation concerning them 306, for what Uses to be allowed ib. by whom to be kept ib. their Number limited to 200, Page 422; is increased to 400, 428; Rates of Fares 1267, to pay towards cleansing and paving the Streets 306.
 Hackney Coaches Office 1266.
 Hackney Horses, &c. 1365.
 Hailstones nine Inches round 467, 681.
 Hallage for Cloth 465.
 Halls of the Temples 1021.
 Hallmote, the Court of, 1213.
 Hamilton (the Rev. Mr. James) Priest to the Venetian Ambassador, his Letter to his Excellency 649.
 Hamlets (Tower) 146, 176.
 Hammond's Alms-house 1309.
 Hampstead Water-office 1267.
 Hand-in-Hand Fire-office ib.
 Hangman's Gains 1017.
 Hardacane (K.) 36.
 Hare (John) his Legacies 892.
 Harrison (Sir John) the Chamberlain's Speech on his Election 687.
 Hartleple (Alderman) elected Recorder 109.
 Harwar's Alms-house 1309.
 Hatband-makers, the Company of, 1247.
 Hatters, see Felt-makers, their Petition to Parliament 692.
 Hatton's (Sir Christopher) House 991.
 Hawkers and Pedlars suppress'd 282, 290, 301; suppress'd 498, ordered to be prosecuted 670.
 Hawkins's (Sir John) Demand of the Bridge-house for a Granary 277.
 Haw's Alms-house 139.
 Hearth, a Roman, discovered 261.
 Heath's Alms house 1309.
 Heathcote's (Mr. Alderman) Speech against the Excise 555, declines his Gown 609, chosen Lord Mayor 627, desires to resign his Gown 670, is thank'd by the City 672, Declaration against standing for Chamberlain 686.
 Henchman, Humphrey, Bishop of London 1223.
 Henry I's Charter to London 39, Remarks thereon 40, Charter to the Ep. of Chichester exempting him from Toll 44.
 Henry II's Method of raising Money in London 53, his Charter of Confirmation with additional Immunities 53.
 Henry III. enters London in great State 78, writes to the Sheriffs to repair Newgate ib. extorts 5000 Marks from the Citizens 79, grants five Charters to the City ib. writes to the Mayor to take the Justiciary, Hubert de Burgh, from his Sanctuary 82, countermands the

the same ib. solemn Entry with his Queen into London ib. refuses to confirm the Mayor 85, bids the Citizens adieu at his going into Wales 86, confirms the Sale of Queenhithe ib. asks Money of the Parliament 87, sells his Plate and Jewels ib. forbids the Citizens to trade ib. requires New-years-gifts of them ib. extorts Money from them, and spoils them of their Goods ib. promises to use them well ib. allows the Italians to carry on their destructive Trade of Usury 88, reviles the Citizens with opprobrious Language ib. compels them to keep their Shops shut, and go to the Fair at Westminster ib. commands the Sheriffs to defray the Charge of his white Bear ib. seizes the City Liberties ib. receives Presents from the Citizens ib. imprisons the Sheriffs ib. congratulated by the City on his Return from France 89, fines the Citizens in an exorbitant Sum ib. demands of them 3000 Marks ib. imprisons the Sheriffs ib. seizes the City Immunities ib. will not admit the new Mayor or Sheriffs ib. exacts Money from the Citizens ib. degrades the Mayor and Sheriffs ib. commands the City Gates to be shut and guarded 90, grants the Citizens new Privileges 91, enters the City in great State 93, takes Leave of the Citizens ib. promises to maintain the City's Rights ib. causes all the City Males to be sworn 94, rejects the Constitutions of Oxford ib. repairs to and shuts himself up in the Tower ib. makes Peace with the Barons 95, endeavours in vain to divide the Citizens and Barons ib. writes to the Citizens ib. seizes their Liberties, and appoints Guardians 97, spoils them of their Lands and Chattels ib. receives of them 20000 Marks for a Pardon ib. grants them Leave to traffick in all Part of his Dominions 98, allows them the Privilege of chusing two Bailiffs ib. obliges them to give Security for his Payment of certain Sums to the Duke of Brunswick and the Merchants of Dorway ib. grants them many new Privileges and confirms their ancient Rights 99, 100, 101; Charter to St. Martin's-le-grand 707, erects a Chapel at Westminster 1330, rebuilds the East Part of the Abby Church ib. carries Edward the Confessor's Shrine upon his Shoulder ib. his Charter to the Abbot of Westminster ib.

Henry, Duke of Hereford, admitted into London 182, received in great Pomp by the Citizens ib. secures the King's Person ib. rejects the Proposal to behead the King ib. proclaim'd King by the Title of Henry the Fourth 183, crown'd at Westminster ib. destroys the blank Charters ib. grants divers Favours to the Citizens ib. a Conspiracy against him ib. commands the Mayor to raise the Citizens 184, marches out of the City ib. grants the Citizens divers Privileges 184, diverted by them 185, grants Cold-Harbour to his Son ib. his Death ib.

Henry V's Accession to the Throne 186, a Conspiracy against him ib. pawns his Jewels to the Lord Mayor 187, received by the Citizens in great State ib. marries the French Princess ib. received in great Pomp by the Citizens ib. his Corps brought to London ib. his Funeral ib. his Epitaph 705.

Henry VI's Accession to the Throne 187, enters London in great Pomp 105, writes to the Mayor and Aldermen 188, his Letters Patents for repairing the City Granary, Conduits, and rebuilding the Crofs in Cheapside 191, writes concerning the Election of a Mayor 192, Marches his Army thro' the City 195, defeated and brought Prisoner to London 196, released and re-inthroned by the Queen 198, imprisons all the Genoese Merchants by way of Reprisals ib. resumes the Inquiry into the Privileges of St. Martin's le Grand ib. is routed and taken Prisoner 199, imprisoned in the Tower 205, reitored again 206, delivered up to Edward the Fourth, and by him committed to Prison ib. his Ordinance concerning Privileges of St. Martin's le Grand 767.

Henry VII. met by the Lord Mayor and Citizens at Hornsey Park 217, enters the City in great State ib. borrows Money of the Citizens and pays it punctually ib. commits the Earl of Warwick to the Tower ib. causes him to ride thro' the City ib. defeats Simnel, and enters London in Triumph ib. borrows Money of the Citizens 218, Money granted him by Parliament ib. banishes the Flemings ib. entertains the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, &c. ib. extorts large Sums of Money from his Subjects 219, routs the Rebels ib. retires with his Queen to Calais 220, has an Interview with the King of France ib. writes to the Lord Mayor ib. dines with the Princess ib. discharges poor Debtors No. 118.

221, writes to the Mayor 222, erects a Chapel at Westminster 1332.

Henry VIII. rides thro' the City in great Pomp 222, beholds the pompous March of the City Watch ib. sends Commissioners to enquire into a Tumult 223, goes with his Queen a Moving ib. grants a Charter to remove the Sessions of Peace from St. Martin's le Grand to Guildhall 226, borrows 20000 l. of the Citizens 229, writes to the Mayor ib. sends for him 230, erects a Court of Justice to try the Validity of his own Marriage ib. forbids all Intercourse with Rome ib. entertained at Ely House ib. grants a 2d Charter 231, reviews the Citizens 233, writes to the Mayor ib. thanks the Mayor, &c. 235, invites the Mayor, &c. to the Christening of his Daughter Elizabeth ib. causes all his male Subjects to be mustered 236, borrows Money of the Citizens 238, 239, extorts Money from them ib.

Henry, Prince, made free of the Merchant Taylors Company, see Merchant Taylors; presented by them with a Purse of Gold ib. created Prince of Wales 294, attended by the Citizens on the River Thames 297.

Heralds Office 857, Library 1286, Kings of Arms ib. and 863, Heralds 858 and 863, Servants and Arms ib. and 863, present Members 859, its Institution ib. Power ib. King Rich. II's Charter 860, new Regulations ib. K. Edw. VI's Charter of Privileges ib. 2d Charter of Incorporation 861, Charters by P. and M. and by K. James I. ib. Orders for its Government ib. for registering Funeral Tickets ib. State during the Grand Rebellion, and at the Restoration ib. Records preserved in the Fire of London ib. rebuilt 862, exempt from Taxes ib. prosecutes Intruders ib. its publick Use and Benefit ib. its Records allowed to be Evidence in Law 863, false Arms stigmatized ib. Quarrels among the Heralds 863, Orders for placing the Officers in this Office ib. the Case between Garter and Clarenceux 864, the Library ib. Sentence against Garter in favour of the Earl of Kent 866, Commissioners appointed to visit this Office 867, make Orders ib. and 871, the Manner of obtaining a Preferment in this Office 868, Heralds Petition against St. George ib. a Series of Heralds ib. their Antiquities 870, Employment ib. how created by Princes, &c. 872.

Hermitage of St. James 1163.

Hermitage of St. Katherine 1344.

Hewel's (Sir William) Daughter, how saved and married 254.

Hick's (Sir Baptist) see Precedency.

High Hall 991.

High Holborn Liberty 1350.

High Court of Parliament 1281.

Hill, Richard, Bishop of London 1221.

Hill's Alms-house 1309.

Hinton's Alms-house 1310.

Hoare's (Sir Rich.) Speech to the Livery 654, receives the Thanks of the City 655.

Hogs consumed in London 758.

Holborn first paved 236, a Village 991.

Holborn, the Manor-house of, ib.

Holborn Rivulet 83, 991.

Holdswoth's (Dr.) Character 811.

Holland's (Mr. Rich.) Defence of City Liberties 676 712.

Holles's Alms-house 1310.

Holles, Denzel, his Speech 379.

Holme's College 947.

Holwell Spring 83, Priory 1368.

Holy Trinity, see Trinity.

Honey-lane Market 881.

Hopton's Alms-houses 1325.

Horn, Robert, committed to Newgate 210.

Horners, the Company of, 1247.

Horses, their Number 533, Distemper amongst them 682.

Hospital of Lunatics 1039, 1313.

Hospitals 1288.

Houndsditch first paved 220, its antient State 1007, granted to Sir Tho. Audley ib. a Cannon Foundry here 1008, noted for Usurers or Pawnbrokers ib. modern State ib.

Houses ordered to be built with Stone, and with Party Walls, &c. 54, to be built with Stone or Brick Fronts 289, see Buildings, and 534; not to be erected on new Foundations 283, a double Account of their Number 719, their Number Total 735, their Value ib. the Amount of their Rents 736.

Housekeepers, poor, their Number 279.

House of Lords Court 1281.

Hubert, Archbishop of Canterbury and King's Justiciary 55, in disgrace 82.

Huberts, see Fire of London.

Hudson's Bay, the Company of, 997, 1256.

Hal'ert's Alms-house 1310.

Hunt (Common) 1207.

Hurricanes 38, 280, 299, 612, 661, 671.

Husband's (the Keeper of Bread-street Compter) Cruelty 252.

Huffings, the Court of, 1209.

I.

Jackson's Alms house 1311.

Jailer of the Tower 175.

James I. proclaimed King of England 282, his Letter of Thanks to the Citizens ib. his Publick Entry 283, borrows Money of the City 284, grants the City a Charter ib. proclaimed King of Great Britain 284, reported to be stabbed ib. refers the City Petition 287, made free of the Cloth-workers Company 289, shakes Hands with the Master, and drinks Prosperity to the Company ib. gives them a Brace of Bucks yearly ib. pays Money to the City ib. entertained by the Merchant Taylors Company, and presented with a Purse of Gold ib. borrows Money of the Citizens 290, grants them a Charter ib. grants them the Province of Ulster 293, Commission on behalf of the Archers of London 294, upbraids them for not settling the Province of Ulster ib. grants another Charter 295, presented by them with a Purse of Gold 298, his Carriages stopped by the Lord-Mayor, which occasioned him to swear ib. enters the City in great Pomp ib. demands 20000 l. of the Citizens ib. threatens to restrain them by a military Force ib. dies 299.

James II. his Accession 484, orders Alderman Cornish to be prosecuted ib. sends for the Lord-Mayor, &c. 485, restores the City Charter ib. address'd by the City ib. causes Witnesses to be examined concerning the Birth of a Prince 486, marches against the Prince of Orange, is deserted, and resolves to leave the Kingdom 486, recommends the care of the City to the Lord Mayor 486, stopped at Fewer-sham 489, returned to London ib.

Jeffries's Alms-house 1311.

Jeffries, the Chancellor, apprehended 488, sent to the Tower ib. his Death ib.

Jerusalem compared with London 747.

Jesuits, Proclamation against them 649.

Jesus College 854.

Jesus Commons 921.

Jeregive, what 53.

Jewin-street, see Cripplegate Ward.

Jewel Office 16, 1268, see Tower of London.

Jews massacred 53, compelled to pay 20000 Marks 85, massacred 94, 95, defend the Tower of London for the King against the Barons 99, apprehended and executed 105, a great Number banished 107, Act for their Naturalization 703, Petitions against it ib. for it by Manufacturers 703, Substance of the Act 704, Speeches in Parliament against it 704, 705, 706, Synagogues 787, 844, 894, Burial Grounds 913, House for the Converted 973, Hospital 1325.

Jewry, a place of Sanctuary in St. Katharine's 1017, 139; Old Jewry 1121, 1162.

Immoralities presented by the Grand Jury 545.

Impositions (arbitrary) opposed 301.

Incorporations, an Account of them 1231.

Indian Kings arrive in London 509, 545.

Infangthef granted to the City 120, its Explanation 122.

Infidelity, a Presentment against it 544.

Infirmary at Westminster 1310.

Infirmary (London) 612.

Inhabitants of London 736, 742.

Inner Temple, see Temple.

Inner Temple Library 1287.

Inn-holders Ordinance concerning them in the Star-Chamber 302, the Company of, 1247, Hall 915.

Inns of Court, their Origin 1278, entertain K. Cha. I. with a Masquerade 302.

Inquisitions to be taken at London 130, at Guildhall 234.

Inscription in Pudding-lane, see Bridge Ward.

Instructions delivered to the City Representatives 469, 500, 502, 518, 548, 628, 630.

Instructions delivered by the Independent Electors at Westminster to their Representatives 623, 629.

Instructions by the Citizens of Edinburgh to their Representatives 630.

Insurrection of Brewers, &c. 122, against the Lord Marshal, &c. 135, 411.

Invasion, see Saxons, Danes, Normans, French.

John, King, his Letter recommending an Architect to the Citizens 45, gives Ground toward

- the Support of London-bridge ib. Charter of Confirmation, and exempting the Londoners from Toll in his foreign Dominions 73, Charter for the Conservation of the Thames 59, 74. Charter with additional Power to chuse their Sheriffs 75, Letters Patents disfranchising the Weavers ib. Subjection to the Pope 76, Charter allowing the Citizens to chuse their Mayor ib. degrades and imprisons the Sheriffs ib. renews his Submission to the Pope ib. leaves the Barons in Possession of the City and Tower of London ib. destroys the Castles and Land of the Barons 77, his Court in Cornhill 902.
- John*, King of France, received in great State by the Citizens 130.
- Joiner, William*, Lord-Mayor, degraded 85.
- Journeyman*, see Masters, Foreigners, Manufacturers.
- Joyner*, the Company of, 1247, Hall 915.
- Jpres, William*, his House 1045.
- Irish Society*, its Incorporation 428, see Ulster.
- Iron-mongers*, the Company of, 1234, Hall 787.
- Ironmonger-row School* 1275.
- Ironside* (K. Edmund) 35, 36.
- Isabella*, Queen, writes to the Citizens 118, received by the Citizens with great Pomp 182.
- Isenbert* the Architect 45.
- Isle of Dogs*, why so called 1359.
- Islington School* 1275.
- Italian Merchants*, divers Privileges granted them 184, plundered by the Populace 196, 197.
- Judges* and Council sit and plead in Armour 249.
- Judges* who settled the Property of Land and Houses after the Fire of London, their Behaviour and Pictures 440.
- Judgment* against the City Charter reversed 502.
- Julius Cæsar* lands in Britain 4, beats and concludes a Peace with the Britons 5, his Fleet at Sea dispersed by a violent Storm, and that on the Coast destroy'd ib. routs the Britons, grants them Peace, takes Hostages, and returns to Gaul ib. his second Expedition, lands, assaults and takes the British Camp ib. Part of his Fleet destroy'd by Storm ib. hauls the rest of his Ships on Shore, and incloses them within his Camp ib. routs the Britons, passes the River Thames, takes the Trinovants into his Protection ib. divers States submit to him, assaults and takes Cassivellaun's Town, concludes a Peace with the Britons, and returns to Gaul 6.
- Juries*, who to serve on 219; guilty of Perjury 205.
- Jury*men punished for Perjury 205, Bribery in them how to be punished 219, when first impanelled by the Sheriffs 223, their Qualifications 219, 239, for the City Courts how returned 1209.
- Justice-hall*, the Court of, 1210.
- Justices*, Lords, dismiss Petitions 517, order Writs of Scire facias to be brought against divers Companies 529.
- Justice of the King's Bench*, his Partiality 308.
- Justs*, a Fight at 181, 185.
- Jwy Bridge* 1344.
- Juxon, William*, Bishop of London 1224.
- K.
- Katharine's* (St.) Hospital, its Situation and Foundation 1014, Endowment and Confirmation 1014 to 1021, the Property of the Queen's of England ib. Fraternity therein 1015, Monuments ib. its Choir 1016, its Bounds 1017, Garden 1018, Pope Urban's Bull against the Hospital 1022, Right to a Fair 1023.
- Kemp, John*, Bishop of London 1221.
- Kemp (William)* Proprietor of Peer-les-pool 84.
- Kemp, Thomas*, Bishop of London 1221.
- Kennington*, its Antiquity 1387.
- Kiddals*, by whom removed in the Thames 59, 63.
- Kifford's* Alms-house 1311.
- Kilmarnock's* (Lord) Execution 655.
- King, John*, Bishop of London 1224.
- King's-Bench*, the Court of, 1281.
- King's Library* 1288.
- King'sland Hospital* 1311.
- Knighten Guild* 1011, 1017, given to the Canons of Holy Trinity ib.
- Knights* dispute about Precedence 287, decided by the Office of the Earl Marshal 288.
- Knights Templars*, their Convent 967, their Mill 1064.
- Knitters* may employ Non-freemen 512.
- Kympton, William*, fined and imprisoned 264.
- L.
- Lady alley* Alms-house 1311.
- Lamb, Dr.* murdered 300.
- Lamb's Chapel and School* 264, 908.
- Lamb's Conduit* erected 263.
- Lamb's* (Sir William) Character and Legacies ib.
- Lambert's* (Daniel) Esq; Orders for the Prefermentation of the Thames Fishery 71, chosen Lord-Mayor, and sworn in by the Constable of the Tower 618.
- Lambeth*, the Antiquity thereof 1384, its Palace erected ib.
- Lambeth Library* 1287.
- Lambeth School* 1275.
- Lambs* consumed in London 757.
- Lamps*, the old Contract for lighting them 565, their Number 567; see Lightning the City.
- Lancaster, John* Duke of, threatens the Bishop of London 135, reconciled to the Citizens 137.
- Lancaster, Thomas*, Earl of, his Expence in House-keeping 112.
- Lancaster College* 947.
- Lancaster* (Dutchy of) Court of 1280.
- Landaff House* 1346.
- Lands* given to superstitious Uses suppress'd 241, fold at 20 Years Purchase ib.
- Lanes*, their Names and Number 720, &c.
- Langbourn Rivulet* 83.
- Langbourn Ward*, Name, Bounds and Extent 995, present State 996, Government 997, Parishes and Churches ib. Antiquities 998, Legacy for Discharge of Fifteenths 999.
- Lanterns* first hung out in the Streets 186.
- Laud, William*, Bishop of, London 1224.
- Lauderdale House* 765.
- Lawns* (French) see Cambricks.
- Lawyers* Address to the King 648, Regiment 649.
- Laystals* appointed 452, antient 879.
- Leadenball* erected 187, 1000, Tronage of Wool confined thereto 204, 1001, burnt down 216, 1001, regulated 462, when the Manor came to the City 1000, Granary ib. Chapel ib. Free Schools 1001, Market for Canvas and Linen ib. common Beam kept there ib. antient Use ib. and 1002, present ib. Greenyard ib. Fishmongers-yard 1003, Herb Market ib. new Market ib.
- Leaden-porch* 1004.
- Lead Office* 1268, the City's Right to weigh it 184, see Tronage.
- Leather-sellers Hall* 796, the Company of, 1248.
- Lee's* Alms-house 1311.
- Legates Inn* 879.
- Leicester's* (H.) Manner of living 112.
- Le Neve Inn* 879.
- Leper*s to depart the City 128.
- Levant Company* 1257.
- Lewis*, the French Prince, arrives at London 77, receives the Homage and Fealty of the Barons and Citizens ib. swore to restore good Laws and their lost Estates ib. deserted by many of the Nobility ib. his Army greatly diminished ib. goes to France 78, swears to return ib. comes back with a considerable Army ib. shut up in London ib. concludes a Peace with King Henry ib. takes Care of the Rights and Privileges of the Citizens, and returns to France ib.
- Leyborne*, Sir Roger, beats the Citizens 98.
- Liberties of London* before the Conquest 188.
- Liberties* not to be forfeited for personal Crimes 121, 180.
- Liberties of the Tower* 146, 176.
- Libraries*, publick 1286.
- Licence* for marrying an Orphan necessary 210.
- Lieutenant of the Tower* 175.
- Lieutenancy of the Tower* 176.
- Lieutenancy of London* address the Prince of Orange 488, address the King, see George I. and II.
- Lightning* 192, 220, 255, 599, 681.
- Lighting the City*, Act for it 521, Contract for it 565, Act of Parliament for it 640.
- Limehouse*, the Hamlet of, 1352.
- Lime-street Ward*, Name, Bounds, Extent and present State 999, Government 1000, Antiquities 1004, Scavenger paid by the City 1006, Proportion to Subsidies ib.
- Lincoln House* 1350.
- Lincoln's Inn* 1279.
- Lincoln's Inn Library* 1287.
- Lincoln, John*, occasions a great Infurrection 224.
- Linsled's* Account of London-bridge 44.
- Lions* in the Tower 171, their Courage tried before K. James I. ib.
- Little Almonry Alms-house* 1311.
- Little St. Helen's* Alms-house ib.
- Liverymen* impowered to elect a Mayor, &c. 208, restored to their ancient Rights 485.
- Livery Stables* 32.
- Llewellyn*, Prince of Wales, his Head carried thro' the City in Triumph 105.
- Lock Hospital* 1311.
- Lock Hospital* near Hyde-Park ib.
- Locks* (Bridge) 48.
- Lollard's Tower* 880.
- Lombard-street* 998, a Project about taking up Money here 999.
- London*, the Origin of, 18, first mentioned in History ib. Situation 11, deserted by Suetonius 15, sacked and burnt by Boadicea ib. at first a Roman City 16, its Stone the Milliarium of the Romans ib. 1047, various Names given it, with their forced Derivations 10, 17, 19, 23, first Buildings 16, escaped being sacked by the Franks 20, reduced to great Misery 32, wall'd 20, 30, the Capital of the East Saxons ib. destroy'd by Fire ib. as it was twice soon after ib. a Parliament held therein ib. sacked by the Danes ib. taken and pillaged by the Danes ib. Danes take their Winter Quarters therein ib. taken and repaired by King Alfred 33, committed to the Government of Ethelred ib. eight Coiners appointed for it ib. a Parliament held therein 32, a malignant Fever therein 34, destroyed by Fire ib. few Houses therein ib. attacked by the Danes ib. assaulted by the Danes ib. a Parliament held therein ib. attacked by the Danes ib. submits to the Danes ib. besieged by Cnut, the Siege raised, renewed, and raised again 35, its Opulency 36, possessed by Cnut ib. a Parliament held therein ib. sends Members to Parliament ib. confederates with Edwin and Morchar against the Conqueror 37, submits to the Normans ib. entered by the Conqueror ib. consumed by Fire 38, damaged by Storm ib. destroyed by Fire 39, visited with Famine ib. consumed by Fire ib. its Sheriffwicks granted to the Earl of Essex 41, pestered with Thieves and Murderers 43, interdicted 75, destroyed by Fire ib. a Parliament held therein ib. entered by the Barons 76, in their Custody ib. interdicted 77, tallaged in a great Sum 81, a great Darknes therein 82, destroyed by Fire ib. deprived of its Liberties 96, interdicted ib. its Government conferred upon Prince Edward 102, tallaged 111, in a great Commotion, see Riot; a great Fire therein, see Fire; fortified 358, additional Works made 368, exorbitantly assessed 369, burnt, see Fire of London, Buildings, Plan; a great Darknes therein 466, an Attempt by the Papists to burn it ib. in a great Commotion concerning the Irish 478, badly lighted 563, Scheme for improving of this City 709, the Excellencies thereof 713, Advantages of its Situation ibid. and 717, its Length and Breadth 718, Number of Houses 718, 719, 734, 742, Division within the Bill of Mortality ib. Number of Alleys, Streets, &c. 720 to 734, Rents of the Houses computed ib. Inhabitants 736, how to find the Number 736 to 746, Rise and Progress of the Bill of Mortality ib. compared with Nineveh ib. with Babylon ib. with Jerusalem 747, with antient Rome 748, with Alexandria 750, with Moscow, Constantinople and Caro ib. with Pekin 751, with Paris 752, with Amsterdam 753, with Naples, Milan, Madrid, Lisbon, Venice, Bresl, Berlin, Dresden, Dantzick, Breslaw, Copenhagen, Coningsberg, Stockholm and Hamburg 754, Waterworks 755, Consumption of Meal or Wheat Flour ib. of Beasts and Sheep 756, 757, of Calves ib. of Hogs, Pigs, Fish, Butter 758, of Cheese, Fowls, Milk, Garden-stuff, Malt Liquor, Wine and Spirits 759, of Candles and Coals 760, divided into Wards ib. their Names 761, Civil Government 1191, Ecclesiastical State 1214, Bishops 1214 to 1226, Military Government ib. Manner of Living and Diversions 132.
- London Assurance*, the Office of, 1268.
- London-bridge* erected 43, 44, 46, Charter there-to ib. a Description thereof 45, 46, Lands granted thereunto ib. its Foundation laid ib. Brief for repairing thereof 47, Letters Patents for Toll thereon ib. Fire thereon ib. and p. 50, its Custody in the Crown 48, claimed and obtained by the Citizens ib. Tower of the Bridge built ib. the Drawbridge 52, the Contents of the present Bridge ib. State of Bridge Accounts in 1482, ib. in 1727, 1752, p. 49, Buildings how erected thereon after the Fire in 1666, 50, Encomium thereon ib. present State of the Buildings 52, Orders for Carriages passing over ib. Tolls to be demanded ib. its Water-works 51, 1268, see Bridge Ward.
- London Clergy*, their Tithes ascertained 239, see Fire of London.
- London House* 764.
- London and Middlesex Sheriffwicks*, how held 120.
- London

London Infirmary in Goodman's-fields 612.

London Stone, see London.

London Work-house, its Situation 813, 1024, Foundation ib. incorporated 816, Governors and their Power 816, 822, how supported 817, in the Minorities 1024, Act of Common Council ascertaining the Proportions to be paid by each Ward to the London Work-house 818, its State in 1700, &c. 819; in 1713, &c. 820; in 1751 ib. in 1754, 821, Deficiency of its Income ib. the Design and Intent of the House ib. new Buildings 822, its Oeconomy ib. Diet ib. Speech of a Boy only eleven Years old to Queen Anne 823, Bishop of Litchfield's Commendation thereof 823.

London Workhouse School 1275.

Londonderry built 429.

London Lying-in-Hospital 764.

Long-bow-string-makers, the Company of, 1248.

Longditch 1242.

Longbeard's (Will.) Sedition 55.

Longchamp (Will.) Bishop of Ely, and Chancellor degraded 54.

Lord-Mayor's Court 1209.

Lord-Mayor and Aldermen, the Court of, ib.

Lords ask Aid of the Citizens 240.

Lords Letter to the City concerning a Loan 333, their Instructions ib. their Letter to the Lord Mayor 334.

Lords, the House of, their Order to elect a Sheriff 340, a Salvo to the same 341, for making Peace 371, the Court of 1281.

Lord's Day to be kept holy 192, Lord Mayor's Order for it 301, 450.

Loriners, the Company of, 1248, Hall 911.

Lotbury, why so called 894.

Lottery drawn Day and Night in St. Paul's Church-yard 257, a Ticket wanting 633.

Lowat's (Lord) Execution 648.

Lucius, said to be the first Christian King in Britain 1214.

Ludgate 26, a Description of its Prison 27, 28, 949, Benefactions thereto 29, Fees 950.

Luke's (St.) Hospital 1313.

Lumley's (Lord) House 787.

Lumley's Alms-house 1315.

Lunsford (Col.) obnoxious to the Citizens 350.

Lutheran Churches 1026.

Luxury restrained 238.

Luzancy's Declaration concerning Charles II. 466.

Lying-in Hospital near Grosvenor-square 1315.

Lying-in Hospital in Brownlow-street 1316.

Lying-in Hospital in London 764, Reasons for its Institution ib. Rules for its Government ib. Account current 765.

Lyon's Inn 1279.

Lyons, Richard, accused of divers Deceits 134.

M

MACES carried before the Mayor 129.

Machine or Water-works at London-bridge 51, at Cold-barbour 922.

Mackerel consumed in London 758.

Magistrates and Commonalty differ 98.

Magistrates of London, how elected, see Elections.

Malecontents of Kent desire Assistance of the Citizens 414.

Males and Females, their Number 745.

Malpas's (Sheriff) Legacy 191.

Malt, Frauds in, to prevent 181, Liquor consumed in London 759.

Manchester, Earl of, his Speech at Guildhall 364.

Manufacturers, an Act for preventing Frauds in their Workmen, and against embezzling 689.

Mansel, John, misrepresents the Citizens Behaviour 89, deludes the Populace, and appoints a Custos and Sheriffs to rule the City ib.

Mansion House, its Foundation 605, 1047.

March, Earl of, admitted into London 199, declared King 199, 200.

Margaret (Princess) married 205.

Margaret (Princess) married to K. James IV. 220.

Margaret, Queen, received in great Pomp 192.

Mark-lane, a Fair held there 1050.

Market not to be kept within seven Miles of London 121.

Market at Westminster 1338.

Market of Smithfield forbid to be held 275.

Markets, Act of Common-Council concerning them, 5 Edw. I. 104, for their Removal after the Fire of London in 1666, 451, Act for their Settling and Ordering 46, Stallage and other Accommodations, their Price 461, Committee for their Regulation and preventing the Extortion of Farmers 500, their Names and Number 720, &c.

Marlborough, Duke of, entertained at Goldsmiths-ball 505.

Marlborough Library 1288.

Marshall (City) appointed 259.

Martin's le Grand, see St. Martin's.

Marshall's Court 1282.

Mary, Daughter of Henry VIII. proclaimed Queen 248, rides thro' the City in great State ib. demands 500 Men of the Citizens 249, repairs to Guildhall, and makes a Speech 250 married to Philip of Spain 251, borrows Money of the City 257.

Mary, Daughter to James II. her Death 498, see K. William III.

Mary, Queen of Scotland, entertained by the Citizens 241, her Sentence proclaimed 271.

Mary Magdalen, the College of, 1119.

Masons, the Company of, 1248.

Masquerade at Kennington 132.

Masjam (Alderman) drank to for Sheriff 268, presented by the Grand Jury 545.

Massacre, the Irish 340, a sudden Report thereof 488, its surprizing Effects ib. spread over the Kingdom 489, its Author ib.

Masifs Houses pulled down 488.

Masters and Scholars of Oxford do Penance 85.

Masters and Journeymen's Disputes 678.

Matilda, the Empress, routs King Stephen, and takes him Prisoner 11. 42, grants the Tower and Sheriffs of London and Middlesex to Geoffrey, Earl of Essex, with the Office of Justiciary of the same ib. arrogant Behaviour ib. Founds the Priory of Holy Trinity at Aldgate 779, an Hospital at St. Giles's 1362.

Maurice, Bishop of London 1216.

Maurice's (Peter) Proposal for a Water Engine 267.

May Day (Evil) 224.

May fair; see Machine.

Maying, see Hen. VIII.

Mayor, Lord, Chief Butler of the Kingdom 54, first chosen by the Citizens 76, becomes Surety for the Sheriffs 85, when first allowed to be presented to the Barons of the Exchequer 88, submits to the King's Mercy 92, arrested and purchases his Liberty at a dear Rate ib. boldly answers the King 54, repairs to Windsor 96, committed to Prison ib. he and four of the Aldermen delivered up to the Prince to be fleeced 97, Disturbance at his Choice 98, gives Security for Money due to the Queen 102, degraded 103, committed to Prison 106, summoned by the Lord Treasurer ib. to be presented to the Constable of the Tower 108, summoned to attend the Privy Council 117, reprimanded by the Privy Council ib. summoned to appear before the Judges in the Tower ib. flies with other Citizens ib. presented by the Inquest ib. turns out Common Councilmen ib. appoints a strong Guard ib. allowed to be one of the Judges of Oyer and Terminer, and Escheator of the City 120, petitions the Parliament 125, assaulted 126, Fine for not serving the Office of Mayor 127, expends great Sums ib. to have Gold or Silver Maces carried before him 129, the Epithet of Lord, added to that of Mayor, is a Compliment rather than a Grant ib. discharged his Office 131, degraded 136, his Seal of Office new made 138, punishes Whoremongers and Usurers 143, refuses to engage in a Conspiracy 177, relieves the Poor in Time of Dearth 179, commanded to appear before the King, imprisoned, prosecuted and fined for a Riot ib. restored for Money 180, appointed Searcher of Malt 181, ordered to attend the Council ib. meets the King at Blackheath 182, attends the King 182, to be try'd by a foreign Jury 183, destroys Wears, &c. 185, appears before certain Commissioners ib. lends Money to the King 187, receives a Letter from the King 188, meets him at Blackheath ib. answers Henry VI's Letter ib. provides Corn in Time of Famine 190, his Choice disturbed by the Merchant Taylors 192, appointed a Privy Counsellor 195, endeavours to supply the Queen's Army with Provisions 199, promises to admit her into the City, ib. exempt from serving in foreign Affizes, Juries, &c. 202, resents an Indignity done to his Sovereign ib. complains of a Treispass ib. insists upon his Right of Precedency in the City 204, created Knight of the Bath ib. endeavours to clear the City and Liberties of disorderly Women, &c. 207, by whom chosen 208, 1102, fines a Man for marrying an Orphan 210, invited to a Hunt by the King 210, feasted by K. Hen. VII. 218, three in one Year ib. dines for the first Time at Guildhall 220, imprisoned, &c. 221, fined 2000 l. 222, relieves the Poor in Time of Famine 229, summoned to the Grey Friars 222, sent for to Court 224, promises to take Care of the Peace of the City ib. makes a Proclamation for the Populace to disperse 225, attends the Queen by Water 133, sent for: common Soldier 238, not to buy Cranes, &c. ib. holds a Conference with divers Lords 240, bound for the King to certain Bankers of Antwerp 247, officiates as Chief Butler 248, in-joined to preserve Peace in the City, and to fortify the same against all Attempts 249, assumes Arms for Defence of the City 250, the great Excess of his Table retrenched 251, to receive 100 l. per Annum from the City ib. receives a Letter from Lord Arundel, &c. 254, writes to the Secretary of State 255, has a Contest with the Bishop of Ely 260, commanded to exercise the Citizens in the Art of War 261, writes to the Lord Treasurer concerning the Plague 267, about false Weights 268, proclaims the Sentence against Mary Queen of Scotland 271, congratulates Queen Elizabeth 274, disperses a Body of riotous Sailors ib. writes to the Lord Treasurer concerning Coals ib. about the Bridge-yard 277, suppresses a Tumult 278, writes to the Lord Treasurer concerning the Election of a Recorder 279, presses 1000 Men for the Queen's Service 280, congratulates the Queen 281, assists at the Coronation of James I. 283, petitions the King concerning the Precedency of Knights 287, referred to the Knight Marshal 288, decreed in Favour of the Aldermen 289, of the Quorum 292, meets the King at Hyde-park, and presents him with a Purse of Gold 297, entertains divers of the Nobility ib. assists at the Coronation of Charles I. 299, ordered to attend the Privy Council, in the Case of Dr. Lamb 300, his Order against profaning the Lord's Day 301, Writ to the Mayor for levying Ship-Money 304, entertains divers Noblemen ib. petitions for an Abatement of Ships 306, Letter from King and Council to preserve the Peace of the City 320, ordered to attend the Privy Council ib. receives a Letter from the Scottish General 331, from the Privy Council concerning a Petition ib. from the Lords at York 333, ordered to disarm Papists, and prevent the Citizens from going to Mafes 339, Dispute concerning his Nomination of a Sheriff 339, ordered to guard the City 340, knighted and entertained by the King 346, imprisoned 347, informs the King of his Danger in persisting in Belfour's Removal 350, degraded and committed to the Tower 358, his Order for raising Money 361, to prevent Tumults 372, orders the Train'd bands to be ready upon all Occasions 354, orders them to march to the Fortifications ib. congratulates the General of the Army 406, committed Prisoner to the Tower 408, acquaints the Parliament with a dangerous Petition 410, refuses to proclaim the Action of Exheredation 419, degraded and fined 420, presented in great State to the House of Commons ib. carries the Sword of State at Cromwell's Inauguration 422, attends the Council of State ib. Precept to prevent Immoralities and Profanation of the Lord's Day, &c. 450, Lord Mayor and Aldermen offer a Reward of 500 l. for the Discovery of the Person that cut the Duke of York's Picture in Guildhall 473, Answers to the Petition of divers Citizens 475, his arbitrary Proceedings at the Election of Sheriffs in favour of the Court ib. arrested 483, Order for restoring the Livery 485, his Order to suppress tumultuous Proceedings 491, addresses the Queen 497, assists at Queen Mary's Funeral 498, Manner of chusing a Mayor 500, 1193, congratulates K. William III. 503, his Officers 1193, State and Grandeur 1194, filed honourable ib. his Robes ib. Perpetuity and Power ib. Conjectures concerning the Sword of State 1196, his Order to suppress Tumults 508, carries the Sword before the King 506, addresses the King 521, his Speech against the Excise Scheme 560, his Mansion House 605, who have died in their Office 617, sworn in before the Constable of the Tower 618, receives a Letter from the Secretary of State concerning the Rebellion in 1745, p. 645, addresses his Majesty 669, on the Birth of a Princess 688, his Procession, his Robes and Officers 763, his Authority ceaseth not 764, his Power ib. his Banqueting house 1373, Mansion house 1047.

Mayor, the Etymology thereof, 1192.

Mayors, a List of them 1105.

Mayor's (Lord) Show 1193.

Mayor and Aldermen, Court of, 1209.

Mayor's (Lord) Court ib.

Meal-Tub Plot 474.

Measures and Weights, by whom to be provided 73; see 100, 101, and Weights.

Meal,

Meal, Quantity consum'd in London 755.
Meeters of Corn at Queenhithe, their Fee, 1129.
Meeting-houses suppress'd 452, converted into Tabernacles ib. destroy'd 508, Contributions for Charity 1189, 1190.
Meeting-houses, Presbyterian, an Account of them 1189, Independent ib. Anabaptist ib. Quakers ib. of divers Denominations 1190, French ib. German ib. Jewish ib.
Megg's Alms-house 1317.
Mellitus, Bishop of London 1215, expell'd the City ib. restor'd and rejected ib.
Members of the Church of England far exceed those of all other Denominations in Number 746.
Members of Parliament, see Representatives.
Mercers Assurance-office 1268.
Mercers Hall 886, Chapel 887, its Monumental Inscriptions ib. burnt and rebuilt 888.
Mercers School 1275.
Mercers, the Company of, 326, 1232, Trustees of St Paul's School 933.
Merchandize, how to be brought to Market 100, the Rates thereof ib. weighed at the King's Beam 469, certain sorts forbid to be sold in the City Markets 494.
Merchant, one exempt from Offices and Duties 124, one murdered 172, a simple one committed to Newgate 199.
Merchants Adventurers, the Company of 1256, refuse to lend the Queen Money 256, receive a Letter from the Secretary of State concerning the same ib.
Merchants, Flemish, plundered 204.
Merchants, foreign, permitted to sell their Goods on Shore 83, to rent Houses 106, ingross most of the City Commerce 218, have Leave to trade to all Parts of the Kingdom Toll-free 1231.
Merchants, German, engage to keep Bishopsgate in Repair, &c 105, their House in Thames street ib. their Company dissolv'd 247.
Merchants of the Staple 1256.
Merchants to enjoy the Privileges of Gentlemen 1231, endeavour to discover a new Passage to China 258, make a second Attempt for the same Purpose 259, oppose Innovations in the Customs 300, address K. Geo. I. 519, Address to K. Geo. II. on the French Invasion 634.
Merchant Taylors Alms-house 1023, 1317.
Merchant Taylors School 918, 1276; List of its Masters 916, great Men educated therein 920.
Merchant Taylors, their Quarrel with the Goldsmiths 101, endeavour to set aside the Choice of a Mayor 192, purchase their Charter of Henry VII. 220, entertain and present King James I. and his Son Henry with Purfes of Gold and their Freedom 289, entertain King Charles I. 304, their Hall 846, the Company of, 1234.
Merchants Waterworks 1268.
Metage of Coals confirm'd to the City 290.
Metbuen's (Sir Paul) Speech against a general Excise 553.
Mewse, the Royal 1345.
Mico's Alms-houses 1317.
Middle Temple, see Temple.
Middle Temple Library 1287.
Middlesex (Parishes of) within the Bill of Mortality 1349, Number of Officers, &c. 1381.
Middlesex Hospital 1318.
Middlesex (London and) Sheriffwicks, how call'd 120.
Middleton's (Sir Hugh) Project of the New River 295.
Milborne (Sir John) a Benefactor to the Convent of Crutched Friars 783, his Alms-houses 227, 783, 786, 1318; Benefactions thereto ib. bequeath'd to the Company of Drapers ib. Qualifications of Alms-folks ib.
Mile-end Hospital 1359.
Mile-end new Town 1359.
Mile-end old Town ib.
Military Government 1226.
Militia (the) muster'd 295, escort Lord Kimbolton, &c. to the Parliament House 353, see Train'd bands.
Milk consumed in London 759.
Mills near the Tower 1021, at Queen-hithe 1030.
Mill, remarkable, invented 981.
Mills at London Bridge 50.
Millers to be punished 105.
Milliarium, see London.
Mineral and Battery Works 1269.
Mines, Royal ib.
Ministers, Ordinance of Parliament for their Ordination 383.
Minister (dissenting) their Address to the King 632.
Mint, an Asylum for insolvent Debtors 786.

Mint, the Office of, 154, 1269, see Tower of London, and Old Change.
Minorities (Little) 1009, 1174.
Minorities, an Abby of Nuns of St. Clare 1023.
Mobocks and Hockabites 510.
Monarchy abolish'd 420.
Monday's (Mr.) Character 811.
Money collected for the Relief of poor Sufferers 443.
Money expended in Law about contested Elections of Aldermen and Common-Councilmen 522.
Monger's Alms-house 1318.
Monk, General, suspected of an Intention to restore the King 422, maletreats the Citizens 424, marches to Finbury-fields ib. desires a Conference with the Common-council 425, orders the Posts and Chains to be replaced ib. chosen Major-General to the City ib. dines with the Lord Mayor ib. makes a Speech in the Common-council ib. orders the Parliament to issue out Writs for a new Election ib.
Monks Well 1370.
Monmouth, Geoffrey, his Account of London 4, his Legend confuted 9.
Monmouth, James Duke of, beheaded 485.
Montague, Lord, his House 765.
Montalto House 1142.
Monteigne, George, Bishop of London 1223.
Monumental Inscription, remarkable 1334.
Monument of London 834, a Description thereof ib. a Man falls from the Top thereof 681, Inscriptions thereon 835, see Fire of London.
Moorfields 16, granted to the City 312, levell'd 223.
Moor of Finbury 1372.
Moorgate 24, rebuilt 186.
Moravian Brethren's Declaration 668.
More (Sir Tho.) beheaded 236.
Morrel's Alms-house 1318.
Morrice's Alms-house ib.
Mortality (great) in Newgate 186.
Mortality (Bill of) its Origin and Continuation 736, 746.
Mortality (Bill of) at Paris 753.
Mortality (Bills of) in Naples, Milan, Madrid, Lisbon, (before the Earthquake) Venice and divers Parts of Germany, &c. 754, 755.
Mortality, very great 223, 228.
Mortality of Cattle 238, see Cattle.
Mortmain, Citizens Right to bequeath in 120, to purchase Lands 208.
Moscow compared with London 750.
Mountague House 765.
Mountfitchet, the Cattle of, 21, when destroy'd 1065.
Mountford, Lord, his House 761.
Mountfort (Simon de) Earl of Leicester, his Dealings with the City 94.
Mountjoy, the Prior of, his House 1117.
Mount-mill 1370.
Mug-houses, one of them attack'd, for which five Persons were hang'd 521.
Murders frequent in the City 117.
Musicians, the Company of, 1248.
Muster, one on Blackheath 267, 295, at Mile-end 233, 236.

N

Naturalization, see Foreigners, Jews.
Navy-Office 779, 787, 1032, 1269.
Nefton Park, the Prior of, his House 747.
Needle-makers, the Company of, 1248.
Negative (Aldermen's) debated 601, none allow'd in putting a Question 611, 612, 652.
Nennius's Account of the Britons 9.
Nets, see Fishery.
Nevil, Thomas, attacks the City in divers Places 194, repuls'd and oblig'd to fly ib.
Nevil's Inn 943.
New Abbey, see Eastminster.
Newbury, the Battle of 373.
Newbury's Alms-house 1318.
Newcastle, the Marquis of, forbids the Exportation of Coals to London 382.
Newcastle House 1361.
Newgate 25, 950, Donations belonging thereto 26, a great Mortality there 186, rebuilt by the Executors of Sir Rich. Whittington 188, broke open 197, Riot therein 664.
Newgate Market 925.
New-Inn 991, 1279.
New Testament, see Tindal.
New Palace yard 1341.
Newport House 1335.
Newport, Richard, Bishop of London 1219.
New River, projected 295, Company 1269.
Nicholas's Alms-house 911, 1319.
Niger, Roger, Bishop of London 1217.
Newport Pagnel fortified 374.

Nineveh City compared with London 746.
Noman's Land 128.
Nonjurors, Proclamations against them, see Papists.
Norfolk House 1143, 1336.
Norman, John, the Lord Mayor, chang'd the Custom of riding to that of going by Water to Westminster 196.
Norman, first Prior of Trinity near Aldgate 780.
Northampton, John, a great Enemy to the Fishmongers 145, condemned to perpetual Imprisonment ib.
Northbury, Michael, Bishop of London 1219.
Northumberland, the Earl of, murder'd 271, his House 765, 778, his Speech in Guildhall 375.
Norton-falgate, the Liberty of 1352.
Norwich House 1344.
Nusances in the River Thames 186.

O

OATH of an Attorney in the City Courts 1209.
Oats, Motion for opening the Port of London for them 689.
Office of Ordnance 151, 1270, see Tower of London.
Officers of the Army write to the Common-council 389, answer to the Common-council's Letter 392, write to the Common-council 394.
Officers within the City and Liberty of London, how to be elected 499, 1189; their Number ib. in Westminster 1347, in Middlesex 1380, in Southwark 1393.
Offerings made at Westminster 190, allow'd to the London Clergy by the Pope 196, 197.
Offley's (Sir Thomas) Charity 266.
Okborne, the Prior of, his House 879.
Old Artillery-ground Liberty, see Artillery-ground.
Old Bethlem Hospital, see Bethlem.
Old Ford 16.
Old Hall 921.
Old Change 947.
Old street, a Roman Way 1368.
Orange, the Prince of, arrives at London 451, entertain'd by the Lord Mayor ib. a Match between him and the Princess Mary 462, entertain'd at Guildhall ib. invited over 485, a Paper call'd his third Declaration 486, disclaim'd by his Highness 487, address'd by the Common council 488, by the Lieutenantcy ib. arrives at London 489, congratulated by the Recorder in the Name of the Common-council ib. sends Passes to divers Popish Ambassadors ib. orders a Convention to assemble at St. James's 490, his Speech to the Assembly ib. borrows 200000 l. of the City ib. accepts of the Crown 490.
Order, a military one, to marshal the Citizens, 1226, 1227.
Ordinance to demolish the Fortifications round the City and Suburbs 406.
Ordure to be thrown into the Thames 180.
Orivalle, Hugh, Bishop of London 1216.
Ormond place 1045.
Orphan, a Man find' for marrying one without Licence from the Mayor 210.
Orphans Money laid out in Corn 178, Act for the Support of the Orphans Fund 496, for their further Relief 661, Proceeding thereupon 663, 670.
Orphans, the Court of 1210.
Osborne, Sir Edward, drinks to Alderman Massam for Sheriff 268.
Ostorius Scapula settles divers Colonies 15.
Otto, Pope's Legate, obliged to fly from Oxford 85.
Outroper, see Common-crier.
Overbury (Sir Tho.) 297.
Owen's Alms-house 1319.
Ox, one roasted upon the Ice 483, see Thames.
Oxen, Number consumed in London 756.
Oxford's (Earl of) Palace 1006.
Oyer and Terminer granted to the City Magistrates 201, 202, 203.
Oysergate 30.

P

Package, the Right of, granted by Charter 209, the Table of Rates 328.
Packers, their Fees 330.
Packington's Alms-house 1319.
Paddington (Springs in) granted to the City 190.
Pageants at the Entry of Q. Ann Bullen 234.
Painters-Stainers, the Company of 1249, prosecute Foreigners 677, Hall 1026.
Palace, the new 1340, the Yard thereof 1341.
Palace, the old 1340.
Palaeologus (the Emperor Emanuel) at London 184.
Palatines

- Palatines* arrive in England 507, their Number ib. a Brief to collect Money for them ib. an Order about employing them ib. the Sum collected for them ib. great Improvements made by them ib.
- Palatine's* (the Prince) Entertainment 264.
- Palmer's* Alms-house 1319.
- Palmer's* School 1276.
- Palyn's* Alms-house 1319.
- Papey* (the) Hospital 781, endow'd ib. suppress'd 782.
- Papists*, &c. banish'd 384, attempt to burn London 467, plundered 489, ordered to subscribe a Declaration 491, 636, 646, 649; to depart the City 501, 532.
- Pardon* Church-yard 1365, see Farringdon without.
- Parallels* between London and the following Cities, viz. Nineveh, Babylon, Jerusalem, ancient Rome, Alexandria, Moscow, Constantinople, Cairo, Pekin, Paris, Amsterdam, modern Rome, Vienna, Naples, Milan, Lisbon, Naples, Venice, Berlin, Dresden, Dantzick, Copenhagen, Stockholm, Hamburg, Königsberg, Breslaw, and the Prussian Dominions, 746 to 754.
- Paris* compared with London 752, its Bill of Mortality 753.
- Parish* Clerks act Plays at Clerkenwell 1364, at Skinners-well ib. the Company of 1249.
- Parker's* School 1276.
- Parliament* address the King for a Confirmation of their Privileges 79, send Letters to the Pope 87, make divers Constitutions 93, confirm the same 95, a slavish Act of, repeal'd 106, censure a Decree of the Court of Star-Chamber 319, apply to the City for a Loan 338, write to the Lord Mayor to keep strong Guards 340, appoint a Committee to sit in Guildhall 351, solicit a Loan of the City 354, their Order concerning the Train'd-bands ib. Declaration touching the King's Letter 356, appoint the Earl of Essex their General 358, their Ordinance touching Apprentices 361, their Order to fortify the City 361, for calling in and burning the Book of Sports 369, Proposal for an Accommodation ib. tax the City at 10000 l. ib. Answer to the Women of London's Petition 373, dine with the Citizens 377, appoint a Day of Thanksgiving ib. their Order to send out Troops 378, to remove suspicious Persons, and have the City Troops always ready 380, Answer to the City's Petition for Perseverance 381, an Ordinance to supply the City with Fuel 382, desire a Loan of 80000 l. 383, dine with the Lord Mayor ib. borrow Money of the City ib. empower the Committee of the Militia to transact divers Affairs ib. order Delinquents to depart the Lines of Communication ib. treat with the King at Uxbridge ib. Ordinance for ordaining Ministers ib. Resolution to prevent the King's coming to London 384, an Order to prevent the Royalists from wearing Arms 385, order against harbouring or concealing the King 385, thank the Citizens for their Remonstrance against Sectaries 388, Ordinance against going arm'd 389, borrow Money of the City 390, thank the young Men for their Petition ib. thank the Common-council ib. borrow Money of the City ib. empower the Committee of the Militia to search for disaffected Persons and Arms 391, complain'd of by the City 394, by the young Men and Apprentices 396, 397; Ordinance for chusing a new Militia ib. reverse their Order 398, declare the Subscribers to the Presbyterian Engagement Traitors 399, empower the Committee of the Militia to raise Troops and appoint a General 401, Proceedings under the City Influence for Accommodation with the King 402, their Letter to the Army 402, empower the Committee of the Militia to levy Fines ib. endeavour to borrow Money of the City 408, commit divers Persons to Prison for an insolent Petition 410, held in Contempt ib. order all disaffected Persons to depart the City 411, their Ordinance to regulate the Choice of Common-councilmen ib. put down Play-houses ib. Answer to the City Petition 412, 413, grant the Citizen's Petition 413, discover a Conspiracy ib. grant the City Petition ib. dine with the City 420, 422, give Richmond Park to the City ib. divested of its Power 421, make an Ordinance to dissolve the Common-council 423, endeavour to curtail Monk's Power ib. restore the Common-council, &c. 425, borrow Money of the City ib. erect a Court for determining Differences between Landlords and Tenants 441, their Act to rebuild the City 443, grant the City a Duty upon Coals to erect publick Works 454, appoint Stipends in lieu of Tithes, ib.
- Parliament-men*, a List of them 1196.
- Parliament* of Scotland's Letter to the Common-council 382.
- Parliament*, the High Court of. 1281.
- Parliament-men*, a select Number meet in the Strand 631.
- Parsons* (Humphrey) Esq; twice Lord Mayor 611.
- Pater-noster-row*, why so called 949.
- Patten-makers*, the Company of, 1249.
- Paul's* (St.) Cathedral, see St. Paul's.
- Paul's* (St.) School 932, 934; Rules 932, Governor ib. Child-Bishop 933, Trustees ib. annual Charge ib.
- Pavements* of Freestone 297, how directed to be laid after the Fire of London 454.
- Paviours*, the Company of, 1250.
- Pay* Office 1270.
- Peace*, Regulations for its Preservation 106, proclaim'd 672.
- Peach*, John, impeach'd 134.
- Pedlars*, see Hawkers.
- Pedlars-acre* 791.
- Peerless* Pool, its ancient State 84, its present Improvement 84.
- Peers*, Lord Mayor, &c. assemble at Guildhall 309, their Declaration ib.
- Pekin*, compared with London 751.
- Pembroke*, Earl of, his Speech at Guildhall 379.
- Pembroke's* Inn 949.
- Pemell's* Alms-house 1319.
- Pennington*, Sir Isaac, made Governor of the Tower 242.
- Penny* (Gold) first coin'd 92.
- Penny* Post Office 852, 1279.
- Perilous* Pool, see Peerless Pool.
- Perkin*, the Impostor, rides through the City 219.
- Percival's* (Lord) and Mr. Edwin's Thanks to the independent Electors of Westminster 623, their Instructions ib.
- Perry's* (Mr. Alderman) Speech against a general Excise 551, Speech on presenting the Merchants Petition against Spanish Depredations 576.
- Persons*, divers crowded to Death 100.
- Pest-field* 721.
- Pest-house* 1370.
- Pestilence* 210.
- Peterborough* House 765.
- Peterman* 66, see Fisherman.
- Petition* of Richard de Bettayne 82, of the City Apprentices against Popery and Prelacy 223, of three Aldermen to the Parliament 347, of the Mariners to guard the Committee 353, of the Apprentices to guard the Committee ib. of the Citizens praying the King to return 362, against an Accommodation with the King 372, for Perseverance in promoting the public Good 381, of the Women 372, of the Ministers 383, of Citizens for settling Church Government 384, against Sectaries 385, of the Independants 388, of the young Men 396, 397; of the Presbyterians, with their Engagement 398, of the Well affected 399, of the young Men 400, of divers Citizens 410, for their Polls and Chains 412, for a regular Militia 413, for settling the Peace of the Kingdom 414, of Thousands 416, of the City to Oliver Cromwell for godly Ministers 421, in the Name of the Citizens to set the Prince of Orange on the Throne 490, disavow'd by the Lord Mayor ib. of the City relating to the South Sea Scheme 530, against Spanish Depredations 545, 576; against the Excise Scheme 560, Merchants Petition against the Bill for the Increase of Seamen 615, against the Admiralty 625, enforced by Mr. Glover 626, City's Petition for protecting the Trade and Navigation 627, of the City against naturalizing Foreigners 658, of the Merchants against ditto 693.
- Petty* Canons of St. Paul's 1216.
- Petty-France* 1384.
- Petwarden's* (1^{ho}) Murder 187.
- Pewterers*, the Company of, 1250, Hall 997.
- Philip* and Mary entertain'd by the Citizens 152.
- Philip*, Archduke of Austria, treated by the Citizens 221.
- Philippa*, of Hainault, received in great State by the Citizens 121.
- Philpot*, Sir John, defeats Mercer the Privateer 137, contributes to an Expedition against France, 138, cleans the City Ditch ib. exerts himself in Parliament in behalf of the City ib. appointed one of the Receivers of the Publick Money ib.
- Physicians* incorporated 227, their College 927, Number of Fellows increased ib. Government 928, their Charter and Privileges ib. and 929, 930; Dispute with Dr. Schomberg 930, Statute against consulting with certain Persons ib. List of the Officers, &c. 931, Library 1286.
- Physic* (Practice of) restrain'd by Law 928.
- Picard*, Henry, entertains four Kings 131.
- Pickpockets*, a School for them 269.
- Pie-powder* Court 1213.
- Pierce* (Alice) Lady of the Sun 132.
- Piercy* (Lord) see David King of Scotland.
- Pigs* consumed in London 758.
- Pilkington*, Thomas, fin'd 10000 l. 476.
- Pillory* in Cornhill 903.
- Pinner's* Hall 846.
- Pin-makers*, the Company of, 1250.
- Plague* in London 128, 131, 132, 210, 220, 227, 238, 240, 259, 257, 283, 299, 306, 430; Orders for preventing it 259, 267, 275, 531.
- Plasterers*, the Company of, 1250, Hall 911.
- Plan*, an absurd and ridiculous one drawn by the Citizens 93.
- Plan* of a new City by Sir Christopher Wren and Mr. Evelyn 446, see Buildings, Streets.
- Plautius*, Aulus, defeats the Britons 8, invites over Claudius the Emperor ib.
- Plays* regulated 262.
- Players* often complained of and restrain'd 263, 638.
- Play-house*, the first erected 1370.
- Play-house* in Dorset-street 953, in the Hay-market 1326, ib. in Drury-lane ib. Covent-garden ib. Little Lincoln's-inn-fields ib.
- Play-houses* 1326, Ordinance for pulling them down 411.
- Plot*, see Conspiracy, Assassination.
- Plow-yard* School 1276.
- Plumbers*, the Company of, 1250, Hall 915, 1042.
- Political* Account of London, see London.
- Poll* Tax 138.
- Poll* for Members of Parliament 618.
- Poll* for Sheriffs 628.
- Pool*, Paul Wythyn, to be present at all Common-councils 236.
- Poor*, the Number taken care of, with the Sum Total disburs'd on their Account 1324.
- Poor* Housekeepers in London, A. D. 1695, 279; how relieved ib. not to be sent into Country Work-houses 588.
- Pope's* Nuncio complains of a Riot 116.
- Pope* of Rome endeavours to stir up the Emperor, &c. against Hen. VIII. 233, burn'd in Effigy 467.
- Popish* Churches spoil'd 254.
- Popish* Conspiracy discovered 462, to burn London 467.
- Popish* Priests, Proclamation against them 649, Proceedings thereupon ib. Letter from the Ambassadors of Popish Princes concerning it 650, the Secretary's Answer 651.
- Poplar* School 769.
- Poplar*, the Manor House and Chapel 1359.
- Populace* assault the Queen 95, usurp the Government of the City 96, seize the Mayor 117, behead the Bishop of Exeter ib. take the Keys of the Tower from the Constable, and discharge the Prisoners ib. appoint John of Eleham Guardian of the City ib. murder the Lord Chancellor ib. highly incens'd against the Judges 126, endeavour to murder the King 183, murder the Burgundians 190, threaten the King's Commissioners 194, plunder the German Merchants 219, pull down Hedges, &c. 222, massacre many Foreigners 225, attack the Palace at Lambeth 320, insult the Spanish Ambassador 338, plunder Papists 490.
- Porpoises* near London Bridge 675.
- Portage*, its Right granted by Charter 209.
- Porter* of the Tower, see Tower.
- Porters*, Tackle, Ticket and Fellowship, their Duty 471.
- Porters* not free, when allow'd to work 411, 412.
- Porto Bello* taken 606, City congratulate his Majesty on that Occasion ib. his Majesty's Answer 607.
- Portreeve* or Portgrave, the Meaning thereof 1192.
- Portpool*, the Manor House 1351.
- Portoken*, the Ward of, its particular Immunities granted by King Hen. II. 53, Name 1012, Bounds and Extent 1006, Government ib. Parishes, Churches and Charity Schools ib.
- Portugal*, the Prince of, endeavours to accommodate a Difference between the Protector and Bishop of Winchester 188.
- Post* Office 997, 1271; Rates for Letters 998, 1271.
- Posts* and Chains taken away 97, 424.
- Postern* gate 22, 248.
- Poulterers*, Ordinance concerning them 103, Verdict against them 692, the Company of, 1250.
- Poultry*, the Prices of, 18, 261.
- Poultry* Compter 889, Officers ib. Benefactors ib.
- Poynts*, General, kills divers Citizens 404.

Prebends of St. Paul's, their Names and Number 1227

Precedency, Quarrel at Church about it 187, between Aldermen knighted and not knighted 287.

Precentor of St. Paul's, his Office 1224.

Precedents, divers, granted to the City 293.

Prerogative Court 872, 1282.

Presentments, four remarkable ones 543.

Pretender proclaim'd 502, Proclamation for apprehending him 512, see Page 518

Presb. (a) of Men in Church on Easter-day 287.

Presbyterians (Scotch) their Letter of Thanks to the Lord Mayor, &c. 389.

Presbyterian Engagement 398

Princes of Wales sends to the City 132.

Printing-house (King's) 924, broke open 488, burnt 576.

Prisoner rescued and carried into St. Martin's-le-grand 191, taken forcibly out of Sanctuary ib. remanded back ib.

Prisoners in Newgate resist the Sheriffs 196, 539.

Privy Council refer a Dispute between the City, &c. to the Chief Justices and Master of the Rolls 267, their Report thereon ib. Council's Order to confirm the same 268, write to the Lord Mayor concerning the Spanish Invasion 271, write to the Lord Mayor, &c. concerning Dr. Lamb 30, threaten the Citizens ib. an Order for Goldsmiths 301, Letter to the Mayor 308, write relating to Goldsmiths Shops ib. enforced by an Order of the Court of Star-chamber ib. write concerning Goldsmiths Shops 39, write to the Mayor to prevent Tumults 318, concerning Tumults ib. to be suppress'd by the Train'd bands 319, write to the Mayor to levy 4000 Men 321, order the Mayor and Sheriffs to be prosecuted ib. write to the City against their petitioning 340, concerning a Loan ib. an Order to prevent an Entertainment in the City 473, an Order to reverse late Proceedings 474, write to the Mayor concerning the Number of Inhabitants 742.

Processions, two pompous, one by Water and Land 233, 234; of King George I's Entry 516.

Proclamation against building on new Foundations, 182, 258, 277, 292, 294, 421; against Hackney Coaches 308, 358, 362, 371; to apprehend the Pretender 506, against Papists, see Papists, Popish Priests; for the Cessation of Hostilities 668.

Provisions, the Price of, ascertained 103, 109; Poulterers Table ib. Fishmongers ib. Price of 109, 113, 113, 124, 128, 241, 243, 251, 257; wherewith the City and Suburbs are supply'd, viz. Water, Meal, Beer, Ale and Small-beer, Beasts, Sheep, Calves, Hogs, Fowls, Fish, Butter, Cheese, Milk, Garden-stuff, Wine, Spirits, Coals and Candles, 755 to 760.

Provisions, their excessive Price 249, see Dearth.

Provoost, a certain Magistrate 1192.

Ptolemy, mistaken, in respect to the Situation of London 12.

Public houses to be shut up at 8 o'Clock 106.

Puddle-dock-gate 30, 879.

Pulcenez's (Sir Will.) Speech against the Excise 556, on the Spanish Depredations 578, 586.

Pullingt'n's (Sir Tho.) Orders for the Preservation of the Fishery 57.

Punishment of Persons who bribe Jurors 220.

Purveyor (King's) restrain'd 93, 121.

Pye-powder (Court of) at Fairs 121.

Pym, John, his Speech at Guildhall 364.

Pynelston, Thomas, and others, banish'd 106.

Q

Quakers petition for Relief in Tythes 568, Clergy petition against it 568, Bill thrown out 569, Address to the King 633, Bounty to the Army 649.

Quakers School 1276.

Quakers Work-house 1319.

Queen's Library 1288.

Queenhithe 29, 127, purchased by the City 86, see Page 193; Grants thereto 1027, Liberty ib. Inquisition concerning it ib. farm'd to the City 1029, Custom ib. fees to the Meeters &c. of Corn ib. Market for Fish, &c. 792, 1030, Garner and Corn Mills ib.

Queenhithe Ward, Name, Bounds, Extent 1024, modern State 1025, Government, Parishes and Churches 1026, Antiquities 1031.

Queen Gold distrain'd on the Citizens 89, 102.

Queries (Constitutional) order'd to be burnt 685.

Quo Warranto brought against the City 477, Proceedings thereon ib. Pleadings 479, Judgment ib. enter'd 483, Proceedings thereupon ib. the Judgment reversed by Parliament 491.

R

Rabble attack the Palace at Lambeth 320.

Raine's Hospital 1319.

Rainwell, John, his Charity 188.

Raleigh's (Sir Walter) Arraignment, &c. 282.

Ramsay, Abbot of, his House 1105.

Ramsay's Alms-house 1319.

Randolph's, Bernard, Legacies 1031.

Ratcliff School 1276.

Ravages committed in the City 96.

Ravis, Thomas, Bishop of London 1223.

Read, Colonel, &c. endeavour to accommodate Matters between the King and City 374, Propositions for that Purpose 375.

Rebuilding of London, Rules and Directions for it 441.

Record Office 158, 1272, Contents of the Records 159

Recorder, 201, 202, 203, 204, 1203; Queen Elizabeth's Proceedings and the City's Behaviour in regard to his Choice 279, to be of the Quorum 293, his Speech to the Prince of Orange 489, to King George I. 516, to King George II. 541, Addition to his Salary 672, List of Recorders 1203.

Recorder's Speech to the King 340.

Redcross-street Library 1287.

Redcross-street School 1276.

Regrators to be punished 124.

Regulations for quenching Fire 507.

Remarks on Wat Tyler's Rebellion 175.

Remembrancer 1207.

Remonstrance of the City of London to K. Charles I. 352, to Parliament 354, against Sectaries 385.

Rents, their Names and Number, see London.

Reprisals made on the Genoese Merchants 198.

Representatives for the City in Parliament, how chosen 500, Number of the Poll for them 618, 660, 712, ancient Number of Representatives 1196, a List of their Names 1197.

Requests, the Court of, 1210.

Rescue (a) of a Prisoner 191.

Resolutions on the King's Commission 370.

Resitutus, Bishop of London 1214.

Retail of Woollen, &c. Laws relating thereto 251.

Richard Earl of Cornwall blames the King for infringing the City Liberties 88, informs against the Citizens ib. his House destroyed by them 96.

Richard I. his publick Entry 54, Expedition to the Holy Land ib. how he raised Money, &c. ib. his second Coronation ib. grants a Charter of Confirmation 55, his second Charter, granting new Privileges 56.

Richard II. confirms the City Liberties 136, his Publick Entry ib. holds a Conference with Wat. Tyler 140, puts himself at the Head of the Rebels 141, grants them a Charter of Manumission ib. sends the Duke of Lancaster with an Army into Spain 176, writes to the Citizens to repair the Walls of the City ib. retires to Bristol 177, enters London in great Pomp 178, issues a Proclamation not to supply the Barons Army ib. repairs to the Tower of London for Safety ib. appoints a great Tournament 178, deny'd a Loan by the Citizens 179, threatens to raze the City ib. commands the Citizens to attend him at Nottingham ib. received in great State by the Citizens 180, reviews them on Blackheath 182, imposes a Mayor, and compels them to sign blank Obligations ib. is imprisoned and dethron'd 182, threaten'd with Death ib.

Richard, Duke of Gloucester, seizes the King's Person 211, his hypocritical Behaviour ib. the Duke of York, the King's Brother, deliver'd up to him ib. murders Lord Hastings, &c. ib. defames his Mother, and asperges his Brothers, 212, murders the King and his Brother 214, usurps the Government by the Name of Richard III. and sends for a Guard of 5000 Men from the North of England 215, sells the Crown Plate ib. orders the Tower of London to be repaired 216, slain in the Field of Battle ib.

Richmond's Alms-house 1319.

Riding (first) to the Water-side on Lord Mayor's Day 220.

Ridley, Nicholas, Bishop of London, promotes the Foundation of the City Hospitals 936.

Ridotto's, see Masquerades.

Ringed-ball 1045.

Riot, see Insurrection, occasioned by the Goldsmiths and Merchant Taylors 101, on account of the Tun Prison 107, by Tradesmen 123, 124, 126, 135, 145; in Fleet-street 179, 198; in Eastcheap 185, by the Men of St. Martin's-le-

Grand 196, in Cheapside ib. by Lord Falconbridge 207; on Evil May-day 224, between the Tower Warders and City Apprentices 278, on account of Dr. Lamb 300, Resolutions and Orders of Parliament against Riots and Tumults 562.

Riot of Sailors, &c. in the Strand 675, in the City 686.

Rioters taken out of Sanctuary 196, 218; executed 17, 218, 278.

Rivulets in the City and Suburbs 83.

Robberies very common 42, 76; frequent in London Streets 106.

Robert, Bishop of London 117, 1216.

Robes first worn by the City Magistrates 764.

Robinson, John, Bishop of London 1225.

Roeb, see Scales.

Rochester House 1392.

Rogers's Alms-house 1319.

Rokeley, Gregory, the Mayor, imprison'd 106.

Rolls, the Liberty of, 1352.

Rolls, the Master of, his House 973, 974; Chapel and Monuments 974, Records kept there 975.

Roman Antiquities discover'd in St. George's fields 11, a tessellated Pavement at Bishopsgate 2, in Bishopsgate-street 1108, in Scots yard Busb-lane 18, a sepulchral Stone near Ludgate ib. a Ferry at Dowgate, see Dowgate; a Cemetery at Ludgate 1230, a great Quantity of Earthen Vessels in Lombard-street 1146, a Variety of Utensils in Fleet-ditch 504, see Farringdon Ward without.

Rome, Intercourse therewith forbid 230, compared with London 748, 753.

Roman Catholick Princes, their Ambassadors Letter to the Secretary of State concerning the Proclamation against Papists 650.

Romeland at Queenhithe 1030.

Rose, Richard, boiled to Death 230.

Rositer (Mr.) chosen Bridge-master 682.

Rotherhithe School 1276.

Rotherhithe Waterworks 1272.

Rounce (Tho.) executed 631.

Rouncival, St. Mary 1345.

Row's Burial-ground 255.

Royal Exchange erected 256, 299; King Charles II's Statue erected thereon 484, describ'd 898, 899, Walks delineated 901.

Royal Exchange Assurance 902, 1272.

Royal Palace in Lombard-street 1365.

Royal Society 1282, Statutes 1284.

Royal Society Library 1287.

Rufus (King William) favours the Jews 38.

Rumps roasted in Derision of the Parliament 425.

Ruffel (Elias) the first Mayor sworn in before the Constable of the Tower 108

Russian Ambassador's magnificent Reception, and pompous Entry 252, 259.

Russia Company 1257.

S

Sabbath Day to be kept holy 192.

Sacheverell's (Dr. Hen.) Trial 5-8.

Sacrist of St. Paul's, his Office 1225.

Sadlers, the Company of, 1250, present the Prince of Wales with their Freedom 507, a Copy thereof ib. their Hall 927.

Saffron-hill Liberty 1352.

St. Alban 105, Antiquities 151.

St. Alphage 1059, Antiquities ib.

St. Andrew, Holborn 1059, Patronage 1060, Antiquities 1061.

St. Andrew's, Holborn, School 1142.

St. Andrew Hub'ard 1061.

St. Andrew Undershaft 1062, Antiquities 1063.

St. Andrew Wardrobe 1063, Antiquities 1064.

St. Anne, Aldersgate ib.

St. Anne, Black-friars, 1065.

St. Anne, Limehouse 1353.

St. Anne, Westminster 1334, Antiquities 1335.

St. Antholin or St. Anthony 1066.

St. Anthony's Hospital 845.

St. Augustine's, the Abbot of, his House 1392.

St. Augustine de Papey, or in the Wall 104, its Foundation, &c. 1005, added to Allhallows, London-wall ib. is in Lime-street Ward 1006.

St. Austin 1067.

St. Austin's Priory 1004.

St. Bartholomew, Exchange 1067.

St. Bartholomew's Hospital; see Bartholomew's Hospital and 1319.

St. Bartholomew the Great 1069, Antiquities 1070.

St. Bartholomew the Less ib.

St. Eneadid or Bennet Finck 1071.

St. Bennet Grass-Church 1072.

St. Bennet, Paul's-Wharf 1073.

St. Bennet Sherehog 1074, why so called 1075.

St. Botolph, Aldersgate 1075, rebuilt 1078, Act for rebuilding it ib.

St. Botolph,

- St. Botolph, Aldgate* 1021, 1079, (see Trinity Priory) rebuilt 108, Act for rebuilding ib.
St. Botolph, Billin Gate 183.
St. Botolph, Bishopsgate 1084, rebuilt 1086.
St. Bride, Parliament held there 75, Church 1086.
St. Catharine's Chapel; see Katharine.
St. Catharine's Court 1282.
St. Christopher 1090.
St. Clare, the Abbey of, 1023, its Charter 1024, Monuments ib.
St. Clement Danes 1335, Table of Fees ib. Antiquities 1336.
St. Clement Eastcheap 1061.
St. Clement's Well 1336.
St. David's, the Bishop of, his House 992.
St. Dionis Backchurch 1092.
St. Dunstan in the East 193.
St. Dunstan in the West 1094.
St. Dunstan, Stepney 1353.
St. Edmund the King 1097.
St. Eppit Chapel 1336.
St. Ethelburgh 1098.
St. Ewen 960.
St. Faith 1099, granted by Leafe 1100.
St. Gabriel 111.
St. George, Bloomsbury 1360.
St. George, Botolph-lane 1100.
St. George, Hanover Square 1336, Antiquities 1337.
St. George's Hospital 133.
St. George, Middlesex 161.
St. George, Queen-square 1360.
St. George, Southwark 1382.
St. Giles, Cripplegate 1101.
St. Giles's Hospital 1105.
St. Giles in the Fields 1361, Antiquities 1363.
St. Gregory 115.
St. Helen 116.
St. James, Clerkenwell 1363.
St. James, Duke's-place 1108.
St. James, Garlick-hill 1109, a Guild therein 1045.
St. James in the Wall or St. James Hermitage 943, see Lamb's Chapel 1345.
St. James's Hospital 1345.
St. James's Palace erected 1343.
St. James, Westminster 1337.
St. John Baptist, Dorset-hill 1110.
St. John Baptist in the Savoy 1338.
St. John Evangelist, Watling Street 1111.
St. John Evangelist, Westminster 1339.
St. John at Hackney 1305.
St. John, Horsley down 1383, School ib.
St. John, Wapping 1366; an Act has passed since the Publication of this Account for rebuilding of this Parish Church.
St. John Zachary 111.
St. John of Jerusalem, the Hospital of, 1364.
St. John's-street School 1276.
St. Katharine Coleman 1112, rebuilt 1114, Act for rebuilding ib. Antiquities 1117.
St. Katherine Cree-church 1116.
St. Katherine, Tower 1118, see Katharine.
St. Laurence Jewry 1119, Antiquities 1121.
St. Laurence Pulteney 1121.
St. Leonard, Eastcheap 1122.
St. Leonard, Foster lane 1123.
St. Leonard, Shoreditch 1366.
St. Luke 1368.
St. Luke's Hospital 1313.
St. Magnus 1124, its Value in 1494, ib.
St. Margaret, Lotbury 1126.
St. Margaret Moses 1127.
St. Margaret, New Fish-street ib.
St. Margaret Pattens 1128.
St. Margaret, Southwark 1393.
St. Margaret, Westminster 1319, Antiquities 1340, 1342.
St. Margaret's Work-house, Bill of Fare 1326.
St. Martin in the Fields 1343, Antiquities 1344, 1345.
St. Martin, Ironmonger-lane 1228.
St. Martin le Grand 191, 761, 766, its Privileges 767, 768, 769, 770, Reasons why this Liberty should be subject to the City 771, the Abbot of Westminster's claim to an exempt Liberty 772, Depositions to prove his Claim 774, a Plan and Survey of the Liberty ib. present Privileges 776, Court 1214.
St. Martin le Grand, the Court of, see Aldersgate.
St. Martin, Ludgate 1129.
St. Martin Outwich 1130.
St. Martin Overchurch 1131, Antiquities 1132.
St. Martin Vintry ib. Antiquities 1133.
St. Mary Abchurch ib.
St. Mary, Aldermanbury 1134, Antiquities 1135.
St. Mary Aldermary 1135.
St. Mary-axe 1004, 1063.
St. Mary-at-hill 1139.
St. Mary Botolph 1138.
St. Mary Colechurch 1138.
St. Mary of Grace 128.
St. Mary, Islington 1370.
St. Mary la Bonne 1159.
St. Mary of Grace, see Eastminster.
St. Mary, Lambeth 1384.
St. Mary le Bow 1137, Antiquities ib.
St. Mary le Bow School 1138.
St. Mary le Strand 1345.
St. Mary Magdalen, Bermondsey 1387.
St. Mary Magdalen, Milk-street 1140.
St. Mary Magdalen, Old Fish-street 1141.
St. Mary Magdalen's Chapel 1121.
St. Mary Mountbaw 1142.
St. Mary, Newington 1388.
St. Mary, Rotherhithe 1389.
St. Mary Rouncival 1345.
St. Mary, Somerset 1142.
St. Mary Spital 1084.
St. Mary Staining 1143.
St. Mary, Whitechapel 1373.
St. Mary Woolchurch 1144, Antiquities 1144.
St. Mary Woolnoth 1143, Antiquities 1145.
St. Matthew, Friday street 1146.
St. Matthew, Ethel Green 1374.
St. Michael near Aldgate, Ruins, 1117.
St. Michael Bassishaw 1146.
St. Michael Cornhill 1147, Antiquities 1149.
St. Michael Crooked lane ib.
St. Michael de Pater noster 1042.
St. Michael Queenhithe 1150.
St. Michael Querne 1151, Antiquities 1152.
St. Michael Royal ib.
St. Michael, Wood-street ib.
St. Mildred, Great-street 1153.
St. Mildred, Poultry 1154, Antiquities 1155.
St. Nicholas Acon ib.
St. Nicholas Cole-abbey 1156.
St. Nicholas Olave 1157.
St. Nicholas Shambles 943.
St. Olave, Hart-street 909, 1158.
St. Olave Jewry 1160.
St. Olave's School 1276.
St. Olave, Silver street 1162.
St. Olave, Southwark 1389.
St. Pancras in the Fields 1379.
St. Pancras, Pancras-lane 1363.
St. Paul preaches in Britain 580.
St. Paul's Cathedral founded 1163, burnt 192, 1164, rebuilt ib. burnt ib. rebuilt 484, Dimensions thereof ib. its Spire fired by Lightning 192, 255, 1165, its Spire and Roof destroyed by Fire ib. irreparably consumed by Lightning 1165, Number of its Chantries 1166 anniversary Obits, &c. ib. Treasure thereof ib. large Repairs 1165, after the Fire 1166, Foundation of the present Church laid 1667, the Building finished ib. the Dimensions thereof ib. its Antiquities 1171, Charge of its Rebuilding 1173, Gates to the Church-yard 880, 943, 1171, 1172, its Chapter-house 943, Chancel-house 947, 948, Guild of all Souls ib. the Clozier 948, Pulpit-cross in the Church-yard ib. Sermons, &c. thereat ib. Difference of the Dimensions of St. Peter's at Rome and St. Paul's at London 1167, its antient Cloister 1172, Chapels ib. School ib. Antiquities discovered in digging the Foundation 1172, see Farringdon Ward within.
St. Paul, Covent-garden 1346, Antiquities 1247.
St. Paul's Library 1172, 1288.
St. Paul's School 1172, 1276.
St. Paul, Shadwell 1379.
St. Peter ad Vincula 148, 1174.
St. Peter Cheap 1175.
St. Peter, Cornhill ib. Antiquities 1176.
St. Peter's Hospital 1320.
St. Peter le Poor 1177.
St. Peter, Paul's Wharf 1178.
St. Peter, Westminster 1327.
St. Saviour 1390.
St. Saviour's Abby 1388.
St. Saviour's Dock and Mill ib.
St. Saviour's School 1277.
St. Sepulchre, the City Liberty 1178, Antiquities 1180, see Newgate.
St. Sepulchre, the Middlesex Liberty 1380.
St. Stephen's Chapel 1341.
St. Stephen, Coleman-street 1181.
St. Stephen's Hospital 1320.
St. Stephen, Walbrook 1046, 1182.
St. Swithin 1046, 1183.
St. Thomas the Apostle 6041, 1185.
St. Thomas's Hospital 1322.
St. Thomas's Chapel 45.
St. Thomas of Acon's Hospital 1138.
St. Thoma, Southwark 1391.
St. Thomas a Waterings 35.
St. Vedast 1186.
Salisbury House 992, 1344.
Salisbury, the Bishop of, a Riot by his Servants 179, complains to the King against the City ib. its bad Effects on the City ib. his House 992.

Salmon's Reasons for London being built in Surry 20, concerning the City Wall 20.

Salter's the Company of, 1234, Hall 1046.

Salt Water above London-bridge 237

Sancta Maria, William, Bishop of London 1217.

Sanctuary of St. Martin's 191, see St. Martin's le Grand.

Sanctuary (the Little) 1342.

Sandys, Edwin, Bishop of London 1223.

Savage, Thomas, Bishop of London 1222.

Savoy, the Palace of, 1338.

Say (Lord) beheaded 194.

Scaffold in Cheapside falls down 123.

Scalding House 1155.

Scales, batters the City 199, killed soon after ib.

Scales (Lord) the Queen's Brother, his Combat with Lord Roch 205.

Scavage, the Table of Rates 326.

Scavengers Duty 457

Schools, publick, Petition to Parliament for erecting them 193

Schools, private, their Number

Schools (Free and Charity) their Number 1274, 1277.

Sotale, what 53.

Scots Commissioners arrive in London 334

Scots Corporation 1323, Hall 924.

Scotland Palace 1344.

Scrivener's, the company of, 1251.

Sculls, human, discovered 450, 689.

Scroop House 1075.

Sea Coals, the Use of, forbidden; see Coals.

Seagrave, Richard, Bishop of London 1219.

Seal of the City altered 138, 1192, 1193.

Sea Officers Widows provided for 1323.

Secondary appointed 27.

Selling in the Streets forbidden 301, Frauds to prevent in, see Buying Sempringham House 991.

Seneschals in the City appointed 97.

Senex (John) 43.

Septem Camera 73.

Sentence on the Quo Warranto, see Quo Warranto.

Serjeants and Yeomen appointed 207

Serjeants at Law, entertain the King, &c. at Ely House 230.

Serjeant at Arms misused 237.

Serjeants Inn, Fleet-street 975, in Chancery-lane 977.

Serne's Tower 1183

Servants to be punished in case of Fire 506.

Sessions of the Peace removed to Guildhall 226.

Seymer (Sir Edw.) Duke of Somerset, his Fall 240, 241, Trial and Execution 247.

Shad Thames, a great Fire there 644.

Shadwell 1379.

Shadwell Spaw ib.

Shadwell Water-works 1272.

Shaftsbury House 764.

Shambles, a Fleish Market 1090.

Sharing House 1030.

Sheaf (Mr.) refuses to serve or fine for Sheriff 712.

Sheep consumed in London 757.

Shelden, Gilbert, Bishop of London 1223.

Shelley House 766.

Sheriffs of London, by whom chosen 208, to provide military Accoutrements 54, to furnish Weights and Measures 73, Charter empowering the Citizens to chuse their Sheriffs 74, 79, to continue only for one Year 83, to distrain for the Queen's Gold 88, to provide for the King's Elephant and white Bear, ib. committed to Prison ib. to distrain in Westminster 94, to be brought before the Barons of the Exchequer 102, to pay 40 l. per Ann. for the Farm of the City 103, their Account audited 107, to be amerced according to the Crime 120, imprisoned and fined 179, restored for Money 180, refused to be admitted at the Exchequer 181, take a Prisoner from Sanctuary 186, the Number of their Officers ascertained 207, one of them fined 210, to impanel Juries 223, insult the Sergeant at Arms 237, committed to Prison ib. the Number of their Officers ascertained, and the Excess of their Tables retrenched 251, 1208, first Sheriff drank to by the Lord Mayor 268, Dispute thereupon decided by Parliament 339, petition the House of Commons 396, Proceeding of the Common Hall at the Election in 1682, 473, their Fine settled 476, Manner of chusing them 500, Poll 628, Act of Common Council touching their Nomination and Election 664, Prosecution ordered against those who refuse to serve or fine 712, committed Prisoners to the Tower 475, their Office 1202, a List of them ib. their Court 1209.

Sheriffwicke

- Sheriffwicks* of London and Middlesex, how held 120, not to be charged for those that took Sanctuary ib. not compelled to take an Oath at yeilding up their Accounts 121, see also 146, to have Forfeiture of Victuals, &c. ib.
Ship Money 304, 306.
Ships of War declare for the Parliament 424.
Ships, a List of them, 1259, 1263, imported in the Year 1728 ib.
Shipwrights, the Company of, 1251.
Shoes of a ridiculous Fashion 202.
Shoreditch (Duke of) 268.
Shore-place 1366.
Sidius, Geta, routs the Britons 7.
Sigillo, Robert de, Bishop of London 1216.
Sigismund's (the Emp.) Arrival at London 186.
Signs to be hung out in the Streets 317.
Silkmen, the Company of, 1251.
Silk-throwers, the Company of, 1251; see Manufacturers, Frauds.
Simmond's Inn 1279.
Simnel, Lambert, an Impostor, 217.
Sion College founded 909, incorporated ib. common Seal 910, see 1286.
Sion College Alms-house 910, 1324.
Sion College Library 1288, 910, burnt, rebuilt and enlarged ib. Books and Benefactors ib. Means of augmenting the Books 911, Charge of rebuilding ib.
Six Clerks Office 977.
Skegs, Edward, disfranchised 255.
Skinners Dispute with Fishmongers 126, the Company of, 1233, Hall 915.
Skinners Well 83, plays at 185.
Skippon, Philip, to continue in the Parliament's Service 356, his Speech to the Trained-Bands 361, joins Effex ib.
Slaughter of Beasts ordered out of the City 130, 218.
Sloane, Sir Hans, his Library and Rarities; see Cotton Library.
Small Pox Hospitals 1320, 1321.
Smith's Alms-house 1324.
Smithfield at first paved 295, 989, granted to the City 312, why so called 986, the Pond and Gallows therein 987, 991, a Market for Cattle, &c. ib. Place for Jufts and Tournaments ib. Fair kept there 989, Pond 991; see Jufts, Tournaments and Tolls.
Smithfield (East) built upon 1019.
Smoke of London, Dissertation thereon 714.
Society for the Encouragement of Learning 1286.
Soldiers and Sailors intend to rob Bartholomew's Fair 267, presented by a Middlesex Grand Jury 619, dismissed by Sheriff Janssen from attending on Executions 676.
Somerfet, Duke of, executed 247.
Somerfet House 1346.
Sope-makers, the Company of, 1251.
Souch's (Lord) House 1004.
Soper's-lane 89.
Southampton's Alms-house 1324.
South-sea Company 1258, House 801, 848, Charter ib. Conduct censured 850, Estates of Directors forfeited 851, Resolutions of Parliament ib. Directors 852.
South-sea Scheme 525, 852, its Ruin of Individuals 527; Stock, its prodigious Price 527.
Southwark destroy'd by Fire 51, granted to the City 122, 204, 242, surrendered to the Army 405, an Account thereof 1381.
Spanish Depredations 545, 576, Speeches thereon 576, 577, 578, 579, the Commons and Lords Addresses to his Majesty on the Motion against the Spanish Depredations 587, his Majesty's Answer 587, 588.
Sparruck's, the City's Water-Carpenter, Account of the Foundation of the Bridge 46.
Speake, Hugh, Author of a Declaration 488, his Stratagem ib.
Spectacle-makers, the Company of, 1251.
Spencer, Hugh, his vast Estate 117.
Spencers (the) banished, &c. 118.
Spinners may employ Non-freemen 512.
Spirituous Liquors, a great Duty laid on them, 567, Resolutions concerning them 686, consumed in London 759.
Spital (St. Mary) an Hospital, its Foundation 799, suppressed ib. Chapel and Yard ib.
Spital Sermon 298, 800.
Sprat's Alms-house 1324.
Sports, the Book of, published 298, burnt 370.
Springs and Wells in and about London 83.
Spurston's Alms-house 1324.
Squares, their Names and Number; see London.
Squires's (Mary) Trial 695.
Stadlow, George, his Speech 240.
Stafford's Alms-house 1324.
Stafford (Lord) condemned 468.
Stamford (Henry) executed for a Riot 301.
Standards, taken from the Enemy, hung up 504.
Standard in Cheapside 1141.
Standard in Cornhill 1135.
Standish (Dr.) 224.
Staple's Inn 1279.
Starch-makers, the Company of, 1251.
Star-chamber's Order to prevent Abuses 306, concerning Goldsmiths Shops 308.
Starling's (Sir Samuel) School 1010, Orders for its Regulation ib.
Stationers Hall 949, the Company of 1251.
Statue of K. Charles II. erected by the Ham-burgh Merchants 484; in Stocks-market 1049, of William III. 1264.
Steel Yard 915, confirmed by Parliament to the Anseatic Merchants 208, see Anseatic.
Stepney, a Dispute about the Presentation to the Vicarage 216, Church, &c. 1353.
Stephen (K.) received into London 41.
Stewart's School 1277.
Stew's, the publick 1392.
Stillingfleet, on Cæsar's Meaning 7.
Stocks in Cornhill 903, erected in every Ward 207.
Stocks, the Price of them 529.
Stocks-market broke up 576, 1048.
Stoddy's (Sir John) House 1042.
Stokesley, Bishop of London, burns the New Testament, 231, narrowly escapes being drubbed by the London Clergy ib.
Stokesley, John, Bishop of London 1223.
Storm of Wind 39, of Thunder and Lightning 82, see Lightning, and St. Paul's Cathedral; of Wind 19, of Hail 468, of Wind 504, 621, 682, 691.
Stow, John, Character of his Works 810.
Stratford (Earl of) City's Petition against him 337.
Strand-bridge 1346.
Strand Inn ib.
Strand, the Village of, ib.
Strange (Sir John) resigns the Office of Recorder 631.
Strangers to wear no Weapon 106, nor to sell by retail 131, numbered 257, 275.
Stratford, Ralph, Bishop of London 1218.
Straw, Jack, his confession 141.
Streetfield (Mr.) refuses to serve or fine for Sheriff 712.
Streets used as Laystalls order'd by Parliament to be cleaned 178, divers at first paved 238, the Sides paved with flat tones 297, greatly incumber'd 301, how to be enlarged or widened 443, 452, how to be paved 454, to be kept clean ib. Rules for pitching and levelling them 444, their Names and Number 730.
Street Robbers, their Insolence 639, City Addresses to the King thereon ib. Reward for apprehending of them 672.
Sub-dean of St. Paul's, his Office 1226.
Subscription in 1745, how disposed on 661.
Sudbury, Simon, Bishop of London 1221.
Suffolk House 1383.
Sugar (Dealers in) their Petition to Parliament 701.
Sumptuary Law to restrain Luxury 251.
Sun Fire Office 1272.
Surgeons Hall 990, Company 1239, Library 1288; see Barbers.
Surrey, Earl of, try'd and condemn'd 240.
Sweating Sicknefs 218, 226, 230, 247.
Swedes Church 1026.
Swegen, King of Denmark, attacks London 34, forc'd to raise the Siege ib. besieges it a-new, but without Success ib. the City submits to him ib. proclaimed King therein 35.
Sword-bearer wounded 278, 1207.

T.

TABLE of the principal Things in the City and Suburbs of London, viz. Streets, Houses, Inhabitants, &c. see London.
Tallage paid by the Citizens 86, 89, defined 92, Citizens exempt therefrom 111, 121, respited 114.
Tallow-chandlers, the Company of, 1252, Hall 915.
Tassel-clofe 1370.
Taxes, grievous, imposed by the Magistrates 104, 117, K. Edward II's Precept for taxing the City 114, the Proportion of each Ward 125, 181, of 10000*l.* by the Parliament 369, publick Houses given to defray them 203.
Taylor's (Sir William) his Gift 205.
Taylors (Journeymen) combine and suppress'd 639, Order of Council against them 688, petition Parliament 693.
Taylors (Master) their Petition to Parliament 692.
Taverns, their Number 252.
Tenant, what he cannot remove 131.
Temple, New, founded 967, granted to the Professors of the Law 968, Monuments ib. plundered ib. repaired ib. Paper Buildings added ib. Middle Temple Gate built ib. the Church repaired and beautified after the great Fire ib. described 969, Monumental Inscriptions ib. Masters of the Temple 972, Arms in the Hall Window ib.
Temple (Middle) 973, Gate built 968.
Temple (Inner) 973.
Templers (Knights) 967.
Temple-bar, 990.
Temple church 1184.
Thames, the River, almost dry 39, frozen over 42, cross'd dry-shod ib. its Spring 56, Course ib. Navigation 57, Fishery ib. Laws made at sundry Times for preserving the Fishery and Navigation ib. of the Tides in this River ib. a Tide Table 58, City Power thereon, its Extent ib. proved by Prescription ib. by Allowance in Eyre 59, by antient Charters ib. by Acts of Parliament 60, by Inquisition 62, by Decrees in the Star-Chamber ib. by Letters Patents 63, by Proclamation ib. by Report of King's Council ib. by Quo Warranto ib. by antient Usages 64, by Punishment of Offenders ib. by Writs and Precepts ib. by Accounts ib. by Commissioners ib. by continual Claim ib. by Acts of common Council ib. Times ordain'd for Fishing therein ib. by Sir Thomas Tullington 65, by Sir Robert Ducie 66, by a Court of Aldermen in 1672, 70, by the Right Hon. Daniel Lambert Esq; Lord Mayor 71, Locks, Weirs and Bridges thereon 72, Charge to Barges passing from Let blade to London ib. overflows its Banks 86, 12, block'd up by the Ships of the Cinque Ports 97, frozen over 101, 190, 256, 290, almost dry ib. Orders of Sir John Woodcock for preserving its Fishery 185, petition against Nuisances therein 186, its Conservancy confirmed 218, frozen over 190, 223, 298, 474, 507, preternatural Tides therein 185, 241, 250, 263, 290, 298, 421, 427, frozen over 520, 600, almost dry 521, a very high Tide 546, 661, an Act for regulating its Navigation from London to Cricklade 683.
Thawie's-Inn 975, 1279.
Thieves attempted to be rescued 638.
Thomas's (St.) Hospital 1322.
Thunder, see Lightning.
Ticket to invite Guests 475.
Tides (three) of Flood 185, 241, 256, 263, 290, 421, 427, 661.
Tilers and Bricklayers, the Company of 1252.
Tindal's Translation of the New Testament 231.
Tindal's Burial-ground 1369.
Tin-plate-workers, the Company of, 1252.
Tobacco-pipe-makers, the Company of, ib.
Tolson, John, the Mayor, committed to Prison 89.
Toll, the Right to gather it at the City Gates, &c. 184, on the Bridge corrupted by the Leislee 631.
Tomkyn's (Mr.) Speech to the Prince of Wales 682, his Royal Highness's Answer 683.
Tony, Michael, convicted of Perjury 85.
Torrington, the Prior of, his House 1185.
Totbillsfields School 1278.
Tournament in Cheapside 112, in Smithfield 123, 178, on London-Bridge 180, in Smithfield 184, 202.
Tower of London erected 38, granted to the Earl of Effex 41, several of its Fortifications destroyed 85, see Wall of Mud; Ditch made 1017, Hill 1023, 1032, fortified by William Rufus 39, by William Longchamp ib. its Situation and Liberties 146, 172, Extent and Contents 147, damaged by Wind, repaired and encompassed by a Wall and Ditch 147, strengthened by Hen. III. ib. the White Tower and the Lion's Tower ib. West Brick Wall built 148, a Gallows erected on the Hill ib. Incroachments removed ib. St. Peter's Church ib. Office of Ordnance 151, Q. Elizabeth's Commission for regulating this Office 154, the Mint ib. regulated by Q. Elizabeth 156, Office of Records 158, its Contents 159, its Regulations 161, Jewel Office ib. its Contents ib. 162, 163, robbed by Blood, &c. 168 the Armory 165, 171, Lions &c. 171, wild Beasts now in the Tower 172, Wharf ib. principal Gate 173, other Entrances ib. Ceremony in opening and shutting the Gate ib. principal Officers ib. Constable ib. his Privileges, Salary, &c. 174, see Constable; Porter's Fees, ib. Lieutenant of the Tower 175, Porter ib. his Privileges ib. Jaylor ib. Wardens ib. Hamlets 176, 1174, Lieutenantcy ib. Disputes between the Lieutenant and City 269, Liberties ties 1174, surrendered to the Lord Mayor 199, seized 240, its Garrison reinforced 412.

Tower Street Ward, Name, Bounds, Extent 1031, Keys and Wharfs in this Ward ib. and 1033, Government 1032, Parishes and Churches 1033.
Tower, the Court thereof, 1214.
Tower Royal 1044.
Town Clerk, his Office 1206.
Townsend, Lord, his Letter to the Lord Mayor 338.
Trade and Plantation Office 122.
Train'd-bands join the Earl of Essex 374, ordered to do Duty at Whitehall 251. Train'd-bands ordered to attend the House of Commons daily 354, fire upon a Mob of Women 373, their Bravery 377, Orders of Parliament relating to them 378, impower'd to search for Arms 391, their Engagement 398, Petition of the Well affected concerning them 399, Ordinances concerning their Power 403, to put them in Array 413, muster'd in Hyde-Park 425, ordered to suppress the Weavers 491, ordered to take an Account of Horses 532, commanded upon Duty and to guard the City Gates 648, the Manner of ordering of them in Time of an Invasion 1226, how managed at present 1231, Regiments in London, Tower Hamlets and Westminster ib. reinforce Sir William Waller 375, join the Earl of Essex 380, reduce divers Places 382, review'd by the House of Commons 420, posted in Guildhall 475, review'd by the Queen 495.
Treasurer of St. Paul's, his Office 1225.
Treasury, the Royal, rob'd 1330.
Treby, Sir George, his Speech to the Prince of Orange 491.
Trevor, Sir John, Speaker of the House of Commons, degraded and expelled the House 498.
Trinity Hospital 765, 1324.
Trinity House 1273, 1038; Use ib. Charities ib.
Trinity Minorities 1186.
Trinity Priory, its Foundation 779, 1011, 1012; its Bounds 1013, the Deed of Queen Maud, ib. Confirmation of King Henry I. by the Pope 1012, 1013, King Henry's Letter to the Bishop of Sarum, &c. ib. by King Stephen 780, Charter of Hen. II. ib. Norman its first Prior 1012, its Site ib. contends with the Parishioners ib. Agreement ib. Monuments therein 781, surrendered to the King 1013, 1014; Endowments thereof ib. 1020, 1027, its Site granted to Sir Tho. Audley 1014, Pope Urban's Bull in Favour of this Priory against St. Katharine's Hospital 1022, the Prior thereof an Alderman of London 1013.
Trinity the Lefs 1185.
Trinkerman, see Fislerman and 67.
Troage, 204, 1034.
Troops, the Queen's, endeavour to force the City 199.
Tumult, see Riot, Insurrection.
Tun in Cornhill 903, converted into a Conduit 184, 903.
Tunstal, Cuthbert, Bishop of London 1222.
Turkey Company 1257.
Turners, the Company of, 1252.
Turnmill, or Turnburn-street 1380.
Tyborne, the Village of, 1373.
Tyburn, Water brought from thence in Pipes 83.
Tyler, Wat, raises a Rebellion 138, admitted into London 139, destroys the Temple, &c. 140, murders many Persons ib. marches to Smithfield, and kill'd by Wakworth 141.
Tythes, ascertain'd 239, Petition for their Increase 305, Stipends settled by Act of Parliament in lieu thereof 457, Lord Chancellor's Orders thereon 458.

V

Vagrants, Proclamation for suppressing them 275, see Beggars.
Valence, William, ston'd to Death 92.
Vane, Sir Henry, his Speech at Guildhall 378.
Vaughan, Richard, Bishop of London 1223.
Veil, Margaret, unjustly sentenced 87.
Venner's Insurrection 427.
Vernon (Admiral) takes Porto Belo 605, presented with the Freedom of the City ib.
Vespers (the fatal) at Black Friars 298.
Vicar of Barking, a great Impostor 191.
Victuallers not to exercise any judicial Office 143.
Ordinance concerning them in the Star Chamber 302.
Victualling Office 1274, see Portoken Ward.
Vineyard in East-Smithfield 1020.
Vintners Alms-house 1324.
Vintners, Ordinance concerning them in the Star Chamber 302, Hall 1041, the Company of, 1041, 1234.
Vintury Ward, Name, Bounds, Extent, 1040, modern State ib. Government 1041, Parishes and Churches ib. Antiquities 1042.
Vintury, the House of, 1041.
Ulster, the Province of, granted to the Citizens 293, see 428.
Underwood's Alms-house 1324.
Union Fire Office 766, 1273.
Universalis, Gilbert, Bishop of London 1216.
Upholders, the Company of, 1252.
Upton and Down, their Duel 189.
Ufury prevails 130, suppress'd 174.
Ufurers, Italian, squeeze'd by the King 87.
Ufury and Corruption of Justice punished 107, Laws against it 132.

W.

WAGES of Labourers and Artificers regulated 239.

Wallbrook 83, a Youth drowned therein 157, runs under Ground 474.
Wallbrook Ward, Name, Bounds, Extent and modern State 1046, Government 1047, Parishes and Churches ib. Antiquities 1048.
Waldber, Bishop of London 1216.
Wales, Joanna, Princess of, endeavours to reconcile the Citizens and the Duke of Lancaster 135.
Wales, Augusta, Princess of, congratulated on her Nuptials by the Lord Mayor, &c. 562, by the Common Council 563, by the Mayor &c. 570.
Wales, Frederick, Prince of, complimented by the Lord Mayor, &c. on his Arrival in London 544, congratulated on his Nuptials 562, his Answer ib. complimented by the Common Council 563, his Answer ib. made free of the Sadlers Company 567, made free of the City ib. addressed by the Mayor and Aldermen ib. his Answer ib. a Copy of his Freedom ib. congratulated by the Mayor, &c. 570. his Answer ib.
Walker, Walter, innocently executed 199.
Walks, their Names and Number, see London.
Wall of London erected 20, its Circumference 30, describ'd 31, Number of its Towers ib. repair'd 92, Frauds committed in collecting the Money for Repairs 93, ordered by King Richard II. to be repair'd 176, Toll allow'd for it ib. repair'd with Brick 208, extended Westward 104; Wall of Mud, Punishment for throwing of it down 115.
Wallace, Sir William, a Scottish Knight, executed 109.
Walloon Church in Austin Friars 842, in Threadneedle-street 845.
Walpole's (Sir Robert) Defence of the Excise Scheme 548, 557, on Spanish Depredations 578, 585.
Walter's Alms-house 1325.
Wakworth, William, kills Wat Tyler 141, marches against the Rebels ib. knighted ib. College 854.
Wapping Hamlet 1366.
Wapping Marsh imbank'd, see St. Katharine's Antiquities, Houses erected on the Bank thereof 1366.
War proclaim'd against Spain 604, against France 636.
Warbeck (Perkin) invades England, is defeated, takes sanctuary at Bewly 219, surrenders 220, executed ib.
Ward, Sir Patience, convicted of Perjury 476.
Wardmote, the Court of, 1211, Form of a Precept for holding thereof ib.
Ward Officers in London, an Account of them, see London, Civil Government, and Page 1187, 1188, their Number in the City and Liberties 516, in Westminster 1347.
Wardrobe Palace, &c. 879, 894, Queen's 1044.
Wardens, see Tower of London.
Wards alienable, their Names and Number A. D. 1284, 105; the Names of their Aldermen and Councilmen ib. their Number, Names and Proportion of Taxes in 1393, 181; Number of Men each Ward furnish'd against the Spanish Invasion 273, their Number of Watchmen in 1642, 374, Number of Officers, Servants, &c. 1187, 1188, assess'd 125, their Number 761, their Names ib. and Number of Inhabitants 741, 743.
Warham, William, Bishop of London 1216.
Warner (Ald.) chosen Lord Mayor 408.
Warren (Sir Peter) chosen Alderman of Billingsgate Ward 691, declines ib. paid his Fine 692.
Warwick, the Earl of, defeated by the Queen

200, conspires against Edward IV. 205, surprises the King's Army, and takes him Prisoner ib. defeated by Edward, and flies to France ib. returns, raises an Army, and compels the King to fly to Holland 206, his Army routed and himself kill'd 207, Speech in Guildhall 378.

Wat Tyler, see Tyler.

Watch appointed 95, 118, 224, its pompous March, with a Description thereof 222, forbid to march 236, receiv'd by Sir John Gresham 240, a standing one appointed 259, 374; to be set at ten o'Clock, and continue till four 503, regulated 505.

Watchmen, their Number in each Ward 505, 572, Money paid them, see London and Wards.

Water brought from Tyborne to London 83, 184, 190, laid into the Standard in Cheapside 190, brought to Fleet-street 190, to Aldermanbury, Fleet-street and Cripplegate ib. at Paddington, granted to the Citizens ib. brought from Hackney 236, brought from Hamstead 238, brought from Hoxton 239, from Red Lion-fields 258, from the River Thames 260, 275; New River, see New River; Thames 755.

Water Bailiff 64, 67, 755, 1207; see Conservacy.

Water-gates 30.

Water Machine erected in the River Thames 50, 51, 72, see Conservacy, London-Bridge, Fishery, and Machine.

Watermen, the Company of, 1252, Hall 915.

Water (Salt) above London Bridge 237.

Water-spout in the River Thames 300.

Waterworks at London Bridge, see 832, and London Bridge.

Watling-street 14, 16, 30, 897, 746, 798.

Watson's Alms-house 1325.

Way near the Savoy pav'd 193.

Wax Chandlers, the Company of, 1225, Hall 911.

Wears, to remove, the Power granted to the City of London 50.

Weavers expelled the City 75, present a Petition to the House of Peers in a tumultuous Manner 491, an Insurrection of them 530, 605.

Weavers Hall 790, the Company of, 1255, sue Mr. Handyside for his Livery Fine; and cast him 631, its Antiquity and Charter by King Henry II. 790.

Weigh-house, the King's 793.

Weighing of Lead, &c. 184, 204; Goods at the King's Beam 469.

Weights in St. Margaret's Vestry 1342.

Weights and Measures, the Lord Treasurer's Letter concerning Frauds in them 266.

Weights, the Standard of, lost 266.

Welsh Copper Office 1274.

Welsh-ball regulated 462.

Wells, the River of, 83.

Wesby's Alms-houses 1325.

Westminster, its Origin 1327, the Abby Church received divers rich Gifts from the Conqueror 1328, fir'd by the King's Troops ibid. surrendered to Henry VIII. 1329, erected into a College of secular Priests ib. converted into a Bishoprick ib. restor'd to the Abbot and Monks 1330, re-erected into a College ib. the second Abby in England ib. Lands belonging to it ib. Monumental Inscriptions 1330, Chapels therein ib. Chantries and Anniversaries 1331, Alms distributed therein ib. Motion for repairing and paving its Streets 615.

Westminster, the Government thereof, 1348, its Arms ib. Bridge ib.

Westminster's (Abbot of) Grant of Springs 190.

Westminster Bridge 46, 590, 1348, open'd 682.

Westminster Fair 87.

Westminster Court 1282.

Westminster Fire-Office 1274.

Westminster-hall 1340, Standards hung up therein 504, a great Number of poor Persons dine therein 1340, the Nobility entertain'd there ib. rebuilt 1341, 10000 Persons treated there ib. Courts of Justice sit therein 1342.

Westminster Library 1288.

Westminster School 1277.

Westminster Parishes, and the Officers therein 1347.

Westmorland House 765.

Whales taken in the River Thames 197.

Wharfs and Keys for landing Goods 1033, Orders relating to them ib.

Wheat not to be malted 114.

Wheel-wrights, the Company of, 1256.

Whipping Tom 510.

Whitechapel at first pav'd 1374, the Inhabitants go in Procession to St. Paul's ib.

Whitechapel Court 1282.

Whitechapel School 1277.

Whitcher's

Whitcher's Alms-house 1325.

Whitehall, an Account of it 1343.

White's (Sir Tho.) Charity 252.

White Tower within the Tower of London 147, burnt 223.

Whiteings, Season to fish for them 68.

White-friars, Foundation 992, Situation 993, Interments ib. exempt from certain Taxes and Officers 291, the Precinct of 962, 1187; Mr. Brown's Donation thereto 995, is extra-parochial ib.

Whittington, Sir Richard thrice buried 1044, his College and Hospital 1042, Ordinance for its Government 1043, Devotions to be perform'd 1044, Chaplains ib. to whom granted after the Suppression ib. his Alms-house ib. 1325.

Wick, Sir Richard, burnt on Tower-hill 191.

Wickliff summon'd to answer for his Doctrine 134.

Wightman (Will.) Esq; refuses to serve Sheriff, or to fine 589.

William the Conqueror arrives before London 36, beats the Citizens ib. presented with the Keys of the City 37, grants a Charter ib. erects a Fortrefs to awe the Citizens 37, grants a second Charter 38, visits his Norman Dominions 37, received by the Citizens in a solemn Manner ib. erects the Tower of London 38, Remarks upon his Charter 40.

William II. encourages the Jews to dispute with the Christians 38.

William III. with his Queen dine in the City 491, his Picture mal-treated ib. entertain'd at Guildhall ib. congratulated by the Lord Mayor, &c. 495, borrows 200000 l. of the City ib. complimented by the Lord Mayor, &c. ib. dines at Guildhall ib. borrows 300000 l. of the City 497, congratulated by the Mayor &c. 498, addressed by the City on the Death of his Consort ib. a Conspiracy against him 499, publicly enters the City 501, congratulated by the Lord Mayor ib. enjoins the Mayor to execute the Law against Papists ib. addressed by the Common Council 502, congratulated by the Mayor, &c. ib.

William Duke of Cumberland born 530, City Address thereon ib.

Wilmot's (Ald.) Speech against Spanish Depredations 578, desires Leave to resign his Gown 618, Lord Mayor of the Cooper's Company, not translated 629

Winchester, Bishop of, endeavours to surprize the City 188, enters the same in great Pomp ib.

Winchester House 840.

Windmill-hill 1332

Windsor, Lord, his House 943.

Wine, adulterated, Orders concerning it 123, adulterated and seized 188, 1042, the Price of 336, 351, 280, 1042; Quantity spent in one Church per Annum 1042, consumed in London 759.

Wine Licence Office 1274.

Wine Tunnors incorporated 1042.

Winchester House, see Augustine-Friars.

Wingham, Henry, Bishop of London 1218.

Wini, Bishop of London 1214.

Winterbottom (Tho.) Esq; Mayor, dies 691.

Woad, Act of Common Council concerning the Traffick therein 228.

Wolgate 30.

Wolsey, Cardinal, his pompous Cavalcade 223, endeavours to raise Money in an arbitrary Way, 224, sends for the Mayor, &c. ib. informs the King of a Riot 225, threatens to remove the Cloth-market to Westminster ib. his Behaviour to the Citizens in Westminster-hall 226, his Attempt to raise Money in an arbitrary Way 227, his Splendor 228, proposes the moving the Cloth-market from Blackwell-hall to Westminster 229, his Fall 230.

Women's Petition to Parliament 372, future Behaviour and Reception 373.

Wood's Alms-house 1325.

Woodcock's (Sir John) Orders for the Preservation of the Fish 57, concerning the Fishery in the River Thames 185.

Woodmongers, the Company of, 1256, Hall 978.

Wood street Compter erected 252, 912.

Woodward, Dr. against London's being built in Surry 12.

Wool, City's Petition against running of it 617.

Wool, the Price of, 170.

Wool (the Weighing of) confin'd to Leaden-hall

204.

Woolmen, the Company of, 1256.

Woolstaple at Westminster 1341, removed to London

204.

Worcester's (Earl of) Trial and Condemnation 206.

Work-house in the Minories 1024.

Work-houses, the Cause of their Erection 1326.

Wren, Sir Christopher, 14, 16, his Plan for rebuilding London 446.

Wulstan, Bishop of London 1216.

Wyat, Sir Thomas, deny'd Entrance into the City 248, marches to Kingston, and thence to the City 250, surrenders 251.

Wyndham's (Sir Will.) Speech against the Excise 556.

Wyseman, Sir Robert, 760.

Wythyn (Paul) Pool, his peculiar Grant 236.

Y

YARDS, their Names and Number, see London.

York-buildings Waterworks 1274.

York, James, Duke of, entertain'd in the City 467, his Picture defac'd 473, publick Meeting proposed by the Citizens against his Succession ib. congratulated by the Lord Mayor, &c. ib. dines with the Artillery Company ib. prosecutes Alderman Pilkington for Scandalum Magnatum 476.

York House 1343.

Young's Alms-house 1325.

Young Men, see Apprentices.

This Plan is most humbly Inscrib'd to Thomas Chitty Esq^r. Alderman of Tower Street Ward.

A CONTINUATION
OF THE
HISTORY AND SURVEY
OF THE
Cities of LONDON and WESTMINSTER, AND THE Borough of SOUTHWARK, WITH THE PLACES ADJACENT;
BRINGING DOWN THE HISTORY TO THE PRESENT TIME, AND DESCRIBING THE VAST IMPROVEMENTS MADE IN EVERY PART OF THIS GREAT METROPOLIS.

A CONTINUATION
OF THE
HISTORY and SURVEY
OF THE
Cities of LONDON and WESTMINSTER, &c.

C H A P. I.

The Opposition to the Building a new Bridge at Black-Friars, and to the Repairs and Improvements of London Bridge. A Committee to inquire into the Objection for improving London Bridge. Their Report rejected. Petition for the Borough Market. The Museum established at Montague-House. The present State of the City Estate in the Hamlet of Ratcliff. The Establishment of the Ratcliff Ferry, and of the Borough Market. Abstract of the Acts of 28th of George II. relating to the said Market. Great Fire at the Hermitage. 410l. per Annum settled on the Comptroller of the Bridge-House. Motion to remove Newgate. Verdict obtained by Mr. Miles. Mr. Markham swears off when nominated for Sheriff. Mr. Trueman forbids the Common-Hall to chuse him. The City Address to his Majesty returned from Germany, and his Majesty's Answer. The Report of the Newgate Committee. A Committee to inquire into the City Right to the Hospitals. City Militia ordered out. Motion for a national Militia rejected in the Common-Council. Petition ordered for building Black-Friars Bridge on the 18th of December 1755.

*Opposition to the Scheme for building
Black-
Friars
Bridge.*

THE Citizens of London, about this Time, became so thoroughly convinced of the Necessity for them to attend to the Improvements, which some Individuals had proposed, to prevent the disagreeable Effects already felt from the shifting of the Inhabitants and Trade to Westminster and its Liberties, that they began seriously to consider of the most effectual Means to carry that Scheme† into Execution. But as they did not all conceive the same Ideas of this grand Design, and a little Jealousy arising between the Eastern and Western Parts of the City, lest one should by such Improvements get the Advantage of the other in point of Situation for Trade, which they apprehended might be diverted from the capital Streets within the Walls, by the Erection of a New Bridge, or Communication over the Thames, between the Western Suburbs and the great Roads in Surry, the Common-Council, by their Partiality, interrupted and delayed the Works, which all acknowledged would greatly improve the Trade and Commerce, and adorn and make the City more healthy and pleasant.

The

† See p. 789.

The Wards, which laid most convenient to, and received great Advantages from the Old Bridge, or London Bridge, opposed the Scheme of the Western Wards, which united in a Scheme to build a New Bridge from the End of Fleet-Ditch, Black-Friars, to open a Communication with those great Roads, which lead to London Bridge; and to improve the Estates and Trade of the Western Suburbs, that had been decaying; and were in a manner ruined, for want of a more convenient Avenue to Farringdon Ward and the Parts adjacent.

And to the Improvements of London
Bridge.

On the contrary; the Friends to the Black-Friars Bridge Scheme made it a Point to oppose the Measures pursued for the Improvement of London Bridge; for though they could not deny the Utility, and even the Necessity there was to make an effectual Reparation of London Bridge, on many Accounts, and particularly to prevent the Accidents, by which many Lives were lost in passing under that Bridge, the Sticklers for a New Bridge insisted upon carrying their Scheme into Execution, and compleating it, before they would come into any Measures for repairing and improving the Old Bridge.

Objection to a New
Bridge.

The Citizens, who stickled for the Old Bridge, were also very sanguine in the Cause, and urged, that a Bridge from Black-Friars to the opposite Shore would greatly prejudice the Navigation of the River Thames. And this was propagated with so much Industry and Assurance, that the Common-Council thought proper to order the said Objection to be laid before a Committee, to enquire into the Validity of that Assertion, and to report their Opinion thereof to the next Court of Common-Council.

Committee
to examine into the Objection.

A. D.
1755.

This Committee, on the 15th of January 1755, made their Report, pursuant to that Order, and therein set forth, "That a Bridge over the Thames at the Place proposed would greatly obstruct the Current of the River, and be very prejudicial to the Commerce of this City." However, the Promoters of a New Bridge had Address enough to overthrow this Report; for, upon a Motion made to agree to this Report, there ensued a most warm Debate for three Hours; and then a Division was demanded, which rejected the Report, and made all the Endeavours of the Committee abortive; for, upon telling the Votes on both Sides, it appeared that there were

For agreeing 10 Aldermen.
96 Commoners.

Against agreeing 6 Aldermen.
126 Commoners.

By this there appeared a Majority of 26 against agreeing with the Report.

In this same Common-Council Mr. Torriano, one of the Sheriffs of London and Middlesex, was ordered to present a Petition from the City of London to Parliament, for the Removal of the Borough Market. At the same Time it was agitated by the Advocates of the Old Bridge, to add a Clause to the Act for removing the Borough Market, to enable the City to repair and alter London Bridge, but without Effect; nothing more being agreed upon, than to take into their Consideration at their next Meeting the Report of the 26th of Sept. last about the New and Old Bridges.

Petition
for the Borough Market.

The Parliament having established the British Museum, under the Direction, Management, and

Care of Trustees, they did also, on the 20th of March this Year, pass an Act to vest Montague-House, in Great Russel-Street, Bloomsbury-Square, in Trustees, and enabled them to convey the said House and Premises to the Trustees of the British Museum, for a general Repository of Books printed and manuscript, and an Infinity of Curiosities in Art and Nature, accumulated from the Cottonian Library, the M.S. of Lord Harley, the late Earl of Oxford; but chiefly from the immense Collection made from all Parts of the World, by that profound Adept in the Works of Nature, Sir Hans Sloane, M.D. pursuant to an Act of Parliament which passed in the Year 1752, for the Purchase of the Museum, or Collection of Sir Hans Sloane, and of the Harleian Collection of Manuscripts, and for providing a general Repository for the better Reception and more convenient Use of the said Collections, and of the Cottonian Library, and the Additions thereunto. By which Act 20,000*l.* was paid to Sir Hans Sloane's Executors for his Collection, and 10,000*l.* to the Trustees of the Earl and Countess of Oxford and Mortimer, for the Harleian Collection. And it was enacted, that the said Collections, together with the Cottonian Library and its Additions, should be repositied in one Place, to be erected or purchased for that Purpose; and that the Collection of Sir Hans Sloane, in all its Branches, shall be kept and preserved together in the general Repository, whole and entire, and with proper Marks of Distinction; and that the Harleian Collection of Manuscripts shall be kept together in the said Repository, as an Addition to the Cottonian Library. And the said Trustees were made a Body Corporate, with Power to make Statutes, Rules, and Ordinances; to chuse Librarians, Officers, and Servants, and to appoint Salaries; upon this special Trust and Confidence, "That a free Access to the said general Repository, and to the Collections therein contained, shall be given to all studious and curious Persons, at such Time, and in such Manner, and under such Regulations, for inspecting and consulting the said Collections, as the said Trustees, or the major Part of them, in any general Meeting assembled, shall be limited for that Purpose." And it was further enacted, That there should be raised 300,000*l.* by way of Lottery, to satisfy and discharge the several Sums necessary for the Purposes of this Act; of which Sum 30,000*l.* to be put out at Interest in the public Funds towards the paying of Officers Salaries, and other necessary Expences.

Act for establishing the Museum.

Amongst the Number of the City Estates, there lies one, which in Times past has been of great Consideration, in the Hamlet of Ratcliff, and the old Parish of Stepney, (now a Part of the Parish of St. Anne, Limehouse, in the County of Middlesex) abutting on the East upon a large Timber-Yard, in which has lately been erected a Saw-Mill by Charles Dingley, Esq; and now in the Possession of — Maggot, Esq; and Company; on the South upon Ratcliff Narrow-Street and the Thames; on the West upon a Street called Ratcliff-Cross, the Butcher-Row, and Part of Whitehorse-Street, as far North as Rose-Lane; and on the North upon Rose-Lane, including the East Side of Whitehorse-Street and Butcher-Row, quite from the West End of Rose-Lane,

City Estate
at Ratcliff its present
State.

Lane, to the West End of the Narrow-Street, Rose-Lane, London-Street, Pump-Yard, Queen-Street; and certain Parcels of Land thereunto adjoining. This Estate, by the Injuries of Time, and the Shifting of Trade and other Incidents, and particularly by its falling into the Hands of the City at the Expiration of the Ground or Building Leases, a few Years ago, and a Mismanagement somewhere in the letting of the Premises to some necessitous and artful People, upon Lease to repair and to uphold, (whose Intention, as proved by their Actions, was to make Money of the old Materials, and to run away with the Rents) had from Time to Time been brought into a ruinous Condition, so that few Houses in Rose-Lane, London-Street, and Queen-Street, were inhabitable, or occupied by People able to pay their Rents. The City for some Time kept this Estate in their own Hands, and appointed one Captain Ford, a Ropemaker upon the Premises, to manage, repair, lett the Houses, and receive the Rents. This not answering the End proposed, it was resolved by the Committee of City Lands once more to lett the Premises to the best Bidder, with a Fine upon a renewable Lease. And accordingly the whole of London-Street and Queen-Street was lett to one Beezly, a Sugar-Baker, for 240*l.* per Annum, and a Fine of 500*l.* and at the same Time a Ferry over the Thames was established by Act of Parliament, and a Road made to it at the East End of Queen-Street, in Expectation of improving the adjacent Streets, &c. This Ferry across the Thames, from the Narrow-Street in St. Ann's Parish, Middlesex, commonly called Limehouse, is accounted a safe, easy, and short Communication, for Horses and Carriages of any Sort, between the Roads on the North Side of the Thames, and the East of London, and the Counties of Surry and Kent. But with all its Conveniencies, this Ferry is but little frequented, and the Lease of the Estate abovementioned to Beezly, by the City of London, has been for several Years mortgaged and foreclosed; another Parcel of it in Rose-Lane is fallen down, and the adjoining Buildings are ready to follow, and several Houses on the best Situation, facing Broad-Street, have been lately burnt down, and are likely to continue in Ruins; except some rational Scheme can be struck out to make it worth the while of Men of Fortune and Integrity to embark, upon that great Extent of Ground, with a Lease, that shall encourage them to lay out their Money to Advantage.

A Ferry established over the Thames.

Borough Market.

28 Geo. II. The Act for holding the Borough Market.

The Preamble.

A Bill also passed in this Sessions of Parliament to prevent the holding of any Market in the High Street of the Borough of Southwark, and to remove it to a more convenient Place, where it is now kept, in these Words:

“Whereas the late King Edward the Sixth, by his Royal Charter in the Fourth Year of his Reign, did, among other Things, give and grant unto the Mayor and Commonalty and Citizens of the City of London, that they and their Successors should have within the Borough and Town of Southwark, in the County of Surry, one Market or Markets to be there holden, and all Things which to a Market do appertain, or may appertain, for ever: And whereas by an Act of Parliament passed in the Twenty-ninth Year of

“the Reign of his late Majesty King Charles the Second, it was enacted, That the said Market should continue and be kept in the same Place where it had been anciently, and was at the Time of making the said Act, kept; and that the said Market should not be kept in any other Place whatsoever: And whereas the High Street of the said Borough, where the said Market is now held, leading from London Bridge to St. Margaret's Hill, is a great Thoroughfare to and from the Counties of Surry, Kent, and Sussex; and the holding of the said Market in the said High Street hath been found inconvenient from the great Increase of Coaches, Carts, and Carriages passing and repassing through the same, which hath occasioned frequent Stops, and is a great Obstruction to Trade and Commerce: For Remedy whereof, may it please your Majesty, upon the humble Petition of the said Mayor and Commonalty, and Citizens, who are desirous to give up the said Market, and the Profits arising thereby, for the Convenience and Accommodation of the Public, that it may be enacted; and be it enacted, That from and after the Twenty-fifth Day of March, One Thousand Seven Hundred and Fifty-Six, no Market whatsoever shall be kept or held in the said High Street of the Borough of Southwark, in the County of Surry; and that it shall not be lawful for any Person or Persons whatsoever to erect, place, or use any Stall, Trussel, Block, or other Stand, in the said High Street of the said Borough, or to sell, or expose to Sale, any Peas, Beans, Herbs, Victuals, or other Commodities whatsoever, in or upon any Stall, Trussel, Stand, Shed, or Carriage whatsoever, in the said High Street of the said Borough of Southwark.

No Market for the future to be held in the High Street; or Stall erected for selling Garden or other Ware.

The setting up Stalls, and the standing of empty Coaches, or other Carriages in the Street, deemed a Nuisance.

“And that every erecting, placing, or using on, or in any Part of the said High Street, of any Stall, Trussel, Block, or other Thing, and also the felling, or exposing to Sale, of any Commodities on them, or any of them, and every placing or standing of any empty Coach, Cart, Dray, or other Carriage, in any Part of the said High Street (except only during the Time of the loading or unloading thereof, and that to be done in a reasonable Time) shall be deemed, and is hereby declared to be a common Nuisance.

No Coachman, &c. to ply or stand in the Streets.

“And that it shall not be lawful for any Coachman or Driver to stand or ply, or be permitted to stand or ply for Hire with any Coach or other Carriage whatsoever in the said High Street, or for any Carman, Carter, Drayman, or Driver of any Carriage whatsoever to stand or remain, or be permitted to stand or remain, with any Cart, Carr, Dray, Waggon, or other Carriage whatsoever, in the said High Street, except only during the Time of loading and unloading thereof, and that to be done in a reasonable Time; and that no Carriage shall stand to load or unload with its Breech or Tail at or before any Dwelling-House, Shop, or Warehouse; and if any Coachman, Carman, Carter, Drayman, Waggoner, or Driver, shall offend herein, it shall and may be lawful for any Constable or Inhabitant of the Place where the Offence shall be committed, to apprehend Persons causing Obstruction, by Coaches, Carts or other Carriages, to be carried before a Justice.

“and take, or cause to be apprehended and “taken, every such Person or Persons so of“fending, before some Justice of the Peace for “the said Borough, or for the said County of “Surry; and upon Conviction thereof, either
 “by the Confession of the Party, or the Oath
 “of One or more credible Witnesses or Wit“nesses, before such Justice (which Oath such “Justice is hereby impowered and required to “administer) every such Person or Persons so “offending, shall respectively forfeit and pay
 “for every such Offence a Sum not exceeding “Ten Shillings, nor less than Five Shillings,
 “as such Justice shall direct, to go and be ap“plied to the Use of the Poor of the Parish “where such Offence shall be committed; and “in Default of immediate Payment, the Of“fender or Offenders shall be committed to the “House of Correction, there to be kept to “hard Labour for any Time not exceeding Seven “Days, as such Justice shall think fit to order,
 “or until he shall have paid the same.”

Penalty of the said Offences; and how the same is to be applied.

28 Geo. II.
Act to enable the Churchwardens,
&c. to hold a Market.

Act of this Session.

The City of London having given up their Right and Interest to and in the Borough-Market for the public Good, and the said Market being by the Act above recited totally abolished, the Inhabitants of the Borough of Southwark did, by their humble Petition to Parliament, obtain another Act to enable the Churchwardens, Overseers, and Inhabitants of the Parish of Saint Saviour, in the Borough of Southwark, in the County of Surry, to hold a Market within the said Parish, not interfering with the High Street, in the said Borough; wherein it is set forth, “Whereas by an Act made and passed in this “present Session of Parliament, intituled, An “Act to prevent the holding of any Market for the “future in the High Street of the Borough of “Southwark, in the County of Surry; it is “enacted, That from and after the Twenty-“fifth Day of March, in the Year of our “Lord One thousand seven hundred and fifty-“six, no Market whatsoever shall be kept or “held in the said High Street of the Borough “of Southwark, in the County of Surry: And “whereas it is necessary for the Benefit and Ac“commodation of the Inhabitants of the said “Borough of Southwark, and the neighbouring “Towns and Villages, that a Market should be “still continued, as near as conveniently may “be, to the Place where it is now held; and
 “the Churchwardens, Overseers of the Poor,
 “and Inhabitants of the Parish of Saint Saviour, “within the said Borough, are desirous to erect,
 “hold, and maintain such Market, and have “found out a convenient Place for that Purpose, “near the present Market, within the said Parish
 “of Saint Saviour; to wit, A Piece of Ground
 “in which is contained a Spot called The Triangle, “abutting on a Place called the Turnstile, on the “Backside of Three-Crown-Court Eastward, on “Fowle-Lane, and Buildings in Rochester-Yard
 “and Dirty-Lane Northward, and towards Dead- “man's-Place Westward: But whereas such new “Market cannot be erected, held, and main“tained, nor many Difficulties be removed,
 “which may arise in the Purchase of the Ground, “Houses, and other Buildings, that shall be “found necessary to be made use of for that “Purpose, by reason of legal Disabilities, which “the Owners or Occupiers thereof may be under “to dispose of the same; all which cannot be “done, and effectually carried into Execution, “otherwise than by the Aid and Authority of “Parliament: May it therefore please Your “Majesty, at the Prayer of the Churchwardens, “Overseers of the Poor, and Inhabitants of the “said Parish of Saint Saviour, in the Borough “of Southwark, that it may be enacted, That

 “the Right Honourable Arthur Onslow, Esq; Commis- “Speaker of the Honourable House of Com- sioners
 “mons, &c. shall be, and they are hereby con- Names.
 “stituted and appointed Commissioners to do all “Matters and Things necessary for carrying this “Act into Execution, in Manner as is herein
 “after mentioned.

“And that it shall be lawful to and for the Commis-
 “said Commissioners, or any Seven or more sioners to
 “of them, or any Person or Persons authorized set out the
 “by them, to enter into, and upon the said Site of the “Ground, within the Limits aforesaid, and to Market.
 “view the same, and to describe and set out
 “such Parts thereof, as they shall adjudge proper “for holding the said Market thereon; and Purchase “further, that so soon as the said Ground shall thereof to “be so set out and adjudged proper for that be after-
 “Purpose by the said Commissioners, or any wards “Seven or more of them, it shall and may be made by “lawful for the said Churchwardens and Over- the Parish.
 “seers of the Poor of the said Parish of Saint
Saviour, within the Borough of Southwark, “for the time being, together with Eleven of “the most substantial Inhabitants, to be from “time to time chosen and appointed by the “Vestry of the said Parish, or any Seven or “more of them, for and on Behalf of them“selves, and the rest of the Inhabitants of the “said Parish, to purchase the said Ground, and “any Buildings erected thereupon, or upon any “Part thereof, and all or any Estate, Term,
 “or Interest subsisting therein, and to convert “the said Ground into a Place for holding the “said Market thereon; in Trust nevertheless,
 “to and for the several Uses, Intents, and Pur“poses, as are herein after declared and enacted “concerning the same.

“And that it shall and may be lawful to and Rights of
 “for the said Churchwardens, Overseers, and holding the “Inhabitants, or any Seven or more of them, Market
 “to have, possess, and enjoy, the Right of and Tolls,
 “holding the said Market for the Borough of &c. vested “Southwark, on the Ground which shall be so in the “purchased, and to receive and take the usual Church-
 “and accustomed Rents, Tolls, and Profits wardens “thereof, in as full, ample, and beneficial Man- and Inha- “ner, as the same, or any of them, were at bitants.
 “any Time heretofore held or enjoyed by the “Mayor and Commonalty, and Citizens of the “City of London, in or upon the said ancient “Market by them holden, within the said Bo“rough of Southwark, together with all such “Rights, Privileges, Emoluments, and Ap“purtenances whatsoever, as was, or were here“tofore used and enjoyed, as belonging or ap“pertaining to the said ancient Market.

“And for preventing any Encroachments
 “which might hereafter be made on the said “Market; be it further enacted, That from
 “and

New River Office.

Front of New-Newton.

No Provisions, &c. to be sold without Licence, within 1000 Yards of the Bounds of the Market;

Hay and Straw excepted.

Penalty 5l.

Application thereof.

Justices may mitigate Penalties.

Persons aggrieved may appeal to the Quarter-Sessions, &c.

Proceedings not removable by Certiorari.

Fire at the Hermitage.

410l. Salary to the Comptroller of the Bridge-House.

“ and after the said Ground shall be purchased
 “ and used as a Market, it shall not be lawful
 “ for any Person or Persons to erect or hold “ any other Market within the said Borough of “ Southwark, or any Part thereof, or to vend
 “ or expose to Sale any Fish, Meat, Poultry, “ or other Provisions, which are usually sold in “ publick Markets, in any Stall in any High “ Street of the said Borough of Southwark, or “ within the Space of One thousand Yards from “ the Bounds of the said Market, within the “ County of Surry, except the present Hay-“ Market for Sale of Hay and Straw only,
 “ without Licence under the Hands and Seals
 “ of the said Churchwardens, Overseers, and “ Inhabitants, or any Seven or more of them,
 “ first had and obtained; and every Person who “ shall so vend, or expose to Sale, any Fish, “ Meat, Poultry, or such other Provisions as “ shall be usually sold in the said Market, in “ any Stall within the said Borough as aforesaid,
 “ and shall be convicted thereof before any Two “ or more of his Majesty's Justices of the “ Peace for the said County of Surry, and such “ other Persons who are authorized to be his “ Majesty's Justices of the Peace within the “ said Borough, shall for every such Offence “ forfeit and pay the Sum of Five Pounds, to “ be recovered by Distress and Sale of the Goods “ and Chattels of the Offender, rendering the “ Overplus, if any there be, after deducting
 “ the Expence of such Distress and Sale, to the “ Owners thereof; One Moiety whereof shall go “ to the Informer, and the other Moiety to the “ Poor of the Parish where such Offence or Of“ fences shall be committed.

“ Provided nevertheless, That it shall and “ may be lawful to and for the said respective “ Justices, where they shall see Cause, to miti“ gate or lessen any such Penalties or Forfeitures
 “ according to their Discretion.

“ And if any Person shall think him or her“ self aggrieved by the Determination of the “ Justices as aforesaid, it shall and may be law“ ful for such Person or Persons to appeal to “ the General Quarter-Sessions of the Peace to “ be next holden for the said Borough, or for “ the County of Surry, and that the Determi“ nation of such Court of Quarter-Sessions shall “ be final and conclusive to all Intents and Pur“ poses whatsoever; and that no Certiorari shall “ be allowed to remove any such Proceedings or “ Determination.”

On the first Day of May a Fire broke out, and burnt furiously, in a Hay-Loft over the Stables at Walker's Wharf, about 150 Yards West of Hermitage Bridge; occasioned by a careless Boy, who carried a Candle into the Loft, and dropt it amongst the Hay. It was all in a Blaze in a few Minutes; and the Flames not only communicated themselves with great Rapidity to the Warehouses contiguous to the said Wharf, but such were the Combustibles they were fed with, that they spread across the Street, and consumed seven Hemp Warehouses, situate at the South-East corner of Burr-Street.

On the 12th of June the Common-Council allowed the Comptroller of the Bridge-House
 410l. per Ann. in Lieu of his customary Yearly

Bills, which were so much reduced by the Loss that would accrue to the Bridge-House Estate, in the Repairing and Improvement of London
Bridge.

At the same Common-Council a Motion was made to alter, and to make the Gaol of Newgate more commodious, which was carried, and committed to a Committee of six Aldermen and twelve Commoners to consider of the same, and to make a Report thereof; who have carried this Scheme into Execution, so far as to have laid the Foundation thereof on the East Side of the Old-Bailey.

A Report being made that the City was 25,000l. in Debt, an Order was made to pay off one third Part thereof.

On the 12th of July an extraordinary Cause was tried in the Court of King's-Bench, at Guild-ball, before Lord Chief Justice Ryder and a Special Jury, upon an Indictment against John Miles, near Bishopsgate, London, an eminent Wheelwright; founded upon the Statute of the 5th of Queen Elizabeth, for using and exercising the Trade of a Coach-Maker, and Coach-Harness-Maker, not having served seven Years Apprenticeship to the same; who, after a Trial of four Hours and upwards, obtained a Verdict.

The Livery having chosen Mr. Markham to be one of the Sheriffs this Year, he swore himself not worth 15,000l. and therefore not qualified for that important Office. On which Occasion Mr. Trueman having great Reason to suspect a Design to put him in Nomination, and to chuse him in his stead, did, by a Letter read to the Livery assembled in Common Hall, and previous to the naming of those on the List, forbid them to chuse him, as being a Protestant Dissenter, and, in his Opinion, disqualified by Act of Parliament.

His Majesty having this Summer visited his German Dominions, and in the mean Time the Ministry at Home having taken every Measure that could be adopted in so critical a Juncture, when the French were endeavouring to take Advantage of that Supineness with which the British Court had looked on the Chain of Forts building by them on the Frontiers of our American Plantations, and the continual Hostilities they, and their Indian Allies, daily committed on that Continent against the British Subjects;
 the City of London expressed their Satisfaction thereat, in the following Address on his Majesty's Return from Germany to his British Dominions.

“ Most Gracious Sovereign,

“ We, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal “ Subjects, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and “ Commons of the City of London, in Common-“ Council assembled, humbly beg leave to ad“ dress your Majesty with our most sincere and “ joyful Congratulations on your Majesty's safe
 “ and happy Return to your British Dominions.

“ Permit us, Royal Sir, with Hearts full of “ Gratitude, to express our sincere Acknow“ ledgements of your Majesty's paternal Care,
 “ and vigilant Regard for the true Interest and “ Prosperity of your People, by the vigorous “ Measures taken by your Majesty to protect

“ our

Motion to alter Newgate.

One Third of the City Debt paid.

Mr. Miles's Verdict.

Mr. Markham swears off.

Mr. Trueman's Case.

City Address to his Majesty returned from Germany.

Address.

“our Commerce and Colonies from the Incroachments of the French.”

“And we do humbly assure your Majesty, that we will, to the utmost of our Power, on this and every other Occasion, cheerfully contribute towards the Support of your Majesty’s sacred Person and Government, and the Defence of the just Rights and Possessions of your Crown, against all Attempts whatsoever.”

To which Address, presented by the Lord Mayor, and most of the Aldermen and Common Councilmen, with the Recorder, introduced by the Duke of Grafton, Lord Chamberlain of the Household, His Majesty was pleased to return this most gracious Answer.

Answer.

“I thank you for this very dutiful and affectionate Address. The Support of the Rights of my Crown, and the Preservation of my Dominions in America, are so essential to the Trade and Commerce of my People, that the City of London may depend that I will continue to take such Measures, as may best tend to these great and important Ends. The Assurances you give me of your Zeal and Assistance are very pleasing to me; and the City of London may rely upon the Continuance of my Favour and Protection.”

Report by the Newgate Committee.

On the 6th of November, the Committee appointed to consider the Motion for the Alteration of Newgate, made their Report; by which it appeared, That the only Way to make that Prison more commodious, would be to move it to a more open and airy Situation. It was therefore resolved, “That it would be proper to rebuild Newgate.”

Hospital Committee appointed.

The Common-Councilmen apprehending that they by their Office and Election had a Right, under the Charters upon which the City Hospitals had been established, to be Governors of the same for the Time being, they in this Common-Council appointed a Committee to enquire into the Rights of the City in the five great Hospitals, viz. St. Bartholomew’s, St. Thomas’s, Bridewell, Bethlem, and Christ-Church in Newgate-Street; and what Part of them has either been given up, or taken away, and by whom, and under what Pretence.

City Militia ordered out.

On the 15th of November the Secretary of War sent an Order to the Court of Aldermen, acquainting them, that it appearing by the Motions of the French, that they were meditating either an Invasion of this Kingdom, or some other Disturbance against England; and therefore that the Militia of the City must hold themselves in Readiness to march. Accordingly a Court of Lieutenancy was immediately summoned, which ordered that the six Regiments of the City Militia should be mustered and exercised, by four Companies each Day, in the Artillery Ground.

Motion for a national Militia rejected.

The Dread of an Invasion from the Enemy, and of the fatal Consequences which might follow the putting the Defence of the Nation into the Hands of Foreigners, or Dutch, Hanoverian, or other German Troops, which had been proposed and agreed for by the King and his Ministry to be brought into this Island, several Members of both Houses of Parliament, equally fearful of a standing Army in the Time of Peace, formed a Scheme for a national Militia, and amongst other Counties and Cities they applied to the City of London to petition to Parliament for that Purpose: But the Court of Common-Council differed in their Opinion from the rest of their Fellow-Subjects, in this grand constitutional Measure of national Defence; and they not only put a Negative upon the Motion this Day (25th of Nov.) by a Division for a national Militia; but when it was moved, on the 2d of April next following, to petition Parliament, that the City Militia might be included in the Bill depending for regulating the Militia of this Kingdom, it also passed, with a great Majority, in the Negative.

The Promoters of the New Bridge proposed to be built across the Thames from Black-Friars or Fleet-Ditch, exerted all their Strength to carry their Point on the 18th of December, the very Eve of the Elections for the Common-Council for the Year following. A Motion was made to petition Parliament for Leave to build a New Bridge over the Thames, near Fleet-Ditch; which, after many Debates, was put and agreed to by a Majority of 100 to 66.

Petition ordered for building Black-Friars Bridge.

CHAP. II.

An Abstract of the Act for building Black-Friars Bridge. The Toll on the said Bridge. The French Minister’s Letter to Mr. Secretary Fox, concerning Peace, with Remarks. Mr. Fox’s Answer. Proceedings of the French. British Ships seized in Port. Alteration in the Committee of City Lands. A Public Fast. A Fire at Black-Friars. The City Petition against the Plate Act. Report of an Invasion. The City Address to his Majesty on that Occasion, and his Majesty’s Answer. Petition against the Repairs of London Bridge. Rejected. Act of Parliament for repairing London Bridge. Clauses concerning Tythes, Poor’s Rate, Land-Tax, &c. and an additional Toll. War declared and proclaimed. A great Storm. City Address to his Majesty on the Loss of Minorca, &c. and his Answer. A Representation of the national Discontent. The Affair of Admiral Byng. Poll for Lord Mayor. Mr. Pitt made Secretary of State, and displaced, A. D. 1756.

THE House of Commons being adjourned for Christmas Holidays, the Sheriff (Mr. Whitebread) could not present the City Petition to the House of Commons for building Black-Friars Bridge, till the 13th of January following: In Consequence of which, an Act was passed with the utmost Expedition, which provides, “That the Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council assembled, shall have Power and Authority to direct, order and build the said Bridge, and to maintain, preserve and support the same, when built: For which Purpose, to appoint a Committee from Time to Time to manage and transact such Affairs, as they may find necessary, with such Powers and Authorities as shall be delegated to them from Time to Time by the said Mayor, &c. in Common-Council assembled, or such general Powers, as Act for building Black-Friars Bridge.

“are

“are granted by this Act; excluding every and
 “all Person and Persons concerned in building, “or dealing in any Materials in building, from “being eligible, or capable of acting as a Mem“ber of any such Committee; and all and every “Person and Persons, during the Time he or “they possess any Office, or Place of Profit un“der the Act, or under the Mayor and Com“monalty of the City of London.

“The said Mayor, &c. in Common-Council “assembled, are empowered to design and lay
 “out in what Manner the said intended Bridge “shall be erected; and the Ways, Streets, and “Passages to and from the same made, widened,
 “enlarged and improved, and to do all Matters
 “and Things for carrying on and effecting the “Purposes of the said Act.

“Directing the said Bridge to be so con“structed, as that there shall remain a free and “open Passage for the Water through the Arches “or Passages under the same, of 750 Feet at
 “at least, within the Banks of the said River;
 “and that no Buildings, except the proper Gates
 “and Toll-Houses, be erected upon the said
 “Bridge.

“This Act did further make it Felony for “maliciously damaging or destroying, hinder“ing, or interrupting the Building of the said
 “Bridge.

“The said Mayor, &c. are empowered to “make, widen and enlarge such Streets, Ways
 “and Passages, as they shall think necessary,
 “on each Side of the River, to and from the
 “said Bridge; and to agree with the Owners
 “and Occupiers of such Lands, Tenements, or “Hereditaments, as they shall judge proper to “be purchased. And it enacted, that all Per“sons whatsoever shall be enabled to sell, and “be indemnified for what they shall do, by “Virtue of this Act. And that where Per“sons refused to treat for the Sale of such “Lands, &c. a Jury impanelled by the Sheriff “shall inquire into their Value, and assess and “award the Sums payable to every such Person
 “for every such Purchase: And when the Per“sons cannot be found, who have a Right to “such Purchase-Money, or there be any other “Impediment or Doubt with regard to the “Payment thereof, the Purchase-Money to be “lodged in the Bank for the Use of the Parties “interested therein, to be paid at such Times as
 “the Mayor, &c. shall order and direct.

“All Persons not entering their Claim or “Demand on such Lands with the Town-Clerk,
 “or the Clerk of the Peace in Surry, within five “Years, shall forfeit their Right and Interest for “ever.

“Tenants at Will, and Lessees for a Year, to “be paid six Months Rent, or to have twelve “Months Notice to quit.

“Mayor, &c. to pay off all Mortgages, with “six Months Interest of the principal Money;
 “and to treat with the Waterman's Company
 “about a Recompence, in lieu of the Sunday's “Ferry from Black-Friars Stairs to the opposite “Shore.

“And the said Mayor, &c. are empowered
 “to fill up the Channel of Bridewell Dock, be“tween the Thames and Fleet-Bridge, and to take “away the Bridge over the said Dock, leading “to Bridewell Gate, making sufficient Drains and “Sewers into the Thames.

“And it was further enacted, That when the
 “said Bridge is finished and made passable, no “Coach, Cart, or Carriage whatsoever, shall “wilfully stand on the said Bridge, or within “one hundred Yards on either Side thereof; nor “is any Dung, Filth, or Rubbish to be put “thereon; all under the Penalty of 20s. and
 “not less than 2s. 6d. to the Informer or Ap-“prehender, or to be committed to hard La“bour on Default of Payment, for any Time at “the Pleasure of the Magistrate, not exceeding “three Days.

“The Act also directs a proper Number of “Lamps to be fixed on this Bridge, to burn
 “from Sun-setting to Sun-rising, throughout
 “the Year, and a Number of Watchmen;
 “and to appoint a Toll, not exceeding the fol“lowing Rates: viz.

“For every Coach, Chariot, Berlin, Chaise, “or Calash, drawn by	s.	d.	Toll on the said Bridge.
“Six or more Horses —	2	0
“Four Horses —	1	6
“Less than four Horses —	1	0
“For every Waggon, Wain, Carr, “Cart, or Carriage, drawn by “Four or more Horses, or “other Beasts —	1	0
“Less than Four —	0	6
“For every Horse, Mule, or “Ass, laden or unladen, and not “drawing —	0	1
“For every Foot Passenger on “Sunday —	0	1
“On every other Day —	0	0 ½

“And upon the Credit of these Tolls, the “Mayor, &c. are empowered to raise 30,000*l.*
 “per Annum, until 160,000*l.* be raised in the “whole, to be applied to the Purposes of this “Act.

“Persons sued for doing any Thing in pur“suance of this Act, may plead the general “Issue.”

During the Recess of Parliament some Overtures were made from the Court of France, by a Letter from M. Rouille, Minister and Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, to Mr. Fox, Secretary of State to the King of England, dated Versailles, December 21; but worded in such a Manner as to diffuse some disagreeable Apprehensions amongst the People concerning the pacific Conduct of our Ministry, and to throw the whole Blame of a War commenced in this Manner upon Great-Britain. Therefore, as the present Situation of Things would not permit his Britannic Majesty to answer M. Rouille's Letter, otherwise than by his Secretary of State; and it was judged necessary to seek some Way to take off the disagreeable Opinion the English entertained of a Minister (Henry Fox, Esq;) who had removed Pitt and Legge, and other Patriots, from all Share and Profits in the Government; who had so managed the Parliament as to confirm the Subsidiary Treaties for a Continental War, and the calling in Hessian and Hanoverian Forces to defend England; and who was continually alarming the Nation with Re-

Letter from M.
Rouille to Mr. Fox.

Mr. Fox's
Answer.

A public
Fast.

Proceedings of the French.

British Ships seized in Port.

Attention
in the Committee of the City
Lands,
1756.

A Fire at Black-Friars.

Petition,
&c. against the Plate-
Act.

ports and Advice of a French Invasion, in order to raise immense Sums of Money out of the Fears of the People: Therefore Mr. Fox was ordered, by way of Letter, also to write such Remarks on M. Rouille's Letter, as to appease the People at Home, and to expose to all Europe the Falseness of the Imputations and Facts contained in the said Letter. And War being now unavoidable, his Majesty commanded the sixth Day of February, 1756, to be kept as a public Fast, to implore God's Blessing and Assistance upon our Fleets and Armies against France: On which Occasion the Churches and Meeting-Houses in and about this Metropolis were extremely crowded, and exhibited a universal Desire to chastise the French, and to engage in any Measures to maintain and support the Dignity of the Crown, and the Interest and Trade of the Nation.

On the other side, Orders were published at Dunkirk for all British Subjects to leave the French Dominions before the first of March, except such as might obtain Permission to remain from the Court of France. Another Edict was published, inviting the French Subjects to fit out Privateers, promising a Premium of forty Livres for every Gun, and as much for every Man they might take on board British Ships; with a Promise of the King to purchase the said Privateers at prime Cost, should Peace be concluded soon.

Pursuant to the above Orders, the English Vessels riding in the several Ports of France were seized, and their Crews sent to Prison.

The Multiplicity of Business which of late Years increased before the Committee of the City Lands, making it necessary to augment the Number usually chosen upon that Committee, it was resolved by the Common-Council, in Common-Council assembled, on the 13th of February, 1756, That for the future the said Committee of City Lands shall consist of twelve Aldermen and twenty-four Commoners, of whom three Aldermen and six Commoners to be removed annually; and that the Commoners shall be taken out of every Ward, except Lime-Street and Bassishaw; which being small, only one shall be chosen alternately out of those two Wards: And it was then also ordained, That all Reports from the said Committee of City Lands, shall have the Precedence of all other Business in the Court of Common-Council.

On the 19th a dreadful Fire broke out in the 'Compting-House of Mr. Howell, a Timber or Deal Merchant at Black-Friars Stairs; which spread amongst the Timber in Mr. Howell's, and two other Timber-Yards adjoining, and consumed the said Yards and fourteen more Houses. The very Deals on board the Lighters, and lying at the Wharf, took Fire; and after burning their Moorings, they dropt down with the Tide of Ebb, passed under the Bridge, and set Fire to two Ships at Rotherhithe.

Amongst the various Schemes to raise Money, the Minister proposed a Duty upon Plate, by which the Owners, Users, and Keepers of Silver Plate were to be made subject to the Laws of Excise. But while this Bill was in Agitation, the City of London were so alarmed at this Ex-tenction of the Excise Laws, that the Common-Council, on the 18th of March, not only drew up a Petition against it, but instructed the Representatives of the City in Parliament to oppose the said Bill, as it subjected every Possessor of Plate to the Information of Servants and dissolute Persons.

The Petition was sent to the House of Commons by Mr. Sheriff Whitebread; and the following is a true Copy of the Instructions to the City Members: viz.

"Whereas a Bill is now depending in Parliament, by which Owners, Users, and Keepers of Silver Plate are subjected to the Laws of Excise; we therefore take this Opportunity of expressing our universal Disapprobation of every Extension of Laws which tend to deprive the Subjects of Great-Britain of their invaluable Right, a Trial by Jury.

"And this Bill appears to subject all Persons (altho' not engaged in Trade) to Penalties arbitrarily levied by Excise Laws.

"And we moreover recommend to you the opposing the Bill, as tending to the Ruin of many Thousands of the most skilful Artificers and Manufacturers, or to compel them to carry their Art and Industry to foreign Countries, leaving their Families a Burthen to their own.

"We apprehend a further Consequence of passing this Bill will be the Exportation of Bullion unwrought; and the Nation may be left without the only Commodity to which they can have Recourse in the most pressing Distress.

"We conceive that this Bill will also lay an unequal Burthen upon the middle and lower Rank of Subjects, from which the Rich and Opulent (who are best able to contribute) are partially exempted."

The Advices from abroad continuing to increase the Fears of an Invasion on some Part of Britain, the King sent a Message to Parliament, to lay these Advices before them; on which Occasion the Lord-Mayor, Aldermen, and Common-Council, waited on his Majesty at St. James's, on the 6th of April, with the following Address.

"Most Gracious Sovereign,

"Your Majesty having been graciously pleased to acquaint your two Houses of Parliament, that a Design hath been formed by the French Court to make an hostile Invasion upon Great-Britain or Ireland; We, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lord-Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council assembled, beg leave to express our Abhorrence of so unjust and desperate an Enterprize, projected in Revenge for your royal and gracious Protection of the Trade and Commerce of your People, and the necessary Defence of the undoubted Rights and Possessions of your Crown.

"With Gratitude and unfeigned Loyalty, we most humbly assure your Majesty, that the Citizens of your faithful City, united in Duty and Affection to your sacred Person and Government, will exert their utmost Power, and

"hazard

Report of an Invasion.

City Address on the Occasion.

“hazard their Lives and Fortunes, to support
“and defend your Majesty, and the Protestant “Succession in your Royal Family; not doubt“ing, but by the Zeal and Loyalty of your Ma-“jesty’s Subjects, conducted by your known “Wisdom and Courage, with the Assistance of “the Divine Providence, you will be able to de“feat all the Designs of your Enemies.”

His Ma-jesty’s Answer.

To which his Majesty was pleased to return the following most gracious Answer: “I thank you “for this very loyal and dutiful Address. I have “the firmest Reliance on the affectionate Assu“rance you give me of exerting yourselves to
“the utmost in support of my Government; and “the City of London may always depend upon “my Favour, Countenance, and Protection,
“and my constant Care to defend the Rights and “Possessions of my Crown, and promote the “Trade and Commerce of this Kingdom.”

Petition against the Repairs of London
Bridge.

The Advocates for Black-Friars Bridge, not content with the Advantages they had acquired, set themselves against the Repair and Improvement of London Bridge; and as soon as they were secure of the Act for building the New Bridge, they, on the 5th of May, in a very full Court, moved in the Common-Council for a Petition to Parliament against a Bill then depending in the House for repairing London Bridge. The Debate was very warm, and many learned Arguments were advanced on both Sides of the Question, which at last was decided by a Division:

For the Petition	-	201
Against the Petition	-	193

Majority for the Petition 8

And the same Committee, who drew up the Petition to Parliament for the New Bridge, were appointed to draw this Petition up also.

How this Petition was received and considered in the Parliament-House, will appear by the little Regard they paid to an Opposition to a Petition presented by the Old Bridge Committee, which had set forth, and made clear to the whole House, by sufficient Evidences, “That the Passage over “and through London Bridge was very danger“ous and incommodious, and that it was abso“lutely necessary immediately to widen and en“large the same; and that the widening and en“larging the said Bridge, and one or more of the “Arches thereof, would be of public Utility, of “great Benefit to Trade and Commerce, make
“the Navigation upon the River Thames more “safe and secure, and greatly tend to the Prefer“vation of the Lives of his Majesty’s Subjects “passing over and through the said Bridge.” The Act passed without any Impediment.

Act for repairing
London
Bridge.

By this Act for repairing the Old Bridge, otherwise called London Bridge, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Commons of London, in Common-Council assembled, were empowered to purchase and remove the Buildings on, and contiguous to the Bridge, in order to enlarge the Passage over, and the Avenues leading to and from the said Bridge, and to widen and enlarge one or more Arches of the said Bridge; and to design how the Passage might be rendered more safe and commodious, and the Bridge preserved and kept in Repair.

It directed, that there should be a Balustrade on each Side of the Bridge, and a Passage of 31 Feet open for Carriages, and 7 Feet on each Side for Foot Passengers, with Lamps to be kept lighted from Sun-setting to Sun-rising, and a Number of able-bodied Watchmen to patrol the same by Night; and that the Expence of the said Lamps and Watch shall be defrayed out of the Bridge Estate.

It was further enacted, that the Tythes, Poor’s Rate, Land-Tax, and customary Payments due from the Houses, &c. pulled down (which had been reported on the 26th of September, 1754, to the Common-Council, to amount annually to the Sum of 484*l.* 19*s.* 10*d.*) shall be charged upon the Bridge-house Lands. Taxes, &c.

This Act did further establish an additional Toll, viz. for every Horse drawing a Coach, Chariot, Hearse, Berlin, Landau, Calash, Chaise, or Chair, over the said Bridge, the Sum of One Penny; and for every such Coach, Chariot, Hearse, Berlin, Landau, Calash, Chaise, or Chair, One Penny. Toll.

And for every Horse, not drawing, passing over the said Bridge, one Half-Penny.

Likewise it established a Toll for loaded Vessels passing through or under the said Bridge, viz.

For every Hoy, Barge, Vessel, Lighter, or other Craft, having any Goods on Board not exceeding

	s.	d.
Five Tons Burthen, the Sum of	0	2
Ten Tons — — —	0	3
Twenty-five Tons, — —	0	6
Above the Burthen of Twenty- five Tons — — —	1	0

Save and except out of such Tolls all such Crafts as shall be loaded only with Straw, Manure, Dung, Compost, or Lime to be used for Tillage.

Which Tolls were to continue till the Principal and Interest of the Money borrowed for the Purposes of the said Act should be repaid: But these Tolls being found both difficult to collect, and a heavy Load upon Trade and Navigation, the Parliament granted an Aid to carry on the said Repairs, and annihilated those Tolls both above and under the Bridge.

Certain Intelligence being received that the French had sent a powerful Fleet and Army, under the Command of the Duke of Richelieu, to reduce the Island of Minorca, and to attack the English Fort and Garrison of Port-Mahon; our Court could no longer put off a Declaration of War against the French King, which was accordingly declared on the 18th of May, 1756, with great Formality, and with the loudest Acclama-tions of Joy from the innumerable Spectators, in this Manner. In what Manner War was proclaimed.

The Officers of Arms, with the Serjeants at Arms and Trumpeters, mounted their Horses in the Stable-Yard, St. James’s. They proceeded to the Palace Gate, where Garter Principal King of Arms read his Majesty’s Declaration of War, and Norroy King of Arms proclaimed it aloud;
which done, the Procession began towards Charing-Cross, in this Form.

The Beadles of Westminster bare-headed, with Staves, two and two.

Constables of Westminster, in like Manner.
 The High Constable with his Staff, alone.
 Officers of the High Bailiff of Westminster on Horse-back, with white Wands.
 Clerk of the High Bailiff.
 High Bailiff of Westminster, and the Deputy Steward on his right Hand.
 Knight-Marshal's Men.
 The Knight-Marshal.
 Drums.
 Drum Major.
 Trumpets.
 Serjeant Trumpeter in his Collar, bearing his Mace.
 Pursuivants, Blue-Mantle, Rougedragon, Portcullis.
Richmond Herald, Windsor Herald.
York Herald between two Serjeants at Arms.
Somerset, ditto.
Norroy, ditto.
 Garter King at Arms, ditto.
 A Troop of Horse-Guards.

At Charing-Cross, Norroy read the Declaration, and Somerset Herald proclaimed it aloud.
 Then the Procession continued in the same Order to Temple-Bar, where the Officers of the City of Westminster retired. Within the Gate, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, Recorder, and Sheriffs attended in their scarlet Gowns; and Blue-Mantle's Pursuivant having presented to his Lordship the Earl Marshal's Warrant for entering the City in this solemn Manner, the City Procession followed the Troops commanded by their Colonel; and at the End of Chancery-Lane, Somerset Herald read the Declaration, and York Herald proclaimed it aloud. At the End of Wood-Street, in Cheapside, York Herald read the Declaration, and Windsor
 Herald proclaimed it aloud; and finally, at the Royal-Exchange, Windsor Herald read the Declaration, and Richmond Herald proclaimed it aloud, in these Words:

"George Rex,

Declaration of War against the French
 King.

"The unwarrantable Proceedings of the French
 "in the West-Indies and North-America, since the "Conclusion of the Treaty of Aix-la-Chapelle,
 "and the Usurpations and Encroachments made
 "by them upon our Territories, and the Set"tlements of our Subjects in those Parts, par"ticularly in our Province of Nova-Scotia, have "been so notorious, and so frequent, that they "cannot but be looked upon as a sufficient Evi"dence of a formed Design, and Resolution in "that Court, to pursue invariably such Mea"sures as should most effectually promote their "ambitious Views, without any Regard to the "most solemn Treaties and Engagements. We "have not been wanting on our Part, to make
 "from Time to Time the most serious Repre"sentations to the French King upon these re"peated Acts of Violence, and to endeavour to "obtain Redress and Satisfaction for the In"juries done to our Subjects, and to prevent
 "the like Causes of Complaint for the future;
 "But though frequent Assurances have been "given, that every Thing should be settled
 "agreeable to the Treaties subsisting between "the two Crowns, and particularly, that the "Evacuation of the four Neutral Islands in the "West-Indies should be effected (which was ex-

"presly promised to our Ambassador in France)
 "the Execution of these Assurances, and of "the Treaties on which they were founded,
 "has been evaded under the most frivolous "Pretences: And the unjustifiable Practices of "the French Governors, and of the Officers
 "acting under their Authority, were still car"ried on, till, at length, in the Month of "April 1754, they broke out into open Acts of "Hostility, when in Time of profound Peace,
 "without any Declaration of War; and with"out any previous Notice given, or Application
 "made, a Body of French Forces, under the "Command of an Officer bearing the French
 "King's Commission, attacked in a hostile Man"ner, and possessed themselves of the English
 "Fort on the Ohio in North-America.

"But notwithstanding this Act of Hostility,
 "which could not but be looked upon as a
 "Commencement of War; yet, from our ear"nest Desire of Peace, and in hopes the Court
 "of France would disavow this Violence and "Injustice, we contented ourselves with sending
 "such a Force to America as was indispensably
 "necessary for the immediate Defence and Pro"tection of our Subjects, against fresh Attacks
 "and Insults.

"In the mean Time great Naval Armaments
 "were preparing in the Ports of France, and a "considerable Body of French Troops embarked "for North-America; and though the French
 "Ambassador was sent back to England with "specious Professions of a Desire to accommodate "these Differences, yet it appeared, that their "real Design was only to gain Time for the "Passage of those Troops to America, which they "hoped would secure the Superiority of the French
 "Forces in those Parts, and enable them to carry "their ambitious and oppressive Projects into "Execution.

"In these Circumstances we could not but "think it incumbent upon us to endeavour to "prevent the Success of so dangerous a Design,
 "and to oppose the Landing of the French Troops
 "in America; and in consequence of the just
 "and necessary Measures we had taken for that "Purpose, the French Ambassador was imme"diately recalled from our Court; the Fortifi"cations at Dunkirk, which had been repairing
 "for some Time, were enlarged; great Bodies
 "of Troops marched down to the Coast, and "our Kingdoms were threatened with an In"vasion.

"In order to prevent the Execution of these "Designs, and to provide for the Security of "our Kingdoms, which were thus threatened,
 "we could no longer forbear giving Orders
 "for the seizing at Sea the Ships of the French
 "King, and his Subjects: Notwithstanding "which, as we were still unwilling to give up
 "all Hopes that an Accommodation might be "effected, we have contented ourselves hitherto
 "with detaining the said Ships, and preserving
 "them and (as far as was possible) their Car"goes entire, without proceeding to the Con"fiscation of them: But it being now evident,
 "by the hostile Invasion actually made by the "French King, of our Island of Minorca, that "it is the determined Resolution of that Court,

"to

A. D.
 1756.

A. D.
1756.

"to hearken to no Terms of Peace, but to "carry on the War, which has been long be"gun on their Part with the utmost Violence,
"we can no longer remain, consistently with
"what we owe to our own Honour, and to the "Welfare of our Subjects, within those Bounds,
"which, from a Desire of Peace, we had hi"therto observed.

"We have therefore thought proper to de"clare War, and we do hereby declare War,
"against the French King, who hath so unjustly
"begun it, relying on the Help of Almighty
"God in our just Undertaking, and being as"sured of the hearty Concurrence and Assis"tance of our Subjects in support of so good
"a Cause; hereby willing and requiring our "Captain-General of our Forces, our Com"missioners for executing the Office of our "High-Admiral of Great-Britain, our Lieu"tenants of our several Counties, Governors
"of our Forts and Garrisons, and all other "Officers and Soldiers under them, by Sea and "Land, to do and execute all Acts of Hostility,
"in the Prosecution of this War, against the "French King, his Vassals and Subjects, and "to oppose their Attempts; willing and re"quiring all our Subjects to take Notice of the "same, whom we henceforth strictly forbid to "hold any Correspondence or Communication "with the said French King, or his Subjects:
"And we do hereby command our own Sub"jects, and advertise all other Persons, of what "Nation soever, not to transport or carry any "Soldiers, Arms, Powder, Ammunition, or "other contraband Goods, to any of the Ter"ritories, Lands, Plantations, or Countries of "the said French King; declaring, that what"soever Ship or Vessel shall be met withal, trans"porting or carrying any Soldiers, Arms, Pow"der, Ammunition, or any other contraband
"Goods, to any of the Territories, Lands,
"Plantations, or Countries of the said French
"King, the same being taken, shall be con"demned as good and lawful Prize.

"And whereas there are remaining in our "Kingdom, divers of the Subjects of the "French King, we do hereby declare our Royal
"Intention to be, that all the French Subjects,
"who shall demean themselves dutifully to"wards us, shall be safe in their Persons and
"Effects."

Remarks on the Declaration
of War.

Certainly the Sound of War never echoed with more Satisfaction, than at the present Conjuncture. It was the general Request of the Nation; especially of them who were to fight our Battles, and of those who, by their Fortune and Condition in Life, were likely to contribute most to the Expence thereof.
Yet the Friends of our King and Country could not help their Doubts of the Sincerity of the Court, and their Fears for the fatal Consequences of a collusive War. "Should
"this War, said they, prove to be a Mini"sterial Collusion, only a Measure to facilitate "the raising new Taxes; or an Expedient, after
"the People have been fleeced full as much as "they are able to yield at one Shearing, to "frighten them into an insidious Peace, what "would become of Britain? And to relieve the

A. D.
1756.

"Nation from these Apprehensions, it is in"cumbent upon those in Power, not only to "conduct the War with Integrity, Prudence
"and Vigour, but to patch up no Peace till
"the just Cries of the Nation shall be satis"fied for Losses and Damages, and upon such "Terms as no free Parliament can disapprove.

"A War committed to the Management of "such, whose Integrity does not stand in the "best Light; or whose Abilities in martial Af"fairs have been suspected to favour the Enemies
"Escape, rather than of that inviolable Secrecy,
"with which the Councils of our King and "Country ought to be kept, would be far from "answering the End of his Majesty's Declara"tion, or obtaining for Great-Britain and its "Dominions Security from Injuries in Time of "Peace. Nothing less than pursuing every "Measure with Fidelity and Vigour, and op"posing, counteracting, and distressing the "Enemy in every Place and Attempt, accord"ing to the Supplies granted by the People,
"can quit the Ministry from the Guilt of Pu"sillanimity, Ignorance, or Corruption. Nor "can the War procure for us the desirable Se"curity of a lasting and peaceable Possession of "our Rights and Property, should it be pro"tracted with other Views than to force the "Enemy to equitable Terms.

"A Peace, worded in a dark, ambiguous
"Manner, can never guard us against Cavils
"and Disputes: It would expose us to the Ar-"tifices of those, who are not in a Capacity to "decide the Right in the Field. It is by those "kinds of Peace, Great-Britain has so often "been obliged to return to Arms. Had there "been no Claims left undetermined at Aix-la-
"Chapelle; had the Peace-makers, on the Part "of Britain, insisted upon the Evacuation of "Crown-Point, of the Encroachments and For"tresses on the Ohio, and in Nova-Scotia or "Acadia, there would have been no Pretence "left for this French After-game. If this was "an Oversight, now is come the Time to rec"tify the Mistakes of former Ministers, and "to restore the Honour and Welfare of Britain
"and her Colonies. The Sword is drawn:
"And it is drawn to defend our Property, and
"to punish the Usurpations, Encroachments
"and Perfidy of France; and it is the hearty "Wish of all good Subjects, that it may never "be sheathed till the Enemy shall make full Sa"tisfaction, and be disabled from giving Great-
"Britain any further Reason to lie upon her Arms
"in Time of Peace.

"Can there be too much Caution in giving
"Peace to a People, who are infamous for their "Breach of Faith; for embroiling all Nations
"by their Intrigues; and noted for risking the "Event of a War, rather than yield any Point
"by Negotiation? whose Quiet consists in the "Trouble of all others; and whose Advantage
"always takes Root in the public Calamities of "their Neighbours?

"Let us then pursue the War with that Vi"gour and Fidelity, which have so often made
"the Gallic Throne to shake. Let all Factions
"subside, and all Parties unite in such Mea"sures as will best coerce that Power, which

A. D.
1756.

" has broke through all Treaties and Promises,
 " and under the Sanction of Peace, was car" rying on War secretly into our Bowels. May " all the secret Instruments (if there be any)
 " of that perfidious Power be discovered and " brought to condign Punishment: And may " Heaven direct our Councils, and inspire us
 " with a Resolution never to accept of any
 " Terms of Accommodation, which might af" fect either our Religion, Reputation, Peace,
 " Trade, or Navigation.

" Should these be neglected, it would be dif" ficult to persuade a Briton that the Times are
 " mended, or that more salutary Measures are " pursued, than when they had Reason to com" plain of those Traitors to their Country, so " often mentioned in History, who joined with " the Prince in the Spoil of the Subjects, or " kept him under such Restraints, as obliged " him to be content with their Misrepresenta-
 " tions of Facts, in order to extort from him
 " unjust Orders to justify or to screen their " wicked Counsel. They will look upon this " Declaration of War to be only a Scheme to " keep the Minds of the People under constant " Fears and Alarms, in a constant Hurry and " Agitation about their own Safety, to prevent " their looking into public Frauds; and to re" duce them to such a low State, as to render " them incapable of punishing those, who, under " the Name of Peace, attempt to enslave the " People, impoverished by the excessive Burden
 " of a collusive War."

A great
Wind.

On the second of June there was great Damage done, both by Land and Water, by a violent Storm of Wind at S. W. which unroofed Houses, blew down Chimnies, rooted up tall Trees, destroyed most of the Garden Grounds within several Miles of London; and made a dismal Havock amongst the small Craft upon the River, both above and below Bridge.

The Voice of the Nation, by way of Petition to the City of London.

The Voice of the Nation was collected, as it were, and handed up to the Citizens of London;
 amongst whom every Art was tried, to dissuade them from that Part, which they had always taken in any public Calamity or Danger, to lay the national Grievances before the Throne, and to sue for Redress. " In the Time of the most alarm" ing Circumstances, the whole Kingdom, said
 " the common Voice of the People, flies to the " ancient and famous City of London for Safety:
 " Upon her it casts her Eyes for Deliverance:
 " To her it will impute its Destruction, if it " should become (which Heaven forbid!) a Pro" vince to France. The City of London is still " able to save three Kingdoms; to save Mil" lions and Millions from French Tyranny and " Popish Superstition. O let not the Syren
 " Luxury, let not a mean selfish Spirit, the " Bane of every virtuous Action, lull you into " Indifference! Consider Posterity, and hand
 " down to them that Freedom and Happiness,
 " which were delivered to you, for that Pur" pose, by your Forefathers. Providence often " sends great Evils upon Nations, to rouse
 " them from a State of Indifference and Inacti" vity, and thereby to save them from utter " Destruction. If this has no Effect, a total " Dissolution and Ruin must follow: This has

A. D.
1756.

" always been the Case under every Government.
 " Angels as well as Men are Witnesses, ye ho" nourable Citizens, that ye are now publicly
 " told this important Truth: Angels and Men
 " will bear witness against you, if you do not " regard it. Long has it possessed your Minds,
 " that England has an invincible Fleet, that we " are entirely secure in these wooden Walls;
 " but the Experience of late Affairs has shewn,
 " that without some considerable Amendments,
 " you trust in that, which may fail you.

" Deceive not yourselves by thinking (though
 " he deserves your highest Resentment) that one
 " Man only is faulty; but remember, and let
 " it strike deep on your Minds, that a whole
 " Council of War approved of your Fleet's
 " flying before the Enemy, inferior in Number " and Strength:—Think not yourselves safe, be" cause you surpass in Number of Ships; for
 " if you are not equal in Courage, Skill, and " Conduct, you will soon become inferior in " Number, or your Number will be of no
 " Service. The Divine Providence has, per" haps, permitted the shameful Disgrace, which " has befallen us, to awaken you from a false
 " Security. Hear, O Citizens, the Divine
 " Voice calling to you from your Fleet fleeing
 " before the Enemy: A Sight never beheld
 " before! Awake, or you, and we all, are un" done.

" Our Wars of late Years having been chiefly
 " on the Continent, and our Fleets almost ex" cluded from any Share in them; it has been " a received Opinion, that we were possessed of " an immensurable Superiority over our dan" gerous Rival upon the Sea, which Nature has " bestowed upon this Island for our Security:
 " A Bulwark in which all our Safety consists.
 " But now the Time is come, that our despised " Rival in this Element defies us upon it; and " strives, as much as we ourselves have done,
 " to confine the Contest for Dominion and " Trade to a Sea-War. Which Side has shewn " superior Conduct, Skill and Courage, the An" nals of the Times will tell. But this is plainly " evident, that unless some considerable Refor" mation; unless some new Laws and Regula" tions are made; unless Posts of Command
 " are made the Rewards of Merit only; unless
 " an higher Sense of Honour, Love and Glory
 " be lighted up; unless an Improvement in " Knowledge be made the Study of our Navy,
 " we shall in a few Years become the Scorn of " our Enemies, and must live in perpetual Dread
 " of them.

" It is then your Duty, O Citizens! as the " Metropolis of the Kingdom, to have your " Eyes open to these plain Truths: To unite
 " in one Body (calling on the other chief Ci" ties, &c. in the Kingdom to do the same) and
 " address our Sovereign to inquire into the Causes " of our Miscarriages: To exert our naval and " natural Strength; and to displace and punish
 " bad Ministers and Officers."

On which Occasion the Citizens of London thought it to be their Duty to address his Majesty on the present Posture of Affairs; and on the 20th of August the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Common-Council, waited upon his Majesty

jeſty in a moſt ſolemn Manner with this Addrefs.

“ Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

“ We, your Maſteſty’s moſt dutiful and loyal “ Subjects, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and “ Commons of the City of London, in Common-“ Council aſſembled, humbly beg leave to ap“ proach your ſacred Perſon; and with Hearts
“ full of Gratitude for your Maſteſty’s paternal “ Care of the true Interests of your People,
“ to expreſs our Sorrow and Apprehenſions for
“ the Diſquietudes which our late Loſſes and “ Diſappointments muſt create in your Maſteſty’s “ Royal Mind.

“ The Loſs of the important Fortreſſes of St.
“ Philip, and the Iſland of Minorca (Poſſeſſions
“ of the utmoſt Conſequence to the Commerce “ and naval Strength of Great-Britain) without “ any Attempt by timely and effectual Succours
“ to prevent or defeat an Attack, after ſuch “ early Notice of the Enemy’s Intentions, and “ when your Maſteſty’s Navy was ſo evidently “ ſuperior to theirs, will, we fear, be an in“ delible Reproach on the Honour of the Britiſh “ Nation.

“ Nor can we help expreſſing our Appre-“ henſions for the great Danger of your Ma-“ jeſty’s Poſſeſſions in America, by the Miſ-“ managements and Delays which have attended
“ the Defence of thoſe invaluable Colonies, the “ Object of the preſent War, and the principal “ Source of the Wealth and Strength of theſe “ Kingdoms.

“ Permit us at the ſame Time, Royal Sir, to “ lament the Want of a conſtitutional and well “ regulated Militia, the moſt natural and certain “ Defence, under divine Providence, of your Ma-“ jeſty’s ſacred Perſon and Government againſt
“ all Invaders whatſoever, as thereby your Ma-“ jeſty’s Fleets and Armies may be more ſecurely “ employed abroad, to the Annoyance of your “ Maſteſty’s Enemies; your faithful and loyal Sub“ jects being ready and willing, whenever called “ upon by your Maſteſty, to ſhed the laſt Drop of “ their Blood in your Service.

“ As your Maſteſty’s Reign has ever been diſ-“ tinguished by a Love of Liberty and Juſtice,
“ we cannot doubt of your Maſteſty’s directing
“ the Authors of our late Loſſes and Diſappoint“ ments to be enquired into and puniſhed, that “ your Maſteſty’s known Intentions of proteſting
“ and defending your Subjects in their Rights
“ and Poſſeſſions, may be faithfully and vigo“ rously carried into Execution, and that the large “ Supplies ſo neceſſarily called for, and ſo chear“ fully granted, may be religiously applied to the “ Defence of theſe Kingdoms and Colonies, and “ their Commerce, and to the diſtreſſing of our in“ veterate and perfidious Enemies, as the only “ ſure Means of obtaining a laſting and honour“ able Peace.

“ And we do, with the utmoſt Sincerity of “ Heart, aſſure your Maſteſty that your loyal City
“ of London will, at all Times, readily and chear-
“ fully contribute to whatever may be neceſſary
“ for the Defence of your Maſteſty and your il“ luſtrious Family, and towards the Attainment
“ of theſe great and deſirable Ends.”

To which Addreſs his Maſteſty was pleaſed to make the following Answer.

“ I thank you for theſe Profeſſions of your Duty His Majeſty's Anſwer.
“ to me: My Concern for the Loſs of my Iſland of “ Minorca is great and ſincere. My utmoſt Care
“ and Diligence have been, and ſhall be exerted “ to maintain the Honour of the Nation, and the “ Commerce of my Subjects. The Events of “ War are uncertain: But nothing ſhall be want“ ing on my Part towards carrying it on with Vi“ gour, in order to a ſafe and honourable Peace,
“ and for recovering and ſecuring, by the Bleſ“ ſing of God, the Poſſeſſions and Rights of my “ Crown.

“ I will not fail to do Juſtice upon any Perſon,
“ who ſhall have been wanting in their Duty to “ Me and their Country, to enforce Obedience
“ and Diſcipline in my Fleets and Armies, and to “ ſupport the Authority and Reſpect due to my “ Government.”

The Diſcontent of the People cannot be better repreſented than in the Words of a political Paper, called The Monitor (No. 52.) “ Can a “ People (ſays that Writer) who boaſt of Free“ dom, and their Right to enquire into the Ac“ tions of their Governors, calmly paſs over,
“ and ſubmit to the iniquitous Impoſitions of a “ Miniſtry, ſhould their Meaſures threaten them “ with Slavery? And if we do not lay hold of the “ preſent Time to exert that Liberty, which is “ our Birth-right, let not Poſterity wonder
“ to ſee this Monarchy once more uſurped by a “ Council of State. It is not a mere Jealouſy, but “ the evident Miſrule of our Miniſtry, which “ alarms the Nation. It is not Diſaffection, but “ the Love of our Conſtitution, King and Coun“ try, that prompts us to appear in Oppoſition to “ bad Meaſures, and to ſeek after thoſe bad
“ Men, who have miſapplied the national Trea-“ ſure, and ſtruck a fatal Blow to our Liberties, “ by calling in foreign mercenary Troops. Let “ every Corporation, Borough, and County unite
“ for the common Safety in their Addreſſes to “ the Throne, and in their Inſtructions to their “ Representatives in Parliament. A Union of “ Parties is the Strength of the whole. An har“ monious Spirit is the one Thing needful, and “ will ſave both the Throne and the Nation from “ Diſgrace and Slavery. It is high Time to awake “ from our political Lethargy, and to revere the “ Men who endeavour to bring every gilded Slave
“ and titled Coward to condign Punishment.”

The Citizens did alſo inſtruct their Repreſen-tatives in Parliament, “ calling upon them moſt “ earneſtly to exert their utmoſt Ability towards “ procuring a ſtrict and impartial parliamentary “ Enquiry into the Cauſes of ſo many late natio“ nal Calamities. An almoſt total Neglect of “ our important Fortreſſes in the Mediterranean,
“ of ſuch ineſtimable Conſequence to the Trade
“ and Power of theſe Kingdoms; and the per“ mitted Abſence of their principal Officers, many “ Months after the Commencement of Hoſtilities;
“ the actual Loſs of Minorca, and apparent Dan“ ger of Gibraltar, are Circumſtances that filled “ them with Amazement and Concern. But “ when they reflected on the great Preparations
“ for an Embarkation of Troops and Artillery,
“ and the Equipment of a powerful Fleet pub“ lickly known to be carried on at Toulon, whoſe “ Neighbourhood to Minorca was ſufficiently “ alarming,

Inſtructions to the Representatives of the City of London.

A. D.
1756.

“ alarming, they could not impute those fatal “ Events to Neglect alone; and therefore con“ jured them to enquire, why a respectable Fleet
 “ was not immediately sent from hence? and why,
 “ at last, so small a Squadron was ordered upon
 “ this important Service, without any Frigate,
 “ Fire-Ship, Hospital-Ship, Transport, or Troops “ beyond their ordinary Complement? and this
 “ at a Time when the British naval Force was con“ fessedly superior to the Enemy's. As the “ Cruelties suffered and Losses sustained by their “ Fellow-Subjects in North-America, had long “ called for Redress; whilst the Mismanagements
 “ in the Attempts for their Support, and the un“ timely and unequal Succours sent to their Re“ lief, have only served to render the British Name “ contemptible; they therefore required them,
 “ to use their utmost Endeavours for detecting
 “ all those, who by Treachery or Misconduct “ have contributed to those great Distresses. They “ added their pressing Request, that they would “ use their earliest Endeavours to establish a well-“ regulated and constitutional Militia, as the most “ honourable Defence of the Crown, and the “ most consistent with the Rights of the People:
 “ And this, they said, they were more anxious “ to recommend to their particular Care and At“ tention, as every Apprehension of Danger has “ furnished a Reason for increasing the Number “ of regular Forces, and for the Introduction of “ foreign Mercenaries; the Expence of which is “ insupportable: trusting that they would pursue
 “ this Measure before they should consent to the “ Grant of Supplies; Experience having convin“ ced them, that their laudable Endeavours after“ wards might prove abortive. They hinted at “ some Violation of the Bill of Rights, by a Sus“ pension or Interruption of the ordinary Form of “ Justice in favour of the foreign Troops then
 “ in England; and desired that they would endea“ vour to bring to Justice the Advisers and In“ struments of such an Insult offered to our Laws.
 “ They intreated them, at all Events, to oppose “ the Continuance of any foreign Troops with“ in the Kingdom; a Circumstance, which would “ ever be considered as a Reproach to the Loyal“ ty, Courage and Ability of this Nation. They “ expressed their Hopes, that they would endea“ vour to limit the Number of Placemen and “ Pensioners, that had of late so remarkably in“ creased; and at a proper Season to restore trien“ nial Parliaments; as they conceived it to be the “ only Means to obtain a free Representative of “ the People. The immense Sums so chearfully “ paid, when almost every Measure reflects na“ tional Disgrace, they said, called upon them “ strictly to enquire into their Application; and “ they expressed their Dependence upon their “ Wisdom and Integrity to prevent all unnatural “ Connections on the Continent, in order to pre“ serve the Independency of these Kingdoms.”

This Example was speedily and strongly copied by the most respectable Parts of the Nation; all of them breathing a true patriotic and loyal Spirit.

The Borough of Southwark, after Assurances of Loyalty and Readiness to support his Majesty, &c. begged Permission “ to express their deep Sorrow “ and Amazement at the Loss of Minorca, at a “ Time when our naval Power so eminently ex“ ceeded that of our Enemies, and the Destina“ tion of theirs had been so long apparent. But,

 “ they added, steadfast in our Allegiance, unalte“ rable in our Loyalty, unanimous in the De“ fence of your Majesty's sacred Person and Go“ vernment, and animated with a just Sense of “ your Majesty's martial Virtues, if supported by “ a well-regulated Militia, we fear not the vain
 “ Threats of foreign Invaders, and most humbly “ beg Leave to assure your Majesty, with the “ greatest Sincerity, that we will chearfully de“ vote the utmost Exertion of our Abilities to “ crush all impious Attempts, either foreign or “ domestic, to subvert our present happy Con“ stitution; and also to support and invigorate “ those Measures, which your Majesty's great “ Wisdom shall dictate, in conducting the Scenes “ of this most necessary and important War, and
 “ for bringing to Justice those, however digni“ fied and exalted, who by their bad Counsel, or “ Misconduct, have occasioned this our present
 “ and ignoble distressful Situation.”

Admiral Byng and the other State Prisoners arrived at Portsmouth: Where the said Admiral was immediately put under Arrest, and escorted some Time after from thence to an Apartment in Greenwich Hospital; there to be kept close Prisoner to prepare for his Trial: Which was delayed by the Absence of many Evidences, in the Mediterranean, required both in his Favour and against him.

Admiral West and Lieutenant-General Fowke were ordered up to London: Where the Admiral was graciously received by his Majesty; but Lieutenant-General Fowke was ordered to take his Trial, for disobeying his Majesty's Orders transmitted to him from the Secretary of War, relating to the Embarkation of a Battalion of Troops to be sent by Mr. Byng to reinforce Fort St. Philip.

The Opposition in the City to the Measures of the Court or Ministry, about this Time, was so extraordinary, that they, to express their great Abhorrence to all their Partizans, objected to the Nomination of Mr. Alderman Dickenson, when put up at the next Election of a Lord Mayor; and it was with great Difficulty that they would be prevailed upon, in seven Days Poll, to return him, with Sir Charles Asgill, Knt. to the Court of Aldermen, only because Dickenson, as a Member of the House of Commons, had by ministerial Influence been prevailed upon to vote to address his Majesty for the Importation of lawless Mercenaries.

His Majesty, to convince his British Subjects that he could and would rely on their Courage and Loyalty, ordered the Hanoverian Troops to withdraw to their own Country; admitted the Expediency of a national Militia; and placed the Duke of Devonshire at the Head of the Treasury, the Right Hon. Henry Bilson Legge at the Head of the Exchequer, Earl Temple at the Head of the Admiralty, on the 16th of November: and on the 4th of December, (the third Day of the Sitting of the Parliament) his Majesty dismissed
 Mr. Fox, and delivered the Seals to the Right
 Hon. WILLIAM PITT, making him Secretary of State, and Prime Minister. An Appointment so agreeable

Admiral
Byng arrested.Admiral
West, &c.
go to London.Lieut. Gen.
Fowke to be Tried.Aldermen Dickenson rejected in Nomination for Lord Mayor.The Effects of the City's Address,
&c.Followed by all Parts of the Nation.Southwark Address.

agreeable to the Citizens of London, and all who wished well to their Country, that they who had been a Watch and Remora to the Proceedings of the Court under the preceding Administrations, united heartily with Mr. Pitt in every Measure to strengthen the Hands of Government. Thus Measures were changed to the Satisfaction of the People; and the King was restored to the Confidence of his Subjects. To this Event we are indebted for the Militia Bill, which is looked upon as a Barrier of the People's Liberty against Ministerial Power; and the Interest of the Nation became the Touchstone of every Measure proposed by the Administration. However, this Behaviour gave the Remnant of the old Ministry, connected with the Patriots in his Majesty's Service and Councils, great Opportunities to detract and prejudice the new Ministers in his Majesty's Esteem; and prevailed with him to dismiss them all.

Inactivity again took place in our Operations against the Enemy, and the Rage of Faction was every where consuming the Remains of Patriotism. The Court Party openly encouraged Bribery and Corruption; and did not stick at recommending and maintaining the Necessity of Corruption, Villainy and Deceit, in the Government of a State or Commonwealth.

C H A P. III.

A Fire at Limehouse. City gives 200l. to the Scriveners Company. The national Regard for, and Conduct of William Pitt and H. B. Legge. The City presents them with the Freedom of London. Deputy Hodges's Speech on that Occasion. The Freedom presented; and Mr. Pitt's Answer, and Mr. Legge's Answer. A Temporary Bridge of Wood erected, A. D. 1757. Petition for a Bill to explain the Act for the repairing of London Bridge; and for the Preservation of the Spawn of Fish in the Thames and Medway. The Bill for the Fishery. The Temporary Bridge burnt. Another erected. This attempted to be burnt also. Sir John Barnard resigns his Gown. Honours paid him by the City. An Address to his Majesty on the Conquest of Louisbourg. Fires. The Death of an aged Lion. City's Donation of 500l. to the Marine Society. Part of the Fines returned. Apothecaries allowed to employ Non-Freedmen, A. D. 1758.

Fire at Lime-
house.

THE Year 1757 began with a Fire, which on the 8th of January, about Eleven o'Clock at Night, broke out in Mr. Godfrey's Distil-House, at Limehouse-Hole, and destroyed the same and its Appendages, to a considerable Amount; but from its detached Situation, was got under and extinguished, without doing further Damage.

200l. granted to Scriven-ers.

A Court of Common-Council ordered 200l. to be paid to the Company of Scriveners, to enable them for the present to carry on their Prosecution against the Attornies in the City of London, for exercising the Art and Mystery of Scriveners within the said City, without being free of their Company.

Mr. Pitt and Mr. Legge, in whose Abilities and Integrity the Nation placed their Confidence, being dismissed from their Employments, and turned out of the Ministry; the Nation, to shew their Dislike to this Act of Power, and their Regard for those two Ministers in Disgrace, took every Method to convince those Gentlemen of the People's Approbation of their short Ministry. Every Corporation of Consequence hastened to shew their Sentiments on this Occasion, by addressing and presenting them with their respective Freedoms.

Pitt and Legge caressed by the City,
&c.

The City of London led the Way. On the 15th of April, 1757, Mr. Deputy Hodges rose up in the Common-Council, and delivered himself in this Manner:—"History, the Key of Knowledge, and Experience, the Touchstone of Truth, have convinced us that this Country owes the Preservation of its most excellent Constitution, to the frequent Fears, Jealousies and Apprehensions of the People. Wherever the Face of public Affairs has borne a disagreeable or dangerous Aspect; whenever the People have been injured by the Conduct of those, who have undertaken the Direction and Management of their public Affairs, they have always, by a vigorous and timely Opposition, impeded the impending Danger; and when they have been prosperous and flourishing, when those in Power have done, or attempted to do any material Service to their Country, the People have always been equally ready to acknowledge and reward. Instances of this kind are so frequent in our History, that it is needless to descend to Particulars, and it would be taking up your Time unnecessarily, to enter into a Defence of their Conduct. As Applications to punish, when necessary, are intended to deter; so Thanks and Rewards do conduce to excite and create Emulation; both absolutely necessary to support the principal Ends and Design of Government, the Happiness of Society: And in all Cases of this sort, it has been customary for this Corporation, as the Metropolis, to set the Example.

Motion to address
Mr. Pitt.

"Not long since, too late to be forgot, this Country was on the Brink of Ruin, brought so by the Mistakes or Designs of those, who had undertaken the Direction of national Affairs. On that melancholy Occasion this Court did present an Address of Condolance to the King: His Majesty received them with Candour; and, with the Affection of a Parent, regarded their Complaints. A Change of Men soon followed; and with them such a Change of Measures, as revived the sinking Spirits of the People, and raised a sinking Land. Our Country, Britannia, almost expiring, raised her dying Head, saw Virtue and Integrity (who had long deserted her) offer their Assistance in the Persons of Mr. Pitt and Mr. Legge; chearfully accepted their friendly Aid, at once forgot past Misfortunes, “ tho’ very great, and suffered them to be buried in future Hopes. The Consequence of which was, public Spirit and Oeconomy ventured once more to appear in our Assemblies; Commerce put on a new Garment; foreign Mercenaries retired from our Country, and the Sons of Freedom began to furbish their own Arms; Placemen, Pensioners, Jobbers and Agents, the corrupt Sons of bad Administration, hung down their Heads, snarled and retired into Corners, and every Aspect foretold better Times.

E

"tho'

“ But see the Uncertainty of human Events! we had no sooner pleased ourselves with the Ray of Prosperity, but Britannia’s Props are taken away, and every one fears the Danger of a Relapse, by having lost those, who so well administered and understood her Constitution.

“ The Appointing and Removal of Ministers, being the Act of sacred Power and sovereign Authority, Duty, as well as Discretion, requires that I should be silent on that Head: But as a Subject of Britain, I can lament the Loss of such Patriots and Protectors: As an Englishman, I have a Right to acknowledge and thank. We have all that Right: And Wisdom, as well as Policy, dictate the Exercise of it on the present Occasion.

“ I therefore beg leave to move, That the Freedom of this City be presented in Gold Boxes to the Right Honourable William Pitt, and the Right Honourable Henry Bilson Legge, Gentlemen who have so gloriously led the Van in our late excellent, but short Administration.

“ It has been the Custom of this Court, to give the Freedom of this City to those, who have eminently deserved, and we shall surely do it to these Gentlemen, who have served their Country. If we cannot appoint Men, or promote their Continuance, we can and ought to sanctify their Measures, when so evidently tending to the Good of our Country.

“ The Question that I shall propose, and which I hope will meet with the unanimous Concurrence of this Court, is, That the Freedom of this City be presented to the Right Honourable William Pitt, Esq; late one of his Majesty’s principal Secretaries of State; and to the Right Honourable Henry Bilson Legge, Esq; late Chancellor and Under Treasurer of his Majesty’s Exchequer; in Testimony of the grateful Sense, which the Citizens of London entertain of their loyal and disinterested Conduct, during their truly honourable, tho’ short Administration; their beginning a Scheme of public Oeconomy, and at the same Time lessening the Extent of Ministerial Influence, by the Reduction of the Number of useless Placemen; their noble Efforts to stem the general Torrent of Corruption, and to revive, by their Example, the almost extinguished Love of Virtue and our Country; their Zeal to promote a strict and impartial Enquiry into the real Causes of our great Losses and Disgrace in America and

“ the Mediterranean; and lastly, their vigilant Attention to support the Glory and Independence of Great-Britain, the Honour and true Interest of the Crown, and the just Rights and Liberties of the Subject, thereby most effectually securing the Affections of a free People to his Majesty and his illustrious Family.”

The Question being put, it passed in the Affirmative without a Debate.

Then it was moved, “ That a Copy of the Freedom of this City, with the above Resolution inserted therein, be delivered by the Chamberlain to each of those Gentlemen above-mentioned, in a Gold Box of the Value of 100 Guineas each; and that the said Resolution be fairly transcribed and signed by the Town-Clerk, and by him forthwith delivered to each of the said Gentlemen.”

The Question upon this Motion being put, it also passed in the Affirmative, without a Debate. Their Freedoms were afterwards finely written by Mr. Joseph Champion, each on a Sheet of Vellum, beautifully ornamented round the Margin by Mr. Charles Gardner, with the City Arms on the Top, the Lord Mayor’s on the right Side, and the Chamberlain’s on the left. The City Arms were neatly engraved on the Lid of each Box: So that the whole Expence of the Boxes, writing and ornamenting the Copies of the two Freedoms, amounted to the Sum of 251*l.* 13*s.*

When the Chamberlain addressed Mr. Pitt, and presented him with the honorary Freedom of London, he received that Token of their Respect and Approbation with great Politeness, and said, “ Give me leave, Sir, to request the Favour of you to present, in the most expressive Terms, to the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Common-Council of the City of London, the high Sense I have of the distinguished Honour they have been pleased to do me, in conferring on me the Freedom of their City.

Mr. Pitt’s Answer.

“ I have ever been zealously devoted to the Support of the Liberty, Trade and Prosperity of that great and respectable Body: And I am now proud and happy to have such Cause to add the Sentiments of truest Gratitude, for so generous a Mark of their Favour; and for so unmerited an Approbation of my insufficient Endeavours to carry into Effect the most gracious Intentions and paternal Care of his Majesty, for the Preservation and Happiness of his People.”

Neither was Henry Bilson Legge, Esq; less polite: “ Give me leave, Sir, (says he to the Chamberlain) to beg the Favour of you to return my sincerest Thanks to the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Common-Council of the City of London, for having admitted me to the Freedom of their Corporation.

Mr. Legge’s Answer.

“ So eminent a Mark of Distinction, derived from the most respectable City in Europe, and to which so few have ever received the Honour of Admission, cannot but fill my Heart with the highest Sense of Gratitude and Regard: And tho’ it far exceeds the bare Merit of meaning well, which is all I

“ have

“ have to plead, must prove a strong Incentive
 “ to those, whom his Majesty shall hereafter “ think fit to employ, to exert with equal Zeal “ much greater Abilities in the Service of their “ Country.

“ I hope every Part of my future Conduct, con“ sistently with that which I have hitherto en“ deavoured to hold, will shew my firm Attach“ ment to the Rights and Privileges of my Fel“ low-Subjects, as well as to his Majesty and his “ illustrious Family; upon whose Establishment
 “ the Maintenance of those Rights and Privileges
 “ does so essentially depend.”

Those two Gentlemen were afterwards invited to accept the Freedom of the Grocers Company.

Temporary Wooden Bridge erected.

The Committee appointed to repair London Bridge, having resolved to pull down all the Buildings and Erections, of what kind soever, upon that Bridge; and to lay the two middle Arches into one by taking away the Pier between them, and turning an entire new Arch to cover the whole Space; and also to add the Depth of the Houses pulled down to the Breadth of the Bridge, and to secure both Sides with a Parapet Wall breast-high, and Stone Balustrades rising a considerable Height above and from the Top of that Wall; it was necessary for the Performance of this Work to stop up the Passage over the said Bridge, till those Alterations, Improvements, and Repairs could be effected; and to find out some proper Communication over the Thames, with Southwark, for the Uses of Trade and Commerce in general, and for the Accommodation of Travellers. Wherefore it was resolved to build a Temporary Bridge of stout Oak Timbers, in a curve Form, from that Part of London Bridge to which the Water-Works extend, as far as to about the fourth Arch at the Surry End, computed to contain 2000*l.* worth of Timber, but agreed (as I am informed) to be taken back by the Builder, allowing him so much for Labour in the erecting and pulling it down, and (as I am also informed) One Penny a cube Foot for the Use of the Materials.

A Bill to explain the Act for repairing
 London
 Bridge.

The Committee appointed to repair London Bridge met with so many and great Inconveniencies in the Execution of the late Act granted for that Purpose, that it was resolved to go to Parliament, and to pray for fuller Powers; and accordingly the Common-Council, on the 25th of January 1758, presented a Petition to the House of Commons for an Amendment and Explanation of that Act, which was granted in these Words, and setting forth, That “ whereas by an “ Act passed in the Twenty-ninth Year of the “ Reign of his present Majesty, intituled, An Act to “ improve, widen, and enlarge the Passage over
 “ and through London Bridge; certain Tolls and “ Sums of Money were thereby reserved and made “ payable, for or upon Account of every Horse, “ Coach, Chariot, Hearse, Berlin, Landau, Calash, “ Chaise, or Chair, passing over the said Bridge,
 “ and also by the Owner or Owners of every Hoy, “ Barge, Vessel, Lighter, or other Craft, having “ any Goods on Board, except as therein is except“ ed, every Time such Hoy, Barge, Vessel, Ligh“ ter, or other Craft, should pass through any “ of the Arches of the said Bridge: And whereas,

Preamble, reciting Part of the Act 29
 Geo. II.

“ in Pursuance of the Powers given by the said “ Act, a considerable Progress hath been made in “ taking down the Houses on the said Bridge,
 “ and two of the Arches under the same, in order
 “ to lay them into one; and also a Temporary “ Wooden Bridge was at a great Expence erect“ ed to preserve a public Passage to and from the “ said City, which said Wooden Bridge hath been “ entirely consumed by Fire, and must necessarily “ be rebuilt, at a further considerable Expence:
 “ And whereas it hath been found by Experience “ that the said Tolls, or Sums of Money, will “ not be sufficient for effecting the Ends and Pur“ poses for which the same were granted and “ made payable: And whereas a Sum not ex“ ceeding Fifteen Thousand Pounds hath been “ granted to his Majesty this Session of Parlia“ ment, to be applied for rebuilding of London “ Bridge: May it therefore please your most Ex“ cellent Majesty, that it may be enacted; and
 “ be it enacted, That out of all or any of the Aids
 “ or Supplies granted to his Majesty for the Ser“ vice of the Year One Thousand Seven Hun“ dred and Fifty-eight, there may and shall be “ applied and paid into the Chamber of the City “ of London, the Sum of Fifteen Thousand Pounds, “ without Account, to be applied for rebuilding
 “ the said Bridge.

15,000*l.*
 to be paid out of the Supplies granted for the Year
 1758, into the Chamber of Lon- don.

“ Provided always, That all and every the said “ Tolls or Sums of Money made payable by the “ said recited Act, shall continue and be in force “ until the Twenty-fourth Day of June, One “ Thousand Seven Hundred and Fifty-eight,
 “ and no longer: And that all and every the Pow“ ers, Clauses, Provisoes, Matters, and Things, “ contained in the said former Act, except such “ as are hereby discontinued or altered, shall re“ main, continue, and be in full Force: And that “ this Act, and all the Powers and Authorities “ herein contained, shall commence from and af“ ter the Twenty-first Day of April, One Thou“ sand Seven Hundred and Fifty-eight.

Tolls granted by the former Act to continue to 24 June next, and no longer.

Continuation of such Powers,
 &c. of the former Act, as are not hereby discontinued or altered.

Commencement of this Act.

“ And for the more effectually preventing any “ Person or Persons from burning or destroying
 “ the said Bridge, be it enacted by the Authority “ aforesaid, That if any Person or Persons shall “ unlawfully, wilfully, and maliciously set Fire “ to, burn, blow up, pull down, or destroy the “ said Bridge, or any Part thereof, or any Works
 “ or Buildings which now do or shall belong “ thereto, or in any wise direct or procure the “ same to be done, every such Offender or Of“ fenders being lawfully convicted, shall be deem“ ed guilty of Felony, and shall suffer Death as a “ Felon, without Benefit of Clergy.

Penalty of wilfully damaging or destroying the Bridge, or any of the Works thereof.

“ And it is hereby further enacted, That this Act “ shall be deemed a Public Act.”

In the 9th and 10th of Queen Anne, an Act of Parliament passed for the better Preservation and Improvement of the Fishery within the River Thames, and for regulating and governing the Company of Fishermen of the said River: By which it was enacted, That after June 10, 1711, it should be lawful for the Court of Assistants of the Fishmongers Company, or the major Part of them, to make such By-laws for the Government of the Company, as they should think fit, so as the same be approved by the Lord Mayor
 and

Petition for the Preservation of the Spawm,
 &c. of Fish in the Thames.

and Aldermen of London, and likewise allowed and confirmed, as therein provided: And that every Year after the said 10th of June, there should be chosen, at the next Court of Lord Mayor and Aldermen, out of the six Wardens of the said Company, one fit Person to be Master of the Art of Fishery; and out of the twelve Assistants, six fit Persons to be Wardens of the said Art, whereof the Water-Bailiff of the City of London to be one; and out of the sixty of the Commonalty, thirty Persons to be Assistants of the said Company: which said Master, Wardens and Assistants, or any sixteen of them, together with three of the Wardens, were thereby constituted the Court of Assistants of the said Company, and ordained to meet on the first Thursday in every Month, in the Common-Hall, in order to form the Court, and to keep the same for regulating Abuses in the Fishery, &c. in which Art there were made many Regulations, which, in Theory, appeared very plausible: But, either on Account of the Difficulty or Trouble of reducing them to Practice; or perhaps they, who were intrusted with the Execution of the said Act, might find it their Interest not to carry it into Execution; this Law run into Disuse in the Year 1727, and so continued; and many Abuses having crept into the said Fishery, a new Law became necessary. For which Purpose the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons, in Common-Council assembled, did, on the 12th of February 1757, petition the House of Commons; in which having set forth, That the Office of Bailiff and Conservator of the River of Thames and Waters of Medway, had been, Time out of Mind, vested in the Mayor, and Commonalty, and Citizens of London, to be exercised by the Mayor, or his sufficient Deputies; and that the Company of Fishermen, established by an Act of Parliament that passed in the 9th of Queen Anne, had ceased to Act ever since the Year 1727; and that the Body of Fishermen employed on the said Rivers, were then under no Government or Regulation; in Consequence whereof frequent Abuses were committed, to the Prejudice of the Fishery within the said River, which Abuses could not be prevented or redressed without the Aid of Parliament; it was prayed, that Leave might be given to bring in a Bill for the more effectual Preservation and Improvement of the Fry and Spawn of Fish in the River Thames, and Waters of Medway, and for the better regulating the Fishery thereof, and for the more speedy punishing of Offenders. And accordingly a Bill was brought in and passed, whereby it is enacted, "That the Lord Mayor and Aldermen of London shall have full Power, and were required, on or before the 29th of September 1757, to make, and set down in Writing, such reasonable Rules and Ordinances for the governing and regulating all Persons who shall fish or drudge in the River Thames, and Waters of Medway (within the Jurisdiction of the Mayor of London, as Conservator of the said River and Waters) as common Fishermen or Drudgermen, or otherwise; and for declaring in what Manner they shall demean themselves in fishing, and with what Manner of Nets and Engines, and at what Times and

Bill for the Fishery.

"Seasons they shall use Fishing; and for ascertaining the Affize of the several Fish to be taken; and for the Preservation of the Spawn and Fry of Fish within the Jurisdiction aforesaid; and for obliging every common Fisherman, or Drudgerman, or other such Person, who fish with a Boat, &c. to have his Christian Name and Surname, and the Name of the Place where he dwelleth, painted in large and legible Characters, in some convenient Place of his Boat, &c. where any one may see and read the same, and for preventing the same from being changed or defaced; and to annex reasonable Penalties and Forfeitures for the Breach of such Rules, not exceeding 5*l.* for any one Offence, and from Time to Time to alter and amend such Rules, &c. and to make new ones, touching the Matters aforesaid; so as the same be allowed and approved of by the Lord Chancellor, Lord Keeper, or Commissioners of the Great Seal, the two Lords Chief Justices, and the Lord Chief Baron, or any two of them."

The City of London was greatly alarmed, between Ten and Eleven o'Clock at Night, on the eleventh Day of April, by a most astonishing and rapid Fire, which began in, and totally destroyed the Temporary Bridge, mentioned already, to maintain a Communication between London and Southwark, during the making of the Improvements and Reparations of London Bridge. This Fire seemed to communicate instantaneously from the two Ends, by a Train of Combustibles, with the Middle; which entirely prevented all Access to suppress it: Tho' the Lord Mayor came very early, and attended upon the Spot almost the whole Time of this surprizing Conflagration, and did all in the Power of Man to stop the Flames; it continued burning till next Day; for I saw the Drawbridge in Flames at Twelve o'Clock at Noon.

The Temporary
Bridge
burnt.

There being great Reason to suspect a Design in this melancholy Affair, a Reward of 200*l.* was offered for discovering the Incendiaries, and his Majesty's Pardon was promised by Proclamation, for any Person who would discover the Authors of this Piece of Villainy, except the identical Perpetrators thereof.

Which Suspicion was grounded not only from the Nature of the Fire, that could scarce be thought to run through such a large Erection instantaneously, without the Assistance of Art; but also on the Evidence of certain Watchmen, employed by Night on the Custom-House Quays, on the East Side of the said Bridge; and the Watch in the Steel-Yard, on the West Side; and on the following Affidavit.

The Deposition of Mary Wife of John Dennis, living in George-Alley, Thames-Street, taken the 14th Day of April 1758, before the Right Honourable Sir Charles Asgill, Knt. Lord Mayor of the City of London.

"This Deponent saith, That about Ten o'Clock at Night of the Eleventh of this Month, she this Deponent was in the Watch-house belonging to Dyer's-Hall, near London Bridge: That she, being looking over the Hatch of the said Watch-House, observed a Lanthorn in the Chapel Pier of London Bridge: "That

" That soon after she saw another Lanthorn in " the same Place: That soon losing Sight of " both Lanthorns, presently after she took No" tice of three Lanthorns being upon the said
 " Spot: That upon observing the first Lanthorn,
 " she supposed, there might be some Lighter or
 " Barge at the Bridge; but when she saw the se" cond Lanthorn, she perceived the Lights were " amongst the Wood-Work of the said Pier; and " that, when the three Lanthorns were there to" gether, she took Notice one of them was held " down, another was at a small Distance, and
 " the third was held up towards the upper Part " of the Wood-Work, which made her suppose
 " there were Workmen employed to rectify some " Defect in the Bridge.

" This Deponent further saith, That in a short " Space of Time, the Lanthorns being all gone,
 " she soon perceived, in the above-named Place,
 " a small Flame, which being damped for a short " Time, it then rose again; and that after the " Flames appearing damp the second Time, it
 " blazed out very much. Upon which she, this " Deponent, went to the next Wharf to give
 " Notice that London Bridge was on Fire."

This Deposition was confirmed by several Persons, who said that they likewise saw the Lan-thorns in the Manner set forth by this Depo-nent Mary Dennis.

The Communication thus accidentally cut off between London and Southwark, all Trade was stopt, except what could be carried on by Water between those Places: And also the Navigation under the Bridge was so interrupted by the vast Timbers that fell across the Arches, and the many heavy Stones which had tumbled down with the Timbers into the Current of the Tide, that the Trade above Bridge was greatly distressed. Wherefore a Common-Council was immediately summoned; by which it was ordered, That another Temporary Bridge of Wood also should be erected with the utmost Expedition. And such was the Diligence of the Builder employed, that he compleated this new Bridge, so as to be open for Carriages to pass over, in less Time than one Month.

A new Temporary
Bridge.

Attempt to set it on Fire.

Whatever might be the Motive, which Time has not yet been able to discover, this new Temporary Bridge was not quite compleated, before some evil-minded Person or Persons attempted to set it also on Fire. For Daniel Capel, who had been appointed the Inspector of London Bridge, being informed that the said Mary Den- niss above-mentioned, and John Scott, a Bridge
 Watchman, had seen Lights at an unseasonable Hour within the new Works, he had them personally before Mr. Alderman Cokayne: And they both and severally deposed, That they had about the 23d Day of August, and in the Night-Time, seen Lights among the Timbers of the new Temporary Bridge: Whereupon the said
Daniel Capel was ordered to view the Premises immediately, and to examine whether there were any Appearances of an Attempt to set the same on Fire; and to report the same to the Lord Mayor. Mr. Capel, with proper Attendants, made a very exact Survey of the Premises; and they reported, That they found the Appearance of an Attempt, in three several Places, to set the Timber of the new Bridge on Fire; and that the new Wood-Work in those Places was scorched quite black. And one of the Watchmen produced a Link, which had been lighted, and which he found amongst the new Works of the said Bridge.

Therefore, to prevent another Conflagration, it was ordered to place two Men well armed, every Night, in a Gallery erected from End to End of the Temporary Bridge, from Sun-set to Sun-rising, just under the Center of the Works, with Lamps lighted, and a Bell to alarm the Neighbourhood in Case of an Attack. Which Guard or Watch continued under the Direction of Mr. Capel, as Bridge Inspector, till the whole Temporary Bridge was taken down.

That worthy Magistrate and Representative of the City of London, in three septennial Parliaments, Sir John Barnard, who by his Conduct in Parliament, and in every other Trust and Office he held, gained the Esteem of the Nation in general, and of the Citizens of London in particular, so much, that many Years ago they had erected a Statue under the Piazza in the Royal-Exchange, to perpetuate his Memory, and in Gratitude for the many and signal Services he had done for this City; being now borne down with the Infirmities of Nature, which came upon him so fast, as to deprive him of that Activity, with which he had always acted in a public Capacity, desired Permission to resign his Gown, as Alderman of London. An Event that greatly afflicted the Citizens of this Metropolis; but could not be denied to one, who deserved every Favour in their Power to grant, and had served the City with Fidelity and Honour, with all his Might, till he could not serve them any longer. Therefore the Common-Council, on the 18th of July, agreed to grant Sir John's Request, and allowed him to resign his Gown as Alderman of Lon- don. And on the 25th of the same Month, it was unanimously agreed by the Common-Council, " That the Thanks of that Court
 " should be presented in Form to Sir John Bar- nard, Knt. for his honourable and disinter" ested Discharge of the high Offices he long " filled, as a Magistrate and Representative of " this great and opulent City." The Court of Aldermen did also separately vote their Thanks in the same Manner; with Orders for the Town-Clerk to transmit them both to Sir
John, with the usual Formalities.

Sir John
Barnard
resigns his Gown.

The spirited Conduct of the Ministry, and the Success of the British Arms, had now removed the Fears and Discontent of the People.
 At the News of the Conquest of Louisbourg, Cape Breton, and the Island of St. John, the Court regained the Confidence of the Nation.
 The City in particular, and its Environs, proclaimed their Satisfaction in the Measures pursued against France, by their public Rejoicings and Illuminations; and more emphatically by an Address, which the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Common-Council presented to his Majesty on that glorious Event, in these Words:

Address
upon the taking of Louis-bourg.

" Most Gracious Sovereign,

" Amidst the joyful Acclamations of your " faithful People, permit us, your Majesty's

F

" most

"most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council assembled, humbly beg leave to congratulate your Majesty on the Success of your Arms in the Conquest of the important Fortrefs of Louifbourg, the Reduction of the Islands of Cape Breton and St. John, and the Blow there given to a considerable Part of the French Navy.

"An Event so truly glorious to your Majesty, so important to the Colonies, Trade and Navigation of Great-Britain, and so fatal to the commercial Views and naval Power of France, affords a reasonable Prospect of the Recovery of all our Rights and Possessions in America, so unjustly invaded, and in a great Measure answers the Hopes we had formed, when we beheld the French Power weakened on the Coast of Africa, their Ships destroyed in their Ports at Home, and the Terror thereby spread over all their Coasts.

"May these valuable Acquisitions, so gloriously obtained, ever continue a Part of the British Empire; as an effectual Check to the Perfidy and Ambition of a Nation, whose repeated Insults and Usurpations obliged your Majesty to enter into this just and necessary War: And may these Instances of the Wisdom of your Majesty's Councils, of the Conduct and Resolution of your Commanders, and of the Intrepidity of your Fleets and Armies, convince the World of the innate Strength and Resources of your Kingdoms, and dispose your Majesty's Enemies to yield to a safe and honourable Peace.

"In all Events we shall most chearfully contribute, to the utmost of our Power, towards supporting your Majesty in the vigorous Prosecution of Measures so nobly designed, and so wisely directed. And it shall be our most fervent Prayer, that your Majesty may long, very long, enjoy the Fruits of your auspicious Government, in Returns of Loyalty and Affection from a grateful People: And that the Crown of these Realms may flourish with equal Lustre, on the Heads of your most august Descendants, to the latest Posterity."

To which Address his Majesty was pleased to return this most gracious Answer:

"I receive this dutiful and loyal Address, as a fresh Mark of your constant Affection to me and my Government; and I return you my hearty Thanks for it. The steady Affections of my People, united in a hearty Zeal for the Honour of my Crown, will, I doubt not, enable me to carry on with Vigour and Success, a War which was necessarily undertaken to defend the Religion, Liberties and valuable Possessions of my Kingdoms, against the unjust Attempts of our Enemies. The City of London may always depend upon my Protection and Favour, and upon my constant Care for the Extent of their Trade and Navigation."

On the 10th of September, 1758, there happened a great Fire at Gun-Dock, in Wapping; by which twenty Houses were consumed, and other considerable Damage was done. And on the 13th there was another Fire in Limehouse, which was got under with the Loss of four Houses only.

In the Course of this Year, we find an extraordinary Proof of the Longevity of a Lion, which died on the 13th of November in the Tower of London, aged 68 Years; which had been presented, by one of the States of Barbary, to K. James II.

The Establishment of the Marine Society, by voluntary Contributions of the Citizens and Merchants of London, for the better and more effectual manning of his Majesty's Navy with able-bodied Men and Boys, to be put aboard Ships of War at the Expence of the said Society, appeared in such an advantageous Light for the Service of the Public, that the Court of Common-Council, which sat on the 12th of December, ordered 500*l.* to be given out of the Chamber of the City, towards the Support of the said Society.

It having been properly represented to the said Court of Common-Council, that Mr. Bray and Mr. Roberts, who had been fined 600*l.* each, to be excused serving the Office of Sheriff, had been misled in their Conduct, and never intended to persist in Contempt of the Common-Hall, by which they had inadvertently incurred the Penalty of 200*l.* each; and praying that the said Court would take their Case into Consideration, and admit them to the common Fine for Sheriff; this Court accordingly ordered the Chamberlain to return 200*l.* to each of the said Gentlemen Petitioners, out of the Fine they had paid of 600*l.* each.

Then they took into Consideration the Petition of the Apothecaries residing within the Freedom of the City of London, setting forth the Scarcity of Journeymen in their Profession and Trade; and that it was impossible for them to carry on their Business and Practice, without Permission and the Licence of that Court to employ Journeymen who had not taken up the Freedom of the City of London; which Scarcity they attributed to the great Numbers of free Apothecaries, that had gone to serve on board his Majesty's Fleets, in the Service of their King and Country. And it was resolved, That the Apothecaries of, and in the City of London, might, and were permitted to employ Foreigners, as Journeymen, to the End of the War, and for twelve Months after.

His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, the eldest Son of Frederick Prince of Wales, deceased, who was the eldest Son of K. George II. being arrived at the Age of Twenty-one Years, and in whom the Nation, and the City of London in particular, conceived great Hopes of finding those Virtues and Abilities for which they admired and loved his Father; the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Common-Council, addressed his Majesty on the 8th Day of June, 1759, in this Form:

"May it please your Majesty,

"We, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council assembled, humbly beg Leave to congratulate your Majesty on the Satisfaction

"of

Death of a Lion.

500*l.* given to the Marine Society.

Part of the Sheriffs Fines returned.

Apothecaries allowed to employ Non-Freemen.

City Address to his Majesty on the Prince of Wales's coming of Age.

City Address on the Prince of Wales's coming of Age.

His Majesty's Answer.

Fires in Wapping and Limehouse.

A. D. 1759. " of seeing your Royal Grandson, the Prince of " Wales, that great Object of your Majesty's pa" ternal Care and Solitude, arrived at his Age
" of Twenty-one Years, mature in all the Ac" complishments that can add Lustre to his high
" Dignity, or command the Love and Venera-
" tion of Mankind.

" Long may his Royal Highness enjoy the Be" nefit of your Majesty's salutary Precepts and " Example, and continue to make your Majesty
" the amplest Returns of filial Duty and Respect.
" May his Royal Highness live to emulate the Vir" tues that have endeared your Majesty's sacred " Person and Government to a free People; and " may there never be wanting one of your Ma" jesty's illustrious Race to perpetuate the Bles" sings we derive from your auspicious Reign.

" Permit us, most gracious Sovereign, to em" brace this Opportunity of assuring your Ma" jesty, that no hostile Threats can intimidate a " People animated by the Love of Liberty, and " inspired with a Sense of Duty and Affection to " your Majesty; who, confiding in the Divine " Providence, and the experienced Wisdom and " Vigour of your Majesty's Councils, are re" solved to employ their utmost Efforts towards
" enabling your Majesty to repel the Insults,
" and defeat the Attempts of the ancient Ene" mies of your Majesty's Crown and Kingdom."

To which Address his Majesty was pleased to return this most gracious Answer:

King's
Answer.

" The cordial Expressions of your constant
" Attachment to my Person and Family, are " very agreeable to me; and I return you my " hearty Thanks for this fresh Mark of your " Zeal and Affection.

" I have the firmest Confidence in the Fidelity
" and Spirit of my People; and I trust I shall " be well enabled, under the Divine Providence,
" to defeat and frustrate the most daring At" tempts of the ancient Enemy of my Crown."

Next Day they also waited on the Prince of Wales, at Saville-House, and addressed him with this Speech by the Recorder:

" May it please your Royal Highness,

Address to the Prince of Wales.

" Your Royal Highness having happily at" tained your Age of Twenty-one Years, the " Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of " the City of London, in Common-Council as" sembled, humbly beg leave to compliment
" your Royal Highness upon an Event so pleasing " to the King, and so very interesting to his " Majesty's faithful Subjects.

" But permit us, Sir, at the same Time, with" out offending the Modesty which so eminently " distinguishes and adorns your Character, to " express the yet greater Pleasure we enjoy in " beholding your Royal Highness possessed of " every Virtue and Accomplishment which we " had Reason to presage from the Excellence of " your Genius, and the Goodness of your Dis" position.

" When we consider your Royal Highness's
" exemplary Piety, your dutiful Deportment
" towards the King, your respectful Affection
" for your august Mother, your early Know" ledge of the Constitution and true Interests of " these Kingdoms, and your Solitude for the " Happiness and Prosperity of the People, we

" form the most agreeable Prospects, and reflect " with Gratitude upon the Wisdom and Atten" tion that have been employed to cultivate these
" noble Sentiments in your princely Breast.

" May they more and more endear your Royal " Highness to his Majesty, and hereafter be ex" erted in a higher Sphere in preserving the re" ligious and civil Rights, happily entrusted to " the Protection of his Majesty's illustrious
" House."

To which his Royal Highness was pleased to return the following Answer:

" My Lord and Gentlemen,

" I return you my hearty Thanks for this " Mark of your Duty to the King, and At" tention to me. You may always depend upon " my warmest Wishes for the Prosperity of this " great City, and for whatever can in the least " promote the Trade and Manufactures of my " native Country."

Prince of Wales's
Answer.

Then they proceeded to Leicester-House, where the Recorder, in their Name, addressed her Royal Highness the Princess Dowager of Wales:

" May it please your Royal Highness,

" The Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Com" mons of the City of London, in Common-" Council assembled, warmed with the most du" tiful Affection for his Majesty, and with Gra" titude to your Royal Highness for the early
" and repeated Marks of your Regard, humbly
" beg leave to compliment your Royal High" ness upon the Happiness of seeing your illuf-" trious Son, the Prince of Wales, arrived at the " Age of Twenty-one Years, endowed with " every noble Quality which maternal Fondness
" could hope, or a free People wish, in the " Heir apparent to the Crown.

Address to the Princess Dowager.

" These, Madam, are the Fruits, these the " glorious Rewards of your Royal Highness's
" pious Instructions and Example.

" By having thus laid the Foundation of our " future Happiness and Prosperity, your Royal " Highness has secured the Blessings of the pre" sent Age, and a Name of distinguished Ho" nour in the future Annals of Great-Britain."

To whom her Royal Highness was pleased to return the following Answer:

" My Lord and Gentlemen,

" I return you many Thanks for your obliging
" Compliment; my utmost Ambition has ever " been to see my Son answer the Expectation of " his Country; if I have succeeded in that, all
" my Wishes are completed."

Princess's
Answer.

The Committee appointed to carry the Act of Parliament into Execution, for building a Bridge cross the River Thames from Black-Friars, delivered to the Court of Common-Council, on the 28th of June, a Representation in Writing, under the Hands of six Aldermen and twenty Commoners, which was in Substance as follows:

Proceedings of the Committee for Black-Friars
Bridge.

" 1. That it is the Opinion of this Committee,
" that the intended Bridge should be of Stone.

" 2. That from the Evidence given to Parlia" ment, upon the Application for an Act to build
" the said Bridge, it is the Opinion of this Com" mittee, that an elegant, substantial, and con" venient Stone Bridge may be erected for a Sum
" not exceeding 120,000*l*.

" 3. That,

A. D.
1759.

" 3. That, from Estimates laid before us, it is the Opinion of this Committee, that proper Avenues to the said Bridge may be purchased and compleated for a Sum not exceeding 24,000*l*.

" 4. That it is the Opinion of this Committee, that a Sum not exceeding 144,000*l*. should be forthwith contracted for, and raised within the Space of eight Years, by such Installments as this Committee shall think proper in each Year, not exceeding 30,000*l*. in any one Year: the Money so to be contracted for to be paid into the Chamber of London.

" 5. That it is the Opinion of this Committee, that the Persons contracting to advance the said Money should be entitled to an Interest of 4*l*. per Cent. per Annum, by Way of Annuities, to be computed from the Time of the first Payment in each Year, upon the whole Sum by them respectively advanced within the Year; but should incur such Forfeiture as this Committee shall see fit, in Case of Neglect to make good any of the stipulated Payments: the said Annuities to be paid half-yearly by the Chamberlain, but to be redeemable at the Expiration of the first ten Years, upon six Months Notice, and Payment of the Money advanced.

" 6. That it is the Opinion of this Committee, that the Chamberlain should be authorized and directed to affix this City's Seal to such Instruments as the Committee shall think fit to give, pursuant to the said Act, for securing the Payment of the said Annuities, redeemable as aforesaid, and which shall be transacted and paid for in Manner before-mentioned.

" 7. That it is the Opinion of this Committee, that the Chamberlain should be authorized and directed to pay and apply the Monies so to be paid in, for the Purposes of the said Act, in such a Manner as this Committee shall, from Time to Time, think fit and order.

" That it is the Opinion of this Committee, that the Chamberlain should be authorized and directed to lay out and apply the Sheriffs Fines, appropriated, by Order of the Court of Common-Council, for the Purposes of the said Act, either in the public Funds, in order to carry Interest, or to Payment of the said Annuities, or otherwise, as this Committee shall, from Time to Time, think fit and order. And it was ordered, That the Court of Common-Council be moved pursuant to the five last Resolutions."

Accordingly another Court of Common-Council was appointed for the 19th, at which were upwards of 200 Members; and the said Affairs of the New Bridge were considered and strongly debated. They divided three several Times; and there being, on each Division, a Majority of 40 and upwards, they were agreed to.

Guildhall
Subscription for Landmen.

The Enemy pressing with their utmost Power, and continual Recruits being wanted to supply the great Draughts of Men necessary to be made from England to defeat their Designs in Germany, the Lord Mayor called a Common-Council, and acquainted them, that he had called that Court to deliberate on a Proposition of great Consequence to the Service of their King and Country, and hoped that the Result would be such as should do Honour to the City, by proving the Sincerity of their Professions to his Majesty. Whereupon the Court resolved and ordered, among other Considerations, That voluntary Subscriptions should be received in the Chamber of London, to be appropriated as Bounty-Money to such Persons as shall enter into his Majesty's Service, and that the City subscribe 1000*l*. for that Purpose; and a Committee of 12 Aldermen and 24 Commoners was appointed to attend at Guildhall, to dispose of the said Bounty-Money to Persons applying for the same; and that one Alderman and two Commoners be a Quorum sufficient to transact Business: And, as a further Encouragement, every Person so entering shall be intitled to the Freedom of this City at the Expiration of three Years, or sooner, if the War should end: And Sir James Hodges, the Town-Clerk, was ordered by the Court to wait upon the Right Honourable Mr. Pitt with the said Resolutions, and desire him to inform his Majesty of the same. Some of the Committee were ordered to wait upon Lord Ligonier, to desire him to send proper Officers to Guildhall, to receive such Persons as shall be enlisted.

The Town-Clerk having, according to the above Order, waited upon the Right Honourable Mr. Secretary Pitt, that Gentleman, the next Day, sent the following Letter:

To the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor of the City of London.

Whitehall, Aug. 15, 1759.

" My Lord,

" Having, in Consequence of the Desire of the Court of Common-Council, had the Honour to lay before the King their Resolutions of Yesterday, for offering certain Bounties and Encouragements to such able-bodied Men as shall enlist themselves at the Guildhall of London, to serve in his Majesty's Land Forces, upon the Terms contained in his Majesty's Order in Council; I am commanded by the King to acquaint your Lordship, (of which you will be pleased to make the proper Communication) that his Majesty thanks the City of London for this fresh Testimony of their Zeal and Affection for his Royal Person and Government. I am further commanded by the King to express his Majesty's most entire Satisfaction in this signal Proof of the unshaken Resolution of the City of London to support a just and necessary War, undertaken in Defence of the Rights and Honour of his Crown, and for the Security of the Colonies, and of the Trade and Navigation of Great-Britain.

Mr. Pitt's
Letter to the Lord-
Mayor.

" I am, with great Truth and Respect,

" My Lord,

" Your Lordship's most obedient

" humble Servant,

W. PITT."

A Subscription was opened immediately at Guildhall, and was greatly encouraged and enabled to carry this laudable Scheme effectually into Execution. For, by giving five Guineas to each Person who should voluntarily offer himself for his Majesty's Service, and a Promise that he should be admitted a Freeman of London without Fee or Reward, upon producing a Testimonial of his good Behaviour from a General neral Officer, great Numbers immediately offered and enlisted *.

Westminster Subscription.

This Scheme was presently adopted by the Inhabitants of the City of Westminster; when, on the 19th of September, a great Number of Nobility, Gentry, &c. met at the St. Alban's Tavern, subscribed 4726*l.* immediately, and appointed a Committee to carry the said Subscription, to pay Bounties to Persons, who should enlist into the Land-service, into effectual Execution.

Rejoicings on the taking of Quebec.

The War went on briskly: Success and Victory blessed our Arms: And, amongst other Conquests, this Year records the Reduction of Quebec. On the Receipt of this News (on the 17th of October) never appeared greater Joy in this Metropolis. The Guns fired in the Park and at the Tower; Bonfires, Illuminations, Ringing of Bells, &c. and every Thing to denote the Pleasure conceived thereat, were invented and exhibited: And, on the 20th, the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor, the Aldermen, and Common-Council-Men, being introduced by the Right Honourable Mr. Secretary Pitt, congratulated his Majesty, by their Recorder, with the following Address:

"May it please your Majesty,

City Address on taking Quebec.

"To accept the most humble but warmest Congratulations of your Majesty's dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council assembled, upon the rapid and uninterrupted Series of Victories and Successes which, under the divine Blessing, have attended your Majesty's Arms by Sea and Land, within the Compass of this distinguished and ever-memorable Year.

"The Reduction of Fort du Quesne on the Ohio; of the Island of Goree in Africa; and of Guadaloupe, with its Dependencies, in the West-Indies; the Repulse and Defeat of the whole French Army, by a Handful of Infantry, in the Plains of Minden; the taking of Niagara, Ticonderoga, and Crown-Point; the naval Victory off Cape Lagos; the Advantages gained over the French Nation in the East-Indies; and, above all, the Conquest of Quebec (the Capital of the French Empire in North-America) in a Manner so glorious to your Majesty's Arms, against every Advantage of Situation and superior Numbers; are such Events as will for ever render your Majesty's auspicious Reign the favourite Æra in the History of Great-Britain.

"But, whilst we reflect with Surprise and Gratitude upon this last and most important Conquest, permit us, gracious Sovereign, to express our great Regard for the immense (though almost only) Loss which has attended it, in the Death of that gallant General, whose Abilities formed, whose Courage attempted, and whose Conduct happily effected, the glorious Enterprize in which he fell, leaving to future Times an heroic Example of military Skill, Discipline, and Fortitude.

"Measures of such national Concern, so invariably pursued, and Acquisitions of so much "Consequence to the Power and Trade of Great-Britain, are the noblest Proofs of your Majesty's paternal Affection and Regard for the true Interest of your Kingdoms, and reflect Honour upon those whom your Majesty has been pleased to admit into your Council, or to intrust with the Conduct of your Fleets and Armies.

"These will ever command the Lives and Fortunes of a free and grateful People, in Defence of your Majesty's sacred Person and Royal Family, against the Attempts of all your Enemies. And we humbly trust that Almighty God will bless your Majesty's salutary Intentions with a Continuation of Success, and thereby, in Time, lead to a safe and honourable Peace.

To which Address his Majesty was pleased to return this most gracious Answer:

"I receive, with particular Satisfaction, this most dutiful and loyal Address, as an additional Mark of your Affection to my Person, and of your signal Zeal for the Honour of my Government in this just and necessary War. Our Successes are, under the Blessing of God, the natural and happy Fruit of Union amongst my People, and of Ability and Valour in my Fleets and Armies. I have an entire Confidence in this truly national Spirit; and the City of London may depend on my tender Care for the Rights, Trade, Colonies, and Navigation of my faithful Subjects."

King's Answer.

On the 10th of November, early in the Morning, a Fire began in Hamlin's Coffee-House, in Sweeting's-Alley, close to the East Side of the Royal-Exchange; but the Wind setting Westerly, the Flames were diverted from that noble Pile of Building, and spreading into Cornhill, made their Way into Freeman's-Court; out of which, at that Time barred up by a House over its narrow Entrance, the Inhabitants were forced to seek for a Retreat backwards, through St. Bennet Fink's Church-Yard. By which Fire thirteen capital Houses were totally destroyed, and many more, with St. Bennet Fink's Church, were much damaged.

Fire in Sweeting's-Alley.

But this was insignificant, compared with the Fire which on the 23d of December broke out at a Cabinet-Maker's, about Four in the Morning, in King-Street, Covent-Garden; which with a Southerly Wind made its Way with great Rapidity through Rose-Street, &c. into Long-Acre, and not only consumed thirty Houses and upwards, and damaged many more, but burnt and buried many Persons within the Ruins.

Fire in King-Street and Rose-Street.

C H A P. IV. †

Resolutions to improve the City and Suburbs of London. Petition to Parliament for the same. Act passed for that Purpose. Directions for building of Houses; for mending of Pavements, &c. Fires at Shadwell-Dock, and in Thames-Street. A great Storm. The Execution of Earl Ferrers. First Pile of Black-Friars Bridge. A Committee to widen, &c. the Streets of London. Aldgate, Cripplegate, and Ludgate sold.

G

The

* It appears by an Account published in June, 1760, that this Subscription amounted to 7039*l.* 7*s.* and that with this Money were enlisted 1235 Men for his Majesty's Land Service.

† See The City Addresses to the King, &c. on the Prince of Wales's coming of Age; and the Proceedings of the Committee for Black-Friars Bridge; the Guildhall Subscription for Landmen; Mr. Pitt's Letter to the Lord Mayor in the Name of his Majesty; the Westminster Subscription; Rejoicings and Address on taking Quebec; and the Fire in Sweeting's-Alley, and Rose-Street, Long-Acre, on p. 22, 23, 24, 25.

The Case of Mr. Hart. Report of the Plague in St. Thomas's Hospital. Order about mad Dogs. A Hurricane. Address on the Conquest of Canada. His Majesty's Answer. Death and Character of King George II. A. D. 1760.

Resolutions to improve the City and Suburbs of London.

IT being observed that the City of London suffered much in its Population and Trade, by the great Improvements and extensive Buildings and airy Streets carrying on, and made in the City and Liberties of Westminster; and foreseeing that, when the New Bridge at Black-Friars should be finished, there would be, perhaps, a new Town arise with great Advantage in commodious Buildings; it was thought necessary to enter upon some Measures to obviate the Danger the City was in, by tempting the Merchants as well as Gentry to desert the rough, confined and dangerous narrow Streets and Passages in London. This had been remonstrated and frequently debated in the Common-Council, but nothing could be determined, on account of the Dissention that divided that Court amongst the Advocates for a New Bridge, and the Reparation of London Bridge. However, as this Misunderstanding subsided, the ruling Part of the City were at last convinced, that unless proper Measures should be taken to make the City of London more airy and commodious for the mercantile and genteel Part of the City, before Black-Friars Bridge should be finished, they might be invited into the new Buildings on the Surry Side, to the inevitable Ruin of the Estates in the City of London. Therefore the Common-Council, at their first Meeting, on January 22, 1760, came to a Resolution to apply to Parliament for a Bill to empower the City to make such Alterations, in regard to the Avenues leading into it, as should be thought necessary, and might tend to its Advantage. For which Purpose a Petition was presented to the House of Commons, setting forth, "That several Streets, "and Lanes and Passages within the City of London, and the Liberties thereof, are too narrow "and incommodious for the Passing and Repassing of Foot Passengers, Coaches, Carts, and "other Carriages, to the Prejudice and Inconvenience of the Owners and Inhabitants of Houses "in and near the same, and to the great Hindrance of Business, Trade, and Commerce: "And that such Defects might be remedied, and "several new Streets and Ways be made within "the said City and Liberties, to the great Ease, "Safety and Convenience of Passengers, and Advantage of the Public in general, in Case the "Mayor, Aldermen and Commons of the said "City were enabled to widen and enlarge the said "narrow Streets, Lanes, and Passages, and to "open and lay out such new Streets and Ways, "and for those Purposes to purchase the several "Houses, Buildings and Ground, which may "be necessary for that End."

Petition.

Act of Parliament.

This Request was immediately granted, and a Bill was ordered to be brought in, and passed into a Law: Whereby it is enacted, "That the "Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons, in "Common-Council assembled, shall have Power "to widen and make more convenient the Streets and "Passages mentioned in the first Schedule (here-

"unto annexed) and to design, make, open and "lay out such new Streets, Ways and Passages, "as mentioned and described in the second Schedule (hereunto also annexed:) And that, in "order thereto, they may treat and agree with "the Owners and Occupiers of, and all other "Persons interested in such Houses, Buildings, "and Estates as shall be necessary for that Purpose, for the Purchase thereof: And, upon "Payment of the Purchase-Money, to cause such "Houses and Buildings to be pulled down, and "such Grounds to be laid into new Streets, Ways "and Passages, or to widen and enlarge, or improve the same. And that, in Case the Owners of such Houses, &c. shall refuse to treat "or agree in the Premises, or shall be disabled "from treating, or cannot evince a clear Title, "then, and in every such Case, a Jury shall be "summoned by the Sheriff, and Witnesses shall "be also summoned and examined upon Oath, "to assess the Damage and Value of the Premises "upon Oath likewise; whose Verdict and Judgment given thereupon (previous Notice having been first given to the Parties interested) "shall be binding and conclusive to all Parties, "and written on Parchment, and signed by the "Town-Clerk: And that upon Payment of the "Purchase-Money, the Parties shall execute legal "Conveyance of the said Land, Tenements, &c. "But, in Case they cannot make a clear Title, or "will not execute a legal Conveyance, or cannot "be found, or a Dispute ariseth concerning a "Right to the Premises, that the Money shall "then be paid into the Bank for the Use of the "Parties, and a Receipt taken for the same. All "which said Verdicts, Judgments, Orders, and "other Proceedings of the Court of Lord Mayor, "Aldermen, and Juries, and Receipts of the Cashiers of the Bank, shall be entered in proper "Books, and kept among the Records of the said "Court, as good Evidence of the Facts. And "that the Right and Property of the said Purchases shall be vested in the Corporation absolutely. Provided always, That the Purchase-Money, upon Petition of the Parties interested, "may be placed out in the public Funds, or other "Government Security, in the Name of the Chamberlain, Town-Clerk and Comptroller, in "Trust, to pay the Interest and Dividends to the "said Parties; but that they shall not be accountable for the Money placed out as aforesaid. And "further, where a Feme Covert is seized in Fee Simple, or in Tail, or for Life, in any of the "Premises, to her sole and separate Use; the "Purchase-Money is to be paid to her Attorney, "in Trust, to be re-invested in other Lands, to "be settled to the same Use. With a Clause enacting, That the Money payable for such Purchases, and belonging to corporate Bodies, &c. "shall be paid to them, or to their Order, in Trust, "to be re-invested in other Lands, and to be settled to the same Uses. And that all Bargains "and Sales in pursuance of this Act, and inrolled "in the Hustings, shall be deemed good and valid in Law. And it was further enacted, That "Tenants at Will, or Lessees for a Year, &c. "shall deliver up immediate Possession of the Premises, upon Payment or Tender of six Months "Rent, or 3 Year's Notice to quit the same: "And

“ And that in Case a Mortgagee, having tendered to him the Principal and the Interest due, with Half a Year's extra Interest, shall refuse to assign over the Mortgage immediately, or otherwise upon six Months Notice given, and Payment of the Principal and Interest which shall then be due, the Interest shall cease from that Time; and upon Payment of the Principal and Interest into the Bank, at the End of six Months from such Notice, for the Use of such Mortgagee, and the Cashiers Receipt taken for the same, the Right of such Mortgagee shall be vested in the City. Provided, where the Proprietors shall be applied to for Sale and Conveyance of any Premises lett by them, and shall signify their Inclination to treat for the whole of the Premises, they shall not be bound to sell a Part.

“ And by the said Act it is enacted, That the said Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons, or any Person in whom any House or Ground shall be vested by virtue of this Act, may lett or sell such Parts of any Premises, &c. as shall not be necessary for the opening or widening the Streets, &c. And that the said Mayor, &c. shall appoint a Committee, to which they shall delegate such Power for carrying the Purposes of this Act into Execution, as they shall think fit or proper; with this Exception, that no Person concerned in Building, or dealing in any Materials for Building, shall be capable of acting as a Member thereof: Neither shall any Person be eligible or capable of acting as a Member of such Committee, during such Time as he shall have or execute any Office, or Place of Profit, by or under this Act; or shall hold any Place or Employment under the said City, or during such Time as he shall have any Share or Interest in any Contract or Agreement for effecting the Purposes aforesaid.

“ And by the said Act, the Tythe, &c. charged on any Messuages to be pulled down and laid into the Street, is to be deducted out of the Purchase-Money, and paid into the Chamber of London; and is to be thereafter chargeable, with all Arrears thereof, on the City Lands, and paid by the Chamberlain to the respective Incumbents, free of all Taxes and Deductions.

“ And it is thereby further enacted, That so much of the Act of the 11 Geo. I. (intituled An Act for the better regulating of Buildings, and to prevent Mischiefs that may happen by Fire, within the weekly Bills of Mortality, and other Places therein-mentioned) as relates to Party-walls, shall extend to all Cases, where it shall be necessary to pull down and rebuild any Party-wall within the City, or the Liberties thereof. And that where a Majority of the Workmen shall refuse to sign a Certificate pursuant to the said Act, the Court of Mayor and Aldermen of the said City, on Application to them, may appoint another Workman to be added to the Number; and the Majority certifying thereupon such Wall to be bad, it shall be pulled down and rebuilt; subject nevertheless to the Determination of the Justices upon an Appeal.

“ And it is further enacted, That all Party-walls built within this City, and the Liberties thereof, shall be two Bricks and a Half thick in the Cellar, and two Bricks thick upward, to the Top of the Garret Floor; to be built of Brick or Stone, and no Timbers, except those of Roof Girders, and Templets, to be laid into the said Walls; the Girders not to be more than one Foot in the Wall, and not to meet, or be opposite to those in the adjoining Houses; and the Sides to be nine Inches distant from each other; on the Penalty of forfeiting 50*l.* for every Offence in any of the Premises, to be divided between the Informer, and the Poor of the Parish.

“ And it is further enacted, That where a Part-owner of a House, gone to decay, shall be desirous to rebuild the same, but the other Parties shall refuse, or be not able to join therein, the Court of Lord Mayor and Aldermen, upon Application to them, shall order the Premises to be surveyed by a Jury, summoned by the Sheriffs, to fix the Value of such Person's Part: And upon Payment or Tender of the Money thus awarded, the Premises shall be vested in the Person obtaining the Verdict, with Power to pull down and rebuild the same.

“ Provided always, That where a Party-wall shall be pulled down by Virtue of the Act 11 Geo. I. and rebuilt agreeable to the Directions of this Act, the Expence shall be computed at 7*l.* per Rod. And where any Party-wall shall be built agreeable to the Directions of this Act, in Execution of any Contract entered into before March 1, 1760, the Expence to be computed in like Manner.

“ And it is further enacted, That when any House or Tenement shall be presented by the Inquest or Grand Jury, as in a ruinous Condition, the Court of Lord Mayor and Aldermen shall cause or order a sufficient Hoard to be put up before the same; and give Notice to the Owner to take down or repair such Building forthwith: And if such Owner doth not comply with the said Order or Notice, the said Court may cause such Buildings to be taken down and secured; and levy the Charges by Warrant, or Distress and Sale of Goods, if he can be found, or on the future Occupier of such House, on the Ground whereon the same stood; which is to be allowed in his Rent.

“ And it is further enacted, That where the Pavements of the Streets shall be damaged by the breaking up the same, to amend or relay any Water-Pipes, &c. any Justice, upon Complaint or View thereof, may give Notice at the Office of the Proprietors of the Water-works, to make good or new-lay such Pavements forthwith: And if such Order shall not be complied with, such Justice may set Men to work, who shall be paid their Charges as ascertained by a Justice of the Peace, who is likewise to determine by whom the Whole, or any Part thereof, ought to be paid; and on their Refusal of Payment, may levy the Charge

"Charge by Distress and Sale. This Act also "allows the Inhabitants to be competent Wit"nesses; and makes the Limitation of Actions
 "brought thereupon, to be six Months after the "Fact done; and to be laid and brought in the "City of London, and not elsewhere."

First SCHEDULE to which the Act refers.

Openings to be made

In the Ward of Aldersgate, a Passage, twenty Feet wide, to be opened from the East Side of Aldersgate-Street (opposite to Little-Britain) to the West of Noble-Street, opposite to Oat-Lane; and from thence through to Wood-Street, opposite to Love-Lane.

In the Ward of Aldgate, a Passage, fifty Feet wide, to be opened from the Mason's Shop, facing Crutched-Friars, in the Occupation of — Dent, in a direct Line to the Minories.

A Passage twenty-five Feet wide, to be opened through Northumberland-Alley, into Crutched-Friars.

In the Ward of Bishopsgate, a Passage, twenty-five Feet wide, to be opened through Angel-Court, in Bishopsgate-Street, into Little Saint Helen's.

A Passage, twenty Feet wide, to be opened from Broad-Street, through Union-Court, into Bishopsgate-Street.

In Coleman-Street Ward, a Passage, fifty Feet wide, to be opened from the North End of Tokenhouse-Yard, to London-Wall.

In the Ward of Farringdon without, a Passage, thirty Feet wide, in the middle Part of Snow-Hill, from thence to Fleet-Market.

A Passage, twenty-five Feet wide, from Butcherball-Lane, into Little-Britain.

In Farringdon Ward within, to make a Passage through Cock-Alley, on the South Side of Ludgate-Hill, and opposite to the Old-Baily, forty Feet wide, into Black-Fryers.

Second SCHEDULE to which the Act refers.

Passages to be improved and enlarged

In the Ward of Aldgate, to pull down the Houses on the East Side of Billiter-Lane, in order to enlarge the Passage to the Width of thirty Feet.

To pull down the Houses at the East End of Leadenhall-Street, to make the Passage there thirty-five Feet wide.

To pull down such Part of the Houses on the East Side of Poor Jury-Lane, beginning at, and including a House on the North Side of The Horse and Trumpet, and extending Southwards towards Gould-Square, as will be sufficient to range in a Line with that End of the Lane next to Aldgate; the Passage of which is intended to be made thirty-five Feet wide, by pulling down and setting back all the Houses from the Gate to the said Horse and Trumpet.

In Broad-Street Ward, to pull down the House at the West End of the Buildings situate between Cornhill and Threadneedle-Street, and opposite to the South End of Prince's-Street, and lay the Ground into the Street.

To pull down the Houses on the South Side of Threadneedle-Street, extending from the House before mentioned Eastward, till it reaches to that Part of the Street which is opposite to the Bank Gates; and to enlarge the Passage there to thirty-five Feet in Width.

In the Ward of Coleman-Street, to pull down one House on the North-East Corner of the Old Jury, and another House at the South-West Corner of Coleman-Street, both of which are occupied by Brasiers, and lay the Ground thereof into the Street.

In Cordwainer's Ward, to pull down the House at the North-East Corner of Trinity-Lane, near the Dog Tavern, and lay the Ground into the Street.

In the Ward of Cornhill, to pull down the House at the West End of the Buildings situate between Cornhill and Lombard-Street, and lay the Ground into the Street.

In the Ward of Cripplegate within, to pull down the Houses which project forwards at the West End of Silver-Street, from the End of Monkwell-Street, quite through into Aldersgate-Street, to make a commodious Street forty Feet wide.

To pull down the House at the Corner of Aldermanbury, facing Milk-Street, which was formerly the Baptist Head Tavern, and lay the Ground thereof into the Street.

In the Ward of Farringdon within, to pull down the Tin Shop, and the Trunmaker's House, at the South-West Corner of Cheapside, leading into Saint Paul's Churchyard, and lay the Ground into the Street.

To pull down such Part of the Houses in Creed-Lane, as are necessary to widen the Passage to thirty Feet.

In the Ward of Farringdon without, to pull down all the Houses in the Middle Row, between the Paved Alley adjoining to Saint Sepulchre's Church and Giltspur-Street, from the North End thereof, quite through to the South End, which faces Hart-Street, and lay the Ground into the Street.

To pull down all the Houses in the Middle Row, between the Great Old-Baily and Little Old-Baily, beginning at the North End thereof, which faces Hart-Street, and proceeding southwards, including the Baptist's Head, at the South End, facing the Great Old-Baily, and lay the Ground into the Street.

To pull down the Shops or Sheds under Saint Dunstan's Church, in Fleet-Street, and lay the Ground into the Street.

In Langbourn Ward, to pull down such Part of the Houses, at the End of Mark-Lane, next to Fenchurch-Street, as will make the Passage there thirty Feet wide.

To pull down such Part of the Houses at the East End of Lombard-Street, as will make the Passage there thirty Feet wide.

In the Ward of Portoken, to pull down the House at the North-East Corner of Housditch, and adjoining to the Churchyard, and lay the Ground thereof into the Street.

In Tower Ward, to pull down such Part of the Houses on Saint Dunstan's-Hill, adjoining to the George Alehouse, and opposite to the Chain, and and such Part of the Warehouses opposite to the End of Saint Dunstan's Church, as will render the Passage there thirty Feet wide.

To pull down the House on the North-West Corner of Great Tower-Street, now occupied by Master Crawford, a Brushmaker, and also the House on the South-East Corner of Little Tower-Street, now in the Occupation of Messieurs Julon and Lindner, Hatters, in order to make that dangerous Passage safe and convenient.

To pull down the House in Mark-Lane, which adjoins to the Church of Allhallows Staining, and projects twelve Feet before the other Houses, in order to make it range in a Line with the said Houses, and enlarge the narrow Passage there.

In the Ward of Vintry, to pull down the Houses on the North Side of Thames-Street, which are situated and reach from Elbow-Lane to College-Hill, and also those Houses on the South Side of the said Street, which reach from Vintners-Hall to Bull-Wharf-Lane, in order to make the said Street forty Feet wide.

To pull down the House at the Corner of Tower-Royal, facing College-Hill, and lay the Ground into the Street.

In the Ward of Wallbroke, to pull down the House at the North-East Corner of Bucklersbury, which projects before the other Buildings.

In Bishopsgate Ward, to pull down the two Houses between New Broad-Street, and New Broad-Street Buildings, which project so far into the Street, as to make the Passage and Communication to the said Streets very narrow and inconvenient.

On the 12th, and again on the 15th of February, there was a most terrible Storm of Wind: By which Houses, and Parts of Houses and Chimnies were blown down: The Roofs of Houses were much damaged in their Tiling, and several Lives were lost by their tumbling into the Street. The adjacent Country suffered much in the Trees that were blown up; and the Shipping and Boats on the Thames bore a considerable Part in this Destruction.

On the 25th of the same Month, three Houses were burnt at Shadwell-Dock.

Another Fire happened on the 18th of April, the Day on which the unfortunate Earl Ferrers was carried from the Tower to take his Trial at the King's-Bench, Westminster, for the Murder of his ancient and faithful Steward; and was occasioned by the thoughtless Curiosity of a Servant in an Oil Shop, or Oil Warehouse, near St. Magnus-Church, in Thames-Street, near the Bridge; who entrusted with the Management of some combustible Matters, and hearing that the said Earl was passing by, left his Charge on the Fire, to gratify his vain Curiosity with the Sight of the noble Murderer: Before he could get back, the whole Shop was in Flames; which spread with great Rapidity, and consumed seven Houses, with Warehouses, &c. in Thames-Street, full of valuable Goods; and very much damaged St. Magnus's Church.

The Earl Ferrers was found Guilty, Death: And Sentence being passed upon him to be hanged at Tyburn, his Execution was ordered for the 5th Day of May; which will be proper to record with all its Circumstances, there not being a Precedent of the like Sort in our History.

On May the 2d, the Sheriffs of London and Middlesex received a Writ for the Execution of this unhappy Nobleman, under the Great Seal of Great-Britain, and a Writ was also sent to the Lieutenant of the Tower, for the Delivery of his Lordship's Body to the said Sheriffs.

Execution
of Earl Ferrers.

On Monday the 5th of May, the said Sheriffs, attended by their Under Sheriffs, &c. went to the outward Gate of the Tower, at Nine o'Clock in the Morning; of which Earl Ferrers being informed, he sent to desire of them Permission to ride in his own Landau to the Place of Execution, instead of a mourning Coach, which had been provided by his Friends. The Sheriffs having given a Receipt to the Lieutenant of the Tower for the said Earl's Body, the solemn Procession moved on thus:

A large Body of Constables, &c.

A Party of Horse Grenadiers, and a Party of Foot.

Mr. Sheriff Errington, and his Under Sheriff, in a Chariot.

His Lordship in his Landau, accompanied by Mr. Sheriff Vaillant, and the Rev. Mr. Humphreys, Chaplain of the Tower of London, escorted by two other Parties of Horse Grenadiers and Foot.

Mr. Sheriff Vaillant's Chariot, with his Under Sheriff.

A mourning Coach and six, with Friends.

A Hearse and six.

The Procession was slow and solemn, taking up two Hours and three Quarters, thro' an innumerable Concourse of Spectators, who behaved with the utmost Decency, and were, in general, impressed with an awful melancholy Silence. His Lordship behaved with Ease and Composure the whole Time, and told Mr. Sheriff Vaillant, that perhaps his Dress (light Cloaths embroidered with Silver) might seem remarkable and odd; but that he had his Reasons for wearing them on that Day; and taking Notice of the innumerable Multitude that crouded about him every Foot of the Way, he added, that he supposed they came to see a Lord hanged.

The Earl had applied, by Letter to the King, praying that he might suffer in the Tower, where the Earl of Essex, Queen Elizabeth's Favourite, and one of his Ancestors, was beheaded; alledging, that he had made this Application with the more Confidence, as he had the Honour to quarter a Part of his Majesty's Arms, and to be allied to him. But it was to no Purpose: His Fate had been determined to die as a common Malefactor, and at the common Place of Execution. This he thought hard, and said, that the Apparatus of Death, and the being exhibited a Spectacle to such Multitudes, was worse even than Death itself.

Mr. Humphreys, who had never seen him before that Morning, attending only ex officio, signified to his Lordship that some Account of his religious Sentiments would be expected; the Earl answered, that he did not think himself

H accountable

A great
Storm.

Fire at Shadwell.

In Thames-
Street.

accountable for those Sentiments to the Public: That he had always adored one God, the Maker of the World; and as for any peculiar Notions or Opinions of his own, he had never propagated them, nor ever endeavoured to make Profelytes; and that he thought it wrong to disturb any national Form of Religion, as Lord Bolingbroke had done by a Publication of his Writings. He added, that the Multitude of Sects, and the many Disputes about Religion, had almost banished Morality. His shooting Mr. Johnson, his Steward, against whom he declared he had no Malice, his Lordship ascribed to his not knowing what he did, his Brain being at that Time affected and disordered by many Crosses and Vexations.

As he approached Tyburn, his Lordship expressed a Desire to see a Person who waited there in a Coach, and for whom he expressed a very sincere Regard: But being told, that parting with this Person might give him too great a Shock, he declined it, and delivered to the Sheriff a Bank-Note in a Pocket-Book, a Ring and a Purse, with some Guineas, to be given by him to that Person.

The Gallows was covered with black Bays; and a Scaffold railed round was erected under it, with a little Stage in the middle thereof. His Lordship alighted, and ascended the Scaffold with the same Composure he had shewn hitherto; and tho' it was about eight Minutes from the Time of his ascending the Scaffold to his Execution, his Tongue never faltered, nor did he change his Countenance. He kneeled down on black Cushions with the Chaplain; and having repeated the Lord's Prayer with him, he added with great Energy, "O Lord, forgive me all my Errors, pardon all my Sins." They then put on his white Cap and the Halter, which was a common one: He then stept upon the little Stage in the middle of the Scaffold, which was so contrived as to sink upon the Signal of the Sheriff's stamping with his Foot. He died easy; and was cut down after hanging one Hour and five Minutes, and his Body carried in a Hearse, attended by the two Sheriffs, to Surgeons-Hall. From whence, after three Days Dissection, it was put into a Coffin, on which was the following Inscription:—Laurence Earl Ferrers suffered May the 5th, 1760: And on the 8th, in the Evening, his Lordship's Remains were delivered to his Friends.

First Pile of Black-Friars
Bridge.

On the 7th of June, the first Pile for the intended new Bridge, from Black-Friars to the opposite Shore, in Surry, was drove in the middle of the Thames.

Committee
to widen,
&c. the Streets.

On the 17th of the same Month, the Committee of City Lands were appointed and empowered by a Court of Common-Council, to carry into Execution the Act of Parliament passed the last Session, for widening and improving the several Streets, &c. in this City; with Instructions to begin, as soon as possible, with an Opening to be made from the East End of Crutched-Friars into the Minories; and to make a Report at any future Court of Common-Council, of what Improvements they might think necessary to be made by Virtue of the said Act.

Amongst other Regulations under the said Act, it was thought proper to pull down the City Gates; which, however useful they might have been in ancient Times, to keep out an Enemy, armed with Bows and Arrows, Pikes and Battle-Axes, were rendered entirely useless in the present State of War, and defenceless against great Guns, &c. And by that Means they proposed to let in a more free Air above; to make a more commodious Way for Carriages of all Sorts, which constantly met with Obstructions, and frequently did Mischief to Passengers, &c. at those narrow Passes; and finally, to lett Part of the Ground on which they stood, with Advantage to the City Estates. They were accordingly put up to public Sale; and Aldgate was sold for 157*l.* 10*s.* Cripplegate for 91*l.* and Ludgate for 148*l.* to be pulled down and taken away by the Purchaser, within a limited Time.

Aldgate, Cripplegate, and Ludgate sold.

William Hart, Banker, and Goldsmith by Company, being upon the List of those Citizens, who had been drank to by the Lord Mayor, and thereby put in Nomination for Sheriff on Midsummer-Day, having stood the Common-Hall, and by the Livery there assembled, chosen and returned one of the Sheriffs for the Year ensuing, appeared before the Court of Aldermen on the second Day of July, and pleaded an Exemption from serving the said Office, by Virtue of his being one of the Gentlemen of his Majesty's Privy-Chamber. But his Plea was not admitted; and he was obliged to fine, or serve the Office, into which he had been chosen by the Common-Hall; and he did serve Sheriff accordingly for the Year ensuing.

The Case of William Hart, chosen Sheriff.

The Citizens, and the Inhabitants in the Environs, were extremely alarmed by an unaccountable Report on the 28th of July, this Year, which spread with great Rapidity, that the Plague had broken out in St. Thomas's Hospital, Southwark: And it was told with such an Air of Positiveness and Certainty, that it gained Credit, and caused a general Consternation: Infomuch, that the Physicians, Surgeons, and Apothecaries, belonging to that Hospital, found it expedient, for the public Peace of Mind, to insert the following Certificate in the London Gazette.

Report of the Plague in St. Thomas's Hospital.

St. Thomas's Hospital, July 30, 1760.

"Whereas the Town has been alarmed with
"a false and wicked Report, that the Plague
"is broke out in St. Thomas's Hospital; we,
"the underwritten (in pursuance of an Order
"of the grand Committee of Governors) do "hereby certify, that the said Report is absolutely without Foundation; and that there "are no other Diseases amongst the Patients,
"than what are usual in this and all other Hospitals."

Thomas Milner,

M. Akenfide,

Alexander Russell,

John Hadley,

T. Baker,

Benjamin Cowell,

Thomas Smith,

George Whitfield, Apothecary to the said Hospital.

Physicians to St. Thomas's Hospital.

Surgeons to the said Hospital.

The Order about mad

Dogs.

The Season proved so hot about this Time, that it greatly affected the Canine Species. The Dogs in and about this Metropolis were in an uncommon Degree seized with Madness; and Numbers of other Dogs, and many of the human Species were bitten by them, to the manifest Terror of every one, that was obliged to walk abroad upon their necessary Affairs; so that the Safety of the People made it necessary for the Magistrates to consider of the most immediate and effectual Method to prevent the Mischief that might follow. It was therefore ordered by the Lord Mayor, and the Magistrates in divers Divisions about this Metropolis, "That all Dogs should be muzzled, or kept up for a certain Time (two Months from the 20th Day of August) and that all Dogs found at large without a Muzzle should be destroyed."

A Hurricane.

On the 28th of September, there was a most violent Hurricane of Wind, which tore up Trees by their Roots in Hyde-Park, St. James's Park, Moor-fields, and in the adjacent Country; blew down Chimnies, Tiling, and some Houses, and did much Damage to the Ships and Boats upon the River Thames.

Address on the Conquest of Canada.

To crown the Success and Glory of the British Arms in North-America, about this Time there arrived certain Advice of our Conquest of Canada. And upon the 18th of October the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Common-Council waited on his Majesty to address him on that interesting Occasion. They were introduced by the Right Honourable Mr. Pitt, and the Recorder Sir William Moreton, Knight, made their Compliments in these Words:

Most gracious Sovereign,

"Permit us, your ever dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council assembled, humbly to congratulate your Majesty upon the late signal Successes, with which it has pleased the Divine Providence to bless your Majesty's Arms by Sea and Land.

"The Conquest of Canada, so heroically begun at Quebec, so nobly seconded by the Defeat and Dispersion of the Enemies Fleet upon the Coast of Britany, and so happily compleated without the Effusion of human Blood at Montreal, at the same Time that it reflects the highest Honour upon the Wisdom and Vigour of your Majesty's Counsels, upon the Conduct, Fortitude and Activity of your Commanders, and upon the Bravery and Discipline of your Fleets and Armies, is an Event of the utmost Importance to the Trade and Manufactures of these Kingdoms, as it is the only effectual Means of securing your Majesty's industrious Subjects in North-America against the continual Encroachments and unparalleled Barbarities of a restless and insidious Enemy, even more dangerous in Peace than War.

"Deeply sensible of your Majesty's paternal Goodness, in thus graciously protecting the most distant of your faithful Subjects, your Majesty's grateful Citizens of London will ever cheerfully exert those Means, for which (under the divine Favour) they esteem themselves indebted to your Majesty, towards enabling your "Majesty to preserve this valuable Acquisition, and effectually to prosecute the various and expensive Services of this just and necessary War, and to dictate to the Aggressors the Terms of a safe and honourable Peace.

"To this desirable End, may the God of Armies crown the Justice of your Majesty's Cause with repeated and decisive Victories; and when your Majesty shall have long enjoyed the glorious Fruits of all your Care and Labours, may the Empire of Great-Britain continue in your Majesty's illustrious Race, in full Splendor and Security, till Time shall be no more."

To which Address his Majesty returned this gracious Answer:

"I have the highest Satisfaction in this fresh and signal Proof of your Affection to me and to my Government; for which I return you my most hearty Thanks. The same Union amongst my People, and the same Ability and Valour in my Fleets and Armies, will, I trust, under the Blessing of God, enable me, in the End, to terminate this necessary and expensive War, by an honourable, advantageous and lasting Peace. The City of London may depend on my constant Care for their Prosperity, and for the Extension of the Trade, Manufactures, and Navigation of my faithful Subjects.

His Majesty's Answer.

After such mutual Professions and Declarations of Loyalty, Protection, Love and Confidence between this best of Kings, and his most faithful Citizens of London; Death stepped in and deprived them of all their Satisfaction and Expectations. His Majesty King George the Second, aged 77, in the 34th Year of his Reign, was seized early in the Morning of the 25th of October, 1760, at his Palace in Kensington, by a Rupture or Bursting of the right Ventricle of his Heart, which took away his Speech and his Limbs, and carried him off in a few Hours, to the inexpressible Loss of this Nation.

The Death of King
George
II.

We have not Room, nor is there any Necessity in a Work of this Kind, to expatiate on the Character of this great Monarch, who finished a long and happy Reign in the midst of a Period abounding with great Events; for his Virtue and glorious Actions will for ever live in the Hearts of all true Englishmen, and the Friends of Liberty and Religion. We can only mourn at the national Loss of a Sovereign, "who (as King George III's first Speech to Parliament expresses it) was the great Support of that System, by which alone the Liberties of Europe, and the Weight and Influence of these Kingdoms, can be preserved, and gave Life to the Measures conducive to those important Ends."

Thus died a King, whose Lenity, Moderation, and Wisdom in Government, whose uniform Regard to our Laws and Constitution, whose constant and inviolable Integrity, with which his Engagements were fulfilled, whose Firmness and Resolution, with which his Counsels were directed, justly demand the most affectionate Remembrance and grateful Acknowledgment of a dutiful and happy People: A King, who was called from his People at a Time when he had filled their Hearts with the utmost Joy, in the midst of their Triumphs, Thanksgivings, and Congratulations; who lived to see his Counsels blessed with Success, and his Arms with Victory in every Quarter of the the Globe; who lived to see the British Name, under his Auspices, advanced to the highest Pitch of Dignity and Grandeur, and concluded his long and prosperous Reign, when full of Years, and full of Glory.

CHAP. V.

The City Mourning for the Death of King George II. The Accession of King George III. His Proclamation in due Form. Remarks on the King's Declaration to the Privy Council. The City of London's Address on the King's Accession. The first Stone of Black-Friars Bridge laid, with the Inscription. The City's Right to Tolls in Markets, &c. The Freedom of London presented to Sir John Philipps, and George Cooke, Esq; after a strong Opposition, February 18, 1761. A new Regulation concerning Motions for presenting Freedoms. Mill at Red-House, Deptford, burnt. A new Parliament. Moorgate and Aldersgate sold. Mr. Pitt and Mr. Legge dismissed. Lord Bute Secretary of State. Discontent of the People, and why. City's Address of Thanks to Mr. Pitt. City's Instructions to their Representatives in Parliament. Freedom presented to Arthur Onslow, Esq. Act for the City Road.

City Mourning.

THE City of London set an Example of their Sorrow by omitting their usual Entertainments on the ensuing Lord Mayor's Day. There was no public Shew, nor any Feast at Guildhall. All were clad in deep, the deepest Mourning they could procure, in their respective Stations.

King George III.'s Accession.

The Death of our late gracious Sovereign being denounced, the Privy Council met and ordered his Grandson, George Prince of Wales, to be proclaimed by the Name, Style, and Title of George the Third, King of Great-Britain, France, and Ireland, and on the 26th of October the Proclamation was performed by the following Procession, which set out from Leicester-Fields, the Residence of the new King at that Time.

Proclamation.

His Majesty King George the Third was first proclaimed before Saville-House; from whence the Heralds, &c. proceeded to Charing-Cross in the following Order:

Farriers of the Horse Grenadier Guards, with Axes erect.

French Horns of the Troop.

Troop of Horse Grenadier Guards.

Two Knight Marshal's Officers.

Knight Marshal, and his Men.

Household Drums.

Kettle Drums.

Trumpets.

Pursuivants.

Herald.

King at Arms, supported by two Serjeants at Arms, with their Maces.

Archbishop of Canterbury in his Coach.

Lord Viscount Falmouth.

Troop of Horse Guards.

At Charing-Cross, a Herald again read the Proclamation.

The Procession then moved on to Temple-Bar.

The Gate was shut.

The Lord Mayor, with the Aldermen, Sheriffs, &c. waited within, and after the usual Formality of demanding Admittance, the Gates were opened, and the Procession proceeded to the South End of Chancery-Lane, where the Proclamation was again read. Thence they proceeded through the City in the following Order, immediately after the Heralds:

City Drums.

Trumpets.

Sheriff's Officers.

City Music.

Two City Marshals.

Lord Mayor's Officers.

Lord Mayor in a State Coach.

Archbishop of Canterbury.

Lord Viscount Falmouth.

The Aldermen, one by one, in Coaches.

The two Sheriffs.

The Chamberlain.

Town-Clerk.

A Troop of Horse Guards.

The Proclamation was read at the South End of Wood-Street, Cheapside; and again at the Royal-Exchange, which finished the Ceremony.

The Guns in St. James's Park, and at the Tower of London, were discharged on this Occasion, and the Evening concluded with Ringing of Bells, Bonfires, &c.

Next Day, by Order of the Lord Lieutenant of the Tower, the Justices within the Tower Hamlets went in Carriages, with proper Officers, to Shadwell Market, Ratcliff-Cross, Norton-Falgate, Spital-Fields Market, Shoreditch, and Bethnal-Green, and at each of those Places proclaimed King George the Third.

If we cast an Eye upon the public Declarations and Speeches of his present Majesty at this Juncture, we shall have the greatest Reason to believe, that King George III. was well pleased with the Councils and Measures, which had conduced so much to the Interest of the Nation; that he was thoroughly convinced of their Propriety; and that his Majesty was resolved to make no Alteration, but to proceed in the System laid down, and so gloriously executed by his Royal Grandfather.

Remarks on the King's Declaration to the Privy Council.

To the Lords of the Privy Council, assembled upon his Accession, his Majesty declared, "That he depended upon the Advice, Experience and Abilities of their Lordships." And "That, as he did mount the Throne in the midst of an expensive, but just and necessary War, he should endeavour to prosecute it in the Manner the most likely to bring about an honourable and lasting Peace, in concert with his Allies."

This Declaration being made public, all Fears of any Alterations in the Ministry, which in any wise might affect the Interest of the Nation, were dispersed; and Addresses in the warmest and most affectionate Style and Words, were daily presented from all Parts and respectable Bodies of Men throughout the British Dominions: But there seemed a more than ordinary Diffidence in the Address from the City of London: For though they congratulated his Majesty, and joined in the universal Approbation and Joy of the whole Nation, with the strongest Assurances of their unalterable Zeal for his Majesty's sacred Person and Government, they did not fail to put him in Mind of the State in which he had found the Nation, both as to Credit, Honour, and Unanimity; and of the Necessity he was under to maintain the Constitution, and to support the Laws, in the following Words:

Most Gracious Sovereign,

Lord
Mayor and Aldermen's
Address to
K. George
III. upon his Accession to the Throne.

"Your Majesty's truly dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lord Mayor and Aldermen of the City of London, beg leave to approach your royal Person, and to congratulate your Majesty upon your happy Accession to the imperial Crown of these Realms; and at the same Time, to condole the Loss of our late most gracious Sovereign, whose glorious Reign and princely Virtues must ever make his Memory dear to a grateful People.

"It is our peculiar Happiness, that your Majesty's Heart is truly English; and that you have discovered in your earliest Years the warmest Attention to the Laws and Constitution of these Kingdoms; Laws so excellently formed, that, as they give Liberty to the People, they give Power to the Prince; and are a mutual Support of the Prerogatives of the Crown, and the Rights of the Subject.

"Your Majesty is now in Possession of the united Hearts of all your People, at a Time, when the Honour and the Credit of the Nation are (by the Courage and Activity of your Majesty's Fleets and Armies) in the highest Extent; a Time, when we have happily no Divisions at home to obstruct those Measures, which have carried Terror to our Enemies abroad.

"As your Majesty's Reign is so happily begun with the universal Approbation and Joy of the whole Nation, permit us, great Sir, to express the high Sense we have of your Majesty's Virtues, by the strongest Assurances of our unalterable Zeal for your Majesty's sacred Person and Government; being convinced, that your Majesty has the true Interest of this Nation entirely at Heart, and that your Power will be ever exerted in protecting the Trade, Rights, and Liberties of your Subjects.

"May your Majesty reign long in the Hearts of your People; and may the Crown of these Kingdoms ever descend to one of your Majesty's illustrious Family, to the latest Posterity."

His Majesty's Answer.

"I have great Satisfaction in the early Marks you have given me of your Zeal and Affection for me and for my Government: And I return you my hearty Thanks. You may rely on my tender Concern for the Rights, Trade, and Manufactures of the City of London."

On the 30th, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Common-Council, waited also upon his Majesty; and Sir William Moreton, Knt. the Recorder, made their Compliments of Condolance and Congratulation in the following Address:

Most Gracious Sovereign,

"We, your Majesty's most dutiful and faithful Subjects, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons, in Common-Council assembled, most humbly approach your royal Presence, to condole with your Majesty the unexpected and affecting Loss which your Majesty and the Nation have sustained, by the Death of your illustrious Grandfather, whose gentle and equal Rule will be gratefully remembered by the present Age, and whose wife and prosperous Reign will be honoured by succeeding Generations.

City Address.

"So sudden and momentous an Event, in this very critical Juncture, would, indeed, be severely felt by Great-Britain, and her magnanimous Ally, had not the Goodness of Almighty God placed her Sceptre in the Hands of a Prince, who, by his first Declaration in Council, has most graciously confirmed all the pleasing Hopes which had been early entertained of his Virtue, Wisdom, and Fortitude, as well as of his tender Affection to this, his native Country, and Regard for her most excellent Constitution, both in Church and State.

"It is, therefore, with the sincerest and warmest Love and Veneration, that we congratulate your Majesty's most happy Accession to the Government of a free, loyal, and united People.

"And although we are sensible how painful it must be to your Majesty, to find your Kingdoms engaged in a bloody and expensive War, we doubt not but your Majesty, jealous of the Honour of your Crown, and attentive to the Rights and commercial Interests of your People, will steadfastly pursue the Wisdom and Spirit of those Councils, by which that War hath hitherto been so successfully conducted, until your Majesty shall be enabled, by the Divine Assistance, the tried and well-regulated Ardour of your Fleets and Armies, and the inexhaustible Affection of all your Subjects, to establish Peace upon a just, honourable, and solid Foundation.

"May your Majesty graciously accept this Earnest of our Duty and inviolable Attachment to your sacred Person and Government, and our humble Assurances, that as it will be our constant Prayer to the great Ruler of Princes, that your Majesty's Reign may long continue over us, so it shall be always our Study and Endeavour, by every Act of Zeal, Gratitude, and Obedience, to render it happy and glorious to your Majesty."

To which Address his Majesty was pleased to return this most gracious Answer:

"I take very kindly your early and warm Assurances of Affection for my Person and Government, and I give you my cordial Thanks.

"Firmness of Councils, supported by such generous Efforts of a free and united People, and seconded by such Intrepidity and Conduct in my Fleets and Armies, will, I trust, under the Blessing of the Almighty, lead my Kingdoms, in Conjunction with my faithful Allies, to a just, honourable, and lasting "lasting Peace. My good City of London shall "ever experience my watchful Care for their "Liberties, Commerce, and Happiness."

They then waited on her Royal Highness the Princess Dowager of Wales; and Sir William Moreton, Knt. the Recorder, made their Compliments in the following Speech :

"May it please your Royal Highness,

Address to the Princess Dowager.

"We, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and "Commons, of the City of London, in Com"mon-Council assembled, humbly beg Leave to "present to your Royal Highness our most res"pectful Compliments of Condolance, on the "Death of our late most gracious Sovereign; and "at the same Time to congratulate your Royal "Highness, upon your illustrious Son's most "happy Accession to the Crown of these Realms,
"amidst the joyful Acclamations of his faithful
"Subjects.

"To your Royal Highness's wife and tender
"Care of his Majesty's early Years, we stand in"debted for the Cultivation of the innate Virtues
"of his princely Mind, and for the Foundation
"of all those Blessings which we trust to enjoy
"under his auspicious Reign.

"Long may your Royal Highness taste the "maternal Satisfaction of seeing the royal Ob"ject of your Affection and Solitude, the Dar"ling of this his native Country, the Protector
"of our Trade, the Defender of our Religion,
"Laws and Liberties, and the Ornament and De-
"light of human Kind."

To which her Royal Highness was pleased to return the following Answer :

"My Lords and Gentlemen,

"I return you my hearty Thanks for this fresh
"Mark of your Attention to me. My warmest "Wishes have ever attended this great City; and "the Joy and Happiness of my Life will consist
"in the King, my Son, exceeding in every "Thing your most sanguine Expectations."

First Stone
of Black-Friars
Bridge laid, with the Inscription.

On the 31st of October 1760, the first Stone of the New Bridge from Black-Friars to the opposite Shore, was laid with great Ceremony by the Lord Mayor, attended by the Committee; and there was placed upon the said Stone, by Order of a Court of Common-Council, a Plate, on which was engraven the following Inscription :

Ultimo die Octobris, Anno ab Incarnatione
MDCCLX,
Auspicatissimo principe GEORGIO Tertio
Regnum jam ineunte,
Pontis hujus, in Reipublicæ Commodum
Urbisque Majestatem,
(Late tum flagrante Bello)
à S. P. Q. L. suscepti, Primum Lapidem posuit
THOMAS CHITTY, Miles,
Prætor,
Roberto Mylne, Architecto.
Utque apud posteros extet Monumentum
Voluntatis suæ ergo Virum,
Qui Vigore Ingenij, Animi Constantiâ,
Probitatis et Virtutis suæ felici quadam Contagione, (favente Deo, faustisque GEORGII secundi Auspiciis)

IMPERIUM BRITANNICUM

In

Asia, Africa, et America

Restituit, auxit, & stabilivit,

Necnon Patriæ antiquum Honorem et Auctoritatem

Inter Europæ Gentes instauravit,

Cives Londinenses, uno Consensu,

Huic Ponti inscribi voluerunt Nomen

GULIELMI PITT.

Which is thus rendered into English :

On the last Day of October, in the Year 1760 from the Incarnation of Christ, when GEORGE the Third began his most auspicious Reign, Sir THO- MAS CHITTY, Knight, Lord Mayor, laid the first Stone of this Bridge, undertaken by the Common-Council of London (in the Height of an extensive War) for the Accommodation of the Public in general, and for an Ornament of the City in particular; ROBERT MYLNE being the Architect.

And that there may exist amongst their Posterity a Monument of this City's Affection towards the Man, who by the Vigour of his Understanding, the Steadiness of his Mind, and by a kind of happy Contagion of his Probity and Virtue (under the divine Favour, and the fortunate Auspices of GEORGE the Second) recovered, augmented and established the British Empire in Asia, Africa, and America, and restored the ancient Reputation and Influence of his Country amongst the Nations of Europe, the Citizens of London have resolved, with one Consent, that this Bridge be inscribed with the Name of WILLIAM PITT.

It having been found difficult to those, who farmed the Markets, or collected the Toll in the Markets, to gather the just Demands, made by and in the Name of the City, from such as exposed Provisions to Sale before Houses in the Markets, and on Stalls placed in the Avenues leading into the Markets; it was resolved to put an End to this Proceeding by a due Course of Law : and in Michaelmas Term, the City's Right to Toll under those Circumstances, was tried in the King's- Bench, Guildhall, by a Jury of Non-Freemen, between the Citizens of the City of London, Plaintiffs, and Edward Smith and Ralph Troyford, Salesmen in Newgate-Market, Defendants, for the Sale of Provisions exposed to Sale before Houses in the Market; and between the said Plaintiffs, and John Cope, Salesman, Defendant, for the Sale of Provisions exposed to Sale in White-Hart-Street, an Avenue or Passage leading to Newgate-Mar- ket; when in each of these Causes the Jury gave a Verdict for the Citizens of London. By which the said Citizens have established their Right to the Tolls, for all Provisions exposed to Sale in all the Avenues leading to, and to the Tolls for Provisions exposed to Sale before the Houses in the Markets.

City Right to Tolls in Markets,
&c.

Sir John Philipps, Bart. and Member of the House of Commons, having at all Times and on all Occasions espoused the Cause of Liberty, and to shew his Firmness and Independency, had thrown up the profitable Place of a Lord of Trade and Plantations, rather than submit to the Dictates of a Minister, directing the Minions of Power to vote in the House of Commons, had for some Years been a standing Toast amongst the Friends of public Liberty,
and

The Freedom presented to
Sir John
Philipps,
and Mr.
George
Cooke.

and the Maintainers of the Rights and Privileges of his Fellow-Subjects; and he having joined heartily with Mr. George Cooke, one of the Knights of the Shire for the County of Middlesex, in managing the Business of the City of London in the House of Commons for some Time past; there was a Motion made in a Common-Council, on the 18th of February, 1761, summoned upon other distant Affairs, to present the Freedom of the City to those two Gentlemen, in Testimony of the grateful Sense which the Citizens of London entertained of the many Benefits received from their Readiness and Assiduity to assist and support such of their Resolutions as required the Aid and Authority of Parliament. As the Members of this Court had not received any Notice of such a Motion, their Number was few; and they looking upon it as an Intention to carry the Motion by Surprise, it was very warmly opposed, as contrary to the Method of proceeding in that Court: But after a long Debate, the Question was put, and carried upon a Division by 38 against 33. However, the Court of Common-Council, tho' not averse to testify their common Regard to those Gentlemen in the Manner proposed, looked upon this Motion as a Surprise; and came to to an unanimous Resolution and Agreement, "That, from thenceforward, no Person should have the Freedom of this City presented unto him, unless the Motion for the same be made at one Court, previous to the putting of the Question for granting the same."

Regulation concerning Motions for Freedom.

Mill at the Red House at Deptford burnt.

The Wind-Mill belonging to his Majesty, at the Red House at Deptford, was agitated with so great a Velocity by a high Wind, on the 26th of February, that it could not be stopt, and took Fire from the Motion, which consumed the Mill, and a great Quantity of Flour, &c. contained therein.

A low Tide.

The Tide on the 2d of February flowed so short up the Thames, that the Water therein was not sufficient at High-Water to cover the Sterlings; and several People waded over the Bed of the River, both above, and a little below the Bridge, at Low-Water.

By this Time the Citizens discovered many Transactions at Court, which convinced them that their Jealousy, in regard to the Permanency of the Ministry left by the late King, was but too well founded. A French Faction crept in, and set all their Engines to work, to deceive the new Comers to Court, and to prevail with them to discountenance the German War, and to adopt pacific, instead of military Measures. And they met with such Success, that France brought the Favourites at Court into Measures of Pacification, contrary to the universal Sense of the Nation.

Election of Members of Parliament.

The Time limited for the Parliament's Continuation, after the King's Accession to the Throne, being expired, according to Act of Parliament made in the last Reign; new Writs were issued for a general Election, bearing teste on March 21; on which Occasion there were five Candidates, who stood the Poll for the City of London: And by the Declaration of the said Poll, made by the Sheriffs at Guildhall, on the 2d Day of April, the Numbers stood thus:

For Sir Robert Ladbroke , Knt.	4306
Sir Richard Glyn , Bart.	3285
William Beckford , Esq;	3663
Hon. Thomas Harley , Esq;	3983
Sir Samuel Fludyer , Bart.	3193

Upon which Sir Robert Ladbroke, Sir Richard Glyn, Mr. Beckford, and the Hon. Mr. Harley, were returned duly elected on the 4th of the said Month.

The Committee for improving the City proceeded on the 22d of April to pull down Moorgate and Aldersgate: On which Day Moorgate was sold for 166l. and Aldersgate for 91l. to be pulled down and removed by the Purchasers.

Moorgate and Aldersgate pulled down.

The next Attempt of the Courtiers was to get clear of the Rt. Hon. Henry Bilson Legge, Chancellor of the Exchequer, because he disapproved of the Proceedings and Disposition of the new Cabinet; and of the Rt. Hon. William Pitt, Secretary of State. Mr. Legge was dismissed, for he could not be prevailed upon to resign; and was succeeded in the Exchequer by William Viscount Barrington: And John Earl of Bute, who had been made (on the 25th of March, 1761) Groom of the Stole, was appointed one of his Majesty's principal Secretaries of State, in the room of Lord Holdernesse, dismissed with a Pension. By this Move Lord Bute was promoted to be joint Pilot with Mr. Pitt, at the Helm of Administration. From this Time Parties were formed, and the public Business loitered, and received a considerable Check by the Appointment of two Partners in the Administration; and the Opposition to a wise and vigilant Administration, grew stronger Day by Day: A Number of new Peers were created, that raised Apprehensions in the Minds of the People, and with the new admitted Servants of the Public, a certain Species of low Cunning and undermining Craft stole sily into many Places.

Mr. Pitt and Mr. Legge dismissed.

Lord Bute Secretary of State.

A French Minister (M. Buffy) was permitted to come, and to range at large in and about London, during the Time of the general Election of a new House of Commons. The Tories once more exerted their Talents to degrade and asperse the Men and Measures, to which we were indebted for our signal Successes. Parties were formed in favour of the French Proposals, and the Interest of Mr. Pitt visibly declined at Court; and his Wisdom and Firmness made him so obnoxious to the Friends of our Enemies, that it was determined at last to worry him out of his Majesty's Service and Councils. Oh sad! they who assumed the Name of Friends of the King and Nation, deserted Mr. Pitt in the Cabinet; and Emissaries were spread in all Parts of the Nation, and in Places of public Resort, to trumpet the abominable Contradiction in Politics, that we were undone by our Successes: Therefore Mr. Pitt perceiving that his Counsels and Measures were not attended to, nor adopted as usual, and that it would be impossible for him any longer to serve his King and Country with the Honour and Advantages as heretofore, except his Influence might continue in the Measures, he should propose, to compel the Enemy to accept of a Peace upon our own Terms; he declared, "That this was the Time for humbling

Remarks

“humbling the House of Bourbon; that if this “Opportunity were let slip, it might never be “recovered; and that, if he could not prevail in “this Instance, he was resolved that this should “be the last Time he would sit in that Council.
 “He thanked the Ministers of the late King for “their Support, said he himself was called into
 “the Ministry by the People, to whom he con“sidered himself accountable for his Conduct,
 “and he would no longer remain in a Situation,
 “which made him responsible for Measures, he
 “was no longer allowed to guide.”

Mr. Pitt's
 Resignation.

Mr. Pitt did accordingly resign the Seals on the 5th of October 1761. At the same Time his Majesty, to signify his real Esteem for that able and faithful Minister, immediately and gratuitously granted him a Pension of 3000*l. per Annum*, and conferred the Title of Baroness of Chatham upon his Lady, and of Baron of Chatham on his Heir Male.

The Thanks of the City of London to
 Mr. Pitt.

Never was a Minister of State so universally beloved, nor so universally regretted. On the 22d of October, the Court of Common-Council of the City of London “Resolved that their Thanks be “given to the Right Honourable William Pitt,
 “for the many great and eminent Services ren“dered this Nation, during the Time he so ably “filled the high and important Office of one of “his Majesty's principal Secretaries of State, and “to perpetuate their grateful Sense of his Merits,
 “who, by the Vigour of his Mind, had not only “roused the ancient Spirit of this Nation from the “pusillanimous State to which it had been re“duced; but by his Integrity and Steadiness uni“ting us at home, had carried its Reputation in “Arms and Commerce to a Height unknown
 “before, by our Trade accompanying our Con“quests in every Quarter of the Globe.

“Therefore the City of London, ever steadfast in “their Loyalty to their King, and attentive to “the Honour and Prosperity of their Country, “cannot but lament the national Loss of so able and
 “so faithful a Minister, at this critical Juncture.”

It being also apprehended that this Resignation might have too great an Influence upon his Majesty's Councils, in regard to War, and give the Enemy fresh Spirits to renew the Negotiations of Peace to their Advantage, which had been broken off; the City of London, at the same Time they addressed Mr. Pitt in his State of Resignation, gave the Administration the strongest Assurances of their Resolution to abide by, and enable his Majesty to continue the War with Vigour, in case they should not hearken to inadequate Conditions of Peace, by a Representation (otherwise Instructions given) by the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons, in Common-Council assembled, to Sir Robert Ladbroke, Knt. Sir Richard Glyn, Bart. William Beckford, Esq; and the Hon. Thomas Harley, Esq; this City's Representatives in Parliament. In which that Court said, “We, the Lord Mayor, “Aldermen, and Commons of the City of Lon- “don, in Common-Council assembled, think
 “it at this Time our Duty, as it is our na“tural and undoubted Right, to lay be“fore this City's Representatives, in the great “Council of the Nation, soon to be assembled in “Parliament, what we desire and expect from

City Instructions to the Representa-tives in Parliament.

“you, in discharge of the great Trust and Con“fidence we and our Fellow-Subjects have repo“sed in you.

“That you take the earliest Opportunity to use
 “your utmost Endeavours to obtain the Repeal “or Amendment of the late Act, entitled An “Act for the Relief of insolvent Debtors, in respect “to the Inconveniencies arising from the compul“five Clause, by which a Door has been opened “to the greatest Frauds and Perjuries; and if “continued, must become the Destruction of all “private Credit, so essential to the Support of “a trading People.

“That you concur in and promote all necessary “Measures for establishing good Economy in “the Distribution of the national Treasure;
 “and for that Purpose, that you endeavour to “have a Committee appointed, in order to en“quire into any Abuses, which may have risen in
 “the Application of it, and to prevent any Frauds
 “or illicit Practices in the Management thereof.

“That you entertain just Sentiments of the “Importance of the Conquests made this War
 “by the British Arms, at the Expence of so much “Blood and Treasure; and that you will, to the “utmost of your Power and Abilities, oppose all “Attempts for giving up such Places as may “tend to lessen our present Security; or, by re“storing the naval Power of France, render us “subject to fresh Hostilities from that natural “Enemy; particularly that the sole and exclu“sive Right of our Acquisitions in North-Ame- “rica, and the Fisheries, be preserved to us.

“As the present happy Extinction of Parties,
 “the Harmony and Unanimity of all his Majesty's “Subjects, their Zeal and Affection to their na“tive King, and the great Increase of Commerce,
 “are most convincing Proofs to us of this Na“tion's Ability still to carry on, and vigorously
 “to pursue all those Measures, which may pro“mote the true Interest of his Kingdom, and “place him above the Menaces of any Power that “may pretend to give Laws, or prescribe Limits “to the Policy and Interest of this Nation: But “as it is apparent that our Enemies flatter them“selves with the Hopes of exhausting our Strength
 “by the immense Expence in which we are at pre“sent engaged; we therefore require you, in “the further Prosecution of this War, to support
 “such Measures, as may frustrate those Expec“tations; yet to act with the utmost Vigour in
 “the Reduction of their remaining Colonies, so
 “as to obtain a safe and honourable Peace.”

So much it is thought proper to deviate from the Course of this History in Point of Time, the better to exhibit the Spirit of the City of London, and the Part that Corporation took with the Patriots to prevent the fatal Effects of a bad Peace, and to incline his Majesty to be cautious in the Choice of his Ministers of State.

On the 24th, in the Night, were burnt down fourteen Houses, two of them of great Value, in Swallow-Street, near Golden-Square; which burnt so fierce as to consume Writings, and to melt the Cash deposited in an iron Chest, inclosed in Sand near a Foot thick.

Fire in Swallow-
 Street.

But this was not to compare to the Ruins made by a Fire which, about One o'Clock in the Morning on the 4th of May, broke out at a Biscuit-Baker's

Fire at Pelican
 Stairs in Shadwell.

near

near Pelican Stairs, in Lower Shadwell, and consumed 34 Houses, and eight Barges and Lighters, which, with the Goods included, were computed at 50,000*l*.

Freedom
presented to Arthur Onslow,
Esq;

At a Court of Common-Council, on the 5th of May, it was unanimously resolved, "That the Freedom of the City of London should be presented in a gold Box, Value 100*l*. to the Right Hon. Arthur Onslow, Speaker of the House of Commons in five successive Parliaments, as a grateful and lasting Testimony of the respectful Love and Veneration which the Citizens of London entertain for his Person and distinguished Virtue; for the many eminent Qualifications he displayed, the unwearied and disinterested Labours he bestowed, and the impartial and judicious Conduct he maintained, in the Execution of that arduous and important Office, during a Course of thirty-three Years; and for that exemplary Zeal, which, upon all proper Occasions, he exerted with so much Dignity and Success, in Support of the Rights, Privileges, and constitutional Independencies of the Commons of Great Britain.

To the Duke of York.

At the Common-Council, on the 5th of June, it was agreed, "That the Freedom of this City be humbly presented to his Royal Highness Edward-Augustus, Duke of York and Albany, one of the Rear Admirals of the blue Squadron of his Majesty's Fleet, in a gold Box of 150 Guineas Value, in Testimony of the dutiful Affection of this Court for their illustrious Sovereign, whose peculiar Glory it is to reign over a free, happy, and united People; and as a Pledge of the grateful Respect they bear his Royal Highness for his early Entrance into the naval Service of his King and Country, the noblest and most effectual Bulwark of the Wealth, Reputation, and Independence of this commercial Nation."

And on the 15th it was unanimously resolved, at a Court of Aldermen and Common-Council, to present a congratulatory Address to his Majesty on the Conquest of Belleisle. Which was done accordingly, on the 17th, in this Form:

The Address of the Lord-Mayor, Aldermen, and Common-Council of the City of London, to his Majesty, on the taking of Belleisle.

"Most gracious Sovereign,

"With reverential Awe and Gratitude to the supreme Giver of all Victory, we, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of your City of London, in Common-Council assembled, humbly approach your royal Presence, to express our Joy and Exultation on the entire Reduction of the important Island of Belleisle, by the Conduct, Intrepidity, and Perseverance of your Majesty's land and naval Forces: a Conquest, which, after more than one fruitless Attempt in former Times, seems to have been reserved by divine Providence to grace the auspicious Beginnings of your Majesty's Reign, and confirms our Hopes of a long Continuance of wise, steady, and successful Measures.

"A Blow so humiliating to the Pride and Power of France, cannot but impress that haughty Nation with a due Sense of the Superiority of a Patriot-King, ruling over a free, brave, and united People; and will, we trust, convince them of the Danger of delaying to accept such Terms of Peace as your Majesty's Equity, Wisdom, and Moderation, shall think fit to prescribe.

"What therefore have we more to wish, but that your Majesty may long, very long, continue the Guardian and Protector of the religious, civil, and commercial Rights of Great Britain, and her Colonies; and that your Majesty's Wisdom may ever be seconded by equally faithful and spirited Councils; and your Commands executed with no less Ardour, Emulation, and Success.

"On our Part, permit us humbly to assure your Majesty, that your faithful Citizens of London will, with unwearied Zeal and Chearfulness, contribute to support a vigorous Prosecution of this just and necessary War; until your Majesty, having sufficiently vindicated the Honour of your Crown, and secured the Trade, Navigation, and Possessions of your Subjects, shall enjoy the Blessing and Glory of giving Repose to Europe, of wholly attending to, and promoting the Virtue and Happiness of your People, and of cultivating all the softer Arts of Peace."

His Majesty's most gracious Answer.

"I return you my hearty Thanks for this fresh Mark of your Affection to my Person, and of your constant Zeal for the Lustre of my Arms, and for the Glory of my Reign. Your repeated Assurances of chearful and steady Support in the Prosecution of this necessary War, are most highly pleasing to me, and cannot fail to promote the desirable Object of Peace, on just, honourable and advantageous Conditions. The City of London may always depend on my unwearied Endeavours for the Security and Extension of their Trade, Navigation, and Commerce."

On the 29th was opened the Road from Islington to the Doghhouse-Bar, in Old-Street, by the Name of the City Road, which opens an easy and pleasant Communication with the Northern Road, and by another new Road that carries you from Islington to Rigon's Farm, through Marybone, and into the great Western Road; pursuant to an Act 1 Geo. III. whereby it was enacted, "That a new Road should be opened from the North-east Side of the Goswell-Street Road, next Islington, and near to the Road called the New-Road, over and along Part of a Meadow Ground late belonging to Mrs. Mary Walker, deceased, cross the New-River, and then over and along the other Part of the said Meadow, and over and along divers other Meadows, &c. to Old-Street Road, opposite to the Doghhouse-Bar; and also that the Trustees for putting the said Act in Execution should be empowered to open, repair, widen, and keep in repair, the present Road, at and from the Doghhouse-Bar, over and along certain Grounds be-

“ belonging to the Reverend Doctor Christopher Wil- “ son, one of the Prebendaries of the Cathedral “ Church of St. Paul, London, Lord of the Ma“ nor of Finbury, in Right of his Prebend, and “ to the Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of
 “ the City of London, as Lessees thereof; and to “ Bibye Lake, Esq; under a Lease from the said “ City; and to John Witton, Tenant of the said “ Bibye Lake; and from thence to the End of Chif-
 “ well-Street, by the Artillery-Ground.”

And it was further enacted, “ That the new “ Part of the said Road shall be 40 Feet wide at “ the least; and that Part of the Road leading at
 “ and from the Doghouse-Bar, to the End of Chif-
 “ well-Street, by the Artillery-Ground, shall not ex“ ceed 50 Feet in Width. That the said Trustees “ shall and may erect Gates or Turnpikes across
 “ or on the Sides of any Part or Parts of the said “ Road, and also a Toll-House or Toll-Houses, “ in or upon, or adjoining to, the same: and “ the following Tolls shall be demanded and “ taken; that is to say,

“ For every Horse, Mare, Gelding, Mule, or “ Ass, drawing or not drawing, 1*d*.

“ For every Drove of Oxen, or Neat Cattle, 5*d*.
 “ per Score; and so in Proportion for any greater “ or lesser Number.

“ For every Drove of Calves, Hogs, Sheep, or “ Lambs, 2*d*. Half-Penny per Score; and so in “ Proportion for any greater or lesser Number.

“ With a Penalty of 20*s*. to suffer any Person
 “ to pass with a Horse, Carriage, &c. through a “ private Way.

“ That none of the said Tolls shall be taken at “ any of the Gates or Turnpikes for any Horse,
 “ &c. drawing any Waggon or other Carriage,
 “ which shall be used and employed in the Car“ riage of any Materials for repairing the said “ Road, or in the Carriage of any Lime, Chalk, “ Dung, Mould, Soil, or Compost, of any Na“ ture or Kind whatsoever, for manuring of any “ Garden, or other Land or Ground; or in the “ Carriage of any Hay, Straw, or Corn in the “ Straw, not sold or disposed of, but to be laid “ up in Barns, &c. of the Owners thereof; or for “ any Implements of, or employed in, Husban“ dry, or for manuring of Land in the several Pa“ rishes in which the said Road, hereby intended “ to be made and repaired, does lie; or for any “ Horse, or other Cattle, going to, or returning “ from, Pasture or Water; or for any Post-“ Horse, or Vehicle carrying the Mail or public “ Packet; or for Horses, Carts, or Waggons, “ travelling with Vagrants sent by Passes. Nor
 “ of any Person going to, or returning from,
 “ any Election of a Knight, or Knights of the “ Shire to serve in Parliament for the County of “ Middlesex, on the Day or Days of such Elec“ tion.

“ Provided always, That no Person shall be lia“ ble to pay Toll more than once the same Day,
 “ to be computed from Twelve o’Clock at Night,
 “ to Twelve o’Clock in the succeeding Night,
 “ with the same Horse or other Cattle, and shall “ produce a Note or Ticket that the Toll was “ paid at any of the said Gates or Turnpikes.

“ But whereas several Waggons, Carts, Drays,
 “ or other Carriages, laden, may probably pass
 “ the said Road many Times in the same Day,
 “ and it is but reasonable that the Horses, or

“ other Cattle, drawing such Carriages, laden,
 “ and so passing as aforesaid, should pay more “ than once in the same Day; it was further enact“ ed and provided, That all Horses, or other “ Cattle, drawing such Waggons, Carts, Drays, “ or other Carriages, that shall pass through any “ Gate or Turnpike to be erected by virtue of “ this Act, laden as aforesaid, more than twice
 “ in the same Day, shall, at the third Time, pay
 “ the several and respective Tolls directed to be “ paid at the first Time for passing through any
 “ of the said Gates or Turnpikes.”

It was further enacted, “ That no Part of the “ Lands to be purchased by the Authority of this “ Act, and made use of for making or widening
 “ any Part of the said Road, shall be made use
 “ of for the erecting of any Buildings whatsoever,
 “ other than of such Toll-Houses and Watch-“ Houses as may be erected by Order of the said “ Trustees; and that no Building shall be erect“ ed on any new Foundation, by any Proprietors “ or Occupiers of Lands, adjacent to the new in“ tended Part of the said Road, betwixt the Foun- “ tain, at Peerless Pool, and that End of Goswell- “ Street Road, near Islington, within forty Feet
 “ of the same; and that no Part of the said Road “ shall be paved.

“ And if any such Buildings, within forty “ Feet as aforesaid, shall be hereafter erected, or “ any Part of such Road shall be paved, contrary “ to the true Intent and Meaning of this Act,
 “ the same shall be deemed a common Nuisance.

“ And further, that no Gate or Turnpike shall “ be erected, or any Toll taken or received, on “ either Side of the Old-Street Road, where the “ said new Road opens into the same, by virtue “ or in pursuance of any Powers granted to the “ Trustees of the Old-Street Road, by any Act or “ Acts of Parliament made for repairing the same; “ unless it shall appear, by Certificate under the “ Hands of seven of the said Trustees, and veri“ fied by the Oath of their Treasurer, to be made “ before one or more Justice or Justices of the “ Peace for the County of Middlesex, that the “ Tolls of the said Old-Street Trust, collected at “ the Gates as they now stand, are diminished “ above 120*l*. a Year since the making of the “ said new Road; such Diminution to be compu“ ted from the Monies collected on the said Old- “ Street Road, from the 1*st* Day of January to “ the 31*st* Day of December, 1760, both inclu-“ five.

“ And further, that no Gate or Turnpike shall
 “ be erected, or any Toll taken or received,
 “ where the said new Road opens into that Part “ of Goswell-Street Road, next Islington, or with-
 “ in sixty Yards thereof, by virtue or in pursu“ ance of any Powers granted to the Trustees of “ the Islington Turnpike.

“ That the said Trustees shall have full Power
 “ to cause Lamps to be erected upon the said “ Road, and to appoint a Number of fit and able-“ bodied Men to watch and guard the said Road
 “ in the Night-time. And that the Expences of “ erecting, lighting, and maintaining such Lamps,
 “ and the Allowances to be made to such Watch“ men; and all other Charges incident to the said “ respective Services, shall be paid and defrayed “ out of the Money to be raised by virtue of this “ Act.

“ And

“ And it was further enacted, that if any Person shall haul or draw, in, upon, and along any Part of the said Road, any Tree or Trees, Piece or Pieces of Timber, or any Stone or Stones, (Mill-Stones excepted) otherwise than on Wheel-Carriages, every such Person for every such Offence shall forfeit the Sum of 40s.”

This Road opens an easy and pleasant Communication with two great Roads from the Royal Exchange; namely, with the Northern Road, through Islington to Highbury; and with the Western Road, across the South End of Islington, and thence to Rigon's Farm, and through Marybone.

C H A P. VII.

The Marriage and Coronation of King George III. Order of Common-Council for its Members to be clothed in Mazarine Silk Gowns. City Address, on the King's Marriage, to the King, and to the Queen. Their Majesties dine at Guildhall. Honours paid to Mr. Pitt. Their Majesties Pictures set up in Guildhall, and the King's Statue in the Royal Exchange. Fire at St. Saviour's Dock. Violent Storm. Cock-Lane Ghost. High Tide. City Address on the Conquest of Martinico. Birth of the Prince of Wales. City Address thereon. Act concerning the Fishery. Negotiation for Peace begun. Address on taking the Havannah. William Beckford Lord Mayor. Great Flood.

A. D.
1760.

Lord
Mayor
Chief Butler.

Marriage of King
George
III.

HIS Majesty King George III.'s Coronation being settled, the Court of Claims met in the Painted-Chamber, and allowed the Claims of the Lord Mayor of London and the Mayor of Oxford, to execute the Office of Chief Butler on that Occasion.

In the Interim his Majesty King George III. demanded in Marriage her most Serene Highness Charlotte, Princess of Mecklenburgh; and their Nuptials were solemnized on the 18th of September, 1761, at Nine o'Clock in the Evening, in the Chapel Royal, by Dr. Secker, Archbishop of Canterbury. To which her Highness was conducted and handed by the Duke of York, the King's Brother, preceded by 120 Ladies in sumptuous Dresses, attended by six Daughters of Dukes, as her Bride-Maids: And her Train was supported by six Daughters of Earls.

On this joyous Occasion the Nation expressed their Concurrence with the Inclinations of their Sovereign; and the City of London, on the Common-Council assembled, led the Van with the following congratulatory Addresses; and the Common-Councilmen, in order to perform this Part of their Duty with greater Solemnity, robed themselves in Blue Mazarine Silk Gowns, pursuant to a late Order of a Court of Aldermen and Common-Council, “ that for the future each Member of the Court of Common-Council should wear a blue Mazarine Silk Gown in the Discharge of his Office.”

Order for the Common-Council to wear
blue Mazarine Silk
Gowns.

The Address to his Majesty on his Marriage was expressed in the most dutiful and respectful Terms, in these Words.

To the King's Most Excellent Majesty.
The humble Address of the Lord-Mayor, Aldermen and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council assembled.

*The City
Address on his Majesty's Marriage.*

“ Be pleased, most gracious Sovereign, to accept the cordial and respectful Congratulations of your Majesty's ever dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lord-Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council assembled, on the Solemnization of your Majesty's most auspicious Nuptials.

“ Warmly interested from every Motive of Gratitude, as well as Duty, in whatever can affect your Royal Mind, we enjoy the highest Satisfaction in the Completion of our Wishes, by your Majesty's happy Union with a Princess of the most exalted Merit; a Princess, who, by her Descent from an illustrious Lineage (respectable for their firm and constant Zeal for the Protestant Religion, and dear to us for their particular Attachment to your Majesty's Royal House) and above all, by her own most eminent Virtues, and amiable Endowments, was most worthy to engage your Majesty's Esteem and Affection, and to share the Honours of the British Crown.

“ We adore the Divine Goodness, that, as in all your Majesty's other Conduct, so more particularly in a Choice of the highest Importance to your Majesty and to your Kingdoms, hath so visibly guided and inspired your Royal Breast: A Choice, which we thankfully acknowledge the strongest and most acceptable Proof of your Majesty's paternal Attention to improve the Happiness and Security of your People, and to render the same stable and permanent to Posterity.

“ May the same Providence long preserve your Majesty, and your Royal Consort, to enjoy the Fruits of this blessed Marriage, in an uninterrupted Course of conjugal Felicity, and in a numerous Offspring, resembling their illustrious Parents in every public, as well as private Virtue. And may the imperial Crown of these Realms be worn with undiminished Lustre by their Descendants, till Time shall be no more.”

The following is his Majesty's most gracious Answer:

“ I thank you most heartily for your dutiful and affectionate Address. This fresh Mark of your Attachment to my Person, and particularly the warm Sentiments of Joy and Satisfaction, which you express on the happy Choice I have made of a Queen for a Consort, are most pleasing to me. The City of London may always depend on my unceasing Care for their Welfare and Prosperity.”

The humble Address of the Lord-Mayor, Aldermen, and Common-Council, to her Majesty.

Most gracious Queen,

“ We, his Majesty's ever dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lord-Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council assembled, humbly beg Leave to ex“ press,

"pres, in your Royal Presence, the exceeding
 "great Joy we feel at your Majesty's safe Arrival,
 "so ardently wished for, and so impatiently ex"pected; and at the same Time to congratulate
 "your Majesty's most happy Nuptials with a Mo"narch, whose early Wisdom, Fortitude, and "Piety, add Lustre to the Diadem he wears, and "render him the Darling, as well as Father, of "his People.

"We do, with that honest Warmth and Sincere-
 "rity, which characterize the British Nation, hum"bly assure your Majesty, that as the many Vir"tues and amiable Endowments, which your "Majesty possesses in so eminent a Degree, can"not fail to bless our beloved Sovereign with "every domestic Happiness; so will they ever
 "endear your Majesty to a People, not more dis"tinguished for their Love of Liberty, and their "Country, than for their inviolable Loyalty and "Gratitude to those Princes, from whom they "derive Protection and Prosperity.

"Long may your Majesty live to share the Fe"licity you are formed to inspire. And may "your Majesty prove the happy Mother of a Race
 "of Princes, to transmit the Glories of this distin"guished Reign to the latest of our Posterity."

Her Majesty's most gracious Answer.

"I thank you for your kind Congratulations,
 "so full of Duty to the King, and Affection to "me. My warmest Wishes will ever attend this "great City."

Their Majesties dine at Guildhall.

Hitherto there was kept up a seeming good Understanding between the Court and the City.
 Sir Samuel Fludyer, the new Lord Mayor, and the whole City, were honoured by their Majesties with their Royal Company at Dinner, at Guildhall, on Lord Mayor's Day. Upon which Occasion the Ceremonial was conducted in this Manner.

The Ceremonial of the Reception of the King, &c.

The Aldermen, Sheriffs, and other Officers, having met at the Mansion-House about Ten in the Forenoon, Sir Samuel Fludyer, Bart. Lord Mayor elect, in the usual Manner, and with the usual Attendants, proceeded to Westminster, where his Lordship was sworn in before the Barons of the Exchequer.

While that Ceremony was performing, their Majesties, with the Royal Family, honoured the City with their Presence. The Manner in which this Visit was paid was as follows:

His Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland, in his Coach drawn by six Horses, preceded, and followed by Guards.

Her Royal Highness the Princess Amelia, in the same Manner.

His Royal Highness the Duke of York, in a new and superb State-Coach, in the same Manner.

Their Royal Highnesses Prince William, Prince Henry, and Prince Frederick, in one Coach, in the same Manner.

Their Royal Highnesses the Princess Dowager of Wales, the Princess Augusta, and the Princess Caroline, in one Coach, preceded by twelve Footmen in black Caps, with Guards, and a grand Retinue.

Their Majesties in their State-Coach, preceded by the Earl of Harcourt in his Chariot, and the Dukes of Rutland and Devonshire in another Chariot, the Grenadier-Guards and the Yeomen of the Guards, followed by a Corps of the Horse-Guards, passed on to St. Paul's Church-Yard; at the East End of which the following Speech was addressed, with all Humility, to the King's most excellent Majesty, by the senior Scholar of the Grammar-School in Christ's Hospital.

"Most august and gracious Sovereign,

"From the Condescension and Goodness,
 "which your Majesty displays towards even the "meanest of your Subjects, we are emboldened
 "to hope you will accept the Tribute of Obe"dience and Duty, which we, poor Orphans, are "permitted to present unto you.

"Educated and supported by the Munificence
 "of a Charity, founded, enlarged, and protect"ed by your Royal Predecessors, with the warm"est Gratitude we acknowledge our inexpressible
 "Obligations to its Bounty, and the distinguish"ed Happiness we have hitherto enjoyed under "the constant Patronage of former Princes. May "this ever be our Boast and our Glory! Nor can
 "we think we shall offer our Prayer in vain,
 "whilst, with earnest but humble Supplications,
 "we implore the Patronage and Protection of
 "your Majesty.

"To our ardent Petition for your princely Fa"vours, may we presume, dread Sovereign, to "add our most respectful Congratulations on "your auspicious Marriage with your Royal Con"sort. Strangers to the Disquietude, which of"ten dwells within the Circle of a Crown, long
 "may your Majesties experience the heart-felt
 "Satisfaction of domestic Life; in the uninter"rupted Possession of every Endearment of the "most tender Union, every Blessing of conjugal
 "Affection, every Comfort of parental Felicity.
 "And may a Race of Princes, your illustrious "Issue and Descendants, formed by the Example,
 "and inheriting the Virtues of their great and "good Progenitors, continue to sway the British
 "Scepter to the latest Posterity."

As soon as he had finished, the Boys in a grand Chorus chanted, God save the King, Amen. After which, the senior Scholar delivered two Copies of the Speech to the King and Queen, who received them most graciously.

From thence their Majesties went to the House of Mr. Barclay, opposite to Bow-Church, which,
 on this Occasion, was decorated in a very sumptuous Manner; the Rooms, Balcony, &c. being hung with crimson Damask; and from this House they saw the Procession of the Lord-Mayor, &c.

A great Number of grand Equipages, belonging to the Nobility and Gentry, the Judges, foreign Ambassadors, Ladies, &c. mingled in the Procession of the Royal Family, by which Means it was made extensive and brilliant.

At the Close of the Procession, Earl Temple and the Right Honourable William Pitt, Esq; coming in one Chariot, were honoured with the most hearty Acclamations of People of all Ranks.

The Show on the Water was very brilliant.

The Lord-Mayor, Aldermen, &c. landed at the Temple Stairs, and returned in the Order they went.

The State-Coach was drawn by six beautiful iron-grey Horses, richly caparisoned and adorned with

with Ribbons; and all the Companies made a very grand Appearance.

The Armourers and Braziers, the Skinners and the Fishmongers Companies, particularly distinguished themselves on this Occasion. The former were marked by an Archer riding erect in his Car, having his Bow in his left Hand, and his Quiver and Arrows hanging behind his left Shoulder; and a Man in complete Armour. The Skinners were distinguished by seven of their Company being dressed in Fur, having their Skins painted in the Form of Indian Princes. The Fishmongers Pageants consisted of a Statue of St. Peter finely gilt, a Dolphin, two Mermaids, and two Sea-Horses; which had a very pleasing Effect.

The Procession being ended, the Royal Family were conducted by the Sheriffs to Guildhall, at the Entrance of which they were received by the Lord Mayor, who, kneeling, presented the City Sword to the King, which being returned, it was carried before his Majesty by his Lordship to the Council-Chamber, where the Compliments of the City were made, and where his Majesty conferred the Honour of Knighthood on Nathaniel Nash and John Cartwright, Esqrs. the two Sheriffs, and on Thomas Fludyer, Esq; Brother to the Lord Mayor. From thence, in like Manner, the Royal Family proceeded to the Hustings, where a most magnificent and sumptuous Entertainment was provided.

His Majesty and all the Royal Family expressed their entire Approbation of it; and the Nobility and foreign Ministers acknowledged it was beyond any Thing they had ever seen.

Bill of Fare, as served up at the Royal Table in Guild-Hall, on the Lord-Mayor's Day.

KING and QUEEN.

Each four Services and Removes.

First Service.

Consisting of Tureens, Fish, Venison, &c. Nine Dishes.

Second Service.

A fine Roast; Ortolans, Quails, Knots, Ruffs, Pea-Chicks, &c. Nine Dishes.

Third Service.

Consisting of Vegetables and made Dishes, Green Peas, Green Morells, Green Truffles, Cardoons, &c. Eleven Dishes.

Fourth Service.

Curious Ornaments in Pastry, Jelly, Blomonges, Cakes, &c. Nine Dishes.

Eight of the ROYAL FAMILY.

Four on the right Hand of the King, and four on the left.

Each four Services before them, as follows.

First Service.

Consisting of Venison, Turtles, Soups, Fish of every Sort, viz. Dorys, Mullies, Turbots, Bets, Tench, Soals, &c. Seven Dishes.

Second Service.

Ortolans, Teal, Quails, Ruffs, Snipes, Partridges, Pheasants, &c. Seven Dishes.

Third Service.

Vegetables and made Dishes, green Peas, Artichokes, Ducks, Tongues, fat Livers, &c. Nine Dishes.

Fourth Service.

Curious Ornaments in Cakes, both savoury and sweet, and Jellies, Blomonges in Variety of Shapes, Figures, and Colours. Nine Dishes.

On the Table, between each Service, was placed near 100 cold Ornamentals, and a grand silver Epergne, filled with various Kinds of Shell-Fish of different Colours.

Hot and cold Dishes 414; the Desert not included.

Yet notwithstanding that every Thing was done to convince their Majesties of the Loyalty and Affection of their faithful Subjects in the City of London, the Court went away dissatisfied, and the Minions of State grafted Discontent with his faithful Citizens in the Royal Breast, upon the Distinction with which the Spectators received Mr. Pitt and Lord Temple. Nothing can describe, besides the Eye and the Ear that saw and heard it, the Affection with which all Ranks of People saluted Mr. Pitt and Lord Temple, who went in the Rear of the grand Cavalcade of Coaches. These two Patriots rode in one Chariot, and seemingly with a Design to be concealed from the People. But they were scarce entered the City, through Temple-Bar, before they were known: and such an universal and continual Acclamation of Praise began from not only the Streets, but the Windows, Balconies, and the Crouds seated on the very Tops of the Houses, that it was one continued Shout from thence to Guildhall, which the new Ministers of State interpreted an Indignity, and a Token of Disaffection to the King. And from this Time there appeared daily an increasing Dislike to the City of London.

Nevertheless, at a Court of Common-Council held the 18th of November, a Motion was made and agreed to, That his Majesty's Statue be erected in the Royal Exchange, among those of his Predecessors; and that the Pictures of his Majesty and his Royal Confort be put up in the Guildhall of the City. And another Motion was made and agreed to, That fit and able Persons be employed to make the said Statue, and to draw the said Pictures; and that an humble Application be made to their Majesties, that they would be pleased to do the City the Honour to sit for their Pictures. And a Committee being appointed, they, on the twenty-third, waited on their Majesties, separately, for that Purpose; and at the same Time Sir Samuel Fludyer, the Lord Mayor, in Obedience to his Instructions, took Occasion to express the deep and grateful Sense which the Common-Council held of their Majesties gracious Condescension, in honouring their late Entertainment with their Royal Presence. Their Majesties were pleased to receive the Committee in a very gracious Manner, to express their entire Satisfaction at the late Entertainment, and to assure the Committee that both the Pictures should be sent to the City; which was accordingly soon after done, and placed over the Hustings in Guildhall. And the Statue of his Majesty was fixed in a Nich by the Side of his Grand-father in the Royal Exchange, where it now stands.

On the fourth of January, 1762, War was declared against Spain in the usual Places, and with the accustomed Ceremonies, as related before on p. 11, 12.

Honours paid to Mr. Pitt, &c.

Their Majesties Pictures put up in Guildhall.

His Majesty's Statue set up in the Royal Exchange.

On

Fire at St.
Saviour's
Dock.

On the seventh a terrible Fire broke out in a Granary at St. Saviour's Dock, which, in a short Time, consumed that, and eight Houses, besides greatly damaging several others.

Violent
Storm.

On the twelfth there was a violent Storm of Wind, attended with Rain, which did very considerable Damage to the Shipping and Craft in the River. Some Houses, and many Chimnies were blown down, by which several Lives were lost. The River Thames rose so high, that the Gardens at Millbank, Westminster, were laid under Water.

Cock-
Lane
Ghost.

Some Time in this Month, the Town was alarmed by a most palpable Imposture, a Familiarity and Conversation which a Girl of about twelve Years of Age pretended to have with an invisible Agent, or the Spirit of a Woman deceased. This Girl, under the Direction of her Parents, &c. behaved so artfully, that she prevailed with several Clergymen, and other People of Reputation, to give Credit to, and to countenance her Practices. The Particulars of which Affair are as follow.

On the thirteenth of February, between the Hours of Eleven and Twelve at Night, a Gentleman was sent for to the House of one Parsons, officiating Parish-Clerk of St. Sepulchre's, in Cock-Lane, near West-Smithfield, to be Witness to the Noises, and other extraordinary Circumstances, attending the supposed Presence of a Spirit, that for two Years past had been heard in the Night, to the great Terror of the Family. To throw some Light on this strange Affair, we shall begin with a Narrative published at that Time, the Substance of which was as follows :

That in 1759, one Mr. K— employed an Agent to carry a Letter to a young Gentlewoman of a reputable Family in Norfolk, and to bring her up to London in a Post-Chaise, if she should be willing to come: that she did come; but Mr. K— being at Greenwich, she followed him there directly, and was received by him, after a Journey of one hundred Miles performed in one Day, with much Tendernefs. After some short Stay at Greenwich, where it was thought necessary that she should make a Will in his Favour, she was removed to a Lodging near the Mansion-House; from thence to Lodgings behind St. Sepulchre's Church; and, lastly, to a House in Bartlet-Court, in the Parish of Clerkenwell: Here, in 1760, she was taken ill of the Small-Pox, and, on or before the 31st of January, her Sister, who lived reputably in Pall-Mall, was first made acquainted with her Illness and Place of Residence, and, being overjoyed to hear of her, went immediately to see her, and found her in a fair Way of doing well: Next Day she sent to her, and received a favourable Account of her; but, on the Morning following, Word was brought that her Sister was dead. She died on February the second, 1760, and was buried, in two or three Days after, at the Church of St. John, Clerkenwell, her Sister attending the Funeral, who was surpris'd at not seeing a Plate on the Coffin, and expressed that Surprize to Mr. Brown after the Funeral was over; lamenting, at the same Time, that she had not been permitted to see her Sister's Corpse, the Coffin being screwed down before she came. She added, that K— had married one of her Sisters, and had ruined the other, who was buried by the Name of —, as appears by the Parish Register. By the Will already mentioned K— availed himself of her Fortune, to the Prejudice of her Brother and Sisters, who all lived in perfect Harmony till this unhappy Affair happened. Such is the Account given by Mr. Brown, of Amen-Corner. A worthy Clergyman, however, who attended her several Times, and who administered to her the last Comforts of his Function, declares, that the Small-Pox, with which she was seized, was of the confluent Sort, and that the Gentlemen of the Faculty, who attended her, had pronounced her irrecoverable some Days before her Death.

It was, however, the Ghost of this Person that Parsons declared had taken Possession of his Girl, a Child about twelve Years old, who lay with the Deceased, in the Absence of her supposed Husband, when he was in the Country at a Wedding about two Years ago, and then it was that the Knocking was first heard, to the great Terror of this Child; she frequently crying out that she might not be taken away. Soon after this Woman died, whose Apparition was now supposed to appear to this same Child; and, in Answer to the Question put to her one Night, what was the Occasion of the first Knocking, &c. before she died? answered, that it was the Spirit of her Sister, the first Wife of Mr. K—, who was Husband to them both.

Having now sufficiently prepared the Reader, we shall proceed in our Narrative. The Gentleman, already said to have been sent for, attended, and found the Child in Bed, and the Spirit being at Hand, several Questions were put to it by the Father, as shall be related hereafter. The Gentleman, not caring to pronounce too hastily upon what appeared to him extraordinary, got some Friends together, among whom were two or three Clergymen, about twenty other Persons, and two Negroes, and sat up another Night.

They first thoroughly examined the Bed, Bed-Cloaths, &c. and, being satisfied there was no visible Appearance of a Deceit, the Child, with its Sister, was put into Bed, which was found to shake extremely by the Gentleman who had placed himself at the Foot of it.

Among others, the following Questions were asked: Whether her Disturbance was occasioned by any ill Treatment from Mr. K—? Yes.—Whether she was brought to an untimely End by Poison? Yes.—In what was the Poison administered, in Beer or Purl? Purl.—How long before her Death? Three Hours?—Is the Person called Carrots able to give Information about the Poison? Yes.—Whether she was K—'s Wife's Sister? Yes.—Whether she was married to K—? No.—Whether any other Person than K— were concerned in the Poisoning? No.—Whether she could visibly appear to anyone? Yes.—Whether she would do so? Yes.—Whether she could go out of that House? Yes.—Whether she would follow the Child every where? Yes.—Whether she was pleased in being asked Questions? Yes.—Whether it eased her Mind? Yes.—[Here a mysterious Noise, compared to the Fluttering of Wings round the Room, was heard]—How long before her Death had she told Carrots (her Servant) that she was poisoned? One Hour.—[Here Carrots, who was admitted to be one of the Company that Night, asserted that the Deceased had not told her so, she being at that Time speechless].—How long did Carrots live with her? Three or four Days.—[Carrots attested the Truth of this.].—Whether, if the Accused should be taken up, he would confess? Yes.—Whether she should be at ease in her Mind if the Man was hanged? Yes.—How long would it be before he would be executed? Three Years.—How many Clergymen were in the Room? Three.—How many Negroes? Two.—Whether she could distinguish the Person of any one in the Room? Yes.—Whether the Colour of a Watch held up by one of the Clergy, was white, yellow, blue, or black? Answered black.—[The Watch was in a black shagreen Case].—At what Time she would depart in the Morning? At Four o'Clock. Accordingly at this Hour the Noise removed to the Wheat-sheaf, a Public-House, at the Distance of a few Doors, in the Bed-Chamber of the Landlord and Landlady, to the great Affright and Terror of them both. Such is the Manner of interrogating the Spirit; the Answer is given by Knocking or Scratching. An Affirmative was one Knock; a Negative, two. Displeasure was expressed by Scratching.

On the Night of the first of February many Gentlemen, eminent for their Rank and Character, were, by the Invitation of the Reverend Mr. Aldrich of Clerkenwell, assembled at his House, for the Examination of the Noises supposed to be made by a departed Spirit for the Detection of some enormous Crime.

About Ten at Night the Gentlemen met in the Chamber in which the Girl, supposed to be disturbed by a Spirit, had, with proper Caution, been put to Bed by several Ladies. They sat rather more than an Hour, and, hearing nothing, went down Stairs, when they interrogated the Father of the Girl, who denied, in the strongest Terms, any Knowledge or Belief of Fraud.

The supposed Spirit had before publicly promised, by an affirmative Knock, that it would attend one of the Gentlemen into the Vault under the Church of St. John, Clerkenwell, where the Body was deposited, and give a Token of her Presence there by a Knock upon her Coffin: it was therefore determined to make this Trial of the Existence or Veracity of the supposed Spirit.

While they were enquiring and deliberating, they were summoned into the Girl's Chamber by some Ladies, who were near her Bed, and who had heard Knocks and Scratches. When the Gentlemen entered, the Girl declared that she felt the Spirit like a Mouse upon her Back, and was required to hold her Hands out of Bed. From that Time, though the Spirit was very solemnly required to manifest its Existence, by Appearance, by Impression on the Hand or Body of any present, by Scratches, Knocks, or any other Agency, no Evidence of any preternatural Power was exhibited.

The Spirit was then very seriously advertised, that the Person to whom the Promise was made, of striking the Coffin, was then about to visit the Vault, and that the Performance of the Promise was then claimed. The Company, at One o'Clock, went into the Church, and the Gentleman, to whom the Promise was made, went, with one more, into the Vault. The Spirit was solemnly required to perform its Promise; but nothing more than Silence ensued: The Person supposed to be accused by the Spirit then went down, with several others; but no Effect was perceived. Upon their Return they examined the Girl, but could draw no Confession from her. Between Two and Three she desired, and was permitted, to go home with her Father.

It was therefore the Opinion of the whole Assembly, that the Child had some Art of making or counterfeiting particular Noises, and that there was no Agency of any higher Cause.

This mysterious Affair, however, was afterwards discovered to be no more than a wicked Contrivance to be revenged on Mr. K—, for suing for a small Sum of Money he had lent, and could not otherwise recover, from one of the Parties concerned. Mr. K— being sufficiently supported by Evidence of the Premises, indicted William Parsons and Elizabeth his Wife, the Parents of the Girl that acted the chief Part in this Affair, and also the Reverend Mr. Moore, and a reputable Tradesman, for a Conspiracy, in the Affair of the Cock-Lane Ghost, to injure his Character: And their Trials came on before Lord Chief Justice Mansfield in the Court of King's-Bench at Guildhall, by a special Jury, on the tenth and twelfth of July; when, after a Trial of twelve Hours, the Conspirators were found guilty, and punished. The Clergyman and another were brought to the Bar and severely reprimanded, and, having compromised the Affair with the Prosecutor, for a Sum of Money, they were dismissed. Parsons was pilloried three Times in one Month, and imprisoned two Years; his Wife was imprisoned one Year; and Mary Frazier sent to Bridewell for six Months.

On the ninth of February, the Banks of the Thames were so overflowed, that many full Casks and other Merchandize were swept away from the Keys and Wharfs, and the Prison-Yard of the Borough Compter was some Inches under Water. And on the tenth of March the Tide rose so high, that it flowed into Westminster-Hall as far as the Stairs leading up to the House of Commons.

An extraordinary Tide.

The great Success of his Majesty's Operations by Sea being farther crowned in the Conquest of Martinico (the most considerable of the French Sugar-Islands) the Lord-Mayor, Aldermen and Common-Council, on the seventh of April, waited on his Majesty with the following congratulatory Address on the Occasion:

Conquest of Martinico.

To the King's Most Excellent Majesty.

The Humble Address of the Lord-Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, on the Conquest of the Island of Martinico, presented April 7.

City Address to the King.

" May it please your Majesty,

" Graciously to accept the humble Congratulations of your ever dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lord-Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons

" of

" of your City of London, in Common-Council
 " assembled, upon the glorious and important
 " Conquest of the strong, fertile, and opu-
 " lent Island of Martinico, and the consequen" tial Surrender of the Island of St. Lucia; Ac" quisitions doubly valuable, as they considerably
 " diminish the naval and commerical Strength
 " of France, and proportionably extend and se" cure the Commerce and Navigation of Great " Britain and her Colonies.

" The amazing Rapidity of this Conquest re" flects a Lustre upon our former Triumphs,
 " as well as the highest Honour upon the Royal
 " Wisdom that planned and directed, the Skill,
 " Unanimity, and Activity, that conducted,
 " and the heroic Valour of the Fleet and
 " Army that effected it with so little Loss, and " leaves your Majesty at full liberty to turn " your victorious Arms to other Places, where
 " the Enemies of your Majesty and your King" doms are no less vulnerable, and will most " sensibly feel the Necessity of dissolving their " late dangerous Compact, and of submitting to " Terms of Peace adequate to our Successes, and
 " the Expenses of this just and necessary War;
 " your Majesty, undazzled by the Splendor of " repeated Victories, having no other View than " to vindicate the Honour of your Crown, and " to establish and secure the just Rights and " Possessions of your Subjects.

" In so laudable a Pursuit, so becoming the " Father of his People, your Majesty may firmly
 " rely on the strongest and most chearful Ef" forts of the grateful Citizens of London, uni" ted in Duty and Affection to your Majesty's " sacred Person and Government, and in Zeal
 " for the Glory and Prosperity of their Coun" try."

To which Address his Majesty was pleased to return the following most gracious Answer :

" I thank you for your loyal and affectionate
 " Congratulations upon our late important Suc" cesses. Too much Praise cannot be given to " the Bravery and Conduct of my Fleet and " Army. You say truly that I am not dazzled
 " by the Splendor of repeated Victories: The " permanent Prosperity of my People, as a free " and commerical Nation, has always been the " Object of my Ambition: What conduces
 " most to that End, I shall ever count my " greatest Glory."

The City of London having laboured under great Inconveniencies for Want of a proper Supply of wholesome Fish at a moderate Price, an Act of Parliament was passed this Sessions for better supplying the Cities of London and Westminster with Fish, to reduce the exorbitant Price thereof, and to encourage and protect Fishermen. The Act passed as follows:

Act of Parliament concerning the Fishery.

That any Person, though no Fishmonger,
 may buy, at any Market, Sea-coast, or River, &c. any Fish in Season, and sizeable, paying the accustomed Dues at the Place of Purchase; and may sell the same again in any Fish or Flesh-Market, paying the usual Market-Dues, Co- vent-Garden Market and the Precincts thereof excepted.

Such Fish shall not be re-sold by the first Purchaser, before the same shall be brought to Lon- don or Westminster, or to where consigned, under Penalty of twenty Pounds, and shall be conveyed to the Places consigned, without being liable to be stopped, and exposed to Sale on the Way.

Carriages employed in this Service shall carry
 Fish only, and shall be marked on the Outside,
 Fish Machine Only; and shall be entered at the Office for licensing Hackney-Coaches, paying one Shilling for the Registering; and numbered, on Penalty of forty Shillings, and shall not be liable to be deemed common Stage-Waggons,
 &c.

They shall be permitted to travel with four Horses in Pairs, or with one Horse, or three Horses in Length, though with narrow Wheels, and shall pay the like Toll as Post-Chaises, &c. drawn by a like Number of Horses; and shall be allowed to travel on Sundays and Holidays;
 as shall also the returned Horses of such Carriages; and neither Carriage nor Horses, if returning empty, shall be liable to pay Toll; and if any Game, or other Thing besides Fish, and the necessary Implements of the Carriage, be put therein for Conveyance, the Person putting in the same shall forfeit five Pounds; and if the Driver shall take up, or suffer any Passenger,
 Game, or other Thing to be carried therein,
 he shall forfeit forty Shillings, and on Non-Payment shall be committed and kept to hard Labour for any Time not exceeding one Month.

If Bulk shall be broke of any Fish-Carriage consigned for the London Markets, &c. before being brought within the Bills of Mortality, or Sale made of the Fish before they are exposed in the said Markets, the Offender forfeits ten Pounds.

The Fish, after being so brought up, shall be forthwith sorted, and exposed to Sale in some public Market the next Morning, Sundays excepted; and until such Fish is so exposed, no Part thereof shall be sold by Retail, on Penalty of ten Pounds; but Mackarel brought up by such Carriages may be sold on Sundays.

All Contracts made for Fish, except for Salmon and Lobsters, are vacated after May 1, 1762, and the Parties discharged from the Penalties of their Contracts; and Persons contracting after the said Time for buying up Fish, other than Salmon and Lobsters, before the same shall be first brought to Market, and duly exposed to Sale there, shall forfeit fifty Pounds, and the Contract is declared void.

And after May 1, 1762, no Contract for Brit- ish Salmon and Lobsters shall be in force longer than one Year; and the like shall take Place with respect to any parole Contracts.

After May 1, 1762, no Person shall employ, or be employed, in buying at the Markets of London and Westminster, &c. any Fish brought thither for Sale, to be afterwards divided among Fishmongers, or others, to be sold; nor shall any Person buy, in the said Markets, any Fish but what shall be for his own Sale or Use, on Penalty of twenty Pounds.

No Salesman or other Person shall refuse to sell, or enter into an Agreement not to sell, to or for any particular Person's Use, any Fish exposed to Sale, at a public Market, on Penalty of twenty Pounds.

And all Fish of the respective Sorts hereafter specified, brought after May 1, 1762, for Sale to the London Markets, shall be openly sold at the first Hand, and in no greater Number or Quantity in a Lot than is hereafter prescribed; and every Lot shall consist of one Sort of Fish only, viz.

All fresh Salmon, Sturgeon, large fresh Cod, Skait, Turbot, Bret, Brill, Pearl, Kingston, Ling, and Dorys, by the single Fish: All half fresh Cod, not exceeding two in any one Lot: All quarter fresh Cod, not exceeding four in any one Lot: All Mulletts, Cole-Fish, Salmon-trout, and other Trouts, not exceeding two in any one Lot: All small Cod, not exceeding twenty-four in any one Lot, in Billingsgate Market, or within 150 Yards of Billingsgate Dock; and in any other Market within the weekly Bills of Mortality, not exceeding eight in any one Lot.

Small Pike, Billingsgate, six in a Lot; other Markets four.

Large Haddock, Billingsgate, four; other Markets two.

Small Haddock, Billingsgate, twenty-four; other Markets eight.

Carp, Gurnet, Tench, and Sea-Bass, Billingsgate, six; other Markets four.

Thornbacks, Billingsgate, two; other Markets one.

Large Soals, Billingsgate, four Pair; other Markets two Pair.

Small Soals, Billingsgate, eight Pair; other Markets four Pair.

Mackarel, Whittings, Whiting-Pouts, Plaice, Dabbs, Herrings, Pilchards, Garb-Fish, Flounders, and Maids, Billingsgate, sixty; other Markets thirty.

Smelts, Billingsgate, fifty-two; other Markets, twenty-six.

Eels, Billingsgate, twenty Pounds; other Markets ten Pounds, unless any single Fish shall exceed that Weight.

Large Lobsters and Crabs, Billingsgate, twenty; other Markets ten.

Small Lobsters and Crabs, Billingsgate, forty; other Markets ten.

None of the said several Species of Fish shall be bought or sold at the first Hand, in the said Markets, in a greater Number or Quantity in a Lot than is prescribed above, nor more than one Sort of Fish in a Lot shall be sold, or offered for Sale, on Penalty of five Pounds.

But a smaller Number of any of the said Fish than a Lot consists of, if it contains more than one; and also a lesser Weight of Eels than makes one Lot, may be sold or exposed to Sale in the said Markets.

No Fish shall be sold again, or exposed to Sale the same Day, in the same Market where it was before sold, on Penalty of ten Pounds; but the Buyer may sell the same, whilst sound and wholesome, in any other Place.

Before any Fish, to be sold at the first Hand in any of the said Markets, be exposed to Sale, an Account of the Sorts, and Quantity of each, in large legible Characters, shall be put up at the Fish-Stand (the Number of Flounders, Plaice, Dabbs, excepted; and also of Mackarel, Maids, Herrings, and Pilchards;) and if any other Fish of the Sorts mentioned in the Act be brought for Sale, before the Market of the Day is over, they shall likewise be added to the Account, before they are exposed to Sale; and the said Accounts shall be kept up, undefaced, till all the Fish be sold, or the Market be over, on Penalty of five Pounds. Or if any Person, before such Time, shall wilfully take down, deface, or alter the Accounts so put up, or cause the same to be done, he shall forfeit forty Shillings.

No Fisherman, &c. after the Arrival of his Vessel from fishing, shall destroy, or cast away, any of the Fish, not being unwholesome, perished, or unmarketable, remaining unsold after Market is over, on Penalty of being committed and kept to hard Labour for any Time not exceeding two Months, nor less than one Week.

The Provisions in this Act touching the Sale or Buying of Fish within the Bills of Mortality, and Penalties for Non-observance thereof, shall extend to the Parish of St. Mary le Bonne in Middlesex.

The prohibitory Clauses in this Act against Contracts shall not extend to those made, or to be made, with regard to salt or dried Fish, Oysters, Carp, or Tench.

No Information shall be received by a Justice against any Person for being concerned in any Contract for buying up Fish to be sold again contrary to this Act; but the Penalty for entering into such Contract shall be recoverable only, with double Costs, in one of the Courts of Westminster; one Moiety to go to Greenwich Hospital, and the other to the Prosecutor.

The Queen being happily delivered of a Prince on the twelfth of August, the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Common-Council, waited on his Majesty, on the fourteenth, with their Compliments of Congratulation, in the following Address:

The Queen delivered of a Prince.

“ Most Gracious Sovereign,

“ We, your Majesty's ever dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of your City of London, in Common-Council assembled, humbly beg leave to embrace this earliest Opportunity of congratulating your Majesty upon the safe and happy Delivery of the Queen, and the auspicious Birth of a Prince.

The City Address thereon.

“ So important an Event, and upon a Day ever sacred to the Liberty of these Kingdoms, fills us with the most grateful Sentiments of the divine Goodness, that has thus early crowned your Majesty's domestic Happiness, and opened to your People the agreeable Prospect of Permanence and Stability to the Blessings they derive from the Wisdom and Steadiness of your Majesty's victorious Reign.

“ May the same gracious Providence soon restore your Majesty's most amiable and beloved Consort, and give perfect Health and Length of Days to the royal Infant.

“ Long, very long, may your Majesty live, the Guardian and Protector, the Ornament and Delight of Great-Britain; and, by your Instructions and Example, form the Mind of “ your royal Son, to the Government of a free, “ brave, and generous People: And, in the Ful-“ nefs of Time, may that Son fucceed to the “ Virtues as well as to the Throne of his royal “ Father; and preserve, for a long Succession

 “ of Years, the Glory, Happinefs, and Prof-“ perity of his Country.”

To which Address his Majesty was pleased to return the following moft gracious Answer:

“ I receive with the greateft Pleafure thefe
 “ very affectionate Expreffions of your Duty
 “ and Attachment to me and to my Family;
 “ and thank you for your Congratulations upon
 “ an Event fo interefting to me, and to the fu“ ture Welfare of my People, with which my “ own Happinefs, upon this and every other “ Occafion, is infeparably connected. The “ City of London may always depend upon my “ constant Favour and Protection.”

A great Storm of Thunder and Lightning.

The City and Parts adjacent were very much terrified by a dreadful Storm of Thunder and Lightning about Ten o’Clock in the Evening of the 24th of Auguft. The Flafhes were very pale and frequent; and did much Damage in the Environs, till their Power was damped by a heavy Rain, that began between Eleven and Twelve.

Negocia-tion for Peace.

What the City had fo long been dreading, did at laft discover itfelf in the Month of Auguft, 1762. This was an Intention of the new Miniftry to facrifice the Advantages, gained by Great-Britain under the Adminiftration of Mr. Pitt, and the common Intereft of the Nation, to their private Schemes and Emoluments. They were determined upon a Peace, which the Nation were univerfally againft: For on the 30th of Auguft the Negotiation with France was fo far advanced, that a French Duke was nominated to repair to London, and to refide there for that Purpose; of which it was thought proper by the Miniftry to inform the Lord Mayor of London by a fpecial Letter, dated 30th of Auguft.

To the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor.

“ My Lord,

“ I have the Earl of Egremont’s Directions to “ acquaint your Lordfhip, that, in confequence
 “ of his moft Christian Majesty’s Nomination
 “ of the Duke de Nivernois to come here to treat
 “ of a Peace, the King has been pleased to “ Name the Duke of Bedford to go to Paris for “ the fame Purpose; and his Grace’s Appoint“ ment will be declared on Wednesday next the “ 1ft of September. My Lord Egremont thinks “ it may be of ufe to make this public in the “ City as foon as poffible.

“ I am, with the greateft Refpect,

“ My Lord, your Lordfhip’s moft obedient “ humble Servant,

“ R. Wood.”

Fire in Newgate.

On the 8th of September, about Two in the Morning, a Fire broke out at the Back of a Stair-Cafe in the Prefs-Yard, Newgate, which in a few Hours confumed all the Apartments in that Place, greatly damaged the Chapel, and the back Part of a Houfe belonging to a Stocking-Trimmer in Phoenix-Court, Newgate-Street. There were two unfortunate Prifoners in the Rooms which were burnt down, who perifhed in the Flames: Captain Ogle was one (in whole Apartments it is thought it firft began;) he was tried fome Time before for the Murder of the Cook of the Vine Tavern, near Dover-Street, Piccadilly, and, being found a Lunatic, was ordered to remain in Prifon: Thomas Smith was the other unhappy Perfon; his Room was over Captain Ogle’s; he was a noted Horfe-Dealer, and committed not long before on Suspicion of ftealing Corn from Alderman Masters: He left a Wife and three Children. His Wife, the Night before, carried him his whole Effects, amounting, in Money and Bank-Bills, to between 5 and 600*l*. He was heard to call out for Help, and feen to put his Arm through the Iron Grate, which was fo exceffive hot, that it fet his Shirt on Fire; at which Time, it is imagined, he threw his Pocket-Book out with the Notes in it, which were faved. In a few Minutes after the Floor fell in, and both thofe Prifoners were buried in the Ruins; for it burnt fo violently, and the Flames fpread fo faft, that none of the People could get to their Affiftance. There being Plenty of Water, the Fury of the Flames was greatly abated by Six, but continued burning till Two in the Afternoon, when a Party-Wall fell down, but happily did no Damage to any one.

The Thames, on the 27th, rofe on a fudden in a furprizing Manner, and drove the Ships, at their Moorings, with great Fury againft each other; but did very little Damage.

Preter-natural Tide.

The Conqueft of the Havannah being made public, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of London, prefented their Address to his Majesty on that joyous and important Event.

City Address on the Reduction of the Havannah.

To the King’s Moft Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council affembled.

“ Moft gracious Sovereign,

“ We, your Majesty’s ever dutiful and loyal “ Subjects, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and “ Commons of your City of London, in Common-“ Council affembled, humbly beg leave to con“ gratulate your Majesty upon the late fignal
 “ Succels with which it hath pleafed the Al“ mighty to blefs your Majesty’s Arms, in the “ Reduction of the Havannah and its Dependen“ cies (moft properly fited the Key of the “ Spanish West-Indies, and long deemed impreg“ nable) under a Capitulation that does Honour
 “ to the Spirit and Humanity of the Britifh “ Nation.

“ It is with the higheft Pleafure we reflect “ upon the Value and Importance of this Con“ queft, attended with the Acqifition of im-“ menfe Riches, and an irreparable Blow to the “ Trade and naval Power of Spain. A Con“ queft that gives additional Luftre to an al“ ready glorious and fucceffful War; and which “ cannot but ftrike Terror into an Enemy, not “ only unprovoked, but infenfible to the re“ peated Instances of your Majesty’s Good-will, “ Friendfhip, and Moderation; and convince “ him, that there is no Attempt, how arduous “ fsoever, but what, planned and directed by “ the Wifdom of your Majesty’s Councils,
 “ may, under the Divine Providence, be effected
 “ by

“ by the Harmony, Activity, and Abilities of “ such Commanders, and the Valour, Zeal, and “ Emulation of your Fleets and Armies, re“ gardless of any Fatigues or Dangers, where-“ ever the Glory of their King and Country is “ concerned.

“ May the Possession of this very valuable Con“ quest, together with other happy Consequences “ of your Majesty’s Measures, thus wisely and “ vigorously pursued, prove the Means of effec“ tually defeating the ambitious Views of your “ Majesty’s Enemies, and of for ever dissolving
 “ the late alarming Compact of the House of “ Bourbon, calculated to destroy the Commerce
 “ of your Subjects, and replete with Danger to “ the Existence of your Majesty’s ancient and na“ tural Ally, and to the Independence of the rest “ of the Powers of Europe.

“ And we beg Leave humbly to assure your “ Majesty, that your faithful Citizens of London, “ animated with the warmest Sense of Duty to “ your Majesty and their Country, will, with “ unwearied Chearfulness, contribute their utmost “ Efforts to strengthen your Majesty’s Hands, “ until your Enemies, moved by their own re“ peated Losses and Distresses, shall be disposed “ to listen to such Terms of Accommodation as “ your royal Wisdom shall think adequate to our “ glorious Successes; and such as may effectually “ secure the Trade and Navigation of your Sub“ jects, and prevent the Calamities of a future “ War.”

Mr. Beckford elected Lord
 Mayor.

The Time for electing a Lord Mayor for the Year ensuing approaching, a strong Party, which had been formed secretly to set Mr. Alderman William Beckford aside from that high Office, to which he was entitled by Rotation, began to open, and to threaten that worthy and great Man, to get a Negative upon his Election in the Common Hall on Michaelmas-Day. This Conspiracy coming to his Knowledge, Mr. Beckford, with a becoming Spirit of Disdain to be treated in such an undeserving Manner, and to convince the World how little he valued Honours or Power that must be obtained with Imputations to the Prejudice of his personal Character, determined to throw up his Gown as an Alderman; and on the 28th, the Day before the Election of Lord Mayor, he attended the Court of Aldermen and desired Leave to resign the Office of an Alderman. But his Request was postponed; and next Day he was elected Lord Mayor for the Year ensuing; there being eighteen Votes in the Court of Aldermen for Mr. Beckford, and only one for Mr.
Bridgen, who was returned with him by the Common Hall.

Mr. Alderman Beckford desires to resign his Gown.

Is chosen
 Lord
 Mayor.

Whatever might have been the Intentions of Mr. Alderman Beckford’s Enemies, it is certain they were defeated by his Request to resign his Gown. For, apprehending that he would not recede, and rather fine for the Lord Mayor’s Office than serve it, they became the foremost for electing him Lord Mayor, purely with a View to bring him to the Expence of the Fine. But, when the Livery had elected him, Mr. Beckford, with a becoming Spirit, said that he was determined to serve the Office to the best of his Abilities, let the Consequence to himself be what it might; he having pleaded a bad State of Health for resigning his Gown, and the Necessity of his living in a more open Air than in London.

Determines to serve the Office.

On Wednesday the 27th it appeared, that, by the Great Flood.
 Rains that fell for some Days past, a high Tide in the River Thames, and a strong Gale of Wind at North, the Rivers within twenty Miles of London were so raised, that the like had never been known in the Memory of Man; and the Damage that was now sustained, more especially on the River Lee, was almost incredible. In less than five Hours the Water is said to have risen twelve Feet in perpendicular Height. About Stratford, West-Ham, Plaistow, Waltham-Abbey, and along the Marshes, they were very fatal to the Inhabitants. Most of their Cattle in the Fields were carried off; likewise Stacks of Hay, and Wood, with the Loss of all the Hogs that were in their Sties and Yards, together with all the Horses that were in the Stables. In some Parts of Stratford the Flood reached their Chamber Windows, and the Face of the Waters was covered with the Bodies of the Beasts that perished. The Inhabitants, from the nearest Computation that they could make, said that 5000 Hogs perished in this Flood, together with all the Horses and other Cattle that were in the Meadows; whose Numbers were very considerable.
 This Flood extended itself over all the Causeways, and several People were lost in the high Roads;
 a Woman and Horse, also a Gentleman in a Post-Chaise, with the Horses and Post-Boy, all perished in the Water; and three of the Passengers in the Bury Machine, with two of the Horses, were also drowned. The China Works beyond Bow-Bridge were overflowed in such a Manner, that the Current rushed through the great Arch like the Tide through the Arches of London-Bridge;
 the Callicoe-Grounds in the Neighbourhood of Bow and Stratford were all overflowed, and great Quantities of Linen carried off. The Houses from Bow-Bridge to Stratford were all overflowed, and the Inhabitants forced to get out at their Windows.

The Preliminary Articles of Peace having been Notice of the Peace sent to the Lord
Mayor.
 signed by the Duke of Bedford, that Event was communicated by a Letter from the Secretary of State’s Office to the Lord Mayor on the 8th of November. And on the 1st of December the Cessation of Arms was proclaimed at the Royal-Exchange, &c. but not with that Approbation from the Citizens, as the Courtiers could have wished.

C H A P. VIII.

*Fires. High Tides. Riot in Covent-Garden.
 Play-House. City’s Petition against the Cyder, Act. Thanks of the City of Exeter. Entry of the Venetian Ambassadors. Wilkes in Custody. Address on the Peace. Rejoicings on Tower-Hill, and Misfortune. Great Darkeness. City Address on the Birth of a Prince. Great Storm. The Burning of
 No. 45 of the North-Briton.*

THE Year 1763 began with several Fires, Fires.
 that happened in the Month of January.
 One on the 6th broke out in the Burial Vaults of St. James’s Church, Westminster, which destroyed a great many Corpses. On the 11th another destroyed a China-Shop, and damaged several other Houses, in Fleet-Street.
 On

On the 15th a large Glass Ware-House, and the Glass-House in White-Friars, were burnt down, with other considerable Damage. In Spi-tal-Fields two Houses were burnt down, and several more damaged, in White's Row. There were in all thirty-two Fires, which happened in and about this City since Christmas-Day last: and amongst them I must relate that in the Strand, which began at a Millener's near Somerset-House; where, the Wind being very high, and the Water scarce, the Flames spread in an astonishing Manner. Several Houses were all on Fire at once; and the Fire continued raging many Hours, and next Day broke out again. This unhappy Affair was imputed to the leaving an old Gentlewoman-Lodger by herself, whose Cloaths taking Fire, and she, 103 Years old, not able to help herself, was found burnt, and the Chamber in Flames, at the Return of her Maid, who was met by the Flames so violently, at her opening the Door, that she ran down Stairs to save her own Life.

High Tide. The Tide rose so high in the Thames, on the 15th of February, that many Parts of Westminster were overflowed; and, below Bridge, the Inhabitants of Tooley-Street and Wapping were obliged to keep to their upper Rooms.

Riot in Covent-Garden Play-House. The Managers of Covent-Garden Play-House insisting upon full Prices for the Opera of Artaxerxes, a Riot ensued; when all the Benches in the Boxes and the Pit were entirely torn up, the Glasses and Chandeliers were broken, and the Linings of the Boxes were cut to Pieces. They even cut away the wooden Pillars between the Boxes; so that, if the Inside of them had not been Iron, the Rioters would have brought the Galleries upon their own Heads. The Damages were computed at 2000*l*.

Peace proclaimed. On the twenty-second of March the definitive Treaty of Peace was proclaimed at the usual Places, pursuant to his Majesty's royal Warrant signed for that Purpose.

Proceedings about the Cyder Bill. There being at this Time a Bill depending in Parliament to subject the Makers of Cyder and Perry to the Excise Laws, the Court of Common-Council, on the above Day, unanimously came to the following Resolution:

"That it is the Opinion of this Court, that a Petition be prepared to the Honourable House of Commons, against so much of the Bill now depending in that House, for granting an additional Duty on Wine, Cyder, and Perry, as relates to subjecting the Makers of Cyder and Perry to the Laws of Excise."

And at another Court held the next Day, a Motion was made, that Instructions should be given to the Members of this City, in regard to the said Petition, and a Committee of four Aldermen and eight Commoners was appointed to prepare the same; which being done, and read in Court, was unanimously agreed to.

The Representation of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council assembled, to the Representatives of this City in Parliament.

"This Court cannot forbear expressing to you their Surprise, at the precipitate Progress which has been already made in a new Attempt towards

"a general Excise. The Extension of Excise Laws into private Houses, whereby the Subject is made liable to a frequent and arbitrary Visitation of Officers, and the judicial Determination of Commissioners, removeable at Pleasure, is inconsistent with those Principles of Liberty which have hitherto distinguished this Nation from arbitrary Governments. An Attack upon the Liberty of the Subject, made so immediately after a glorious and successful War, and at a Time when we had just Reason to expect to enjoy the Blessings of Peace, demands your serious Attention. And this Court doth remark, that whatever may be the Necessity of the Times, the Smallness of the Sum indicates that cannot be the only Motive to so extraordinary a Measure. For these Reasons, this Court doth earnestly recommend your constant Attendance in Parliament, and utmost Endeavours to oppose every Enlargement or Extension of the Powers of Excise; and that you do not conceal from the Public any such Attempt, nor suffer yourselves to be amused by any plausible Alteration in the Bill subjecting the Makers of Cyder and Perry to Excise Laws."

And on the twenty-eighth the said Court, having been informed that the Commons had passed and sent up the Cyder Bill to the Lords, resolved that an humble Petition should be presented, in their Name, to the House of Lords, and another to the King, praying that the said Bill might not pass into a Law. The Petition to his Majesty was as follows:

The humble Petition of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council assembled,

Most humbly sheweth,

"That your Petitioners are fully convinced, that the collecting the Duties intended to be laid on the Makers of Cyder and Perry, by way of Excise, is not, nor can in many Instances be, so regulated, but that it will occasion numberless Difficulties and Questions.

"That the Method of Trial and Decision of Excise Disputes are founded only in Necessity, being in their Nature arbitrary, and inconsistent with the Principles of Liberty, and the happy Constitution of your Majesty's Government.

"That the exposing private Houses to be entered into and searched, at pleasure, by Persons unknown, will be a Badge of Slavery upon your People.

"That your Petitioners, firmly confiding in your Majesty's Favour, and filled with a most humble and grateful Sense of your paternal Affection for your People, most humbly beseech your Majesty to protect their Liberty, and keep them happy and at Ease; free from the Apprehension of being disturbed in their Property; by which your Majesty will erect a lasting Monument of your Goodness in every House in the Kingdom.

"Your Petitioners, therefore, most humbly implore your Majesty, that you will not give your royal Assent to so much of the Bill, as subjects the Makers of Cyder and Perry to Excise Laws.

"And your Petitioners shall ever pray, &c."

For these zealous Endeavours to oppose a Bill so detrimental to the Subject, the Citizens received the particular Thanks of the City of Exeter, and were greatly applauded by their Fellow-Subjects in general; but their Petitions had not sufficient Effect to prevent the said Bill passing into a Law: though, by their repeated Applications, it was afterwards repealed.

Entry of the Venetian Ambassadors.

On the eighteenth the two Ambassadors Extraordinary from the Republic of Venice to the Court of London, made their public Entry through the City to Somerset-House, in the following Manner:

The whole Company assembled at Greenwich, from whence they set off between Twelve and One. There were three State-Barges, viz. the Queen's of ten Oars, and two others of eight Oars each, with another of six Oars for their Attendants; besides a great Number of other Barges belonging to the Nobility and Gentry, who accompanied the Procession.

They landed about Three o'Clock at the Tower, from whence they proceeded in the following Order through the Minories, Leadenhall-Street, Cornhill, Cheapside, Ludgate-Street, Fleet-Street, and along the Strand to Somerset-House, where they were entertained at the King's Expence, till their Audience of his Majesty.

Four King's Under Marshal-Men on Horseback.

City Marshal on Horseback.

Master of the Ceremonies Assistant, in a Coach and Six.

Thirty-eight Footmen, two and two, on Foot.

Eight Gentlemen of the Bed-Chambers, belonging to the Ambassadors, on Horseback, two and two.

House-Steward alone, on Horseback.

Eight Pages on Horseback, two and two.

Kettle-Drum.

Second Master of the Horse, alone.

King's State-Coach, with the Ambassadors, the Earl of Guildford, and Master of the Ceremonies; six Horses.

King's second Coach, with the two Secretaries to the Embassy, six Horses.

Six Gentlemen of the Privy-Chamber, in the next royal Coaches.

The Queen, Princess of Wales, Duke of York, Princess Augusta, Duke of Cumberland, and Princess Amelia's Coaches, with six Horses each.

The Ambassador's grand State-Coach with eight Horses, empty.

The second Coach empty, with six Horses.

The third Coach with two Venetian Noblemen, six Horses.

The Peers' Coaches and Six.

All the Dresses of the Persons attending this Procession, both on the Water, as well as at Land, were extremely splendid.

Wilkes in Custody.

On the 29th John Wilkes, Esq; Member of Parliament for Aylesbury, was taken into Custody by a Warrant from the Secretary of State, for writing a Paper called the Norib-Briton, No. 45, and after Examination was committed to the Tower. At the same Time all his Papers were seized, to be examined by Persons appointed by the Secretaries. And on the third of May, he was brought from the Tower to the Bar of the Court of Common Pleas, Westminster, where he made the following Speech!

" My Lords,

" I feel myself happy to be at last brought before a Court, and before Judges whose Characteristic is the Love of Liberty. I have many humble Thanks to return for the immediate Order you were pleased to issue, to give me an Opportunity of laying my Grievances before you. They are of a Kind hitherto unparalleled in this free Country, and I trust the Consequences will teach Ministers of Scottish and arbitrary Principles, that the Liberty of an English Subject is not to be sported away with Impunity, in this cruel and despotic Manner.

" I am accused of being the Author of the Norib-Briton, No. 45. I shall only remark upon that Paper, that it takes all Load of Accusation from the sacred Name of a Prince, whose Family I love and honour as the glorious Defenders of the Cause of Liberty, and whose personal Qualities are so amiable, great and respectable, that he is deservedly the Idol of his People. It is the peculiar Fashion and Crime of these Times, and of those who hold high ministerial Offices in Government, to throw every odious Charge from themselves upon Majesty: The Author of this Paper, whoever he may be, has, upon constitutional Principles, done directly the reverse, and is therefore in me, the supposed Author, meant to be persecuted accordingly. The particular Cruelties of my Treatment, worse than if I had been a Scotch Rebel, this Court will hear, and I dare say, from your Justice, in due Time redress.

" I may, perhaps, still have the Means left me to shew that I have been superior to every Temptation of Corruption. They may, indeed, have flattered themselves, that when they found Corruption could not prevail, Persecution might intimidate. I will shew myself superior to both. My Papers have been seized, perhaps with a Hope the better to deprive me of that Proof of their Meanness and corrupt Prodigality, which it may, possibly, in a proper Place be yet in my Power to give."

The Case was then learnedly argued by eminent Lawyers on both Sides, and when they had finished, the Court, after making a polite Excuse to Mr. Wilkes for the Delay, took Time to consider the Case; and to give their Opinion: Therefore they remanded him Prisoner to the Tower, till Friday the sixth of May. On which Day he was brought up to the Court of Common-Pleas, where the Lord Chief Justice and the other Judges being assembled, Mr. Wilkes addressed them as follows:

" My Lords,

" Far be it from me to regret that I have passed so many more Days in Captivity, as it will have afforded you an Opportunity of doing, upon mature Reflection, and repeated Examination, the more signal Justice to my Country. The Liberty of all Peers and Gentlemen, and what touches me more sensibly, that of all the middling and inferior Class of People, who stand most in need of Protection, is, in my “ Case, this Day to be finally decided upon: A “ Question of such Importance as to deter“ mine at once, whether English Liberty be a “ Reality or a Shadow. Your own free-born “ Hearts will feel with Indignation and Com“ passion all that Load of Oppression under which “ I have so long laboured. Close Imprison“ ment, the Effect of premeditated Malice, all “ Access for more than two Days denied to me,

 “ my House ransacked and plundered, my most “ private and secret Concerns divulged, every “ vile and malignant Infination, even of High “ Treason itself, no less industriously than falsely “ circulated by my cruel and implacable Ene“ mies, together with all the various Insolence
 “ of Office, form but a Part of my unexampled “ Ill-treatment. Such inhuman Principles of “ Star-Chamber Tyranny will, I trust, by this “ Court, upon this solemn Occasion, be finally “ extirpated; and henceforth every innocent “ Man, however poor and unsupported, may “ hope to sleep in Peace and Security in his “ own House, unviolated by King’s Messengers,
 “ and the arbitrary Mandates of an overbearing “ Secretary of State.

“ I will no longer delay your Justice. The “ Nation is impatient to hear, nor can they be “ safe or happy till that is obtained. If the “ same Persecution is after all to carry me before “ another Court, I hope I shall find that the “ genuine Spirit of Magna Charta, that glorious “ Inheritance, that distinguishing Characteristic “ of Englishmen, is as religiously revered there,
 “ as I know it is here, by the great Personages “ before whom I have now the Happiness to “ stand; and (as in the memorable Case of the “ imprisoned Bishops) that an independent Jury
 “ of free-born Englishmen will persist to deter“ mine my Fate, as in Conscience bound, upon “ constitutional Principles, by a Verdict of “ Guilty or Not guilty. I ask no more at the “ Hands of my Countrymen.”

When Mr. Wilkes had finished his Speech, the Lord Chief Justice stood up, and delivered the Opinion of the Court on the three following Heads, which were chiefly insisted on by Counsel:

1. The Legality of Mr. Wilkes’s Commitment.

2. The Necessity for a Specification of those particular Passages in the forty-fifth Number of the North-Briton, which had been deemed a Libel. And

3. Mr. Wilkes’s Privilege as a Member of Parliament.

To the first of these his Lordship was of Opinion, that Mr. Wilkes’s Commitment was not illegal.

To the second, which required a Specification of the particular Passages in the North-Briton, which were deemed a Libel, his Lordship took Notice, that the Insertion of these Passages, so far as they related to the Point in Question, was not at all necessary.

And to the last Point he observed, that the Privilege of Parliament should be held sacred and inviolable; and as there were but three particular Cases in which that Privilege was forfeited, it only remained to examine how far Mr. Wilkes’s was endangered. Mr. Wilkes stood accused of writing a Libel; a Libel in the Sense of the Law was a high Misdemeanor, but did not come within the Description of Treason, Felony, or Breach of the Peace; at most it had but a Tendency to disturb the Peace, and consequently could not be sufficient to destroy the Privilege of a Member of Parliament.

Thus was the Point of Privilege determined, and Mr. Wilkes, by Order of the Court, immediately discharged.

In his Way from the Hall to his House in Great George-Street, he was surrounded by many Gentlemen of Distinction, amidst the most repeated Acclamations of more than ten thousand People.

On the sixth of May, about Four o’Clock in, A Fire. the Morning, a terrible Fire broke out at the House of Lady Molesworth, in Upper Brook-Street, Grosvenor-square, which, in a short Time, entirely consumed the same, with all its Furniture. Lady Molesworth, her Brother Captain Usher, her second and third Daughters, and four or five Servants, perished in the Flames. Damage. Her eldest Daughter jumped out of a Window and broke her Leg; the Mother intended to follow, but the Fire over-powered her, and she sunk into the midst of the Flames. Her fourth and fifth Daughters jumped out of a Garret Window; the former broke her Thigh, and the latter was greatly bruised. Dr. Coote Molesworth, with his Lady, being on a Visit, narrowly escaped with their Lives. The Doctor’s Lady threw herself from a two Pair of Stairs Window into the Garden, and was much scorched and terribly bruised. The Doctor hung from the Window by his Hands till a Ladder was brought him. An elderly Woman, Governess of the Children, threw herself out of the Nursery-Window, and was killed on the Spot. One of the Footmen, in jumping from a Window, fell upon the Iron Spikes, where he hung till a Chairman, at the Hazard of his own Life, took him off; but he afterwards died of his Wound. Notwithstanding the Fire in this House was so fatal to its Inhabitants, yet it is remarkable no other House received the least Damage.

To describe the Countenances of the Citizens at the Publication of the Peace, there cannot be a more striking Method than to observe, that the Common-Council could not by any Means be prevailed upon to address; and at last no more could be obtained from the City than a Cavalcade of eight Aldermen, including the Locum Tenens at their Head, who assumed the Name of the Lord Mayor and Court of Aldermen, (though there can’t be a Court, in their corporate Capacity, of less than thirteen Aldermen,) and waited on his Majesty with such an Address upon the Peace, as they thought proper. But their Fellow-Citizens, to shew their Dislike, procured the Bells of some Parishes, through which the City Address on the Peace.

the eight Aldermen did pass, to ring as usual on mournful Occasions*.

Rejoicings
on the 4th of June.

His Majesty's Birth-Day, the 4th of June, was this Year celebrated with Bonfires, Illuminations, and other public Demonstrations of Joy, throughout London and Westminster, in a more extraordinary Manner than had ever been known on a like Occasion. The Mansion-House, the Monument, and other public Edifices, were all grandly illuminated; as were almost all the private Houses in the principal Squares and Streets of this Metropolis; each vying with other to express their Loyalty to their Sovereign, however they disliked the Measures of the Ministry. On Tower-Hill there were exhibited grand Fire-Works, at the public Expence. The Populace repaired thither in such Shoals, and crowded so fast upon one another, that the Rails which surrounded a Well, on the Bank of the Ditch, at the Postern, gave way, and the Multitude fell together about thirty Feet deep. By which Accident, six were taken up dead, fourteen were so hurt that they died of their Wounds, and many more were bruised in a most terrible Manner.

Misfortune on Tower-hill.

On the twenty-third of June, about Two in the Morning, a Fire broke out in a Cooperage in King-Street, Rotherhithe, which entirely consumed that Building, and about fifteen small Dwelling-Houses, and several Out-Houses, and damaged several others.

Fire in Rother-
hithe.

Fire at Shadwell.

On the 10th of July, about One in the Morning, a most terrible Fire began in a Stable, or some Out-House, near the East Side of the Plying-Place called New Crane, in the Parish of Shadwell, which communicating its Flames to a Loft adjoining, full of dry Reeds for the Use of the Ship-Yard in which it stood, set Fire to a Ship in the Dock; and the Wind being at W. S. W. the Flames immediately caught the Back-Fronts and Out-Buildings, which were chiefly of Wood, and very old and dry, of the Houses next the Water, in the Street called Wapping-Wall; and they raged with such Rapidity and Fury, that before proper Help of Water and Engines could be brought, the Fire crossed the Street, and, in a few Hours, the Houses on both the South and North Sides of Wapping-Wall, were entirely consumed. This Fire, on the South Side, passed King James's Stairs, and stopt within two Houses of the West Extremity of the late Fire at Pelican-Stairs, as mentioned before. The Fire, on the North Side, stopt at the South End of Star-Street, which leads to Shakespear's Walk; but not without doing considerable Damage to several Houses at the Bottom of New Gravel-Lane, and destroyin g many Houses that stood back to the Northward; amongst which was a remarkable well-built new Brick House and Cooperage. The whole Loss in Houses were eighty-seven entirely burnt.

About Twelve at Noon, on the nineteenth of August, the Sky was overcast in such a Manner, that the Darknes in and about London, was greater than that at the great Eclipse in 1748; and the Appearance being much the same as preceded the last great Earthquake at Lisbon, many expected that an Earthquake would follow. But it went off much milder here, than in other Places.

Great Darkness.

Her Majesty being safely delivered of a Prince, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Common-Council waited on his Majesty with a most loyal Address:

To the King's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council assembled.

" Most gracious Sovereign,

" We, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council assembled, most gladly embrace this joyful Occasion of approaching your sacred Person, with our sincerest and warmest Congratulations on the safe Delivery of the Queen, and the auspicious Birth of another Prince; firmly trusting, that every Increase of your Royal Family will prove an additional Security to our Religion, and that great Charter of Liberty, which, in Consequence of the glorious Revolution, your illustrious House was chosen to defend.

City Address upon the Birth of a Prince.

" Your Majesty's ever loyal and faithful Citizens of London, exceeded by none of your Subjects in honest and anxious Zeal for your Majesty's Happiness, and the Glory and Prosperity of your Reign, rejoice in every Event which augments your Majesty's domestic Felicity.

" Permit us, Royal Sir, to intreat your Majesty's Acceptance of our faithful Assurances, that we will, at all Times, be ready, cheerfully to render to your Majesty every Instance of Allegiance and Duty, which affectionate and loyal Subjects can pay to the best of Princes."

His Majesty's most gracious Answer.

" I thank you for this loyal Address, and for the Satisfaction you express on the Increase of my Family. The Religion and Liberties of my People always have been, and ever shall be, the constant Objects of my Care and Attention. I shall at all Times depend upon the Assurances which you give me of your Allegiance and Duty."

On the eighth of September, another Fire broke out, about Twelve at Night, just below the Waterhouse, in Shadwell, near a large Brew-House, which was burnt down, with thirty-six more Houses, besides others that were greatly damaged, Eastward of Shadwell-Dock.

Fire in Lower Shadwell, near the Dock.

* May 12, 1763, between Twelve and One o'Clock, the following Aldermen went in Procession from Guildhall to wait upon his Majesty with an Address on the Peace:

Sir Charles Asgill, as Locum Tenens; Robert Alsop, Esq; Sir Thomas Rawlinson, Knt. Marsh Dickenson, Esq; Sir Richard Glyn, Bart. Sir Samuel Fludyer, Bart. Sir Francis Gosling, Knt. and the Recorder; Richard Blunt, Esq; Sir Thomas Chaloner, Knt. Sir Henry Banks, Knt. Sheriffs; the Chamberlain; the Town-Clerk.

There were a great Number of People in Guildhall-Yard to see them set out, who appeared much displeased, which they shewed by Hissings, &c. As the Procession passed St. Bride's Church, the great Bell began to toll, and then a Dumb Peal struck up, which continued a considerable Time; and as they came back, Bow Bells struck up a Dumb Peal as they repassed that Church.

A new

A new Lord Mayor being elected for the Year ensuing, Mr. Beckford, the present Lord Mayor, rose up and addressed the Livery as follows:

"Gentlemen and Fellow-Citizens,

"You were pleased to do me the Honour of electing me your first Magistrate this Day Twelve-month, and I entered on that Duty with Diffidence and Reluctance, being conscious to myself, that it was not in my Power to execute so great a Trust with the Assiduity and Attention that the Dignity and Importance of the Office required; how far I have been able to go through it with any Degree of Propriety, you are the only Judges. Very great Assistance I have experienced from my Brethren of the Court of Aldermen, and I shall always retain a grateful Remembrance of their Good-will towards me.

"The Time of my Mayoralty draws near a Conclusion; and I can safely say, it will give me more Comfort and Satisfaction of Mind to quit, than it ever did to receive this high Honour, the greatest that can fall to the Share of a Citizen. That Satisfaction is increased by the Reflection of being succeeded by a very worthy Alderman, for whose Firmness, Integrity, and Resolution, I have the greatest Veneration: And indeed Firmness and Resolution are at all Times necessary in your first Magistrate, especially in Times so critical and difficult as the present seems to be: However, I trust, that the old good Humour and good Sense of this great City will set an Example of Moderation to the rest of the Kingdom, and convince every impartial Man that the Duty and Affection of the Citizens of London to the best of Kings, can be equalled only by their Love of Justice and of Liberty, founded on the glorious Principles of the Revolution.

"Permit me to take this Opportunity of returning my sincere Acknowledgments to my Fellow-Citizens, for all their Favours conferred on me; and of assuring them, that it shall be the Study of my Life to support the Honour and Dignity of the Crown, the Liberty, and constitutional Independency of the People, and the Rights and Privileges of my Fellow-Citizens, always keeping in Remembrance that noble Declaration of the great Revolution Patriots, 'That under the House of Hanover only they could, and under the House of Hanover they were determined that they would be free.'

Great Storm.

On the second of December, a most violent Storm of Wind and Rain did incredible Damage in and about London, and in many other Parts of the Kingdom, the like hardly known in the Memory of Man. At London several Houses were blown down, some People killed, many wounded, and Business interrupted: Chimnies in many Parts of the Town fell upon the Roofs of the Houses, which were stript, and the Streets, during the Violence of the Storm, rendered impassable: Part of the Walls of Hyde-Park and Sadler's-Wells gave way; Trees were blown up by the Roots; and the River Thames rose so high, that in many Places it overflowed its Banks; filled Cellars; overflowed Lands, and did immense Damage to the Shipping below Bridge.

Next Day, when the Executioner, &c. by Order of both Houses of Parliament, came to burn Number 45 of the North-Briton, there was such a Multitude gathered together upon the Occasion, that the Officers, appointed to put the Order into Execution, were greatly interrupted in the Performance of their Duty. Not only the Executioner, the Constables, and the inferior Officers were pelted with Filth and Dirt, but the chief Officers present were insulted in the grossest Manner; the fore Glass of the Chariot of Mr. Harley, one of the City-Sheriffs, and a Member of Parliament for the City of London, was broken by a Billet thrown at his Person, which was taken from the Fire, that was kindled to consume the North-Briton. Mr. Harley being slightly wounded, and observing the Spirit of Licentiousness, that prevailed among the Multitude, hastened to the Mansion-House to apprise the Lord Mayor of the Danger. The Hangman thinking it his Duty to follow the High-Sheriff, made his Retreat too as soon after as he could; and the Constables, most of their Staves being broken by the furious Resistance they had made, mixed among the Crowd, and marched off without further Opposition. The North-Briton, however, was partly consumed by means of a lighted Link, on which it was placed, by the Zeal of the proper Officers; but the Remains of it, it is said, were rescued from the Flames by the Violence of the Assaultants, who carried it off in Triumph, and in the Evening displayed it at Temple-Bar, where a Bonfire was made, and a large Jack Boot committed to the Flames in the room of it, amidst the Acclamations of a vast Concourse of People.

The burning of the North-Briton, No. 45.

CHAP. IX.

A great Storm and Fire. City Address on the Marriage of Princess Augusta. Wilkes prosecuted for re-printing No. 45 of the North-Briton, and for publishing the Essay on Woman. City's Thanks to their Representatives. Droit le Roy burnt. Act of Parliament to prevent Fires. Stock-Broker without Licence fined. The Palatines relieved. High Tide. Great Fire. Weavers petition Parliament. Alderman Janssen elected Chamberlain. Pot Act enforced by the Lord Mayor. Freedom presented to the Duke of Gloucester. Weavers assemble and apply to the King. Several great Fires. Birth of a Prince. City Address on Death of the Duke of Cumberland. Fire in Bishopsgate-Street. Representation concerning the Paving, &c. the City.

ON the 14th of January, 1764, the Houses, Shipping, and Trees in and about London, were greatly damaged by a violent Storm at W. S. W. and in the Height thereof, a Fire broke out and destroyed seven Houses near Hyde-Park Corner.

Storm.

Fire.

The Citizens of London, to express their good Liking of the Marriage of Princess Augusta, the eldest Sister of his Majesty, with his most Serene Highness the Hereditary Prince of Brunswick-Lunenburgh, performed on the 14th Instant by his Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Common-Council of London, made their Compliments on the Occasion to his Majesty, in the following most dutiful Form :

“ May it please your Majesty,

“ Graciously to accept our sincere and dutiful “ Congratulations on the Marriage of your “ Majesty’s eldest Sister, her Royal Highness “ the Princess Augusta, with his most Serene “ Highness the Hereditary Prince of Brunswick-Lunenburgh. It was with the utmost Joy and “ Satisfaction, that we saw your Majesty’s “ Wisdom yield to the Proposals for an Alliance “ with a Protestant Family so illustrious; and “ that a Lady, whose amiable Character is not “ more exalted by the Dignity of her Birth than “ her private Virtues, was destined to be the “ happy Partner of a Prince, whose eminent and “ distinguished Services, during a successful and “ glorious War, will ever be remembered by “ every Friend of true Religion and public “ Liberty.

“ Your Majesty’s faithful Citizens of London “ have seen, with Gratitude, the Constitution of “ this Country, settled and established by our “ great Deliverer King William, maintained and “ improved by the illustrious House of Brunswick; and, therefore, they cannot sufficiently “ applaud your Majesty’s great Wisdom and “ Goodness in further strengthening it by this “ happy Alliance.

“ May this Marriage answer your Majesty’s “ warmest Wishes and Expectations; and may “ the Prince and Princess be blessed with an “ Offspring truly worthy of so royal and illustrious a Descent!

“ Permit us to assure your Majesty of our “ firm Attachment to your Majesty’s sacred Person and Government; and of our constant “ Endeavours, within our Sphere, to contribute “ to the Happiness and Prosperity of your Majesty’s Reign.”

To which Address his Majesty was pleased to return the following most gracious Answer:

“ My Lord and Gentlemen,

“ I return you my Thanks for your dutiful “ Congratulations on the Marriage of my Sister “ the Princess Augusta, with the Hereditary “ Prince of Brunswick-Lunenburgh; and am glad “ that this happy Alliance gives such general “ Satisfaction.

“ I receive, with Pleasure, your Assurances of “ Duty and Affection to my Person and Government. The City of London may always “ depend on my Favour and Protection.”

Afterwards they waited, at Leicester-House, on her Royal Highness the Princess Dowager of Wales; and made their Compliments of Congratulation, as follows:

“ Madam, “ The Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council assembled, beg leave to congratulate your Royal Highness on the Marriage of your eldest Daughter, her Royal Highness the Princess Augusta, with his most Serene Highness the Hereditary Prince of Brunswick-Lunenburgh.

“ The eminent Virtues and exalted Merit of “ the Princess have justly endeared her to all “ his Majesty’s faithful Subjects; her Union “ with a Protestant Family, distinguished in the “ Defence of the Liberties of Europe, is at once “ a pleasing and most interesting Subject to the “ Friends of civil and religious Liberty.

“ May this Union be the Source of every domestic Felicity to this illustrious Pair; and “ may your Royal Highness long live to enjoy “ the most permanent Satisfaction from this “ Alliance.”

To which Address her Royal Highness was pleased to return the following most gracious Answer:

“ My Lord and Gentlemen,

“ I heartily thank you for this new Proof of “ your Attention and Regard for me and my “ Family, upon Occasion of this happy Event.”

They then went to Saville-House, and waited on his most Serene Highness the Hereditary Prince of Brunswick-Lunenburgh, and made their Compliments of Congratulation; which were as follow:

“ SIR,

“ The Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council assembled, embrace this joyful Occasion of paying to your most Serene Highness “ our warmest Compliments of Congratulation “ on your auspicious Nuptials with the most virtuous and amiable Princess, her Royal Highness the Princess Augusta.

“ We esteem it our Happiness that we have “ an Opportunity of testifying to your Serene Highness our Sentiments of Obligation and “ Gratitude to the illustrious House of Brunswick; “ and to your Serene Highness in particular, for “ the eminent Services which this Country has derived from your great Valour, and distinguished Conduct in the Course of the late glorious and successful War.

“ May your Serene Highness long live to “ enjoy, in Peace, the Glory you have acquired in Arms; and may your most amiable “ Consort crown your Wishes with a Race of “ Princes to emulate your Virtues, and extend “ your Name and Family to the remotest Times.”

To which his Serene Highness was pleased to return the following Answer:

“ My Lord Mayor and Gentlemen,

“ I return you Thanks for this Mark of your “ Attention and Regard for me.”

They then returned to Leicester-House, and waited on her Royal and Serene Highness the Princess of Brunswick-Lunenburgh; and made their O their their Compliments of Congratulation, in the following Terms:

"Madam,
"The Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council assembled, hereby beg your Royal Highness's Permission to present our warmest Congratulations upon your Royal Highness's auspicious Marriage with his most Serene Highness the Hereditary Prince of Brunswick-Lunenburgh.

"This Alliance with a Prince so highly accomplished, so early distinguished for his heroic Valour and martial Conduct, and whose eminent Services in the Course of a glorious War have justly endeared him to this Country, we consider as a fresh Instance of the Wisdom of our gracious Sovereign, of his Affection for your Royal Highness, and of his Regard to the Liberties of Europe, and the Protestant Interest.

"Nothing could allay our Concern at the Thoughts of being deprived of the Presence of a Princess adorned with every Virtue and Accomplishment, beloved and admired by all his Majesty's Subjects, but the pleasing Prospect we have of her enjoying all the Happiness which she so justly deserves.

"We most sincerely wish long Life and Health to your Royal Highness and your illustrious Consort, and that Heaven will crown your mutual Affections with a Race of Princes formed by your Instructions and Example.

"And we beg Leave to assure your Royal Highness, that neither Time or Distance can efface the Sentiments of Esteem and Veneration which we have long entertained for your Royal Highness."

To which her Royal and Serene Highness was pleased to return the following Answer:

"My Lord and Gentlemen,

"I most heartily thank you for this Mark of your Attention and Regard, and I look upon it as a Proof of your Duty and Affection to the King."

On the 25th his Majesty went to the House of Peers, and gave his royal Assent to a Bill for naturalizing his Serene Highness the said Prince of Brunswick.

Wilkes expelled, &c.

Yet at the same Time the Courtiers proceeded in their Attack upon the Constitution, by expelling John Wilkes, Esq; out of the House of Commons, and issuing out a Writ of Election for Aylesbury, in his room, for publishing the North-Briton, No. 45, and a Contempt of the Authority of the House of Commons. He was further prosecuted, and by Order was tried in the Court of King's-Bench, Westminster, for reprinting and publishing the said North-Briton, No. 45, at his own House, and for printing (in the same Manner) and publishing (what was called a blasphemous) Essay on Woman; of both which Indictments he was found guilty.

City Thanks to their Representatives.

On the other Part, the Citizens, to express their Detestation of the Proceedings on this Occasion against a Man, whom they looked upon to be the Champion for Liberty, did in Common-Council, held the 25th Day of February, 1764, order their Thanks to be presented to the Representatives of this City in Parliament, for their zealous and spirited Endeavours to assert the Rights and Liberties of the Subject, by their laudable Attempt, in the late Debates in Parliament, to obtain a seasonable and parliamentary Declaration, "That a general Warrant for apprehending and seizing the Authors, Printers and Publishers of a seditious Libel, together with their Papers, is not warranted by Law," and to exhort them, in the warmest Manner, steadily to persevere in their Duty to the Crown, and use their utmost Endeavours to secure the Houses, Papers, and Persons of the Subject from arbitrary and illegal Violations. At the same Time it was resolved, that, "as the Independency and Uprightness of Judges is essential to the impartial Administration of Justice, and one of the best Securities to the Rights and Liberties of the Subject," this Court, in Manifestation of the just Sense of the Firmness and Integrity of the Right Honourable Sir Charles Pratt, Lord Chief Justice of his Majesty's Court of Common-Pleas, doth direct, that the Freedom of this City be presented to his Lordship, and that he be desired to sit for his Picture to be placed in Guildhall, in Gratitude for the honest and deliberate Decision upon the Validity of a Warrant which had been frequently produced to, but, so far as appears to this Court, never debated in the Court of King's-Bench, by which he hath eminently distinguished his Duty to the King, his Justice to the Subject, and his Knowledge of the Law. This Example of the City of London in thanking and instructing their Representatives, in regard to general Warrants, and thanking Lord Chief Justice Pratt, and presenting him with the Freedom of the City, was followed by a great many Corporations and private Companies in England.

Vote Chief Justice Pratt the Freedom of the City.

But nothing discovered the Spirit of Jacobitism, in all the ministerial Measures, lately pursued in the Attacks made upon the Liberties of the People, as a Pamphlet published under the Title of Droit le Roy; a dangerous Essay, which had, in all former Reigns under the Stuarts, been set forth and countenanced to establish Prerogative above the Law and Constitution of the Land. But the evil Tendency of this Doctrine was so detestable, that both Houses of Parliament ordered it to be burnt as a Libel upon the Laws of the Land: which accordingly was done by the Hand of the common Hangman, on the 27th, before the Gate of Westminster-Hall, and at the Royal-Exchange.

Droit le Roy burnt.

The frequent Fires, which have destroyed so many Houses in and about this Metropolis for several Years past, whose Damages in some Measure were attributed to the Manner of the Constitution of modern Buildings, raised the Attention of the Legislature in this Session of Parliament, who passed an Act for the better regulating of Buildings, and to prevent Mischiefs that may happen by Fire within the Weekly Bills of Mortality, &c. by which so much of the Act of 2 Geo. I. for regulating Buildings, &c. as relates to Party-Walls, shall extend to all Cases whatsoever within the City and Liberties of Westminster, and within the Parishes of St. Mary-le-Bone and Paddington, and Chelsea and St. Pancras; where it shall be necessary to pull down and rebuild any Party-Wall, whether either of the adjoining Houses

Act of Parliament to prevent Fires.

Houses shall or shall not be, or require to be, rebuilt, or new built; except the City of London and Liberties thereof, and Party-Walls of Houses on the River Thames below Bridge. It then directs a Survey of the said Walls, and that upon a Disagreement of the Surveyors it shall be lawful for two neighbouring Justices of the Peace to add another to them; and that the said Wall viewed by them may be pulled down and rebuilt, if the Majority signs a Certificate of such Wall being defective.

The said Act then enacts, "That all Party-Walls to be erected or built within the said City or Liberties of Westminster, and the Parishes, Precincts, and Limits aforesaid, shall be two Bricks and a half thick at the least in the Cellar, and two Bricks thick upwards to the Garret Floor, and from thence one Brick and a half thick, at least, 18 Inches above the Roofs or Gutters which adjoin to such Party-Walls; and that the same shall be built of Stone, or of good sound burnt Bricks, and none other.

"And that no Timbers, except the Timbers of the Girders, binding Joists, and the Templets under the same, shall be laid into the Party-Walls erected or built, or to be erected or built, within the said City or Liberties of Westminster, and the Parishes, Precincts, and Limits aforesaid; and that no Timbers of the Roof be laid into such Party-Walls, (except the Purloins or Kerb thereof) and that the Ends of Girders, and binding Joists, lying within such Party-Walls, shall not exceed nine Inches; and that none of the Ends of the Girders, or binding Joists, in adjoining Houses, shall meet, or be laid opposite to each other; and that the Sides thereof shall be, at least, 14 Inches distant from each other; and that there shall be nine Inches, at least, of solid Brick-Work left at or between the Ends of all Lintels, Wall-Plates, and Bond-Timbers, which may or shall be laid in or upon the Walls of the fore and back Fronts of all Houses which shall adjoin to each other, on the Penalty of 50*l.* on the Head Builder.

"That no Timber or Timbers whatsoever shall be laid or placed under the Hearth or Hearths of any Room or Rooms, or within nine Inches of any Funnel or Flew of any Chimney or Chimnies; of any House or Houses within the Limits aforesaid; and that no Timber Buildings whatsoever shall be built adjoining to any House or Houses, so as the Timbers thereof shall be laid into the Wall of any such House or Houses already built, or hereafter to be built, within the Limits aforesaid, under the Penalty of 50*l.*

"That after any Party-Wall or Party-Walls shall be erected or built pursuant to the Directions of this Act, no Person or Persons whatsoever, who shall build against such Party-Wall or Party-Walls, shall, on any Pretence whatsoever, cut into or wound the same, for the Convenience of making a Chimney or Chimnies, or for any other Purpose whatsoever; nor shall lay into the same any other Timbers than are allowed by this Act to be laid into new Party-Walls, under the Penalty of 50*l.*

"That every Master-Builder who shall erect or build any House within the Limits above-mentioned, shall, within fourteen Days after the same shall be covered in, cause the same to be surveyed by one or more Surveyor or Surveyors; and such Surveyor or Surveyors shall make Oath, before one or more of his Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the said County of Middlesex or City of Westminster, that the same hath been (to the best of his or their Judgment and Belief) built and erected agreeable to the several Directions in this Act contained; which Affidavit shall be filed with the Clerk of the Peace for the said County of Middlesex, within ten Days after the making thereof; and if any Master-Builder shall make Default in the Premises, by neglecting to cause such Survey to be made, or such Affidavit to be made and filed as aforesaid, such Master-Builder shall, for every such Neglect or Default, forfeit the Sum of 50*l.*

"Provided always, That in all Cases where any Party-Wall within the said City or Liberties of Westminster, and the Parishes, Precincts and Limits aforesaid, shall, by Virtue of the Act of the 11 George I. and of this present Act, be pulled down and rebuilt, agreeable to the Directions of this present Act, by the Owner or Occupier of one of the adjoining Houses, the Expence of such Party-Wall shall be estimated and computed at and after the Rate of 6*l.* 10*s.* per Rod.

"Provided also, That in all Cases where any Party-Wall shall be erected or built, agreeable to the Directions of this present Act, in Execution of any Contract or Contracts entered into with the Builder or Workman before the first Day of July, 1764, the Expence of such Party-Wall shall be estimated and computed at and after the Rate of 6*l.* 10*s.* per Rod; any Thing in such Contract or Contracts to the contrary thereof in any wise notwithstanding."

And be it further enacted, "That for the further and better preventing the spreading of Fires, all Houses and other Buildings, which shall be erected or built within the said City or Liberties of Westminster, and the Parishes, Precincts, and Limits aforesaid, shall be built of Stone, or of good, sound, hard, well-burnt Bricks, and none other, both in the fore Front, and back Front thereof, from the Breast-Summer upwards, (and likewise the Party-Walls thereof) and that such Breast-Summer, in all such Houses or other Buildings, shall not be higher than the Floor of the one Pair of Stairs."

This Act concludes with a Clause directing, "That in all Cases where any of the Rewards shall be claimed by Virtue of the Statute of the 6th of Queen Anne, for Engines brought to help to extinguish Fires, such Reward shall be payable and paid in the same Manner to the Keeper of any other Engine, though not a Parish Engine, who shall bring in such Engine in good Order and complete, to help and extinguish such Fire, in the same Manner as if such Engine was a Parish Engine."

On the seventh of March Sir Thomas Harrison having waited on the Right Honourable the Lord Chief Justice Pratt, and presented to his Lordship the Freedom of the City of London in a Gold Box, pursuant to the Order of Common-Council, his Lordship returned the following Answer:

"SIR,

"SIR,

"It is impossible for me not to feel the most sensible Pleasure in finding my Behaviour in the Administration of Justice approved by the City of London; the most respectable Body in this Kingdom, after the two Houses of Parliament."

"If they have been pleased, from any Part of my Conduct, to entertain an Opinion of my Integrity (the best Quality of a Judge) my utmost Ambition is satisfied; and I may venture, without the Reproach of Vanity, to take to myself the Character of an honest Man, which the City of London hath told me I am entitled to; but they will give me leave, at the same Time, to ascribe it only to my own good Fortune, that I happened to be distinguished upon the present Occasion beyond the rest of my Brethren; since I am persuaded, that, if they had been called upon as I was, they would have acted with the like conscientious Regard to their Oaths, and to the Law of the Land."

"Since, however, the City of London has now given me a Reputation, I must take more than ordinary Care to preserve their Gift by the strictest Attention to my Duty, knowing, that the best Way of thanking the Public for Honours like these, is by persevering in the same Conduct, by which their Approbation was first acquired."

It is a Privilege of the Court of Aldermen to license Stock-Brokers acting within the City and Liberties of London; for which Licence the Broker pays a considerable Fine: To avoid which Expence several Attempts had been made to evade and get clear of their Appointment. Therefore an Action was brought by the City against one Joseph Ferdinando Silva, an acting non-licensed Broker, and the Merits of the Case were tried on the 27th of March, before Lord Mansfield, Chief Justice of the King's-Bench; where the said Silva was cast in the Penalty of 450*l.* for acting as a Stock-Broker, not being admitted to that Business by the Court of Aldermen.

On the 9th of April, many thousands of Weavers assembled in Moorfields, and proceeded very peaceably to both Houses of Parliament then sitting, and presented the following Petition:

Lords and Gentlemen,

The humble Petition of the Journeymen Silk-Weavers, on behalf of themselves, and great Numbers of poor People of the same Trade,

Sheweth,

"That, through the Badness of Trade, many hundreds of your poor Petitioners are actually without Work; others dread shortly to undergo the same Fate: Our Wives, Sons, and Daughters, are mostly without Employ, and consequently, many of us are in the utmost Poverty and Want: It is these Thoughts that throw us almost into Despair, and induce us to throw ourselves at your Feet, humbly begging your Assistance in this our most lamentable Condition."

"That your Petitioners are of Opinion, with humble Submission to your much better Judgment, ment, that this excessive Badness of Trade proceeds chiefly and principally from the Increase of the Use and Wear of all Sorts of foreign wrought Silks, which are continually imported and smuggled into this Metropolis, and other Parts of Great-Britain."

"The Assistance your humble Petitioners pray for, is, that you would, this Session of Parliament, grant a general Prohibition of all foreign wrought Silks."

"And your Petitioners shall for ever pray."

On the 18th of June, St. Bride's Steeple was shattered by Lightning, and other great Damage was done. Lightning.

In the Month of August, about 600 Palatines, or German Protestants, who had been brought over by a German Officer, that pretended to be in the Service of his Britannic Majesty, with a Promise to be immediately sent to settle, at his own Expence, in the Island of St. John, and le Croix in America, were landed in the Port of London, in the greatest Distress, thro' some Mistake or Inability of the Undertaker of this Colonization. But the Citizens were soon excited to Compassion; and no sooner informed of their destitute Condition, without Provisions, Money, or a Place to cover them from the Inclemency of the Season, which happened to be very wet, but they seemed to vie with each other in relieving them with all Necessaries: And Tents were ordered them by the Ministry from the Office of Ordnance: which they pitched in a void Piece of Ground behind Whitechapel Church. Palatines.

Crowds of People resorted to the Place of their Encampment, and, with Hearts melted to Compassion, gave them what they could spare. To the Honour of a benevolent Baker, let it be remembered, that even before their Case was known, passing by and perceiving their famishing Condition, he bestowed upon them his whole Basket of Bread. By these Means they were clothed, their Subsistence provided for; Physicians, Surgeons, and Midwives offered their Service for the Sick and those in Travail, for whom warm Apartments were hired. The Committee of Gentlemen chosen to manage the Subscription, upon Application to his Majesty, had a most gracious Answer, by Lord Halifax, purporting that the Palatines should be sent and established in South Carolina, and that 150 Stands of Arms should be delivered out for their Use. Upon which they contracted for proper Vessels to carry them to that Colony, and for their Provision and Maintenance in the Voyage, and for a Time after their Arrival.

The Tide on the 28th of September flowed so high in the Thames, that in some Places it rose two Feet in the Ground-Floors on the Shore, and made great Havock amongst the Ships below Bridge. High Tide.

On the 24th of November, a Fire broke out, about One o'Clock after Midnight, in a Snuff-maker's Shop, on the Back of the East Side of Aldersgate-Street, facing Little Britain, which destroyed the said Workshop, Cooks-Hall, the House and Yard of a Timber-Merchant, and did considerable Damage to other Houses, &c. A great Fire.

Sir

Case of a Stock-
Broker.

Weavers
in a Body
petition Parliament.

Election of Chamberlain.

Sir Thomas Harrison being dead, there were no less than seven Candidates to succeed him in the Office of Chamberlain of London; viz. Alderman Janssen, Alderman Turner, Deputy Long, Deputy Ellis, Mr. Freeman, Mr. Till, and Mr. Bonus, whose Pretensions to this lucrative Office and Place of Trust were confined to this single Promise or Engagement, That in case the Citizens would chuse him their Chamberlain, he would disclose to them a Secret, that would bring them in a considerable Sum per Annum. His Pretence had such an Effect upon the Minds of the ruling Part of the City, that it produced an Order of Common-Council for a Committee to confer with Mr. Bonus, and to give him Expectations of Success, in case he could convince the said Committee of the Reality of such a valuable Secret. But they soon discovered, that the whole Secret could be no other than to amuse the Public, and Mr. Bonus desisted from his Application as a Candidate for the Chamberlain's Office, which the Livery most judiciously and gratefully gave (on the 15th of January, 1765) to Alderman Janssen, who had passed the Chair of Chief Magistrate with great Applause. But a Poll being demanded in behalf of Alderman Turner, and Messrs. Till, Ellis and Freeman; Mr. Janssen was not declared till the 25th, when he from the Hustings addressed the Livery in this Manner.

"Gentlemen and Fellow-Citizens,

"The Honour you have conferred (by electing me to the important Office of Chamberlain of this City) calls for my most grateful Acknowledgments for so signal a Mark of your Favour.

"While many of you, Gentlemen, have most affectionately recollected my former Endeavours to deserve your Notice, and have been pleased to call me forth to offer my Services on this Occasion, I must confess I was too backward in complying; and not for want of an ardent Desire to accept your kind Invitation, but from a Diffidence, natural to one in my Situation.

"It was therefore an additional Honour to me, to have been thus roused in my State of Obscurity, and to have been compelled (as it were) into your Service; an Obligation greatly heightened by the uncommon Unanimity, and remarkable Generosity, manifested towards me at so interesting a Juncture; it having been out of my Power to bias, or in the least to influence, the Suffrage of any one of you in my behalf.

"It has given me a still greater Satisfaction, that your Fortitude alone could have afforded me the Opportunity of disproving the Falsity of those many base and inveterate Aspersions of private Enemies, to lessen and depreciate me in the Esteem of my Fellow-Citizens; but I am inclined to hope, that even those will now become my Friends, who, through Misinformation, were before induced to be my Enemies."

Not as enforced by the Lord
Mayor.

The Law having declared by the 11th and 12th William III. c. 15. sect. 5. "That every Mayor, or chief Officer of every City, Town Corporate, Borough, or Market-Town, shall, on Request to him made, cause all Ale-Quarts

"and Ale-Pints, made of Wood, Earth, Glass, Horn, Leather, Pewter, or other good and wholesome Metal, which shall be brought to him, to be measured and sized with the Standard in his Custody, and shall then cause the same, and every of them, to be plainly and apparently signed, stamped, and marked with W. R. and a Crown, for which they shall not receive above one Farthing for each Measure; on Pain of 5^l. to be recovered as aforesaid; and he shall also pay to the Party grieved treble Damages, with Costs, by Action at Law;" the Lord Mayor, in pursuance of this Act, did summon the Publicans under his Jurisdiction, for selling Beer in Pots that were not sealed with the City Mark, according to Law. On which Occasion, May 28, the the Publicans were obliged to pay the Penalty of 10s. each.

The Court of Common-Council voted the Freedom of the City, in a Gold Box, to the Duke of Gloucester. And the Grocers presented his Royal Highness with the Freedom of their Company on the 6th of June.

The Weavers being jealous that they should not receive the Aid they petitioned for to both Houses of Parliament, a great Number of Journeymen, on the 1st of May, with a black Flag carried before them, accompanied by their Wives and Children, went up to St. James's, to represent to his Majesty their distressed Condition for want of Work, occasioned by the Importation of French Silks, and other foreign Goods. Their Majesties being gone for Richmond before they reached St. James's, most of them went to Richmond; where one of the Lords in Waiting brought them word from his Majesty, that he would do all in his Power for their Relief.

The Lord Mayor and Court of Aldermen, at Guildhall, having Notice of the above large Body of Weavers going up to St. James's, dispatched Orders to the Beadles of the several Wards, to give Notice to the Constables in every Parish to repair to their respective Watch-Houses, with Assistance, and there to remain till further Orders, to prevent any Riots that might happen.

They assembled again on the 16th, and went to St. James's; and possessed with an Opinion that the good Effect of their Petition had been prevented in a great Measure by his Grace the Duke of Bedford, they proceeded in a very riotous Manner to Bloomsbury-Square, with such Threatnings of Vengeance, that it was necessary to send for a strong military Force to prevent their mischievous Intentions. They by this Means were dispersed: But on the 17th, in the Morning, they assembled again, by Beat of Drum, in Spitalfields, to the Number, as supposed, of 30000, and upwards; from whence they proceeded in three large Bodies to Westminster. One Corps took the Rout of Gracechurch-Street and London-Bridge, from whence they passed over St. George's Fields. Another Corps marched along Ludgate-Hill, and the Strand; while the third proceeded by way of Holbourn and Covent-Garden. When united again in Westminster, the Crowd was so great that the Members could scarce get to their respective Houses. All Old Palace-Yard, New Palace-Yard, and the Streets adjoining, quite as far up as Westminster-Bridge,

Freedom
presented to the Duke of Gloucester.

Weavers assemble again.

Apply to the King
in Person.

His Majesty's Answer.

Lord
Mayor's Orders on this Occasion.

Their Numbers.

Procession.

were filled with these poor Petitioners, besides Multitudes of others that were in the Park. Before them, in their March, Flags of various Colours were borne by the Women, particularly a French Silk Handkerchief, with a golden Border on it, and a Cross of Gold in the Middle; a large Piece of French spotted Silk, said to have been procured from the Shop of a Mercer in Town, and three or four Pieces of French Lace, &c. &c. The Men wore red Cockades and Shreds of Silk in their Hats. In Westminster they stopped the Carriages of the Members, as they went to the House, praying them to take pity on the poor Weavers, but behaved in all other Respects with the greatest good Order. To prevent any Tumult, however, the first Troop of Horse-Guards, with a Party of Horse-Grenadiers, and three Companies of the Foot-Guards, all under Arms, and headed by their proper Officers, were ordered from the Parade to Old Palace-Yard, where they were drawn up in two Lines before Westminster-Hall, to clear the Passage for the Members to get to the House. They continued assembled till near Four o'Clock, when being informed by their Heads, that Hand-Bills would be distributed next Day, which would allay all their Fears, and every other necessary Step be taken for their Advantage, they were recommended to separate peaceably, and accordingly began their March home again, so that by Five the Streets round Westminster-Hall were pretty well cleared of them. Sir John Fielding, and his Brother Justices, had attended at the New Guildhall all the Time; at which Place there was also a Conference between the Chieftains of the Weavers, to the Number of 400, their Masters, and the Mercers; when it was agreed by the latter immediately to recall all their Contracts for foreign Goods, and to set the Journeymen instantly to work. But though this had so good an Effect, that it contributed, perhaps, more than any Thing else, to disperse them; yet in their Return they said they should not depend entirely upon Promises, and talked of getting the Watermen to join them, &c. A Body of them even went to Bloomsbury-Square, where they pulled down the Stone-Posts, and Part of the Wall, before the Duke of Bedford's House, with the Rails in the Road to Fig-Lane, besides ploughing up the Ground in the Middle of the Square, and doing other Damage. These Outrages being apprehended to be dangerous, a Party of the Horse-Guards had been added to the Foot, which had been placed there the Night before; but the Mob were so unruly, that they tore up the very Pavement to supply them with Stones, to pelt the Guards: In Consequence of which much Mischief was done, many of the Soldiers were cut and wounded, and several of the People trampled down by the Horses. These Outrages continued a great Part of the Night.

Another Body went to Mr. Carr's, a Silk-Mercer, on Ludgate-Hill, where they demolished the Windows, broke the Lamps at the Door, and did other Mischief. In Consequence of this, between Seven and Eight o'Clock, the Lord Mayor, attended by the Sheriffs, Recorder, City-Marshal, and Sword-Bearer, with a Number of Peace-Officers, repaired to the Spot; but his Lordship was obliged to leave his Coach in St. Paul's Church-Yard: From whence he proceeded on Foot to Mr. Carr's; when the Recorder told the Populace, that unless they dispersed, the Riot Act should be read. His Lordship then repaired to the Globe Tavern, in Fleet-Street, and attended there with his Brethren for some Time.

About Nine in the Evening a strong Party of Horse, with another of Foot, were drawn up before Mr. Carr's House: But happily the Night passed without further Disorder.

A Court of Aldermen had previously met the Evening before, to consult on proper Methods for the preventing the ill Consequences that might arise from so large a Body of People daily assembling; a Party of the Guards, from the Tower, did Duty all the Night of the 16th in Moorfields; another Party had been sent for the same Night to Spitalfields, on account of the Mob breaking the Windows there of some Master Weavers, who were reported to have had French Silks in their Houses, particularly of one in Princess-Street, whose Windows were entirely demolished from the Top to the Bottom.

And early on the 17th another Party of Guards, attended by a great Number of Constables, Headboroughs, &c. marched from Hicks's-Hall to Moorfields, to be at hand against any further Riots.

Their principal Orator was one Jones, a Welshman. This Person received the Message when they were at St. James's, after which he drew his Brethren off to the Green-Park, and signified what had passed from a Tree. He also made an Harangue to them in Old Palace-Yard, persuading them to disperse, and seemed to conduct himself with a good deal of Modesty and Decorum; he personally having no other View in taking the Lead on that Occasion, but to keep his Brethren from running into any Excess that might be construed a Breach of the Laws, or Disaffection to the Government; as he himself declared to the Author.

On the 15th, at Night, a Fire broke out near Crowder's-Rents, in the Narrow-Street, Lime-House, which burnt furiously for many Hours, and running Eastward on both Sides of the Way, destroyed upwards of 60 Houses, &c.

The distressed Condition of the Widows and Orphans of the poor Clergy within the Bills of Mortality and County of Middlesex, being considered, a numerous Body of the Clergy met at Sion-College, on the 21st of May, and entered into a Subscription for their Relief.

On the 1st of June, between Six and Seven o'Clock in the Evening, a dreadful Fire broke out in a Mast-Yard near Rotherhithe Church, which in a few Hours consumed a Spot of Ground computed near as big as the four Quarters of the Lower Moorfields, containing by the Parish Books 206 Houses. It also burnt the Inside of a Brig; but the Wind driving the Flames off from the Waterside, there was no other Damage done to the Shipping, which otherwise would probably have greatly suffered. This Fire is said to have been occasioned by a Pitch-Kettle boiling over, which set the Masts and Timber in the Yard

Fire in Narrow-
Street.

Clergy's Subscription.

Fire at Rother-
hithe.

Yard all in Flames. Large Contributions were made in the City for the Relief of the poor Sufferers; and so generously, that it exceeded the Sums claimed by them.

Another in Narrow-
Street.

Another Fire broke out, about Four o'Clock in the Morning of the 25th of August, in a Plumber's Shop at the South-West End of Narrow-Street, Limehouse, near Ratcliff-Cross; which burnt both Sides of the Way, Eastward, consuming 11 Houses, and damaged several others, with such Rapidity, that the Sufferers had scarce Time to save any Thing.

Incendiary
Letters.

About this Time the Inhabitants of the City of London and its Suburbs were greatly alarmed by many incendiary Letters, threatening Fire and Destruction, which had been dropped in many Parts of London. No less than seven or eight Trains laid for this desperate Purpose, were discovered and defeated within a few Weeks. Several of the Incendiaries were taken into Custody, and the utmost Precaution used to prevent the Execution of their horrid Designs.

Prince
William-Henry
born.

Her Majesty being safely delivered of a Prince on the twenty-first of August (afterwards christened by the Name of William-Henry) the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Common-Council waited on his Majesty the twenty-eighth with the following congratulatory Address on the Occasion:

The humble Address of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council assembled.

"Most Gracious Sovereign,

City Address.

"We your Majesty's ever loyal and faithful Subjects, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council assembled, humbly beseech your Majesty to accept our most sincere and dutiful Congratulations on the safe Delivery of the Queen, and the auspicious Birth of another Prince.

"The joyful Event of an Increase in your Majesty's illustrious Family, will always be gratefully considered by us as a further substantial Security to the civil and religious Liberties of this your Majesty's free and native Country.

"Every Addition to your Majesty's domestic Happiness fills our Hearts with the highest Pleasure and Satisfaction; and fully confiding that your Majesty's royal Sentiments ever coincide with the united Wishes of your faithful People, we gladly embrace every Opportunity of testifying our Joy, and laying our Congratulations at your Majesty's Feet.

"Permit us, therefore, Royal Sir, to assure your Majesty, that your faithful Citizens of London, from their zealous Attachment to your royal House, and the true Honour and Dignity of your Crown, whenever a happy Establishment of public Measures shall present a favourable Occasion, will be ready to exert their utmost Abilities in support of such wise Councils as apparently tend to render your Majesty's Reign happy and glorious."

To which Address his Majesty was pleased to return this most gracious Answer:

"I thank you for this dutiful Address. Your Congratulations on the further Increase of my "Family, and your Assurances of zealous Attachment to it, cannot but be very agreeable to me. I have nothing so much at Heart as the Welfare and Happiness of my People; and have the greatest Satisfaction in every Event that may be an additional Security to those civil and religious Liberties upon which the Prosperity of these Kingdoms depends."

The above Address was but ill received by the new Ministry, who thought themselves highly reflected on.

About Nine o'Clock at Night, on the eighth of October, a most extraordinary Phenomenon appeared in the Air over the City of London. At first a strong Light was seen on the gravel and paved Walks in the Temple, bright enough to pick up a Pin; which Surprise was increased on the Beholders looking upwards, when a Globe of ruddy Fire was seen descending from a great Altitude over Temple-Bar, as large as the full Moon a little after her Rising; and taking its Course obliquely towards the River Thames, as if it would have fallen therein; but coming low and over the same, it shot itself into a Sheet of Fire, with one Edge turned towards the Water, in the Form of a Boy's Kite, with Head, Wings and Tail, appearing half as long, and in one Part twice as broad, as Fleet-Street. It fell or vanished on the Southwark Side of the Water, in a yellow Fire, to the Surprise not only of all the Watermen there on that Part of the River, but of all the Spectators, who declared they had never beheld the like Appearance before.

An extraordinary Phenomenon.

At a Court of Common-Council held at Guildhall, on the fifteenth of October, it was resolved to present the Freedom of the City, in a Gold Box, to his Serene Highness the Hereditary Prince of Brunswick. And on the twenty-second they agreed to grant, as a Benefaction to the Society of Arts and Sciences in the Strand, the Sum of five hundred Pounds.

Freedom
presented to the Prince of Brunswick.

To so great a Height was the Spirit of Monopoly and Oppression got at this Time, that the very Retailers of Milk, in and about this Metropolis, attempted to raise the Price of that Commodity from Three-halfpence to Two-pence Half-penny a Wine Quart, which they purchase at a Penny Winchester Measure; and in some Parts they carried their Point; though the Price was afterwards settled at Two-pence the Quart.

500 l. given to the Arts and Sciences.

Monopolies.

At a very numerous Meeting of the Grand Jury, and other principal Inhabitants of the Borough of Southwark, at their Town-Hall, it was unanimously agreed to give the following Instructions to their Members:

Grand Jury, &c.
Instructions
in that Case.

To Sir Joseph Mawbey, Bart. and Henry Thrale, Esq; Representatives in Parliament for the Town and Borough of Southwark.

"Gentlemen,

"We, the Grand Jury for the Town and Borough of Southwark, and others the Inhabitants thereof, this Day assembled in the Town-Hall, sensibly touched with the just Complaints of the Poor of this Borough, as well as of those of the Nation in general, occasioned by the present enormous Price of

"every

“ every Necessary of Life, and the almost total “ Stagnation of many valuable Branches of our “ Manufactures in Consequence thereof, think we “ should be wanting in the Duty we owe to our “ Fellow-Inhabitants, did we not employ every “ Means in our Power to procure a Removal of “ this national Evil.

“ Actuated by these Motives, Gentlemen,
 “ we take this early Opportunity to instruct you,
 “ our Representatives in the great Council of “ the Land, to use your utmost Efforts and “ Influence to attain this salutary Purpose; and “ as we apprehend nothing will so readily effect
 “ this, as the immediate Prohibition of the Ex“ portation of all Sorts of Grain, that of Bread “ Corn more especially (to the current Price of “ which indispenfable Necessary of Life, that of “ every other Article bears so great a Propor“ tion) we do hereby require and instruct you to “ exert your best Endeavours in Parliament to “ obtain such Prohibition, or such other whole“ some Law as the Body of the Legislature shall
 “ in its Wisdom judge most expedient to put a “ Stop to this crying Grievance.

“ In giving you these Instructions, Gentle“ men, we firmly believe that we speak your “ own Sentiments, who, as Persons of Genero“ sity and Humanity, cannot but feel for the “ Distresses of the Poor.”

Death of the Duke of Cumberland.

On the thirty-first of October, between Seven and Eight o’Clock in the Evening, his Royal Highness William, Duke of Cumberland, died suddenly at his House in Upper Grosvenor-Street. His Royal Highness was at Court in the Morning, dined with Lord Albemarle in the Afternoon, and drank Tea with the Princess of Brunswick at St. James’s; from whence he came to his own House in the Evening, to be present at a Council to be held on Affairs of State. As soon as he came in, he complained of a Pain in the Shoulder, with a cold and shivering Fit, and desired to be laid on the Couch, which was done; but in about twenty Minutes after expired without the least Struggle.

On opening the Body, there was found in the right Ventricle of the Brain a Coagulation of extravasated Blood, about the Size of a Pigeon’s Egg, which was the Cause of his Death. All the noble Parts were found, except the Membrane between the Lobes of the Brain, which was ossified.

His Royal Highness gave near six thousand Pounds a Year in private Charity: And though he did not allow his Workmen at Windsor (where he generally resided) greater Wages than the rest of the Country, he allowed them every Day at Noon Table-Beer, and Bread and Cheese, and generally twice a Week a hot Dinner. This his Royal Highness called Old English Hospitality.

*Judgment in the Cause of the Rev.
 Mr. En-tick.*

On the twenty-seventh of November, the Right Honourable the Lord Camden gave his Opinion (in the Cause of the Rev. John Entick) upon the granting of General Warrants by Secretaries of State, which for three Terms, under a special Verdict, had been learnedly argued in his Presence: And after enlarging upon and explaining Numbers of Cases, which lasted upwards of three Hours, his Lordship declared it, as the unanimous Opinion of the Court, that such Warrants (except in Cases of High Treason) were illegal, oppressive, and unwarrantable.

The Court of Common-Council having referred to the Commissioners of Sewers and Pavements the Consideration of the most effectual Way to correct the Complaint of bad Pavements and other Nuisances within the Limits of the City Jurisdiction, they made a Representation of what they considered in the Manner and Form following:

To the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council assembled.

“ The humble Representation of the Commissioners of the Sewers and Pavements within the said City and Liberties,

*Representation
 of the Sewers.*

Sheweth,

“ That we, the Commissioners of the Sewers, having received frequent Complaints of bad Pavements, and other Nuisances, within the Limits of our Jurisdiction, and having found our repeated Endeavours to correct the same ineffectual, we think it incumbent on us to represent to this honourable Court:

“ 1. That the Pavements are in general rough and irregular, and in many of the principal Streets very defective and bad, chiefly owing, as we conceive, to their being partially, and at different Times, and with different Materials, repaired by the several Inhabitants themselves, to the frequent Breaches made therein by the different Water Companies, and to their slight and insufficient Manner of patching up the same.

“ 2. That the prevailing Method of placing the Channels in the middle of the Streets, which are generally made very deep, and in many Cases (sometimes necessarily) attended with cross Channels, renders the Coach-Way very disagreeable and unsafe to Passengers, as well as highly detrimental to Horses and Carriages.

“ 3. That the too common Practice of the lower Sort of Inhabitants, and Servants, throwing Ashes, Rubbish, broken Glass, and earthen Ware, Offals, and other offensive Things, into the Streets, stops the Current of the Channels, makes the Highway very inconvenient, and sometimes dangerous to Coach, Horse, and Foot Passengers, and even to the Health of the neighbouring Inhabitants.

“ 4. That the Passage of some of the greatest Thoroughfares is often obstructed by the loading and unloading of Stage-Coaches, Stage-Waggons, and Country Carts, and by the washing of Butts, Casks, and Barrels, in the Highway.

5. That the Foot-Ways, by not being raised above the Level of the Streets, are much annoyed with Mud, and frequently overflowed with Water, which renders them disagreeable and slippery in moist, and very dangerous in frosty Weather; a Nuisance every Day accumulated by the Neglect of the Householders to cause their Servants to scrape and sweep away the Mud from before their Houses.

“ 6. That

" 6. That Posts intended for the Security of Passengers, do but in Part answer that Intention, considerably lessen the Passage on both Sides, in Streets already too narrow, and, by their Irregularity and Aptness to decay, offend the Eye, at the same Time that they occasion an Expence which might be entirely saved by raising the Foot-Way a little higher.

" 7. That several of the Foot-Ways are encumbered with Goods and Packages, and others of them streightened by the unwarrantable Projection of Shop-Windows, Bulks, and Shew-Boards, or the more dangerous Encroachments of Vaults and Cellar Doors.

" 8. That the daily increasing Rivalship in the Size and Projection of Signs in a great Measure defeats the Purpose of them, obstructs the free Circulation of the Air, (so desirable in a large and populous City) in Times of high Wind often proves dangerous, and in Rain always an Annoyance to Foot-Passengers, and at Night, more or less, intercepts the Light of the Lamps.

" 9. That Foot-Passengers are likewise greatly annoyed, in rainy Weather, by the Water conveyed from the Tops of old Houses through Spouts projecting into the Streets.

" 10. That for the Want of the Streets and Courts being properly marked and distinguished, and the Houses regularly numbered, Strangers are often put to great Trouble and Difficulty to find their Way to Places and Persons they have Occasion to resort to.

" From this View of the many Nuisances and Defects which lessen the Beauty, Neatness, and Convenience of this great and famous Metropolis, we humbly conceive, that every Person (not bigoted to ancient Forms and Customs, or biased by narrow Considerations of immediate Interest) must be convinced of the Necessity of a speedy Reformation, without which the little of our Retail Trade that remains will in Time be totally lost, our Wards and Parishes depopulated, and the Burthen of our Offices and Taxes proportionally increased.

" To obviate the Objection which, in the Minds of some, may arise from a Dread of the Expence attending the proposed Regulations, and which can only be defrayed by a new Tax, we humbly beg Leave to offer it as our Opinion, that a very moderate Tax, little exceeding the Average of the present ordinary Repairs, might, by borrowing a Sum of Money upon the Credit of it, be sufficient to answer the Expence, not only of the first Outset, but of all necessary Reparations for many Years to come; that the Difference (if any) would be more than amply compensated by the Preservation, not to say Recovery, of our Retail Trade; and that every Ground of Complaint of Oppression or Partiality might be effectually removed, if the proposed Reformation was limited to Streets, the major Part of whose Inhabitants should apply for and request it.

" To enable ourselves to form this Conjecture, as well as others to judge of its Probability, we have enquired the Prices contracted for by the Commissioners for the new Pavement at Westminster, have caused the Streets from Temple-Bar to Aldgate Church to be surveyed and measured, and different Estimates to be made of the proposed Improvements within that Distance; from all which we have formed the following Computation:

An Estimate of the Expence of altering all the Paving from Temple-Bar, proceeding Eastward up Fleet-Street, Ludgate-Hill, Ludgate-Street, all round the South Side of St. Paul's, along Cheap-side, the Poultry, Cornhill, Leadenhall-Street, and home to Aldgate Church.

	£.	s.	d.
16,461 Feet running of Moor-Stone Curb, at 2s. 9d. per Foot	2,263	7	9
115,414 Feet superficial of squaring and laying of old and new Purbeck Paving in the Foot-Way, at 1½ per Foot	721	8	0
77,200 Feet superficial of new Purbeck Paving, at 7½ per Foot	2,444	19	6
32,428 Yards of Paving with Scotch Stones in the Coach-Way, at 7s. 8d. per Yard	12,430	14	8
For digging and removing Rubbish, being 32,428 Yards superficial, at 4d. per Yard	540	9	4
For removing Posts and levelling Ground, being 16,461 Feet running, at 3d. per Foot	205	15	3
For fitting Curbs round Areas and Windows, altering Water-Spouts, Iron Grates, &c. being 16,461 Feet running, at 10d. per Foot	685	17	6
	19,292	12	0
Deduct for 32,428 Yards of old Pebbles, at 1s. 6d. per Yard	2,432	2	0
	16,860	10	0

An Estimate of the Expence of relaying the old Guernsey Pebbles, and using Purbeck Step for the Curb, throughout all the aforesaid Streets, from Temple-Bar to Aldgate-Church, as follows: viz.

	£.	s.	d.
16,461 Feet running of Purbeck Step for the Curb, at 1s. 10d. per Foot	1,508	18	6
Purbeck Paving in the Foot-Way	3,166	7	6
32,428 Yards of old Pebbles in the Coach-way relayed, including digging, levelling, and removing Rubbish, at 9d. per Yard	1,216	1	0
3,243 Tons of new Pebbles, at 20s. per Ton	3,243	0	0
3,243 Loads of Gravel, at 3s. per Load	486	9	0
Fitting Curbs round Areas, &c. being 16,461 Feet running, at 10d. per Foot	685	17	6
Removing Posts, &c. being 16,461 Feet, at 3d. per Foot	205	15	3
	10,512	8	9

Oct. 11, 1765.

GEORGE DANCE.

A Tax of twelve Pence in the Pound upon the Rents of the Front Houses, which we find to amount to the Sum of 47,800l. and upwards, would raise the yearly Sum of

2390 0 0
Brought

Brought over	£. s. d.
	2390 0 0
And, as it seems reasonable that the neighbouring Inhabitants, whose Houses do not front the high Streets, ought to contribute towards the Expence of Improvements of which they will equally enjoy the Benefit, we think the proposed Tax should extend to all Houses in the adjoining Yards, Courts, and Alleys, but with a Power of Mitigation in Favour of the inferior and poorer Sort of Housholders; which discretionary Tax we estimate at the yearly Sum of	150 0 0
Total of the Tax per Annum	2540 0 0

On the other Hand, the Interest of 17000*l.* (which is more than the larger Estimate requires) at 4*l.* per Cent. would amount to the yearly Sum of

We estimate the future annual Repairs at

And the proportionable Share of the additional Salaries of Officers, Surveyors, &c. at

Total of the annual Charge

CHAP. X.

*Scarcity of Corn. Green's Trial. Fire in Queen-Street, Ratcliff. Rejoicings on the Repeal of the American Stamp-Act. Weavers rejoice. Act for paving, &c. London Streets. Officers chosen, and Salaries. Their Duties. A great Storm. Address on the Birth of a Princess. Great Frost, and its bad Effects. A Hurricane, and the Damages sustained thereby. City's Donation of 1000*l.* for the Relief of the Poor. A large Subscription for the same Purpose. Great Fire in the Strand. Number of Cattle, Hogs, &c. killed in London, in one Year. Agreement to pull down Gresham College. Freedom presented to the Honourable Charles Townshend. Fifth Arch of London Bridge granted to the Water-Works. Brownrigg's Trial and Execution. Prince Edward born. City Address on his Birth. City's Generosity to an Alderman's Widow. A preternatural Tide. Cutters on Saffron-Hill. Addition of 200*l.* to the Recorder's Salary, and of 150*l.* to the Common-Serjeant's. A very severe Frost.*

Petition against the Exportation of Corn.

BREAD about this Time rose to a very high Price, occasioned by a Scarcity of Corn, arising from its Exportation to France and Holland. This greatly alarmed the City, and produced a Resolution in the Court of Aldermen to petition the House of Commons (on the 17th of January, 1766) to put a Stop to that growing Evil of exporting Corn, which threatened our own Country with Famine.

On the 25th, the Chamberlain recovered 25*l.* Damages, with Costs, of Richard Green, for acting as Stock-Broker, not being admitted by the Court of Lord Mayor and Aldermen.

The Neighbourhood of Ratcliff-Cross was again a third Time within twelve Months visited by Fire. It began in the House of Mr. Whiting, a Pale Ale Brewer, on the South Side of Queen-Street, facing the South End of London-Street, and destroyed all his Premises, and six more Houses, &c.

His Majesty having given his royal Assent (on the 18th of March) to an Act of both Houses of Parliament for repealing the American Stamp-Act, which had passed and been found extremely detrimental to the Trade and Commerce of the British Colonies, the Merchants of the City of London assembled on that Occasion before the House of Lords, and made a most numerous and brilliant Appearance, to express their Satisfaction and Thankfulness: and as soon as this was known in the City, the Ships in the River displayed their Colours; great Numbers of Houses in the City were illuminated; and every decent and orderly Method was observed, to demonstrate the just Sense that was entertained of his Majesty's Goodness, and the Wisdom of Parliament, in conciliating the Minds of the People on this critical Occasion.

On the 14th of May, his Majesty having given the royal Assent, among others, to "the Bill to prohibit the Importation of foreign wrought Silks and Velvets for a limited Time," several thousand Weavers went to St. James's, with Colours flying, Drums beating, and Music playing, and otherwise testifying their Gratitude by loud Acclamations.

At the same Time his Majesty gave the royal Assent to a Bill for paving, &c. London Streets, and for other Purposes. In which Act we find, "That, the sole Power and Authority of pitching, paving, cleansing and enlightening the Streets, &c. is vested in the Mayor and Commonalty of London, to be executed by such Persons as they, in Common-Council assembled, shall appoint to be Commissioners of the Sewers, which Commissioners of the Sewers shall be constituted Commissioners for carrying this Act into Execution.

"The Recorder and Common-Serjeant of the said City of London, for the Time being, shall be Commissioners, and seven Commissioners a Quorum.

"The Commissioners shall and may appoint Clerks, Surveyors, and as many other Officers as they shall find necessary; and take such Security as they shall think proper, and may remove any of the said Officers at their Will and Pleasure, and appoint others in their room, with such Salaries as they shall judge reasonable.

"Clerks, Surveyors, and other Officers, found guilty of exacting, shall be incapable of being employed under this Act, and shall forfeit and pay the Sum of 50*l.* to any who shall sue for the same within six Calendar Months next after the Offence committed.

"Non-Freemen may be employed in paving, cleansing, &c. and may contract for the Performance

Green's Trial.

Fire in Queen-Street.

Rejoicings by the Merchants.

By the Weavers.

Act for paving London.

“formance of the said Works. No Common-“Council-Man shall be concerned in any Con“tract.

“The Commissioners may cause all or any of “the Streets, Lanes, Squares, Yards, Courts, “Alleys, Passages, and Places, to be new paved,
“or repaired, when, and as often, and in such “Manner, and with such Materials, as they “shall think fit, and may cause such Posts, as “they shall think usefess or inconvenient, to be “taken up and removed; and likewise all Steps, “Bulks, Shew-Glaffes, and Shew-Boards, in-“croaching upon the Foot-Ways; as also all Steps
“and Doors, opening or leading from the Foot-“Ways into Vaults or Cellars, to be removed or “altered.

“To take down and remove all Signs, or other “Emblems, used to denote the Trade, Occupa“tion, or Calling of any Person or Persons, to“gether with the Sign-Posts, Sign-Irons, Pent-“Houses, Shew-Boards, Spouts, and Gutters,
“and all other Incroachments, Projections, and “Annoyances whatsoever, within the said City
“or Liberties; and for the future all such Signs,
“&c. are to be fixed on the Fronts of the Houses,
“and not otherwise; and every Person, offend“ing contrary to these Directions, for every such “Offence is to forfeit and pay the Sum of 5*l*.
“and the further Sum of 20*s*. for every Day such “Offence shall continue.

“Cranes shall be kept close to the Walls of “Warehouses; and, after the 24th of June, “1766, no Waggon shall, for the Purpose of “loading and unloading the same, stand in the “Streets above an Hour; nor any Cart, Wag“gon, Dray, or other Carriage, be suffered to “stand athwart or across any Street, &c. or other“wise, longer than is necessary for the loading
“or unloading thereof; nor any Goods, Mate“rials or Things whatsoever, to be laid or placed “in any Street, &c. so as to obstruct the Passage “thereof: and in every such Offence, any one “of the Commissioners, or Officers by them ap“pointed to remove Nuisances, may seize the “Waggon, Cart, Dray, or other Carriage, so “placed, together with the Horse or Horses; or
“the Goods, Materials, and Things so laid and “left, and remove the same to the common “Pound of the City, commonly called the Green-“Yard, till claimed by the Owner or Owners, on “Payment of the Sum of 20*s*. with the Charges “of removing and keeping the same; and, in “case of Non-claiming and Payment within the “Space of three Days next after such Seizure, it “shall be lawful for the Commissioners to ap“praise and sell the same, and the Monies arising “therefrom are to be applied to the Purposes of “this Act. This Clause extends to seizing, “pounding, and selling, in like Manner, any “Posts, Bars, Rails, Boards, or other Thing, by “way of Inclosure for the Purpose of making “Mortar, or depositing Bricks, Lime or other “Materials for building or repairing Houses, or “other Works, if suffered to remain any longer “Time than is necessary. The claiming of “them before sold is limited to the Space of eight “Days.

“No Lime is to be flacked in the Foot or “Carriage Way of the Streets, &c. nor in any “House, but only on vacant Scites, where any “House or Houses are totally pulled down in “order to be rebuilt, on the Penalty of forty “Shillings.

“The Penalty of driving any Bier, Wheel
“or Wheels, Sledge, Wheel-Barrow, or other “Carriage whatsoever, or wilfully riding, lead“ing, or driving any Horse, Coach, or other “Carriage whatsoever, upon any Part of the “Foot-Pavements, is 10*s*. for the first Offence;
“20*s*. for the second; and 40*s*. for the third,
“and every other Time of offending. Any “Person whatever, without any other Warrant,
“who shall see any such Offence committed,
“may seize the Offender, and convey him to “the Custody of a Justice of Peace, before “whom he must be convicted upon Oath.

“The Names of Streets, &c. are to be put “up, painted, engraved, or described in “Stone, or otherwise, at or near each End,
“Corner, or Entrance of each of the Streets,
“&c. and the Houses are to be numbered, in “order to the distinguishing them; and the Pe“nalty of maliciously defacing or obliterating
“the same, for every such Offence, is 40*s*.

“The Form of the new Pavement is not to “be altered without Authority from the Com“missioners, on the Penalty of 5*l*. over and “above the Expence of relaying and reinstating
“the same. But the Pavements are to be re“paired on Complaint; and, when Water-“Pipes are broken, and the Pavement taken up
“for repairing them, the Ground must be filled
“up within four Days after, upon the Penalty “of the Paviour of the Water-Company, to “whom the Pipes belong, paying 5*l*. or the “Owners of such Pipes, not belonging to any “of the Water-Companies, paying forty Shil“lings. The Paviours of the Water-Companies “are to give Notice of their Names, &c.
“and the Water-Companies are to pay the Ex“pence of new laying the Pavement, when the “Pipes are broken, &c. The Expence of Al“terations in the Pipes is to be defrayed out of “the Monies arising or to arise by virtue of “this Act, and Lifts of the Turn-Cocks are to “be delivered to the Housholders.

“The Commissioners shall have full Power
“to cause the Streets to be watered as often as “they shall think fit, and to have Wells sunk
“and Pumps erected in proper Places, for that
“or any other Purpose; likewise Dust-Holes “erected, where the Occupiers of Houses and “Tenements are required to have all their “Dust, Ashes, and other Filth to be deposited, “till the same shall be carried away by the “respective Rakers or Scavengers. The Per“son offending contrary to this Clause is to “forfeit ten Shillings for every Offence.

“The Foot-Ways are to be cleaned daily by
“the Occupiers of Houses or Tenements, un“der the Penalty of two Shillings.

“The Commissioners are empowered to di“rect the setting up of Lamps in such a Man“ner, and at such Distances, as they shall judge “proper, and at what Time they are to be “lighted, and how long to continue so; the “Commissioners are also to direct the placing of “private Lamps.

“The Property of the Pavements, &c. are “vested in the Mayor, Commonalty, and Citi“zens

zens of the City of London, and all Actions and Indictments are to be preferred in their Name.

From and after the 29th of September, 1766, Rates are to be collected half-yearly, or oftener, as the Commissioners shall think fit to order, and not to exceed 1 s. 6 d. in the Pound in any one Year, in the whole of the yearly Rents of such Lands, Houses, Shops, Warehouses, Cellars, Vaults, or other Tenements or Hereditaments respectively, as shall be situate in any Street, &c. actually begun to be new paved; and 1 s. in the Pound of the yearly Rents of such of the Lands, Houses, &c. as shall not be so situate. Those Lands, Houses, &c. are such as are actually rated towards the Relief of the Poor in the respective Parishes; and the Owners of large Warehouses, &c. and poor Tradesmen, Manufacturers, &c. upon Petition to the Commissioners, are intitled to Relief, as they shall think just and reasonable. The Parties concerned, thinking themselves aggrieved by the Award of the Commissioners, may appeal to the Court of Mayor and Aldermen, who shall finally determine what Relief to be granted.

The several Aldermen of the City, or their respective Deputies, are empowered to examine Poor's Rates and Land-Tax Books. Duplicates of the Rates are to be made out and signed; and Collectors are to be chosen annually, on St. Thomas's Day. 50 l. is the Penalty on refusing to serve, and notwithstanding, the Party or Parties continue liable to be chosen again the Year following, or at any other Time; and are liable to the like Penalty so often as they refuse or neglect to take and duly execute the same. In case of Death, or Refusal, the Alderman of each respective Ward may appoint others, under the like Penalty; and the only Persons exempted are those who are so by the Laws now in being from serving any Ward Office.

Inmates, or the Occupiers of Houses in Lodgings or Tenements, are to pay the Rates, but are to be allowed the same out of their Rents by the Owners.

Public Buildings, Hospitals excepted, may be rated at 4 d. per square Yard, and dead Walls at 6 d. per Yard running Measure. St. Paul's Church and Yard are to be rated by the Alderman of Castle-Baynard Ward, or his Deputy, at such Rate as the major Part of his Common-Council-Men shall judge reasonable, not exceeding the Rate of 1 s. 3 d. by the Year for every square Yard of the said Pavement: Wharfs, Warehouses, &c. are not to pay more than two Thirds of the Rates herein before directed: The Rates on Meeting-Houses are to be paid by those officiating therein; and of unoccupied Houses, &c. by the first Tenants or Occupiers thereof; Allowance in the Rent to be made by the Landlords or Owners.

The Collector is to distrain in case of Non-payment; and, if Distress followed, the Warrant is to be backed. The Penalty, on the Neglect of granting or executing such Warrants, is 40 s. Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to make void any Agreement between Landlord and Tenant, concerning the Paving, Cleansing, or Enlightening any Part of the said Streets, &c.

Freemen, not paying the Rates, are incapable of voting; and Persons aggrieved may appeal to the Commissioners, within 30 Days next after such Rates shall have been demanded, and the Commissioners are to hear and determine Complaints.

The Money collected is to be paid into the Chamberlain's Office; and the Collector, upon Demand, is to give in an Account of all Monies collected. The Penalty, on Refusal to account or make Payment, is Distress and Sale of the Collector's Goods, and Chattels; and if none such, sufficient to satisfy the said Money, can be found, with the Charges of Distress and Sale, then the Collector may be committed to one of the Compters, there to be detained till he shall pay the same, or such Composition as the Commissioners shall agree to accept.

The Collector dying, or becoming Bankrupt, his Estate is liable to Payment; but if insolvent, the Money is to be again assessed.

The Chamberlain is to pay all Sums of Money, by Order of the Commissioners, and to make Entries.

The present Contracts for lighting, &c. the Streets, are not hereby vacated.

The Commissioners may borrow Money on the Credit of the Rates, and 100,000 l. may be borrowed by Annuities on Lives, at 8 l. per Cent. to be paid by four equal quarterly Payments during the full Term of the natural Life of the Annuitants, being of the Age of 45 Years, or upwards. The Clerk is to enter all Securities. The Annuities are not liable to Taxes, and the Securities are transferable. The Money borrowed is charged on the Rates; and Persons charged towards these Rates are not liable to any former Rates, in pursuance of any former Acts of Parliament, towards paving, cleansing, &c. of the said City and Liberties; but Arrears of former Rates are still recoverable.

The Surplus remaining in the Chamber of London, under Act 17 George II. is to be applied to this Act.

And that the Purposes of this Act may the better be carried into Execution, the following Tolls are to be taken at the Turnpikes at Mile-End, Bethnal-Green, Hackney, Kingsland, Ball's Pond or Pond Islington, Holloway, End of St. John's Street, End of Goswell-Street, and the Turnpike on the City-Road; all which Turnpikes are in the County of Middlesex; viz. For every Coach, &c. drawn by six or more Horses, the Sum of 10 d. For ditto, drawn by four Horses, 8 d. For ditto, drawn by three, or two Horses, 6 d. For every Chaise, Chair, Calash, or other Carriage, drawn by one Horse, 3 d. and for every Horse, &c. 1 d.

At a Court of Common-Council held at Guildhall the 16th of May, Commissioners were chosen for executing the Purposes of the above Act, who met on the 23d, and settled the Appointments to their respective Officers and Servants, as follows: To the Chief Clerk, 100 l. per Annum; First Assistant-Clerk, 60 l. Junior Assistant-Commissioners chosen.
Officers and their Salaries.

The fore front of the Royal Hospital at Chelsea.

804 Foot in front.

The back & front of the Royal Hospital at Chelsea.

Assistant-Clerk, 50*l*. Surveyor, 200*l*. Three Inspectors, 60*l*. each.

Instructions to the Officers.

The following is the Substance of the Instructions given by the Commissioners of the Pavements for the City of London to their Officers.

General Duties.

General Duties.

1. They must give such Security for the due Execution of their Offices as the Commissioners shall require.
2. They must not accept any Fee or Reward (other than Salaries and Rewards allowed by the Commissioners) for any Thing done, or to be done, forbearing to do any Thing, or on any Account whatsoever, relating to the Execution or Non-execution of this Act.
3. They must not be interested in any Bargain made by the Commissioners, on Forfeiture of 50*l*. and perpetual Disability.
4. They must be active, and pay ready Obedience to the Commissioners.
5. They must behave with good Manners towards their Superiors, and every Inhabitant; and, upon all Occasions, manifest a Disposition to oblige them as far as their Trust will permit.

Duty of the Three Inspectors.

Inspectors Duty.

1. The City and its Liberties to be divided into three Districts, as nearly equal as possible; and each Inspector is to act within his own District as Deputy to the principal Surveyor, and to follow his Direction.
2. He is, in a Book to be by him kept, to enter an alphabetical List of all the Streets and Places within his District, with an Account, in four separate Columns, of the Quantity of Paving in the Carriage and Foot-Ways, (distinguishing each Sort) the Number of Lamps, the Situation of the Grates, or Gully-Holes, and the Courses, Dimensions, and Declivities of the Sewers.
3. He is frequently to perambulate his District both Day and Night; and to observe whether the Contractors for cleansing and lighting do their Duty; whether the Foot-Ways are daily scraped and cleansed; whether any Posts, Spurs, or Kennels, are inconvenient; whether any Pavement is out of Repair; whether any Water-Pipe appears to be decayed; whether any Sewer is broken, or stopped up; whether any Privies communicate with the Common-Sewer; whether any of the Grates or Gully-holes are too narrow or ill-placed; whether any Lime is flaked in any Street, Place or House; whether any Carriage or Horse is driven upon the Foot-Pavements; whether any Marks for distinguishing the Streets, or Houses, shall be defaced; whether the Form of any Pavement new made, shall be altered; whether any Signs or Gutters shall be placed otherwise than in the Fronts of Houses; whether any Cranes are to project over the Highway when not in actual Use; whether any Occupiers of Tenements shall cause to be deposited any Dust in any Street, except in some Box, or Conveniency, provided by the Commissioners; whether any of the Lamps are broken, or the Light extinguished, or the Irons damaged; whether any private Lamps are placed otherwise than directed by the Commissioners; and, lastly, whether there are any Nuisances in the Highway: And he shall make a Minute of each Observation on the left-hand Pages of a Book, called The Register of the District; marking the Place and Time, proposing the Remedy, and estimating the Expence, if incumbent on the Commissioners.

4. He is, on the right Hand of his Register, (corresponding with his Observations on the other Side) to make fair distinct Minutes of what is done in consequence thereof, marking the Time, and Totals of the Charges.

5. He is to attend every Meeting of the Commissioners with his Register, and be ready to answer all Questions.

6. He is, immediately upon Receipt of Orders for any Repairs, to cause the same to be done, if the Expence shall not exceed five Pounds. But where the Expence is likely to exceed that Sum, he is to carry the Order to the principal Surveyor, that he may view, and report.

7. He is, upon the Bursting of any Pipe belonging to the Water-Company, to give immediate Notice thereof to the Paviours of the Company; and, upon the Bursting of any other Pipe, to give the like Notice to the Owner, requiring an immediate Repair; and if such Defect is not repaired, and the Ground filled up within four Days, he is to report the same to the Commissioners.

8. If at Midsummer, 1766, any Common Stage-Waggon shall stand in any Street, &c. above an Hour at a Time; or any Cart, or other Carriage, shall be placed across any Street, &c. or stand in any Part thereof longer than is necessary for loading and unloading; or if any Goods shall be left in any Street, &c. so as to obstruct the Passage; he is, upon Complaint by any two reputable Housekeepers, to move such Carriages, with the Horses, and such Goods, to the Green-Yard.

The Commissioners, having thus adjusted the necessary Preparations for so capital an Undertaking, immediately applied to Parliament for Leave to pull down what obstructed the free Air, and to make and widen such Streets as should be found necessary. And in consequence of an Act passed for that Purpose, Ludgate, Aldersgate, Cripplegate, Moorgate, Bishopsgate, and Aldgate, with the Posterns within their Limits, were taken down; and the City Wall, between the Scite of Cripplegate and Moorgate, and in several other Places, was razed from the Foundation by People who rented the adjacent Ground from the City on a building Lease. Narrow Passages, which before were dangerous, were opened and widened, and new Streets formed on the Ruins of the old. The Signs, Sign-Posts and Irons, together with all Spouts and Projections, were entirely removed; and, in short, such extensive Amendments have been, and still are making, as must in the End form the City of London the most elegant (as well as the most opulent) City in the World.

Application to Parliament for Licence to pull down Obstructions, &c.

On the 30th of July, the Recorder, pursuant to an Order of Common-Council, delivered into that Court his Opinion, that the City of London are by Charter entitled to import 4000 Chal-

4000 Chaldrons of Coals.

drons of Coals every Year for the Benefit of the Poor, at one Shilling per Chaldron less Duty than is the Custom to pay in the Port of London.

Fire in Black-moor-
Street.

About One in the Morning on the first of August, a Fire broke out at a Cheesemonger's in Blackmoor-Street, which entirely consumed that House, damaged two more in Front, and burnt backwards as far as Craven-Buildings in Drury-Lane, with such Rapidity, that an elderly Gentlewoman Lodger perished in the Flames, and the whole Family escaped the same Fate with the utmost Difficulty.

The Purchase of Black-friars Ferry.

As by the Building of Blackfriars Bridge, the Waterman's Company suffered a considerable Loss in their Property, by the Destruction of the Ferry, to which they were entitled for the Help and Relief of their Poor; the Committee for building the said Bridge agreed (on the 19th of August) to transfer the Sum of 13,650*l.* three per Cent. Bank Annuities, which produces 409*l.* 10*s.* per Annum, to the Watermen's Company, and which the said Company was annually to receive in Consideration of the Ferry at Blackfriars being annihilated, and for the Uses therein mentioned.

Great
Storm.

About Two o'Clock in the Morning of the fifth of this Month, there happened in London one of the greatest Storms of Rain, Thunder and Lightening, that had been ever known in the Memory of Man. A Watchman in High Holbourn declared, that about Three o'Clock a Ball of Fire fell near his Stand, that the Earth trembled under him, and that there was so great a Smell of Sulphur that he was near being suffocated.

The Scarcity of Corn about this Time increased so much that it produced a royal Proclamation:

At the Court at St. James's, the 26th Day of September, 1766,

P R E S E N T,

The KING's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

"Whereas his Majesty has been informed by Addresses from the Lord Mayor and Aldermen of London, the Cities of Bristol and Norwich, and other considerable Corporations, and numerous Bodies of Men, that the Price of Wheat had gradually increased ever since the Ports were opened by the Expiration of the Act of the last Session of Parliament, prohibiting the Exportation of Corn, and that at Bear-Key it is above the Bounty-Price, and in most other Places in the Kingdom greatly exceeding the same, and it is upon the strongest Ground to be presumed to be still rising; that the Stock in Hand is very inconsiderable, and that the Crop of the present Year has failed in such a Proportion, that if the Exportation be not immediately stopped, there is great Cause to foresee that very shortly there will not remain in the Kingdom a Quantity sufficient for the necessary Supply of his Majesty's Subjects. And whereas this Application is much increased from the undoubted Information his Majesty has received, that from the Failure of, and Deficiencies in the Crops in several foreign Parts, Commissions have been received from thence to purchase Wheat, to supply such foreign "Markets, at an unlimited Price; and which Commissions are, at this Time, larger and more extensive than have been known at any Time; so that unless his Majesty should, upon this Emergency, exert his royal Authority to prevent the further Exportation of Wheat and Wheat Flour, his Majesty's Subjects would be in Danger of Want, whilst Foreigners are supplied from this Country. And whereas the Parliament standing prorogued to the eleventh Day of November next, his Majesty has not an Opportunity of taking the Advice of his Parliament speedily enough upon the present Emergency to stop the Progress of a Mischief daily increasing, and which, if not immediately provided against, might be productive of Calamities past all Possibility of Remedy. It is therefore, upon the Grounds of the above urgent Necessity now impending, and for the Safety, Benefit, and Sustenance of his Majesty's Subjects, that his Majesty, with the Advice of his Privy Council, doth order, and it is hereby accordingly ordered, that an Embargo be forthwith laid upon all Ships and Vessels laden, or to be laden, in the Ports of Great-Britain, with Wheat or Wheat Flour, to be exported to foreign Parts; and that the said Embargo do continue and remain, from the Date hereof until the 14th Day of November next. And the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of his Majesty's Treasury, the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, and the Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports, are to give the necessary Directions herein, as to them may respectively appertain.

W. BLAIR.

At the Court of St. James's, the 26th Day of September, 1766,

P R E S E N T,

The KING's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

"Whereas his Majesty hath received Information, that the Price of Wheat has gradually increased ever since the Ports were opened by the Expiration of the Act of the last Session of Parliament prohibiting the Exportation of Corn, and that in the Port of London the Price had been for two successive Market-Days above forty-eight Shillings the Quarter, Winchester Measure; and it is upon the strongest Grounds to be presumed to be still rising—His Majesty doth therefore, by and with the Advice of his Privy Council (pursuant to the Powers vested in his Majesty for that Purpose by an Act passed in the thirty-third Year of his late Majesty King George the Second,) hereby prohibit the Making, Extracting, or Distilling of any Kind of low Wines, or Spirits, from any Wheat, Wheat Meal, Wheat Flour, or Wheat Bran, or any Mixture therewith, from the Date hereof until the fourteenth Day of November next: Whereof all Persons concerned are to take Notice, and yield due Obedience to his Majesty's Commands hereby signified.

W. BLAIR.

This

This not being found effectual to remedy the high Price of Corn, his Majesty, on the 11th of November, went to the House of Peers, and after he there had informed them of the Measures he had taken for that Purpose, he next Day issued another Proclamation, as hereafter set forth.

“ My Lords and Gentlemen,

“ The high Price of Wheat, and the defective Produce of that Grain last Harvest, together with the extraordinary Demands for the same from foreign Parts, have principally determined me to call you thus early together, that I might have the Sense of Parliament, as soon as conveniently might be, on a Matter so important, and particularly affecting the poorer Sort of my Subjects.

“ The Urgency of the Necessity called upon me, in the mean Time, to exert my royal Authority for the Preservation of the public Safety, against a growing Calamity, which could not admit of a Delay. I have therefore, by and with the Advice of my Privy Council, laid an Embargo on Wheat and Wheat Flour going out of the Kingdom, until the Advice of Parliament could be taken thereupon.

“ If further Provisions of Law be requisite or expedient with regard to the Dearthness of Corn, so necessary to the Sustenance of the poorer Sort, they cannot escape the Wisdom of Parliament, to which I recommend the Consideration thereof.

“ At the same time I must with Concern take Notice, that, notwithstanding my Cares for my People, a Spirit of the most daring Insurrection has in divers Parts broke forth in Violences of the most criminal Nature.

“ Necessary Orders have been given for bringing such dangerous Offenders to condign and speedy Justice; nor shall Vigilance and Vigour on my Part be wanting to restore Obedience and Reverence to Law and Government.”

At the Court at St. James's, the 12th Day of November, 1766.

P R E S E N T,

The KING's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

“ Whereas the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, in Parliament assembled, have this Day presented an humble Address to his Majesty, that he would be graciously pleased to order the Time of the Embargo laid upon all Ships laden or to be laden with Wheat and Wheat Flour, to be extended, and that his Majesty would be pleased to order an additional Embargo to be forthwith laid upon all Ships laden or to be laden with Barley or Malt, to be exported to foreign Parts: And whereas the House of Commons have likewise this Day presented an humble Address to his Majesty for the like Purposes—His Majesty in Council, taking both the said Addresses into Consideration, is thereupon pleased to order, that the Embargo, laid by Order in Council of the 26th Day of September last, upon all Ships and Vessels laden or to be laden in the Ports of Great-Britain with Wheat or Wheat Flour to be exported to foreign Parts, be continued

“ from the Expiration of the Time limited by the said Order. And his Majesty is hereby further pleased to order, that an additional Embargo be forthwith laid upon all Ships and Vessels laden or to be laden in the Ports of Great-Britain with Barley or Malt to be exported to foreign Parts.”

Her Majesty having been delivered of a Princess on the twenty-ninth of the preceding Month, (who was afterwards baptized by the Names of Charlotte-Augusta-Matilda) the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Common-Council waited on his Majesty the eighth of October with the following Address on the Occasion:

Princess born.

“ Most Gracious Sovereign,

“ We your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council assembled, with the most zealous Ardour and Affection, embrace the earliest Opportunity of approaching the Throne of the Best of Princes, with our joyful Congratulations on every Event pleasing to your Majesty and salutary to your Kingdoms.

City Address.

“ The safe Delivery of the Queen, a Princess endeared to your Majesty and the whole Nation by every royal and virtuous Accomplishment, fills our Hearts with the utmost Thankfulness to divine Providence.

“ An Increase of your Majesty's august Family by the Birth of a Princess Royal, cannot fail of diffusing universal Joy amongst all your faithful Subjects, as it farther secures to them and their Posterity, a long Continuance of those inestimable Blessings, which they have hitherto enjoyed under the Protection of your Majesty's illustrious House.

“ The auspicious Marriage of your Majesty's royal Sister, the Princess Carolina-Matilda, with that great Potentate the King of Denmark, (on which we beg leave to felicitate your Majesty) must afford the most interesting Satisfaction, not only to us and all your Majesty's loyal Subjects, but also to every Protestant Power in Europe.

“ Permit us, Royal Sir, to assure you, that your faithful Citizens of London are ever ready to evince to all the World, that their Hearts and Affections are sincere Oblations of Gratitude to your Majesty, for your constant paternal Care, and especially for the recent Instance of your tender Attention to the Necessities of your People.”

To which Address his Majesty was pleased to return the following most gracious Answer:

“ Your loyal and affectionate Professions upon the happy Event of my Queen's safe Delivery, and the Marriage of my Sister to my very good Ally, the King of Denmark, cannot but be most acceptable to me.

His Majesty's Answer.

“ It is with Pleasure that I see the just Sense which the City of London entertains of those Measures, which the Necessity of the Occasion obliged me to take for the Relief of my People; and I hope they will have the desired Effect of quieting Men's Minds, and removing “ving the Distresses which seemed daily to en-“crease.”

500*l.* given to the Sufferers
by Fire in Barbadoes.

A great
Frost.

At a Court of Common-Council on the 10th of November, the City voted 500*l.* for the Relief of the Sufferers by Fire in the Island of Barbadoes.

Towards the End of December, a violent Frost began, which continued to increase, and was very severe till the sixteenth of January following; when, on that and the two following Days, there was an Appearance of its breaking; but on the nineteenth it returned with increased Vigour, and continued till the twenty-second, when a kindly Thaw removed the dismal Apprehensions of the People.

During the Continuance of this Frost the Distresses of the Poor in Town and Country were truly pitiable, though the generous Hand of Charity was held forth by Numbers of worthy Persons, and several public Bodies. Fuel, and all other Necessaries of Life were remarkably dear: The River Thames was frozen so hard as to stop the Navigation both above and below the Bridge: Many Persons retarded, or jammed in by the Ice, perished with Cold, in Boats, or other Craft; and the Wherries in the River where wholly unemployed. In the Cities of London, Westminster, and their Suburbs, many melancholy Accidents happened, such as Numbers of People perishing with Cold, or breaking Limbs by the Slipperiness of the Streets; and it was with the utmost Difficulty the Draught-Cattle could keep their Feet. Many fatal Accidents likewise happened to those who were pursuing the Diversion of Skaiting on the Ice. In the Country the Snow lay so deep, and so filled up the Roads, Hollows and Valleys, that many People losing their Way, died through the Severity of the Weather. Sheep and Cattle perished in considerable Numbers: the Roads were almost impassable, and the Stages and Mails performed their several Journeys not without the utmost Difficulty, Danger, and Loss of Time.

A. D.
1767.

A Hurricane.

Damages.

On the first of January 1767, about a Quarter past Ten at Night, a most uncommon Change of Weather happened in London. The Evening, which till then had been a bright Star-light, and remarkably serene, varied on a sudden to cloudy, and in an Instant a most terrible Burst of Wind was heard, attended with a furious Storm of Hail from the North-East. During this Hurricane, Windows shook, Houses trembled, and a strange Rustling was perceived as if in the Inside of the Buildings with the Persons who inhabited them. Though many People were too much engaged to perceive it, yet such as did, particularly those who by their Situation lay exposed to the North and the North-East, were not less surprized than alarmed. The gable End of a House in Westminster, with some Chimnies there, and in other Parts of the Town, were blown down. Great Damages were sustained near the Thames, by Goods being spoiled in Cellars and Warehouses on each Side the River. Several Boats were overset, and twenty-seven Persons lost their Lives. The whole Damage arising from this violent Hurricane (which did not continue above two Minutes) was computed at 50,000*l.*

At a Court of Common-Council held the 23d it was unanimously resolved, that, on Account of the Distresses of the Poor (which at that Time were very great, occasioned by the Inclemency of the Season) 1000*l.* should be subscribed out of the Chamber of the City; and that a Subscription-Book should be opened in the Chamberlain's Office for the Donations of all well-disposed Persons; which Money should be appropriated to the Relief of such poor Persons, inhabiting within the City and Liberties, as did not receive Alms of the Parish: And a Committee was appointed, consisting of the Lord Mayor, and all the Aldermen, and fifty-two Commoners, who immediately withdrew, and began a Subscription among themselves; to which the Lord Mayor gave 100*l.* and the rest of the Gentlemen very liberally. By this noble Plan great Numbers of People were happily relieved from the most abject State of Distress.

City gives 1000*l.* to the Poor.

A Subscription for their further Relief.

Between Two and Three o'Clock in the Morning of the twenty-fifth, a terrible Fire broke out at a Baker's in the Strand, opposite Hungerford-Market, which in a short Time consumed the same, with the House adjoining. The Flames were so rapid, that the Inhabitants could not preserve any of their Effects. The Apprentice and Servant-Maid perished in the Flames, as likewise a young Woman big with Child. A Youth about sixteen Years of Age, Apprentice to a Jeweller, who lodged in the said House, in order to avoid being burnt, jumped out of a two pair of Stairs Window into the Street, by which Means his Skull was fractured, and one of his Arms, two of his Ribs, and his Back broke; of which he expired in great Agonies the Morning following. Six Persons lost their Lives, besides a great Number that were shockingly bruised and wounded.

Fire in the Strand.

The following Account was taken from the Clerks of the several Markets, about this Time, of the Number of Cattle, &c. killed in the last Year in the City of London: Sheep and Lambs 711,121; Bulls, Oxen, and Cows, 78,254; Calves, 104,760; Hogs for Pork, 146,932; for Bacon, 41,000; sucking Pigs, 52,600.

Number of of Cattle killed in one Year.

The Gresham Committee having been applied to by the Lords of the Treasury for a Lease of the Premises, in order to pull down that almost ruinous Building, and to build an Excise Office upon the Scite thereof; the said Proposal was laid before the Court of Common-Council on the 22d of May, 1767, who agreed to the Plan, and appointed a Committee to carry the same into immediate Execution.

Gresham College to be pulled down.

About the Middle of the Month, an Accident happened at St. Clement's Church, attended with very bad Consequences. The Church-Wardens and Overseers of the Parish, having been informed that some of the Coffins in the Vault were robbed by certain inferior Parish-Servants, went to examine the same: While they were there, a Spark dropped from a Link they had carried with them, which quickly set Fire to one of the Coffins, which by Degrees reached all the rest, and continued burning till Seven o'Clock the next Day before the same was discovered. The Smoak and Stench could scarce be endured. The Engines were employed

Fire in St. Clement's
Church.

to extinguish the Fire as soon as it was discovered, by endeavouring to fill the Vault with Water, as they could not get into the same, or even within-side of the Church-Door. The Damage was considerable; and it was supposed to be wilfully set on Fire by the Plunderers.

Tinplate-Workers made a Livery Company. Alderman Nash resigns his Gown.

The Company of Tin-Plate Workers were admitted a Livery Company of this City.

Freedom given to the Hon. Charles Townsend.

On Tuesday the 3d of March, Sir Nathaniel Nash, Alderman of Castle-Baynard Ward, resigned his Gown on account of his bad State of Health.

The Hon. Charles Townsend, Chancellor of the Exchequer, having shewn great Readiness and Friendship to the City, when they applied to Parliament for the Bill to improve the Streets, &c. of London; a Court of Common-Council held on the 17th of June voted him the Freedom of this City, to be presented to him in a Gold Box, as a thankful Return for his Services on that Occasion.

Acts of Parliament.

In this Session of Parliament there passed two Acts, one for the Regulation of Parish Poor Children, the other for completing Black-Friars Bridge, and other Purposes; of which take the following Abstracts:

Abstract of an Act for the better Regulation of the Parish Poor Children within the Bills of Mortality.

All the Children born in, or received into any Workhouse, within the Bills of Mortality, are for the future to be nursed, and taken Care of in the following Manner: Such as are under six Years old, are to be sent, within fourteen Days from the 1st of July 1767, at least three Miles into the Country. Such as are under two Years, and not suckled by the Mother, to be sent, within the same Time, not less than five Miles. Not less than 2s. 6d. per Week is to be paid during the first six Years for Nursing and Maintenance; and afterwards, till the Child is apprenticed, or returned to the Workhouse, not less than 2s. When a Child of, or under nine Months old, is sent to nurse, and lives under the Nurse's Care a Twelvemonth, the Guardians are empowered, in case the Child has been treated to their Satisfaction, to pay the Nurse 10s. exclusive of the former Allowance. Cloathing is to be furnished, and all other incidental Expences defrayed, by the Parish, and separate Accounts are to be kept. Five Noblemen, Gentlemen, or respectable Inhabitants of each Parish, to be chosen, within fourteen Days from the the 1st of July, Guardians of the Parish Poor Children, and to be afterwards chosen by the Vestry in Easter Week. The first Guardians are to remain in Office till Easter 1770, and future Guardians to remain three Years in Office. But no Churchwarden or Overseer is to be a Guardian. The Duty of the Guardians is to visit the Children, and to inform themselves of their State and Condition: and they may examine any Books or Accounts relative to the Children. If any Child is in Danger, with regard to Life or Health, they are to report the Matter to the Churchwardens, Overseers, &c. or Vestry, and if Measures are not taken to remedy the Evil, a Justice of Peace may give what Directions he thinks proper. The Guardians meet every six Weeks, and two to make a Quorum. In case Nurses cannot be easily provided, the Parishes may agree with the Foundling Hospital, for maintaining such Children as are under six Years old: The Sums agreed to be paid to the Hospital are to be defrayed out of the Poor's Rate; and if not duly paid, a Justice may summon the Overseers, and order Payment with the Charges incurred. If the Overseers refuse, the Money is to be recovered by Distress and Sale. The Death, Discharge, or Apprenticeship of every Child are to be certified to the Vestry-Clerk. The Children are not to be apprenticed for more than seven Years, or till of Age. The Apprentice-Fee is not to be less than 4l. 2s. forty Shillings to be paid within seven Weeks after executing the Indentures, and the Remainder when three Years of the Apprenticeship are expired. There are annexed to this Act five Schedules, directing the Manner in which the Accounts and Registers are to be kept.

Some Account of an Act for completing Black-Friars Bridge; for redeeming the Tolls on the said Bridge, and on London Bridge; for rebuilding Newgate; for repairing the Royal Exchange; for embanking Part of the North Side of the River Thames, &c.

By this Act the North Side of the Thames is to be embanked from the West Corner of Powell's Wharf near Puddle-Dock, to the East Corner of Robert's Wharf, near Milford-Lane, according to such Plan as the Common-Council shall cause to be hung up, for public View, in the Town-Clerk's Office at Guildhall, before the 29th of next September: But the Proprietors may embark, at their own Expence, upon giving Notice. And White-Friars Stairs, Temple Stairs, and Essex Stairs, are to be rebuilt.

The present Gaol of Newgate is to be pulled down with all convenient Speed, and a new Gaol is to be erected on the same Spot. The Common-Council have Power to widen the Streets and Passages leading thereto.

The Prisoners are to be detained in any other public Prisons till the new Gaol is built, and the Removal of Prisoners is not to be deemed an Escape, but they are to be considered as in the Custody of the Keeper of Newgate.

The Common-Council are empowered to purchase Houses for the aforesaid Purposes, and also to purchase Leases for the aforesaid Purposes, and also to purchase the Lease of the London-Bridge Tolls. Where any Person refuses to treat, the Mayor's Court is to issue a Jury, who are to assess the Value, and give final Judgment.

Where the Title cannot be made, the Purchase-Money is to be paid into the Bank, subject to the Order of the Court of Chancery.

The Royal Exchange is to be repaired by a joint Committee of the City and the Mercers Company, but no Member of any Committee is to be concerned in any Contract; and all Contracts are to be advertised.

For these Purposes the Sum of 156000l. is to be raised upon the Orphan's Fund, the Contributors to be intitled to redeemable Annuities at $3\frac{1}{2}$ per Cent. and Bonds for the Annuities, assignable by Indorsement, are to be given by the Common-Council.

And for redeeming the Toll of Black-Friars Bridge, the said Fund is to be further charged with the Payment of the Principal and Interest of 144,000*l.* borrowed for the Purposes of the said Bridge; and that the Fund may be effectual to discharge the Debt due to the Orphans and the above-mentioned 144,000*l.* together with the Annuities payable for the 156,000*l.* the Duty of Six-Pence per Chaldron on Coals, after the Expiration of the Term of thirty-five Years, is to be continued for forty-six Years longer. And for the further Increase of the Fund, the City Revenues are to be charged with 1500*l.* per Annum.

The Money is to be applied as follows:

For Black-Friars Bridge ,	—	£.58,500
For embanking the Thames ,	—	7,500
For purchasing London-Bridge Tolls		30,000
For rebuilding Newgate ,	—	50,000
For repairing the Royal Exchange	—	10,000
		156,000

The City is to pay 800*l.* a Year towards the Westminster Pavement, and 480*l.* a Year towards the Borough Pavement.

The City is to deliver Bonds for securing the Payment, but may redeem the Annuities on six Months Notice in the Gazette, at the Rate of 100*l.* for every 4*l.* The Tolls at London-Bridge and Black-Friars are to cease when the City are reimbursed what they shall have advanced in Payment of the said Annuities, or for the Redemption of them, together with 4 per Cent. Interest.

Fifth Arch of London-Bridge granted to Water-Works.

At the same Common-Council it was agreed, after a long Debate, to allow the Proprietors of the London-Bridge Water-Works to occupy the fifth Arch of that Bridge, agreeable to the Conditions contained in the Report made to that Court by the Committee of the City Lands: Provided, that should this Grant of the Common-Council be hereafter found prejudicial to the Navigation of the River Thames, the City might revoke the said Grant, upon paying the Proprietors the whole Expence they should be at in occupying the said Arch.

Brown-rigg's Cruelty and Execution.

This Summer produced an Act of the most inhuman Treatment of a Female Prentice, that, perhaps, was ever heard of. It was the cruel Usage of Mary Clifford, by her Mistress Elizabeth Brownrigg, a Midwife in Fetter-Lane, Fleet-Street, Wife of James Brownrigg, a Painter by Trade. Upon the Trial of this Woman as Principal, and of her Husband and her Son as Accessaries in the said Cruelties, it was proved, that Clifford's Death was occasioned by a Series of Barbarities: That her Mistress had beaten her with the Stump of a Riding-Whip and other Weapons over her Head and Shoulders: That she forced the said Girl to lie on the Boards in the Parlour, or Passage, or sometimes in the Cellar, and most commonly in a Place, like a Closet, in the Cellar under the Kitchen-Stairs; sometimes upon a Bit of Blanket, or a Piece of Straw, and sometimes quite naked: That she had been tied sometimes to a Water-Pipe, at other Times to a Hook, stripped naked and whipped till the Blood came: And by the Depositions of an Apothecary and a Surgeon, who had minutely examined the Body, that she was wounded from Head to Foot by those Stripes, and that those Wounds were the Cause of her Death. Of which Elizabeth Brownrigg was found guilty. And her Husband and Son being found in some Measure concerned in those Acts of Cruelty, though acquitted of the Murder, were sentenced to lie six Months in Newgate, and to enter into Recognizance for their good Behaviour for seven Years. Elizabeth received Sentence of Death, and was executed accordingly, and dissected at Surgeons-Hall, where her Skeleton is to be seen.

The Fellows of the College of Physicians had a Meeting and a Dinner at their College in Warwick-Lane on St. Luke's Day; and in the Afternoon a great Number of Gentlemen, Licentiates of the College (between whom and the Fellows there had been a strong Dispute for some Time past, the Licentiates claiming the same Privileges with the Fellows, who had steadily refused the Licentiates Admittance at their Meetings) went to the College, and not being admitted, forced the Gates, and then with the Assistance of a Smith forced the Door of the College, and rushed in upon the Fellows; some of the Gentlemen broke several of the Windows to Pieces with their Canes, which caused great Confusion; but after some Time they broke up without further Violence.

Riot at the College of Physicians.

Heads of an Act, which passed last Session of Parliament, for explaining and amending several Acts relating to Hackney Coaches and Chairs.

All licensed Hackney-Coaches plying for Hire after the first Day of August, 1767, are liable to go, at seasonable Times, any where within ten Miles of London or Westminster. If Hackney-Coachmen misbehave, their Licence may be revoked, or they may be fined not exceeding 3*l.* to go to the Poor of the Parish, and if not paid to be committed to some House of Correction for one Month; and also to receive the Correction the House. The Fare of a Hackney-Coach by the Day is 12*s.* 6*d.* reckoning twelve Hours to the Day. Hackney-Coaches are liable to do the like Work on Sundays as any Day of the Week.

Hackney-Coach Act.

On the 4th of September, an Oil Warehouse and several others were consumed by Fire in Eagle-Street, Redlion-Square. And another House suffered the same Fate in Turnmill-Street, Clerkenwell. On the 27th two Houses also were burnt down in Perpool-Lane.

Fires.

Her Majesty Queen Charlotte was safely delivered of a Prince on the 2d Day of November, about Noon, who was afterwards baptized by the Name of Edward: And on the 11th of the same Month, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Commons of the City of London complimented his Majesty with the following Address:

A Prince born.

" May it please your Majesty,

" We your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council

Address.

" Council assembled, happy in every Occasion
 " of approaching your royal Prefence with our " most dutiful Congratulations, beg leave to ex" press our unfeigned Joy on the safe Delivery of " that most excellent Princess the Queen, and " further Increase of your royal Family by the " Birth of another Prince.

" We cannot but feel ourselves deeply interest" ed in every Event which affects the illustrious
 " House of Hanover, under whose mild Govern" ment the British Subjects have, for more than " half a Century, been blessed with a full En" joyment of their civil and religious Rights,
 " and a Series of Happiness unknown to the " same Extent in any former Period.

" Permit us, therefore, royal Sir, at the same " Time, humbly to offer our sincere Condolence
 " on the much-lamented Death of your Majesty's " royal Brother the Duke of York, whose many " eminent and princely Virtues have most justly
 " endeared his Memory to all your Majesty's loyal " Subjects, and made the private Loss of the " royal Family a public Misfortune.

" May the divine Providence long preserve
 " your Majesty; and may there never be wanting
 " one of your Majesty's royal Descendants to be
 " Guardian of our most happy Constitution."

To which Address his Majesty was pleased to return this most gracious Answer:

His Majesty's Answer.

" I thank you for this loyal Address, and for " the Satisfaction you express in the Increase of " my Family: those Expressions of your zealous
 " Attachment cannot but be agreeable to me.
 " The Religion and Liberties of my People al" ways have been, and ever shall be, the constant " Objects of my Care and Attention; and I shall " esteem it one of my first Duties to instill the " same Principles into those who may succeed
 " me.

" I regard your Condolence on the melancholy
 " Event of the Duke of York's Death, as an ad" ditional Proof of your Attachment to me and " my Family; and I take this first Opportunity
 " of expressing my Thanks for it."

City Generosity to an Alder-man's Widow.

It being represented to the Court of Aldermen, that the Widow of Francis Cokayne, Esq; late Alderman of Cornhill Ward, deceased, was left in very narrow Circumstances, they ordered the Sum of One Hundred Pounds to be paid out of the Chamber of this City to the said Widow Cokayne, as a Testimony of the Sense they entertained of his ever being ready and willing to serve his Fellow-Citizens.

Distemper
 among Horses.

In the Month of November this Metropolis was revisited with a Distemper, which happened about six Years ago amongst Horses: it affected the Head, so as to cause their Eyes and Nose to swell greatly and to run.

Preternatural Tide.

The Tide about Five in the Morning at London- Bridge and Greenwich ebbd and flowed twice in an Hour and a half.

Cutters.

On the 30th of this Month the Weavers were thrown into great Confusion, and the Parts in which they lived were very much agitated and disturbed, by the Animosity which had for some Time been gathering between those, who are called Engine-Weavers, and those who are properly Narrow-Weavers. The Cause of this Misunderstanding and Disturbance arose from the

Decay of the Narrow-Weavers Profits, by the Lowering of the Prices, which the Engine-Weavers reduced very much by the Quantities they were able to turn into the Market, even six Times as much, almost for the same Wages, as a Journeyman in the narrow Way could do in a Day, so that the Narrow-Weavers came to a Resolution to destroy all the Engines. On the contrary, the Narrow-Weavers armed themselves, as they said, for Self-Defence, and with Pistols, Blunderbusses, rusty Swords, &c. they assembled in a large Body on the 30th of November at a House on Saffron-Hill, with an Intention to cut out and destroy the Work of several eminent Weavers near that Place. But their present Attempt was prevented by the Vigilance of the civil Magistrate, and they dispersed.

Application being made to the Court of Common-Council for an Addition to the Salary paid by the City of London to their Recorder, on Account of the vast Increase of Business in his Office, they voted him the additional Sum of Two Hun- dred Pounds. And at the same Time they added
One Hundred and Fifty Pounds per Annum to the Office of Common Serjeant.

Recorder's Salary augmented
 200l. per Annum.

Common
 Serjeant's
 150l.

Frost.

This Year 1767 ended with a very severe Frost, which in its Continuation greatly distressed the lower Class of People, whose Distress was heightened very much by an artificial Scarcity of Provisions of all kinds, occasioned by those Men-eaters called Monopolizers, Regrators, and Fore-stallers. The Frost set in so strong, that on the 9th of January the Thames, below Bridge, carried all the Appearance of a general Wreck of Ships, small Craft and Boats sunk or overfet in the Ice, or thrown in a confused Heap upon the Shore. A fishing Boat was close choaked in with Ice near Deptford Creek, and the People in it were frozen to Death.

CHAP XI.

Fires in divers Places. Houses fallen down.
Bad Season. Election for Members of Parliament. Mr. Wilkes's Speech to the Livery.
He stands for Knight of the Shire in Middlesex: Is chosen. Tumults and Riots on that Occasion. A remarkable low Tide.
Riot by the Coal-Heavers and Sailors. Mr.
Wilkes's Speech when he surrendered himself to the Court of King's-Bench. Arguments thereupon. Precautions used to preserve the Peace. Mr. Wilkes committed to the King's-Bench Prison, and his Address from thence to the Freeholders of Middlesex.
The Massacre in St. George's Fields. Saw-Mill cut down. Coal-Heavers hanged. Mr.
Wilkes brought up to the Court of King's-Bench, and Judgment passed upon him. Great Thunder and Lightning. Heavy Rain.
Fleet Prison fell. King of Denmark entertained and made free of London. William Beckford elected Lord Mayor a second Time.

ON the 19th of January, 1768, a House was burnt down near Westminster-Abbey. On the 2d of February, three Houses were consumed,
 and

Fires.

and others damaged very much, by Fire on Snow-Hill. On the 4th a House was burnt down in Plough-Alley, Moorsfields, and on the 20th two Houses were destroyed by Fire at Rogues-Well, a little to the Eastward of Stepney.

Houses tumble down.

On the 9th of February four Houses in George-Yard, Water-Lane, Fleet-Street, fell down, and three Persons perished in their Ruins.

Bad Weather.

This and the preceding Month of January may be particularly recorded for the Storms and Floods, by which the Posts and almost all kinds of Land-Carriage to this Metropolis were extremely obstructed and endangered; for Ship-Wrecks at Sea; and not only for divers Species of Robberies in and about this City, but for the many Murders that were committed.

Election
for Members of Parliament.

His Majesty on the 10th of March dissolved the Parliament by Proclamation; and Writs bearing Teste on the 12th were ordered for a new Election, returnable upon the 10th of May. On the 16th of March came on the Election for the City of London's Representatives in Parliament, when the Honourable Mr. Harley, Lord Mayor, Sir Robert Ladbroke, Knt. William Beckford and Barlow Trecothick, Esqrs. were put in Nomination by the previous Meeting of the Livery: but Sir Richard Glyn, Bart. and John Paterson, Esq; offered themselves also Candidates. And last of all John Wilkes, Esq; lately returned from France, and against whom there at that Time stood an Outlawry, made a strong Push to regain a Seat in the House of Commons, from which he thought himself to have been unjustly expelled. And it was very probable that Mr. Wilkes would have carried his Election for London with a high Hand*, had he started sooner, before the Majority of the Livery had engaged their Votes, which, upon a Poll demanded in Favour of Sir Richard Glyn, Bart. John Paterson and John Wilkes, Esqrs. against Harley, Beckford, Ladbroke, and Trecothick, who were declared to have the greatest Show of Hands in the Common Hall, stood as follows:

For the Lord Mayor	-	-	3279
Sir Robert Ladbroke, Knt.	-	-	3678
William Beckford, Esq;	-	-	3402
Barlow Trecothick, Esq;	-	-	2957
Sir Richard Glyn, Bart.	-	-	2823
John Paterson, Esq;	-	-	1269
John Wilkes, Esq;	-	-	1247

This Declaration of the Number of Votes taken upon the Poll being made by the Sheriffs, whereby the four first upon the List were returned duly elected Representatives of the City of Lon-

* Mr. Wilkes, however circumstanced as to his Fortune and the Prosecution he was under from the Court Party, appeared on this Occasion to be the Darling of the Populace, who attributed all his Distresses to have been brought upon him by standing forth in Support of the constitutional Rights and Liberties of his Country: And in order to keep clear of the Outlawry, so far as to enable him to appear in Public, he wrote the following Letter to Messrs. Nutball and Francis, the Solicitor of the Treasury and his Deputy.

"S I R,

"I take the Liberty of acquainting you, that in the Beginning of the ensuing Term, I shall present myself to the Court of King's-Bench. I pledge my Honour as a Gentleman, that on the very first Day I will there make my personal Appearance.

"I am, Sir,

"Your most humble Servant,

"JOHN WILKES."

But all this could not cover him from the Cravings of his Creditors. Several Actions for Debt were brought against him, and some were even served upon the Hustings. But Mr. Thomas Bell, an eminent Change-Broker, Mr. Mender, &c. undertook for his Person, and delivered him from the Hands of Serjeants and Bailiffs.

don in the House of Commons, Mr. Wilkes stepped forward upon the Hustings, and addressed himself to the Livery in these Words:

"Gentlemen and Fellow-Citizens,

"The Poll being now finished, I return my sincerest Thanks to those disinterested and independent Friends, who have so generously and steadily stood forth in my Favour. The Want of Success, out of your Power to command, has not in the least abated my Zeal for your Service. You cannot be unacquainted with the various Circumstances which have contributed to it. My Friends were of Opinion that I should wait a Dissolution of the last Parliament, while the other Candidates had been for many Months soliciting your Interest. Ministerial Influence, assisted by private Malice, has been exerted in the most arbitrary and unconstitutional Manner, and by Means of the basest Chicanery and Oppression.

"But, though disappointed, I am not in the least dispirited: on the contrary, I reflect with Pride and Gratitude on the many Instances of Regard and Affection I have received from the Livery of London.

"I beg Leave to make my best Acknowledgments to the Sheriffs, who have shewn the utmost Candour and Impartiality during the Election, accompanied with a Dignity of Character becoming their Station in this great Metropolis.

"And now, Gentlemen, permit me to address you as Friends to Liberty, and Freeholders of the County of Middlesex; declaring my Intention of appearing as a Candidate to represent you in Parliament, and still hoping by your Means to have the Honour of being useful to you in the British Senate.

"Gentlemen of the Livery, I recommend it to you in the strongest Manner, to exert yourselves to preserve the Peace and Quiet of this great City."

After this public Declaration by Mr. Wilkes of his Resolution to stand for Knight of the Shire in the County of Middlesex, it is scarce to be conceived with what Zeal his Friends and Admirers stirred and supported his Interest, and what little Obstruction they met with from Sir William Beauchamp Proctor and George Cooke, Esq; who, trusting too much to the Favour of the Freeholders, whom they had represented without Opposition in two former Parliaments, had in some Measure neglected the proper Application, with the fatal Hopes of being elected as usual. The Wilkites availing themselves of his Popularity and the old

Mr.
Wilkes stands for Middlesex.

London, March 22, 1768.

Members Supineness, carried all before them, and formed such a Party, as to foresee the Success of Mr. Wilkes's Canvass, and even to bring in another Representative instead of the two old Members, notwithstanding the Court Party used every Art to support Sir William Beauchamp Proctor and Mr. Cooke; and Sir William out of his own Fortune spent near 14000*l.* when it was too late, to recover that Interest in the County, which he had lost by making too much Use of Court-Influence in an Affair, wherein the Freeholders would not admit of any Interposition, but only a free Choice. And it being known that Mr. Wilkes's Circumstances would not admit him to be at any Expence on this Occasion, the Freeholders in different Quarters assembled occasionally at their own Expence to support his Interest, and on the Day of Election paid for Coaches, &c. out of their own Pockets.

The Election for Middlesex having been appointed on the twenty-eighth, Sir William Beauchamp Proctor and Mr. Wilkes, two of the Candidates for the said County, set out for Brentford, where the Election came on about Ten in the Morning. Mr. Cooke, the other Candidate, could not attend, being confined to his Room with the Gout. Mr. Wilkes went in a Coach drawn by six long-tailed Horses, and was attended by a prodigious Number of People to the Place of Election, which was held in the middle of Brentford Butts, a temporary Booth being erected there for that Purpose. The Majority of Hands appeared in Favour of Sir William Beauchamp Proctor and Mr. Wilkes, who were accordingly returned; but a Poll being demanded in behalf of Mr. Cooke, the same came on immediately; and at Five in the Afternoon Mr. Wilkes had polled six to one more than that Gentleman. At Nine o'Clock the Poll finally closed, when the Numbers for each Candidate appeared as follows:

For John Wilkes, Esq;	-	-	1292
Sir William Beauchamp Proctor	-	-	807
George Cooke, Esq;	-	-	827

Is chosen.

Accordingly George Cooke, Esq; and Mr. Wilkes were declared duly elected.

Riots.

The Mob behaved in a very outrageous Manner at Hyde-Park Corner, where they pelted Mr. Cooke, Son of the City Marshal, and knocked him from his Horse, took off the Wheels of one of the Carriages, cut the Harness, and broke the Glasses to Pieces; and several other Carriages were greatly damaged. These violent Proceedings were occasioned by a Flag being carried before the Procession of Mr. Wilkes's Antagonists, on which was painted, No Blasphemer. Exclusive of the Assault made upon Mr. Cooke, Son of the City Marshal, some other Gentlemen, and more particularly the old Member, were affronted by the Populace.

At Night likewise the Rabble were very tumultuous: Some Persons who had voted in Favour of Mr. Wilkes, having put out Lights, the Mob paraded the whole Town from East to West, obliging every Body to illuminate, and breaking the Windows of such as did not do it immediately. The Windows of the Mansion-House, in particular, were demolished all to Pieces, together with a large Chandelier and some Pier-Glasses, to the Amount of many hundred Pounds. They demolished all the Windows of Lord Bute, Lord Egmont, Sir Sampson Gideon, Sir William Mayne, and many other Gentlemen and Tradesmen in most of the public Streets of both Cities, London and Westminster. In short, the whole Evening was one continued Scene of Noise and Tumult.

The next Day Orders were given to the Guards on Duty at St. James's, to be in Readiness at the Beat of Drum, to march to suppress any Riot that might happen. And the Day following, a Court of Common-Council was summoned on purpose to consider of the most proper and effectual Means to prevent for the future, as well as to punish, all such as should be found to have been guilty of the late Riots and Disturbances in this City; and the Court came to a Resolution to prosecute, with the utmost Vigour, all and every Person who should be convicted of having been active in the Riots, and to offer, by Advertisement, a Reward of fifty Pounds for the Discovery of every Offender, to be paid on their Conviction; and ordered the same to be inserted in every Daily and Evening Paper, and a large Number of the said Resolution to be printed and posted up in the most public Places of this City, and the Liberties thereof. They also directed, that such Prosecutions as should arise from their Resolution should be referred to the Committee appointed to direct their Law Proceedings. It was referred to the Mansion-House Committee to order the immediate Reparation of all such Damages as the said House might have sustained by the said Riots and Tumults.

On the tenth of April the Tide in the River Thames was so remarkably low, that it was with Difficulty even a Wherry could cross it. The Sand-Banks on both Sides London-Bridge were entirely dry.

Remarkable low Tide.

On the fifteenth a desperate Fray happened at Wapping among several Gangs of Coal-heavers, in which many Persons were wounded, and three Houses almost destroyed. And on the twentieth a great Body of them assembled at Wapping, and beset the house of Mr. Green, a Publican, who defended the same all Night; and a great many Shot were fired on both Sides, wherein three of the Assailants were killed, and several dangerously wounded.

Coal-heavers Riot in Wapping.

On the twentieth Mr. Wilkes appeared before the Court of King's-Bench, Westminster, and declared his Surrender in the following Speech:

Mr. Wilkes surrenders.

" My Lords,

" According to the voluntary Promise I made to the Public, I now appear before this sovereign Court of Justice, to submit myself in every Thing to the Laws of my Country.

His Speech in Court.

" Two Verdicts have been found against me. One is for the Re-publication of the North-Briton, No. 45, the other for the Publication of a ludicrous Poem.

" As to the Re-publication of the Number of the North-Briton, I cannot yet see that there is the smallest Degree of Guilt. I have often read and examined that famous Paper. I know that it is in every Part founded on the strongest Evidence of Facts. I find it full of Duty and Respect to the Person of the King, although it arraigns, in the severest Manner, the Conduct of his Majesty's then Ministers, and brings very heavy Charges home to them. I am persuaded

T

"ded they were well grounded, because every one "of those Ministers has since been removed. No "one Instance of Falshood has yet been pointed "out in that pretended Libel, nor was the Word
 "False in the Information before this Court. I "am, therefore, perfectly easy under every Im-
 "putation respecting a Paper, in which Truth
 "has guided the Pen of the Writer, whoever he "was, in every single Line; and it is this Cir"cumstance which has drawn on me, as the sup"posed Author, all the Cruelties of ministerial "Vengeance.

"As to the Charge against me, for the Pub"lication of a Poem, which has given just Of"fence, I will assert that such an Idea never en"tered my Mind. I blush again at the Recollec"tion that it has been at any Time, and in any "Way, brought to the public Eye, and drawn "from the Obscurity in which it remained under "my Roof. Twelve Copies of a small Part of
 "it had been printed in my House, at my own
 "private Press. I had carefully locked them up,
 "and I never gave one to my most intimate "Friend. G—rnm—t, after the Affair of the "North-Briton, bribed one of my Servants to rob
 "me of the Copy, which was produced in the "House of Peers, and afterwards before this "honourable Court. The Nation was justly "offended, but not with me, for it was evident
 "that I had not been guilty of the least Offence
 "to the Public. I pray God to forgive, as I do,
 "the Jury, who have found me guilty of publish"ing a Poem I concealed with Care, and which "is not even yet published, if any precise Mean"ing can be affixed to any Word in our Lan"guage.

"But, my Lords, neither of the two Verdicts
 "could have been found against me, if the Re"cords had not been materially altered without
 "my Consent, and, as I am informed, contrary "to Law. On the Evening before the two "Trials, — — — caused the Records to be "altered at his own House, against the Consent
 "of my Solicitor, and without my Knowledge;
 "for a dangerous Illness, arising from an Affair
 "of Honour, detained me at that Time abroad.
 "The Alterations were of the utmost Import"ance; and I was in Consequence tried the very "next Day on two new Charges, of which I "could know nothing: I will venture to declare
 "this Proceeding unconstitutional. I am advised "that it is illegal, and that it renders both the "Verdicts absolutely void.

"I have stood forth, my Lords, in support of "the Laws against the arbitrary Act of Mini"sters. This Court of Justice, in a solemn Ap"peal respecting general Warrants, shewed their "Sense of my Conduct. I shall continue to reve"rence the wise and mild System of English
 "Laws, and this excellent Constitution. I have "been much misrepresented; but, under every "Species of Persecution, I will remain firm and "friendly to the Monarchy, dutiful and affec"tionate to the illustrious Prince who wears the "Crown, and to the whole Brunswick Line.

"As to all nice, intricate Points of Law, I "am sensible how narrow and circumscribed my "Ideas are; but I have experienced the deep Know"ledge and great Abilities of my Council. With "them I rest the legal Part of my Defence, sub"mitting every Point to the Judgment of this "honourable Court, and to the Laws of Eng-

 "land."

When Mr. Wilkes had finished this Speech, Mr. Attorney-General moved for his immediate Commitment on the Outlawry. He was answered by Mr. Serjeant Glynn, Mr. Recorder of London, Mr.
 Mansfield, and Mr. Davenport, successively; who all moved the Court for a Writ of Error, which Mr. Attorney-General, on being applied to the Saturday Week before, had refused to grant. They specified several Particulars in which the Procefs of the Outlawry was erroneous, as sufficient Ground for the Motion, and offered to give any Bail for Mr. Wilkes's Appearance. The Court then proceeded to give their Opinions: and first,
 Lord Mansfield spoke long and forcibly on the Impropriety of the Procedure on both Sides;
 observing, that the Attorney-General could not,
 with the least Appearance of Reason or of Law, move for the Commitment of a Person who was not legally in Court; nor had the Council for the Defendant any better Plea for their Motion in Favour of a Man who appeared gratis before them: He added, that had Mr. Wilkes been brought thither by a Writ of Capias Utlegatum, the Motion might then have been made with Propriety, and the Court might have exerted, had they pleased, their discretionary Power in accepting or refusing his Bail. His Lordship farther expressed himself as very happy in having an Opportunity of explaining his Sentiments publicly, before so large an Audience, with regard to the Charge brought against him by Mr. Wilkes, of granting an Order for the Amendment in the Information against him, in substituting the Word Tenor instead of Purport; declaring, repeatedly, that he thought himself bound in Duty to grant it; that he conceived it to be the uniform Practice of all the Judges to grant such Amendments; that he had himself frequently repeated the same Practice in other Causes, without the least Objection being ever offered against it. The rest of the Judges agreed with the Chief Justice in Opinion, that, as Mr. Wilkes was not legally before the Court, no Proceedings could be had upon his Case. And it was particularly remarked, that the Officers of the Crown had no Right to throw upon that Court the Business of committing Mr. Wilkes upon his gratis Appearance, out of the common Course of Law, when they might have brought him before it legally by a Writ of Capias Utlegatum, which it would have been very easy to have executed, since he had notoriously appeared in Public for several Weeks past; and in that Case the Attorney-General might have made his Motion with Propriety.

These Arguments being adjusted, Mr. Wilkes, about Two o'Clock, left the Court; and though there was a very great Crowd, not the least Disturbance happened. Information indeed had been given to the Lord Mayor, that some Persons at a Public House in Duke's-Place were preparing to raise a Mob; and his Lordship ordered the proper Officers to enquire into the Truth of that Information, who found a blue Flag with No. 45 upon it, a Hanger and Hatchet lying by it, and two Men as a Guard to defend it, whom the

Arguments by the Council.

Lord
 Mayor's Vigilance.

the Officers apprehended, and his Lordship committed them to the Compter.

Precautions used to keep the Peace.

Westminster-Hall was very full on the Occasion, as well as both the Palace-Yards; but the Populace behaved very quiet, except huzzaing Mr. Wilkes when he came to the Window of a Coffee-House, where he retired after he quitted the Court. The Magistrates of Westminster divided themselves in the several Liberties, and the Constables attended at Call in every Part; two Battalions of the Guards lay on their Arms in St. James's Park, others were in St. George's Fields; also those at St. James's, the Savoy and the Tower, were all kept in readiness to march at a Minute's Warning; as were also several Troops of Horse, in Case of any Disturbance. Proper Precautions were likewise taken in the City, by the Constables being ordered to be in Readiness, all of whom, both in Westminster and the City, together with the Military, were ordered to be in waiting till Two o'Clock the next Morning.

Another Riot of Coal-heavers.

On the twenty-fifth a large Body of Coal-heavers assembled in a riotous Manner in Wapping, went on Board the Colliers, and obliged the Men who were at Work to leave off. These Men complained of their Masters, the Undertakers; that they oppressed them in various Shapes; that they curtailed their Wages, paid them not in Money, but in Liquor and Goods of a bad Quality; and that these Undertakers got Fortunes, while they, who did the Work, were starving. This Riot was attended with much Bloodshed: The Rioters having met with Opposition, fought desperately, and several Lives were lost.

Mr. Wilkes committed to Prison.

To return to the Affair of Mr. Wilkes. On the 27th Mr. Wilkes's Attorney acquainted the Attorney-General, that Mr. Wilkes was in Custody by a Writ of Capias Utlegatum, and prayed that the Writ of Error might be granted; but the Attorney-General not thinking that Information sufficient (though he doubted not that Gentleman's Veracity) for him to grant it, the Under-Sheriff waited on him in Consequence, and acquainted him, that Mr. Wilkes was in Custody, and would appear in Court by his Habeas; whereupon the Attorney-General admitted the Writ of Error; and about Three o'Clock in the Afternoon, Mr. Wilkes was introduced in a legal Manner into the Court of King's-Bench: when his Council moved, as the Writ of Error was granted, that Mr. Wilkes might be admitted to Bail; but the Court were of Opinion that neither he nor any Person could be admitted to Bail after Conviction, and accordingly ordered Mr. Wilkes into Custody by the proper Officers of the Court; but as he was conveying to the King's-Bench Prison in a Hackney Coach, attended by Messrs Stichall and Holloway, Tipstiffs to Lord Mansfield, the Mob stopped the Coach on Westminster-Bridge, took out the Horses, and drew it along the Strand, Fleet-Street, &c. to Spital-Fields. When they came to Spital-Square, they obliged the two Tipstiffs to get out, and let them go very quietly away: they then drew Mr. Wilkes to the Three Tuns Tavern near Spital-Fields Church; where, from a one pair of Stairs Window, he earnestly entreated them to retire, which they did accordingly. After which he went in a private Manner, and surrendered himself to the Marshal of the King's-Bench Prison. Many Justices of the Peace, and a prodigious Number of Constables attended in and near Westminster-Hall, but not the least Noise or Riot ensued.

The next Day he was visited by many of his Friends, and the Prison was surrounded by a numerous Concourse of People, who it was expected would have offered some Outrage; but all remained quiet till Night, when they pulled up the Rails which inclosed the Footway, with which they made a Bonfire, and obliged the Inhabitants of the Borough to illuminate their Houses; but a Captain's Guard of 100 Men arriving about Twelve, they all quietly dispersed.

On the 30th a dreadful Fire broke out in Whitechapel-Road, occasioned by laying wet Sawdust on the Oven to dry, which taking Fire, soon communicated itself to a Coach-Maker's adjoining; from whence the Flames spread so rapidly, that six Houses were entirely consumed, and the Inhabitants lost all their Effects.

The following Address was at this Time issued from Mr. Wilkes to the Freeholders of the County of Middlesex:

"Gentlemen,

"In support of the Liberties of this Country
"against the arbitrary Rule of Ministers, I was "before committed to the Tower, and am now
"sentenced to this Prison. Steadiness, with (I "hope) Strength of Mind, do not however leave
"me; for the same Consolation follows me here,
"the Consciousness of Innocence, of having "done my Duty, and exerted all my poor Abilities,
"not unsuccessfully, for this Nation. I can "submit even to far greater Sufferings with
"Chearfulness, because I see that my Country"men reap the happy Fruits of my Labours and "Persecutions, by the repeated Decisions of our "sovereign Courts of Justice in favour of Li"berty. I therefore bear up with Fortitude, and "even glory that I am called to suffer in this "Cause, because I continue to find the noblest
"Reward, the Applause of my native Country,
"of this great, free, and spirited People.

"I chiefly regret, Gentlemen, that this Con"finement deprives me of the Honour of thank"ing you in Person, according to my Promise;
"and at present takes from me, in a great De"gree, the Power of being useful to you. The "Will, however, to do every Service to my "Constituents remains in its full Force; and
"when my Sufferings have a Period, the first "Day I regain my Liberty shall restore a Life of "Zeal in the Cause and Interests of the County
"of Middlesex.

"In this Prison, in any other, in every Place,
"my ruling Passion will be the Love of England
"and our free Constitution. To these Objects I "will make every Sacrifice. Under all the Op"pressions which ministerial Rage and Revenge
"can invent, my steady Purpose is, to concert
"with you, and other true Friends of this Coun"try, the most probable Means of rooting out
"the Remains of arbitrary Power and Star-Cham"ber-Inquisition, and of improving as well as "securing the generous Plans of Freedom,
"which were the Boast of our Ancestors, and "I trust will remain the noblest Inheritance of
"our

Mr. Wilkes's Address to the Freeholders of Middlesex.

"our Posterity, the only genuine Characteristic of "Englishmen.

"I have the Honour to be, with Affection
"and Regard, Gentlemen, your obliged
"and faithful humble Servant,

JOHN WILKES.

"King's-Bench Prison,
"Thursday, May 5, 1768."

The Massacre in St.
George's Fields.

On the tenth, in the Afternoon, a great Body of People assembled about the King's-Bench Prison, in Expectation that Mr. Wilkes was to go from thence to the Parliament-House, (it being the first Day of opening the new Parliament) and designing to convey him thither. They demanded him at the Prison, and grew very tumultuous: whereupon the Riot Act was begun to be read, but the Populace threw Stones and Brick-Bats while it was reading; when William Allen, Son of Mr. Allen, Master of the Horsehoe Inn, in Blackman-Street, Southwark, was pursued by one of the Soldiers, and shot dead on the Spot. Soon after this, the Crowd increasing, an additional Number of the Guards were sent for, who marched thither, and also a Party of Horse-Grenadiers; when the Riot continuing, the Mob was fired upon by the Soldiers, and five were killed on the Spot, and about fifteen wounded. Two Women were among the wounded, one of whom afterwards died in St. Thomas's Hospital. The next Day an Inquisition was taken by the Coroner for Surry, on the Body of the above William Allen, when the Verdict was given by the Jury, That Donald Maclane was guilty of wilful Murder, and Donald Maclaury, and Alexander Murray, the commanding Officer, were aiding and abetting therein.—This Inquest was held at the House of Mr. Allen; and it appeared on the Examination, that the Deceased was only a Spectator, and, on seeing some Persons run, he ran also, but was unhappily mistaken, and followed by the Soldiers five hundred Yards into a Cow-House, where he was shot. Donald Maclane was committed to Prison for the Murder, but his Associates were admitted to Bail. Two Inquisitions were afterwards taken in the Borough, on Persons killed by the Soldiers in quelling the above Riot; one on the Body of Mary Jeffs, who, having a Basket with Oranges to sell, was shot dead in removing them; the other on William Bridgeman, who was shot on the Top of a Hay-Cart, as he was looking at the Fray at a Distance: on both these Inquisitions the Jury brought in their Verdict Chance-medley. It appeared by the Evidence, that, on the Justices taking down a Paper that had been fixed against a Wall of the Prison, the Mob grew riotous, and cried out, "Give us the Paper; which the Justices not regarding, Stones began to be thrown; and the Cry, "Give us the Paper," grew louder; the Drums beat to Arms; the Proclamation was read; the Justices were pelted who read it; great Pains were taken to persuade the People to disperse; the Horse-Guards were sent for, and it was not till the last Extremity that the Soldiers received Orders to fire. But what was very remarkable, not one concerned in the Riot was hurt by the Firing in the open Fields. Donald Maclane was afterwards tried at the Surry Affizes held at Guilford, and acquitted.

Riot.

The same Day a Body of Sawyers entered Mr. Charles Dingley's Timber-Yard near Limehouse Church, and disabled his Saw-Mill, lately erected.

On the 19th a terrible Fire broke out in a Tar-Yard at Dock-Head, occasioned by a Tar-Copper boiling over, by which upwards of 2000 Barrels were consumed, and near thirty Houses burnt to the Ground.

Great
Fire.

A terrible Fray happened off Shadwell Dock on the 25th between the Coal-heavers and Sailors belonging to the Colliers in the River, in which many were killed. The Sailors, having been long detained in the River by the Coal-heavers refusing to Work, had begun to deliver their Ships themselves; upon which a Body of Coal-heavers fell upon some of the Sailors by Surprise, and killed several of them. The Sailors took the Alarm, the Quarrel became general, and the Consequences were, the Loss of many Lives.

Great Fray between the Coal-beavers and Sailors.

On the seventh of June another Fray happened in Stepney-Fields between the Coal-heavers and Sailors, wherein several of the latter were killed. The Coal-heavers marched off in Triumph, with Colours flying, Drums beating, &c. offering five Guineas for a Sailor's Head. The Ships below Bridge were obliged to keep constant Watch, Day and Night, crying, "All is well." In short, to so great a Height was this Insurrection got, that the Inhabitants of Wapping were perpetually under the most direful Apprehensions. A Party of Guards constantly attended for some Days on Wapping-Wall; during which several Disturbances arose, and many Coal-heavers were taken up by the Soldiery, and carried before Sir John Fielding, who, on Examination, committed them to Newgate. Two of them were afterwards tried at the Old-Bailey for the Murder of one Battie, a Seaman, and being convicted, were executed at Tyburn, as were seven others (in a Field close to the Turnpike Road, a little Westward of King David's Fort, near where the Riot was committed) for shooting at Mr. Green, the Master of the Round-about Tavern in Shadwell. This Example produced a happy Effect; the Tumults immediately ceased, and Peace and Industry supplied the Place of Resentment and Mischief.

On the 15th Mr. Wilkes was brought to the Court of King's-Bench, Westminster-Hall; when the Arguments on the Arrest of Judgment were entered on by Mr. Attorney-General, Mr. Thurlow, and Sir Fletcher Norton, on behalf of the Crown; and by Mr. Serjeant Glynn, Mr. Recorder of London, and Mr. Davenport, on the Part of the Defendant. Mr. Serjeant Glynn entered further than he had before done on the Impropriety of the Information being filed by the Solicitor-General; but the Court were so clearly of Opinion, the Business of the Attorney-General (in case of there being a Vacancy in that Office) must necessarily devolve on the Solicitor-General, that it was judged needless to say more on that Head. The whole that Mr. Wilkes then had to avail himself of was, the Alteration of the Record; which having been very learnedly and elaborately canvassed, the Court declared themselves fully of Opinion, that

Mr.
Wilkes brought before the Court of King's-Bench.

the Alteration of the Record at the Judge's Chambers was what they had an indispensable Right to in the Course of Practice. After this the Informations against Mr. Wilkes were read; and Lord Mansfield stated to the Court the Evidence as it stood on the former Trial, when Mr. Attorney-General and Sir Fletcher Norton gave their Opinions in Aggravation of the Case, and Mr. Serjeant Glynn answered in Extenuation. Mr. Wilkes then desired that Judgment might be passed; but was told, that the Court having heard the Opinion of Council on both Sides, and some material Objections having been offered, it was necessary to take these into Consideration; but was assured, that, though no Day could then be fixed for that Purpose, no Time should be delayed to bring it to an Issue.

Among other Proceedings, Mr. Serjeant Glynn took Notice that as a Writ of Error was intended to be brought before a higher Court of Justice, before the House of Lords, he desired that the Case of the Alteration of the Records, under such peculiar Circumstances, might be stated on the Back of the Record, to be transmitted to the Lords; otherwise that important Point could not come before the House. This was absolutely refused by the Court. He concluded by entreating their Lordships, for the sake of the Safety of every Subject of this Nation, to fix some Limits to the discretionary Power of altering Records; that Council might know for the future when they can be certain of the Cause they are to plead; and that the Subject might not be liable to Ruin at the Discretion of a Judge.

Judgment passed upon him.

The Decision of the Matter being postponed to the 18th, Mr. Wilkes, on that Day, attended the Court again; when Mr. Justice Yates, after enlarging on the malignant Nature and dangerous Tendency of the two Publications of which Mr. Wilkes had been convicted, proceeded to pronounce the Judgment of the Court, which was as follows: That, for the Re-publication of the North-Briton, No. 45, in Volumes (of which two thousand Copies had been printed for public Sale) he should pay a Fine of five hundred Pounds, and be imprisoned ten Calendar Months: and for publishing the Essay on Woman (of which only twelve Copies were printed for the private Use of so many particular Friends) that he should pay likewise a Fine of five hundred Pounds, and be imprisoned twelve Calendar Months, to be computed from the Expiration of the Term of the former Imprisonment: and that he afterwards find Security for his good Behaviour for seven Years, himself to be bound in the Sum of a thousand Pounds, and two Sureties in five hundred Pounds each. A Writ of Error returnable before the House of Lords was afterwards moved for, in order to reverse the Judgment, on account of the Alteration of the Record; and the Court recommended to the Attorney-General to grant it on the first Application.

In an Address to the Freeholders of Middlesex, published after the Event of the Outlawry, Mr. Wilkes made this remarkable Declaration: "In the whole Progress of ministerial Vengeance against me for several Years, I have shewn, to the Conviction of all Mankind, that my Enemies have trampled on the Laws, and been actuated by the Spirit of Tyranny, and arbitrary Power. The General Warrant, under which I was first apprehended, has been judged illegal. The Seizure of my Papers was condemned judicially. The Outlawry, so long the Topic of virulent Abuse, is at last declared to have been contrary to Law; and, on the Ground first taken by my learned Council, Mr. Serjeant Glynn, is formally reversed." It was thought necessary to insert this, as it had been said in all the Papers, that the Error on which the Outlawry was reversed was discovered by Mr. Wilkes's Enemies.

On the 1st of July a most dreadful Storm of Thunder and Lightning happened in and about London. Two Persons on the Road leading to Town were struck dead by the Lightning, which was so powerful, that a leaden Statue, in the Garden of a Gentleman at Camberwell, was melted, and reduced to a Heap of Dross. By this Storm the Water of the River Thames was driven out of its usual Channel, above Bridge, as had never been remembered by the oldest Man living; one half of the Bed of the River remaining uncovered with Water two Tides. And on the 2d of August another Storm happened, in which the Thunder rolled so terrible, and the Lightning flashed in such dreadful Streams, in the Neighbourhood of London, that several Houses were set on Fire with it, and one Man was struck dead upon his Coach-Box, on the Kent-Street Road. It was very remarkable, that his Watch was found shivered in his Pocket in a thousand Pieces, a small Hole in the Crown of his Hat, and a kind of Seam down his Breast.

Thunder and Lightning.

The next Day a terrible Fire broke out in the King's-Arms-Inn Yard, near Holborn-Bridge, which was attended with the most melancholy Circumstances. Mr. Green, at whose House it broke out, saved his Life by jumping out of a Window; but his Wife, his Child and Sister perished in the Flames; his Neighbour jumped out of a Window seemingly unhurt, but died in less than ten Minutes; a Porter belonging to the Inn, having lost his Wife and Child, died raving mad; a Clerk to a Merchant in Bread-Street, after saving his Wife and Child, returned for a Box, in which was Money and Writings belonging to his Master, but not being able to reach it, fell a Sacrifice to the Flames. Of those who endeavoured to escape by jumping out of the Windows, three were killed upon the Spot; the Shrieks of those who were burnt were piercing; in short, a more horrid Scene was never beheld.

A great Fire.

On the 14th of July a Cabinet-Maker's Shop, &c. in Aldersgate-Street, was burnt down, Damage 20,000*l*.

On the 21st of August Part of the Fleet-Prison fell down.

On the 1st of September, the heaviest Rain fell at London, and the Country round it, that had ever been known in the Memory of Man. It began in the Evening, and in a few Hours the Waters poured down Highgate-Hill with incredible Violence; the common Sewers in several Parts of the Town not being able to carry off the Torrent, the adjacent Houses were filled almost to the first Floors; immense Damage was done, and as it happened in the Night, many were awakened from Sleep in the greatest Consternation. The Heavy Rain.

Serpentine River in Hyde-Park rose so high, that it forced down a Part of the Wall, and poured with such Violence upon Knightsbridge, that the Inhabitants expected the whole Town to be overflowed; the Canal in St. James's Park rose higher than ever was known; in short, no Man living remembered so much Rain to fall in so short a Time. About Bagnigge-Wells the Waters rose eight Feet perpendicular Height, though the Rain did not continue to fall with Violence more than eight Hours. Several People in Cold-Bath-Fields, Mutton-Lane, Peter-Street, and those Parts, sustained great Damage; some Publicans had several Butts of Beer carried out of their Cellars; three Oxen and several Hogs were carried away by the Drain, and drowned; and in Mutton-Lane, and the lower Part of Hockley in the Hole, the Inhabitants were obliged to quit their Ground-Floor, and go up Stairs, for fear of being drowned. Many Butts of Beer were carried away from the Cellar at the Cheshire-Cheese at Mount-Pleasant, and conveyed quite to Fleet-Ditch, where they were taken out. The Water in the Canal in St. James's Park swelled so high, that it flowed up to the Garden Wall belonging to the Treasury, and was so deep, that Foot-Passengers could not pass; the lower Parts of some Houses near the Treasury were overflowed, as was the Wilderness; the Centinel placed near the little Gate leading into Duke-Street, was obliged to quit his Box; the Cellars in several Parts of Westminster were filled with Water, and great Damage was done thereby.

Upwards of forty Small-Craft, on the River below Bridge, were sunk, drove on Shore, or bulged, by the Violence of the Storm; and a Collier in Long-Reach was drove from her Anchors, and beat her Keel off: several Ships also received Damage by running foul of each other. The late Duke of Cumberland's fine Water-Works, in Windsor-Forest, were intirely destroyed; several Persons were drowned in different Places, as well as Horses, Oxen, and Hogs. In short, almost every Part of England sustained very considerable Damage.

Fires.

On the 9th a House in Park-Street, Grosvenor-Square, was burnt down. On the 13th a House was consumed by Fire in Tooley-Street. On the 16th several hundred Quarters of Malt, and the Granaries at the Fox Brew-House, Long-Lane, Smithfield, were destroyed by Fire, as were also two Houses in Catherine-Street, Strand.

Vote to entertain the King of Denmark.

On the same Day it was agreed by the Common-Council, to entertain the King of Denmark at the Mansion-House.

The Procession.

On the 23d of September his Danish Majesty having previously condescended to dine with the Lord-Mayor, Sir Robert Ladbroke, Knt. Locum Tenens (the Right Honourable the Lord-Mayor being indisposed) together with the Aldermen and Sheriffs, attended by the City Officers, set out from Guildhall for the Three Cranes, the Locum Tenens being in the State-Coach, accompanied by Deputy John Paterson, Esq; (who was desired to act as Interpreter on this Occasion) and the Aldermen and Sheriffs in their respective Carriages. At Eleven o'Clock they embarked on Board the City State-Barge, the Streamers flying, a select Band of Water-Music playing in the Stern, and the principal Livery Companies attending in their respective Barges. At the Stairs leading to New Palace-Yard, a Detachment of Grenadiers of the Honourable Artillery Company attended, to receive the Locum Tenens, Aldermen, and Sheriffs, who, upon Notice of his Danish Majesty's Approach, immediately landed to receive and conduct him on Board. As soon as his Majesty entered the Barge, he was saluted by several Pieces of Cannon, and the joyful Acclamations of the several Livery Companies, and a vast surrounding Multitude.

The Locum Tenens, in order to give his Majesty a more compleat View of the Cities of London and Westminster, and of the River and the several Bridges thereon (which, as well as the River itself, and the Shore on both Sides, were crouded with innumerable Spectators) ordered the State-Barge to take a Circuit as far as Lambeth, from whence she was steered down as far as to the Steel-Yard, through the Centre Arch of Westminster Bridge, and thence up to the Temple-Stairs, his Majesty being saluted at the New Bridge, both at his going and returning through the great Arch, by Fifes and Drums, with the Shouts of the several Workmen above, and French Horns underneath.

During the Course of this grand Procession on the Water, his Majesty frequently expressed himself highly pleased, and his Admiration of the several great and beautiful Objects round him; and sometimes condescended to come forward in order to gratify the Curiosity of the People, who eagerly endeavoured to get a Sight of his Royal Person, though at the Hazard of their Lives.

At the Temple, his Majesty (being landed on a Platform erected and matted on Purpose, and under an Awning covered with blue Cloth) was received by some of the Benchers of both Societies, and conducted to the Middle-Temple Hall, where an elegant Collation had been provided for him.

His Majesty, after taking some Refreshment, and thanking the two Societies for their polite Reception and Entertainment, was conducted to the City State-Coach, in which his Majesty took his Seat on the right Hand of the Locum Tenens, being accompanied by his Excellency Count Barnsdorff and Mr. Deputy Paterson, attended by the Sword and Mace, and followed by nine Noblemen of his Majesty's Retinue, and by the Aldermen and Sheriffs in a long Train of Carriages. From the Temple his Majesty (preceded by the Artillery Company, and Worshipful Company of Goldsmiths, the City Marshals on Horseback, and the rest of the City Officers on Foot) was conducted to the Mansion-House, the several Streets through which his Majesty passed, viz. Fleet-Street, Ludgate-Hill, St. Paul's Church-Yard, Cheapside, and the Poultry, being crouded with an innumerable Populace, while the Windows and Tops of Houses were equally crouded with Spectators of both Sexes, whose Acclamations, together with the Ringing of Bells, and the Shouts of the Multitude, loudly expressed their Joy at his Majesty's Presence; his Majesty expressing his Surprize at the Populousness of this City, and his Satisfaction at the Kindness of the Citizens.

At the Mansion-House, his Majesty was received by the Committee (appointed to manage the the Entertainment) in their mazarine Gowns: who with white Wands ushered his Majesty into the great Parlour, where, after he had rested himself a few Minutes, Mr. Common Serjeant (in the Absence of Mr. Recorder) made him the City's Compliments in the following Words:

" Most illustrious Prince,

" The Lord-Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, humbly beg Leave to express their grateful Sense of your very obliging Condescension, in honouring them with your Presence at the Mansion of their Chief Magistrate.

" The many endearing Ties which happily connect you, Sir, with our most gracious Sovereign, justly entitle you to the Respect and Veneration of all his Majesty's faithful Subjects. But your Affability and other princely Virtues, so eminently displayed, during the whole Course of your Residence amongst us, have in a particular Manner charmed the Citizens of London; who reflect with Admiration on your early and uncommon Thirst of Knowledge, and your indefatigable Pursuit of it by Travel and Observation; the happy Fruits of which they doubt not will be long employed and acknowledged within the whole Extent of your Influence and Command.

" Permit us, Sir, to express our earnest Wishes, that your personal Intercourse with our amiable Monarch may tend to increase and perpetuate a Friendship so essential to the Protestant Interest in general, and so likely to promote the Power, Happiness and Prosperity of the British and Danish Nations; and that the Citizens of London, in particular, may ever be honoured with a Share of your Remembrance and Regard."

To this Compliment his Majesty was pleased to return a most polite Answer, in the Danish Language; which, by his Majesty's Permission, was interpreted to the Company, by Mr. Deputy Paterfson, as follows:

" Gentlemen,

" I am highly sensible of the Kindness of your Expressions to me; I desire you will accept my best Thanks in return, and be fully persuaded that I can never forget the Affection which the British Nation is pleased to shew me, and that I shall always be disposed to prove my grateful Sense of it to them, and in particular to you, Gentlemen, and this great, celebrated, and flourishing City which you govern."

Upon Notice that the Dinner was served, his Majesty, with the Locum Tenens on his left, was conducted by the Committee into the Egyptian-Hall; where his Majesty condescended to proceed quite round, that the Ladies (who made a most brilliant Appearance in the Galleries) might have a full View of his royal Person; and all the Gentlemen of the Common-Council below, an Opportunity of personally paying him their Respects.

His Majesty being seated in a Chair of State, on the right Hand of the Locum-Tenens, at a Table placed upon an Elevation across the upper End of the Hall, with his noble Attendants on the right, and the Aldermen above the Chair on the left, was saluted by a Band of above forty of the best Performers, in an Orchestra fronting his Majesty's Table.

During the Dinner, the following Toasts were drank, being proclaimed by Sound of Trumpet:

1. The King.
2. The Queen, Prince of Wales, and Royal Family.
3. His Majesty of Denmark and Norway.
4. The Queen and Royal Family of Denmark.
5. Prosperity to the Kingdoms of Denmark and Norway.

After which his Majesty was pleased to propose the following Toasts, which were proclaimed in the same Manner:

1. Prosperity to the British Nation.
2. Prosperity to the City of London.

Mr. Deputy Paterfson having the Honour to attend his Majesty as Interpreter, his Majesty, thro' him, repeatedly expressed to the Locum Tenens how much he admired the Grandeur of the Egyptian-Hall, the Brilliancy of the Illuminations round it, the Magnificence of the Dinner, the Excellence of the Music, and the good Order and Decorum of the whole Entertainment.

After Dinner, his Majesty was reconducted into the great Parlour, where he was presented with Tea and Coffee, and entertained with Solos on different Instruments, by several capital Performers.

At Eight o'Clock in the Evening, his Majesty and his Retinue, after taking Leave of the Locum Tenens and the Corporation, where ushered to their Coaches, the Committee going before his Majesty with Wax Lights. His Majesty then returned to his Apartment in St. James's Palace, amidst the same Crowd and Acclamations as before, with the Addition of Illuminations in almost every Window, that the People might have the Pleasure of seeing his Majesty as long as possible.

The Disposition of the Lights, (which were at least 2000) the Arrangements of the Tables, the Erection of the temporary Orchestra, and the whole of the Ornamenting of the Egyptian-Hall were executed with the utmost Propriety and Elegance, under the Direction of Mr. George Dance, Clerk to the City Works.

On the 30th of September the King of Denmark entertained most magnificently at St. James's the Lord-Mayor, Members for the City, &c.

On the 10th of October it was resolved in Common-Council to present the Freedom of London to the King of Denmark, in a Gold Box of 200 Guineas Value; which Honour his Danish Majesty received very graciously, and ordered the Freedom to be transmitted to himself at Copenhagen by his Ambassador at London.

On the 18th a House was burnt down, and several more damaged by Fire in Devonshire-Street, Redlion-Square. And on the 22d the Turpentine-House in Goswell Street was also destroyed by Fire.

On the 16th of November, the Lord-Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons, waited on the King at St. James's with the following Address, and afterwards had the Honour to kiss his Majesty's Hand: they also had Cake and Caudle at the Queen's House.

King of Denmark entertains the Lord Mayor, &c. The City present the King of Denmark with their Freedom.

Fires.

To the King's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Lord-Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council assembled.

" Most Gracious Sovereign,

City Address upon the Queen's safe Delivery of a Princess.

" We your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal
Subjects, the Lord-Mayor, Aldermen, and
Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council assembled, most humbly beg Leave to express our sincere and hearty Congratulations on the safe Delivery of the Queen, and the auspicious Birth of another Princess.

" Every Increase of domestic Happiness to your Majesty and your amiable Consort will always fill the Hearts of your faithful Citizens of London with Joy and Gratitude to the divine Goodness.

" Permit us, Sir, to offer you our most unfeigned Assurances of Duty and Affection to your Royal Person; and we most ardently pray, that your Reign may be long and properous; that Loyalty to your Majesty, Submission to the Laws, the Love of true constitutional Liberty, and a well-governed Zeal for the common Welfare, may animate your Majesty's Subjects throughout every Part of your extensive Empire.

" Signed by Order of Court,

" HODGES."

To which Address his Majesty was pleased to return this most gracious Answer:

" I receive with the greatest Pleasure this dutiful and affectionate Address; and return you my hearty Thanks for your Congratulation on the happy Delivery of the Queen and the Birth of a Princess, as well as for the repeated Assurances you give me of your Loyalty and Attachment to my Person and Family.

" The Preservation of the Religion, Laws, and Liberties of my People, in every Part of my Dominions, is essential to their true Happiness, and is, therefore, the great Object of my Attention. Those are the Principles which ever have been, and ever shall be, the sole Rule of my Government."

Bridle
Way over
Black-Friars
Bridge.

On the 19th, the New Bridge at Black-Friars was opened as a Bridle Way, just two Years since the opening the temporary Bridge for Foot-Passengers.

A Royal Academy of Arts instituted.

His Majesty on the 18th of December granted his Charter for the Institution of a Royal Academy of Arts in this Metropolis, and was pleased to take the said Institution under his own immediate Patronage, and under the Direction of forty Artists of the first Rank in their Professions.

Election
of Ser-jeant
Glynn.

George Cooke, Esq; one of the Members for Middlesex, being dead, Sir William Beauchamp Proctor, Knight of the Bath, offered himself a Candidate to succeed him; and the Wilkites put up and supported John Glynn, Esq; an eminent Council, and Serjeant at Law, who had been employed in all the Causes for Wilkes, &c. against the Ministry. The Poll began about half an Hour past Ten, and continued very peaceably till about half an Hour past Two, when a desperate Set of Ruffians, armed with short Staves, Bludgeons, &c. forced themselves into the Poll-Booth, cleared their Way to the Hustings, knocked down those that opposed them, drove away the Clerks, seized and tore to pieces four of the Poll-Books, and destroyed the Hustings; whereby the Election was entirely stopped.

The House of Commons then sitting Mr. Glynn immediately dispatched proper Persons to inform them of these iniquitous Proceedings, and to make his Complaint.

The next Day the following spirited Address appeared in the Papers:

To the Gentlemen, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County of Middlesex.

Gentlemen,

" The warm Professions of Gratitude so frequently uttered by those who feel no Gratitude for their Constituents, because the Means by which they succeed take off all Obligation, make me at a Loss for Terms to express myself on so signal, so generous, and so glorious a Support as I have met with from you.

" Every Means employed, every Influence exerted during a six Months Canvass, have not been able to divert a great Majority of you from espousing the Cause of a Candidate whom you suppose a Friend to the Cause of the People, and in whom you hoped to find a zealous and disinterested Defender of the Rights and Liberties of his Country.

" Honour or Infamy will deservedly attend me in the same Measure as my future Conduct shall answer or disappoint your Expectations.
I do not owe your Support to any personal Friendship or Connections, and am therefore free even from the Temptation of leaning to them. My Obligations are to the Public, and to the Public I will return them.

" For my Conduct in the Course of this Election, I can appeal even to my Adversaries; and the Truth of my Declaration to you has been most convincingly proved by the infamous Behaviour of my Opponents in their lawless Interruption of the Poll; when a Mob of hired Ruffians were, at a Signal, let loose upon the peaceable, unarmed, inoffensive Freeholders of the County of Middlesex, in order to destroy those whom they could not corrupt, and to wrest from them by Violence that Freedom of Election, which every undue and unconstitutional Interposition had failed to overthrow.

" The Sheriffs, and every Person present, were Witnesses of a Scene never before exhibited at an Election—A desperate Set of armed Ruffians, with " Liberty and Proctor" in their Hats, without the least Provocation or Cause of Quarrel, destroying those who did not lift up a Hand in their Defence. Sir William, to whom I called to go with me and face this Mob, returned me no Answer and left me: I remained the last Man upon the Hustings. However, I live, Gentlemen, to assert not so much my Election as your Rights; and I pledge myself to you, that your Blood, so wantonly shed Yesterday, shall be vindicated, and the Charge brought home to the Hired and the Hirers: The more exalted their Stations, and the more privileged their Persons, the louder is the Call for Justice;
and the more necessary its Execution.

" Whether

“ Whether as your Representative, or as a private Gentleman, I pledge myself to you to go through with this Business, or perish in the Attempt.

“ The Freedom of a County Election is the last sacred Privilege we have left; and it does not become any honest Englishman to wish to survive it. For my own Part, I will not. And if by this Declaration I may seem to depart from that Moderation which has always particularly marked my Character, it is because I think Tameness in a Cause like this, is Infamy. There is Virtue still left in this Country. We are come to a Crisis; and the Consequence of this Struggle will determine whether we shall be Slaves or Free.

“ It is at present depending before the House of Commons what Measures shall be next pursued in regard to this Election: when they have decided, I will give you the earliest Notice possible: and I promise you that no Discouragement shall ever make me desert you, who have shewn that you will not desert yourselves.

“ I am, Gentlemen, your most grateful and faithful humble Servant,

Bloomsbury-Square, JOHN GLYNN.
Dec. 9.

However, on the 11th a Certificate of the Coroners of Middlesex appeared in the Papers, testifying, that, to their Knowledge, there was not any Person killed in the above Disturbance. Affidavits were also published, fixing the Guilt of hiring this Mob upon Sir William Beauchamp Proctor, or his Agents, particularly Broughton, the late noted Bruiser, now a Yeoman of the Guard.

It should be recorded to the Honour of the present Lord-Mayor, that on the said 8th of December, when the Jury was called at the Old-Bailey, his Lordship asked them, upon their Honour, if any of them were Freeholders of Middlesex; it appeared that about eighteen of them were so, on which his Lordship immediately dismissed them, that they might not be hindered from discharging their Duty at Brentford.

The House of Commons ordered the Poll for a Knight of the Shire for Middlesex, that had been obstructed, to be resumed; which was done on the 14th of December, when at the Close thereof the Numbers were

For Mr. Serjeant Glynn	-	1542
Sir William Beauchamp Proctor	-	1278
Majority for Mr. Glynn	-	264

Who was therefore declared duly elected.

On the 17th two Houses were burnt in Narrow-Street, Limehouse; and two Houses and a Sugar-House were also destroyed by Fire in Upper-Thames-Street.

His Majesty King George III. ever ready to encourage useful Improvements, and always intent upon promoting every Branch of polite Knowledge, was graciously pleased, on the 18th Day of December 1768, to institute in this Metropolis a Royal Academy of Arts, to be under his Majesty's own immediate Patronage, and under the Direction of forty Artists of the first Rank in their several Professions.

The principal Object of this Institution is to be the Establishment of well-regulated Schools of Design, where Students in the Arts may find that Instruction which hath so long been wanted, and so long wished for in this Country. For this End, therefore, there will be a Winter Academy of living Models of different Characters to draw after, and a Summer Academy of living Models of different Characters to paint after; there will also be Laymen with all sorts of Draperies, both ancient and modern, and choice Casts of all the celebrated antique Statues, Groups, and Basso-Relievos. Nine of the ablest Academicians, elected annually from amongst the forty, are to attend these Schools by Rotation, to set the Figures, to examine the Performance of the Students, to advise and instruct them, and to turn their Attention towards that Branch of the Arts for which they shall seem to have the aptest Disposition.

And in order to instruct the Students in the Principles and Laws of Composition, to strengthen their Judgment, to form their Taste of Design and Colouring, to point out to them the Beauties and Imperfections of celebrated Performances, and the particular Excellencies and Defects of great Masters, to fit them for an unprejudiced Study of Books, and to lead them into the readiest and most efficacious Paths of Study, there are appointed a Professor of Painting, a Professor of Architecture, one of Anatomy, and one of Perspective, who are annually to read a certain Number of public Lectures in the Schools, calculated for the Purposes above recited.

Furthermore, there will be a Library of Books of Architecture, Sculpture, Painting, and all the Sciences relating thereto; also of Prints of Bas-reliefs, Vases, Trophies, Ornaments, antient and modern Dresses, Customs, and Ceremonies, Instruments of War and Arts, Utensils of Sacrifice, and all other Things useful to Students in the Arts.

The Admission to all these Establishments will be free, to all Students properly qualified to reap Advantage from such Studies as are there cultivated. The Professors and Academicians, who instruct in the Schools; have each of them proper Salaries annexed to their Employments; as have also the Treasurer, the Keeper of the Royal Academy, the Secretary, and all other Persons employed in the Management of the said Institution; and his Majesty hath, for the present, allotted a large House in Pall-Mall for the Purposes of the Schools, &c.

And that the Effects of this truly Royal Institution may be conspicuous to the World, there will be an annual Exhibition of Paintings, Sculptures, and Designs, open to all Artists of distinguished Merit, where they may offer their Performances to public View, and acquire that Degree of Fame and Encouragement which they shall be deemed to deserve.

But as all Men, who enter the Career of the Arts, are not equally successful, and as some unhappily never acquire either Fame or Encouragement, but after many Years of painful Study, at a Time of Life when it is too late to think of other Pursuits, find themselves destitute of every Means of Subsistence; and as others are, by various Infirmities incident to Man, rendered inca-

Coroners Certificate.

Serjeant
Glynn
Member for Middlesex.

Fires.

Royal Academy of Arts instituted.

pable of exerting their Talents, and others are cut off in the Bloom of Life, before it could be possible to provide for their Families: His Majesty, whose Benevolence and Generosity overflow in every Action of his Life, hath allotted a considerable Sum, annually to be distributed, for the Relief of indigent Artists, and their distressed Families.

This is but a slight Sketch of the Institution of The Royal Academy of Arts, yet sufficient to convince the World, that no Country can boast of a more useful Establishment, nor of any established upon more noble Principles.

Officers.

The first Officers under this Charter were Joshua Reynolds, President; William Chambers, Treasurer; G. Michael Moser, Keeper; Francis Mil. Newton, Secretary: Professor of Painting, Edward Penny; of Architecture, Thomas Sandby; of Anatomy, Dr. William Hunter; of Perspective, Samuel Wale: Council, George Barrett, William Chambers, Francis Cotes, Nathaniel Hone, Jeremiah Meyer, Edward Penny, Paul Sandby, Joseph Wilton: Visitors, Agostino Carlini, Charles Cotton, J. Bap. Cipriani, Nathaniel Dance, Francis Hayman, Peter Toms, Benjamin West, Richard Wilson, Francesco Zuccarelli.

Mr. Wilkes Alderman.

The Year 1769 was introduced with the Choice of John Wilkes, Esq; to be Alderman of Farringdon Ward Without, in the room of Sir Francis Gosling, Knt. deceased. Mr. Thomas Bromwich, an eminent Dealer in Paper-hangings on Ludgate-Hill, and a Common-Council-Man of the same Ward, stood in Opposition to Mr. Wilkes; and though there appeared at the Wardmote a hundred to one Hands in favour of Mr. Wilkes, a Poll was demanded by the Friends of Mr. Bromwich; which not promising any Sort of Credit to the Opposition, Mr. Bromwich declined, after two Hours Poll. Whereupon Mr. Wilkes was declared duly elected, on the 2d Day of January 1769.

Fire.

On the 8th of January two Houses were consumed by Fire in the Broadway, Westminster.

Rioters condemned.

On the 16th, Laurence Balfé and Edward M^cQuirk, were brought before the Court at the Old Bailey, to receive Sentence of Death for the Murder of George Clarke, at the Election at Brentford above-mentioned; whose Pardon, which was afterwards extended by his Majesty, having been a continual and almost universal Subject of Discontent amongst the People, it may not be foreign from the History before us, to give Posterity the following authentic Particulars of their Trial.

Upon what Evidence.

The first Evidence for the Crown was Robert Jones, Esq; of Fanmouth-Castle in Glamorganshire, a Gentleman of very considerable Fortune, and in the Commission of the Peace for his County.—Mr. Jones deposed, that being at the Middlesex Election, which commenced between Two and Three o'Clock,—the Majority of the Rioters had Labels in their Hats with Proctor and Liberty written upon them, and he particularly remembered to have remarked the Prisoners at the Bar in the Mob, though he had never seen them before.—M^cQuirk was very active in the Fray, and struck several Persons with a Bludgeon—but Mr. Jones did not observe that Balfé made a Blow at any body, though he was armed with a Bludgeon as well as his Companion M^cQuirk.

The same Night between Ten and Eleven Mr. Jones again saw the Prisoners at the Shakespeare's Head in Covent-Garden, where he was waiting for Mr. Allen, a Gentleman of his Acquaintance, who had also been at Brentford, and who being mistaken by M^cQuirk for one of Sir William Beauchamp Proctor's Friends, had desired M^cQuirk to call upon him at the above Tavern at Ten in the Evening, to get as much Intelligence as possible concerning the principal Encouragers of the Riot. Mr. Jones had been told by Mr. Allen, for what Purpose he had desired the Interview with M^cQuirk, but the latter having some Business at the House of Commons, left Mr. Jones to receive the Prisoner, who was to enquire for Sir William Beauchamp Proctor's Friend.—Mr. Jones waited a considerable Time, and at last Balfé came, who, after some little Conversation, went out for M^cQuirk, and returned with him.

On M^cQuirk's Arrival, Mr. Jones told him that Mr. Allen would soon join them, and entered into a Discourse relative to the Riot; during which, M^cQuirk being persuaded that he was talking to a Friend of Sir William Beauchamp Proctor's, candidly acknowledged the Part he had acted in that Transaction;—a Confession into which he was more naturally led, as Mr. Jones declared he might safely tell him, whatever he had to acquaint Mr. Allen with.—At this Discourse the Prisoner Balfé was present, but Mr. Jones directed his Questions chiefly to M^cQuirk, who said he was afraid such Work had been done that Day, as would make it necessary for him to go to Dover in his Way to Calais, the next Morning. Balfé declared to Mr. Jones that he was hired by Broughton, and that he was to have a Guine afor going down to Brentford, whether it was for one Day or two—he added, that though he was there he had not struck any Body, and that it was such bad Work, he would not go down the next Day, even if he should be wanted—Mr. Allen coming in after this, Mr. Jones left the Prisoners with him, and went to Appleby's in Parliament-Street, gave an Information to Mr. Horne and others, of the Transaction, who thought proper to secure Balfé and M^cQuirk, and had them committed to Prison by Sir John Fielding the next Morning.

The next Evidence for the Crown was Miles Burton Allen, Esq; who gave much the same general Account of the Riot as Mr. Jones had given, with the Addition, however, of the following Particulars—That he was upon the Hustings, and saw M^cQuirk attack this Place with a Party of the Rioters, indiscriminately knocking down Friend and Foe.—Mr. Allen, upon this, with an Oath asked, what they did there? and received several Blows for his Interrogatory.—“But not thinking it my Business to oppose a Mob, I enquired, deposed Mr. Allen, for Sir William Beauchamp, he was my Man; there was a Gentleman stood near where Sir William was; I went to Sir William. I will not pretend to ascertain the particular Words, that I might at that Time have expressed to him, but it was to this Purpose: Whether he meant to be returned for the County of Middlesex by a Mob in that Manner? Sir William declared upon his Honour they were not his Mob—They had Proflor and Liberty in their Hats, I believe, at the same Time—I went up to Mr. Shakespeare, and remonstrated with him—I believe Mr. Shakespeare was of Opinion with me, that it was a very odd Affair—I returned to Sir William Beauchamp, on seeing a regular Mob drawn up on the lower Side of the Hustings—I have seen Men very often drawn up, but I think they were as regularly drawn up as ever I saw—They were headed by one Man; they had Clubs ready—Their Mark was the Side of the Hustings—I desired to know whether they were his Mob or not—He declared to me, upon his Honour, that they were not—Upon that, while I was speaking to him, they came on and attacked the Hustings in that Part, and knocked down indiscriminately Friend or Foe—There were a Number of Mobs, one attacked at one Place and another at another—The Prisoner M^r Quirk was in this Mob that attacked the lower Side of the Hustings where I was.—I say nothing against Balfe.—Sir William Beauchamp denying the Mob to be his, some Gentlemen on the other Side insisted upon his either explaining himself, or standing convicted—He came to the Bar of the Hustings; one Man came up and cried out, that no Man should vote but for his Honour.—I asked him (this Man) who gave him Orders.—His Answer was Sir William Beauchamp. Sir William then said, “It is very true the Man impeaches me; upon my Honour I am innocent; what can I say more?”

The Mob continuing to knock the People unmercifully down, “I spoke to Sir William Beauchamp again,” continues Mr. Allen in his Testimony, and said, “for God’s Sake, if they are not your Mob, try if you can have any Influence to prevent Murder.”—Sir William’s Reply was, What can I do? They are not mine (repeating upon his Honour, as he had before declared.) “Upon seeing such Barbarity, I made use of such an Expression to Sir William, that I believe was not proper to do, jumped over the Hustings, seized the Prisoner Quirk, and I believe I made use of this Expression, G—d d—n you, do you mean to murder these Fellows?—The Prisoner, I will say that for him, left off; but the other Fellows that were with him, had a Mind to have served me much in the same Manner—What I might have suffered, whether I might lose my Life or not, I owe my Safety to the Prisoner Quirk, who held his Club over my Head, and cried out, Be quiet, be quiet, what are you about? this is a Friend of Sir William’s.—It was very fortunate for me that he made that Mistake, and I believe your Lordships may be assured, that I did not attempt to deceive him.” Mr. Allen after this relates the Affair of the Appointment at the Shakespeare—and says, that he did not intend to have appeared against Quirk as an Evidence, but being subpoenaed he was under a Necessity of attending, and attending was under an equal Necessity of speaking the Truth.

Two Evidences succeed Mr. Allen, Richard Beale and William Beale, who swear to Mr. Clarke’s having been wounded, but neither saw the Stroke—and Mr. Foot, the Surgeon, who attended the Deceased, swears, that to the best of his Opinion, the Wound, which he had received, was the Cause of his Death.—Mr. Clay, Head

Constable of Holbourn Division, is positive to the Identity of Quirk, having received two violent Blows from him himself, and having seen him beat a Man, whom he (Clay) took to be a Gentleman’s Servant—yet notwithstanding this Evidence, he adds, “I do not charge the Prisoners with any Thing.”

The Witnesses for the Prisoners are after this examined, the first of whom, a Gentleman of Character and Fortune, seems to throw the whole Blame of the Riot on the Enemies of Sir William Beauchamp Proflor.—The Jury, however, found both the Prisoners Guilty, notwithstanding the general Opinion that Balfe, who was only seen among the Rioters, and was never charged with striking, would be acquitted.—And, to the Dishonour of Humanity, we must add, that a Shout of Applause from the Gallery attended the Condemnation of these two unhappy Wretches, who have since been thought very proper Objects of the Royal Clemency.

After the Trial it was moved by the Prisoners Council, that there was a Flaw in the Indictment, by the Grand Jury’s Erasure of the Words Aiding and Assisting, and begged that it might be debated previous to the Court’s passing Sentence, which was granted; and Monday Morning, about Eleven o’Clock, it came on.

The Council for the Prisoners opened this Debate, by making several ingenious and critical Observations on the Nature of what as might appear to be Erasures were not in Fact so; in particular that of a Person signing his Name, and very often drawing a Line across it; which though it may look like an Erasure, was no more than what was very usual, and did by no Means invalidate the Signature. Serjeant Lee, on the other Side, remarked that these Arguments were rather ingenious than substantial, and concluded with observing, that by its being returned Billa Vera, it was fully sufficient; and that the Erasure must be looked upon as intended. The Arguments on both Sides continued for near four Hours, when Mr. Justice Ashton and the Recorder gave their Opinion to the following Purport. Judge Ashton humanely observed, that in a Case where the Lives of two Persons were concerned, he would not at once pretend to determine without the clearest Conviction. He said he had previously weighed all the Circumstances, very minutely, relative to this Affair; and had the Pleasure of having his Opinion corroborated by Lord Chief Baron Parker, Justice Gould, and Mr. Recorder: He was therefore clear, he said, in the Indictment being valid. He further corroborated his Opinion, by several Precedents of a similar Nature; and concluded with an Observation of that great Lawyer, Hale, “That the picking out Flaws in Indictments, whereby Justice was evaded, was a Scandal to Law, a Degradation to Justice, and a Dishonour to God.”

Mr. Recorder then proceeded to pass Sentence; previous to which, he hoped that the Fate of these two unhappy Persons would be a Warning to all Rioters; as nothing, he said, could be more destructive to the Laws of Society, particularly to Elections, the Essence of English Freedom; and that the Procurers (if any there were) however dignified, Sentence passed.

*Scruple about Mr.
Wilkes's
Election for Alderman.*

dignified, as well as the Procured, were not exempt, by our Laws, from the Catastrophe.

The Dissatisfaction of the Court Party was so great at their Disappointment in Mr. Wilkes's being elected Alderman, that every Quirk was sought for to try if his Election might not be set aside. And accordingly on Tuesday the 17th the Court of Aldermen at Guildhall took it into their Consideration in what Manner they should act with respect to the Election of an Alderman for the Ward of Farringdon Without; when they came to this Resolution, That casting up the Poll after an Adjournment had been mentioned, and declaring the Candidate, who had the Majority, after the other Candidate had declined, was an undue Election. Moreover a City Officer observed, That if the Court of Aldermen confirmed that Election, they would subject themselves to a Mandamus from the King's Bench. Accordingly another Court of Aldermen on the 24th declared the Election of John Wilkes, Esq; to be Alderman of Farringdon Ward Without, to be illegal, and appointed a Wardmote to be held on the next Friday for a new Election.

The City and all Parts of this Metropolis were surprizingly agitated, and incensed against the Courtiers, in favour of Mr. Wilkes, who was re-chosen without the least Difficulty, on the 27th. There was no Man so full of himself, or zealous for his Party, as to oppose that Gentleman, whose Election was no otherwise void than for want of a little Formality. Therefore, when William Beckford, Esq; who presided at the Wardmote, opened the Court for this new Election, he, in an elegant Speech, assured the Inhabitants (which did Honour to his Lordship's good Sense and Modesty) that the Reason of their having the Trouble of attending a second Time on the Business of electing an Alderman, was owing to a Mistake of his own, in making the Declaration at the former Election, before the Time limited for Polls was expired.

Westminster Instructions.

On Wednesday the 25th there was a very considerable Meeting of the Electors of the City and Liberty of Westminster, at the Great Room over Exeter's Change, who agreed to present the following Instructions to their Representatives in Parliament; and they were accordingly presented to the Right Hon. Earl Percy, and the Hon. Edward Sandys:

Gentlemen,

"We the Electors of the City and Liberty of Westminster, direct and instruct you our Representatives in Parliament,

First, To endeavour to continue to us, and to confirm our old constitutional Rights of Juries, to the general Exclusion of Proceedings by Information and Attachment.

Second, To promote a strict Parliamentary Enquiry into the Transactions of the Military in St. George's Fields, on Tuesday the tenth of May last.

Third, To promote a like Enquiry into the Riot and Murders committed at Brentford on the eighth of last December.

Fourth, To examine into the Administration of Justice in this City and Liberty, particularly into the present State of the Commission of the Peace.

Fifth, As far as in your Power to promote an Enquiry into the Rights of the Public to the territorial Revenue arising from the Conquests in India.

Sixth, And we do strongly insist, that you never cease your Endeavours to promote a Parliamentary Enquiry into the Case and Grievances of John Wilkes, Esq; and to vindicate and support the Rights of the People who have elected him their Representative."

On the 28th, a Fire happened in Fivefoot-Lane, Fires, Bermondsey, which burnt one House. And on the 29th, another House in Deadman's Place, Southwark, was consumed; and the Mistress of it, who is supposed to have fallen down in a Fit at the Stair Foot, with a Candle in her Hand, which set her Cloaths, &c. on Fire; for there was no other Person in the House, and her Remains were found with the Candle-Stick close by them at the Foot of the Stairs; she being very asthmatic, and troubled with a violent Cough.

John Wilkes, Esq; who had been chosen legally for the County of Middlesex, was on the 4th of February expelled the House of Commons, and a Writ was ordered to be made out for a new Election of a Representative for the said County in his stead. And this brought on a very numerous Meeting of the Freeholders of the County of Middlesex, at the Assembly-Room at Mile-End, where and by whom it was unanimously agreed and resolved to confirm their former Choice, by re-electing John Wilkes, Esq; their Representative in Parliament.

*Wilkes
expelled
the House of Commons.*

George Bellas, Esq; was called to the Chair.

James Townsend, Esq; Member of Parliament for Westloo in Cornwall, recommended the Re-election of Mr. Wilkes in a very elegant and animated Speech; in which he observed, that he had never seen or spoken to Mr. Wilkes before his late Expulsion; that he regarded his Cause solely as the Cause of the People, divested of every personal Consideration or Connection; that the Oppression and Injuries which Mr. Wilkes had suffered, were sufficient to rouse the Indignation of every Man that had one generous Sentiment in his Breast, or the least Sense of Freedom and Regard for the Constitution; and that he would assert the Right of the Freeholders to the Choice of their Representatives, by going to give his Vote for Mr. Wilkes in Case of future Expulsion, as long as he should have a Shilling left, or one Leg to hop down to Brentford.

*Proceedings thereupon, and Wilkes's
Re-election.*

John Sawbridge, Esq; Member for Hitch in Kent, seconded this Motion with great Spirit, concluding with the Words of Mr. Wilkes's Address; "That if once the Ministry shall be permitted to say whom the Freeholders shall not chuse, the next Step will be to tell them whom they shall chuse."

The Rev. Mr. Horne, Samuel Vaughan, Esq; Sir Francis Blake Delaval, — Eyre, Esq; — Jones, Esq; and many other Gentlemen of Property and Character, spoke to the same Effect.

The Freeholders in general manifested a Spirit, and a decent Firmness. Accordingly on Thursday the 16th Mr. Wilkes was re-elected at Brentford, Member for the County of Middlesex, by the re-elected.*

*Mr.
Wilkes

the unanimous Voice of above two thousand of the most respectable Freeholders, who, notwithstanding it proved a very wet Day, attended at their own Expence early in the Morning, to support the Re-election, lest any Candidate in the opposite Interest should have been, by a Party, attempted to be surprized upon the County at the Hustings. Every Thing was conducted with the most strict and singular good Order. He was put up by James Townsend, Esq; Member for West-loo; and when the Re-election was declared, they all around testified their Joy by the most loud and unanimous Shouts of Applause. It may be truly said that this Re-election did not cost Mr. Wilkes a single Shilling, so unanimous and so hearty were the People in his Favour.

A Subscription to support
Mr.
Wilkes.

And on Monday the 20th, at a very large and respectable Meeting of Gentlemen at the London Tavern, (Friends of Mr. Wilkes and the Constitution) and at which Meeting many Members of the House of Commons attended, a Subscription was set on Foot to support the Cause, when the Sum of 3340*l.* was immediately subscribed, and a Committee appointed to carry the same throughout the Kingdom.—The Preamble to the Subscription Paper runs in the following Manner: “Whereas John Wilkes, Esq; has suffered very greatly in his private Fortune, from the severe and repeated Prosecutions he has undergone in behalf of the Public, and as it seems reasonable to us, that the Man who suffers for the public Good, should be supported by the Public; We, &c. &c.”

Proceedings at Guildhall.

In the mean Time the Citizens of London did every Thing in their Power to shew their Dissatisfaction with the arbitrary Measures of the Ministry and Parliament.

On Friday, February 10, a Common-Hall of the Livery of this City was held at Guildhall, when Mr. Clavey, an eminent Linen-Draper, and one of the Common-Council of Farringdon Ward Within, was appointed Chairman. Soon after which, the Livery being informed, that Mr. Alderman Beckford was in the Council-Chamber, some of the Gentlemen were deputed to wait on him, to desire his Presence; with which he complied, with his usual Readiness, whenever the Livery of London had requested his Assistance. Mr. Alderman Beckford then entered the Hall, amidst the greatest Acclamations; and ascending the Hustings, addressed himself to the Livery to the following Purport:

Alderman
Beck-ford's Speech to the Livery.

“I am informed, Gentlemen, that you intend to instruct your Representatives; a Measure that I entirely approve of, and necessary at this dangerous and important Crisis. This Resolution of yours is perfectly right, for it is constitutional for all Constituents to give Instructions to their Representatives. If any Instruction should be given to me, which may be inconsistent with my own Sentiments, I shall always take the Liberty, with Decency and Humility, to say, that in my Opinion it is improper; but far be it from me to oppose my own Judgment against that of six thousand of my Fellow-Citizens.” That giving Instructions was according to Law, and the Custom of Parliament, (he said) he had the Authority of that great Oracle of the Law,

Lord Coke. That it must be so in the Nature of Things: For that formerly Representatives were paid Wages by their Constituents, but that in some late Houses of Parliament (the present, he observed, was the most uncorrupt he ever knew) the Representatives had rather chose to receive Pay and Pensions from Ministers than from their Constituents; but for his Part, he never would accept of Place, Pension, Title, or any Emolument whatsoever. He then advised, that the Livery, in their Instructions, should attend to Measures and not Men, which he declared he himself had always done.”

A Set of Instructions were then read twice over, and afterwards put up by the Chairman, Article by Article, and the Sense of the Livery was taken on each, and all unanimously agreed to.

Mr. Beckford, on one of the Instructions, relating to the short Duration of Parliaments, took Occasion to propose an Alteration, observing, that Parliaments in Edward the Fourth's Time were annual, in King William's Reign became triennial, and in K. George the First's Time septennial. “That the triennial Parliament, which voted themselves to sit for seven Years, had as much Right to vote themselves for forty, or any other Number; and added, that instead of triennial Parliaments, annual were the best, and the only Means of preserving the Constitution free and uncorrupt; which Alteration he submitted to their Consideration.”

After reading the Instructions, with the Livery's Approbation, Mr. Beckford came forwards and said, that he had heard and weighed the Importance of their Instructions, had nothing to object to them, but entirely acquiesced in them; and, for his Part, was ready and willing to execute them to the utmost of his Ability and Power.

THE INSTRUCTIONS.

Guildhall, February 10, 1769.

To Sir Robert Ladbroke, Knt. William Beckford, Esq; Right Hon. Thomas Harley, Esq; and Barlow Trecothick, Esq; Aldermen, the Representatives in Parliament for the City of London.

Instructions
to the Members.

GENTLEMEN,

We, your Constituents assembled in the Guildhall of London, fully sensible of the Value of the Laws and Constitution transmitted to us by our Ancestors, and firmly resolved to preserve this Inheritance intire as we have received it, think it our indispensable Duty at this Time, as well as our undoubted Right, to instruct you our Representatives in Parliament as follows:

I. We recommend that you exert your utmost Endeavours, that the Proceedings in the Case of Libels, and all other criminal Matters, may be confined to Rules of Law, and not rendered dangerous to the Subject by forced Constructions, new Modes of Enquiry, unconstitutional Tribunals, or new and unusual Punishments, tending to take away or diminish the Benefit of Trial by Juries.

II. That you carefully watch over the great Bulwark of our Liberties, the HABEAS CORPUS ACT; and that you enquire into, and censure any Attempt to elude or enervate the Force of that Law.

III. That you preserve equally inviolate the Privilege of Parliament, and the Rights of Electors in the Choice of their Representatives.

IV. That you do not discourage Petitions, by selecting such Parts thereof as may tend not to relieve but to criminate the Petitioner, so as to prevent all Approach to your House; by which Means the most essential Article of the Declaration of Rights may be eluded, or rendered of less Effect.

V. That you endeavour to prevent all Application of the Public Money to influence Elections of Members to serve in Parliament.

VI. That you give no Countenance to the dangerous Doctrine of constructive Treasons, or to the Application of doubtful or uncertain Laws to this interesting Object, nor suffer Ministers to be invested with a vague and discretionary Power of judging on, or prosecuting this Offence; and that you will vigorously oppose any Measures tending to introduce Modes and Circumstances of Trial, which may render it difficult or impossible for the Party accused to obtain full and equal Justice.

VII. That you will, as the Representatives of this great commercial City, be particularly attentive to the Interests of the Manufactures and the Trade of this Kingdom in all Parts of the World, and more especially in the British American Colonies, the only profitable Trade this Kingdom enjoys unrivalled by other Nations; for which Purpose we recommend your utmost Endeavours to reconcile the unhappy Differences subsisting between the Mother Country and her Colonies, the fatal Effects of which have, in part, been severely felt by the Manufacturer and the commercial Part of this Kingdom.

VIII. That you will at this Time particularly attend to the Preservation of public Faith, the sole Foundation of public Credit; and that you do not, upon any Pretence of public Good whatsoever, concur in any Measure that shall tend to weaken or destroy that Faith.

IX. That you use your utmost Endeavours that the civil Magistracy of this Kingdom be put on a respectable Footing, and thereby remove the Pretence of calling in a military Force; and preserve this Nation from a Calamity which has already been fatal to the Liberty of every Kingdom round us, and we at this Day are beginning to feel.

X. That you promote a strict Enquiry into the Use which has lately been made of military Power; whether any Encouragement has been given to premature or injudicious military Alacrity, and whether any undue Measures have been taken to prevent or elude the Course of public Justice on such an Occasion.

XI. That you use your best Endeavours for having a standing Committee appointed from

Time to Time, to examine and to state the public Accounts.

XII. That if any Demand should come before Parliament for Payment of the Debts of the Civil List, you will diligently enquire how those Debts have been incurred, to the Prejudice of the Subject and of the Dignity of the Crown.

XIII. That you will promote a Bill for limiting the Number of Placemen and Pensioners in the House of Commons, for preventing the Peers of Great-Britain from interfering in the Elections for Members of Parliament; and that an Oath to prevent Bribery and Corruption be taken not only by the Electors, but also by the Candidates, at the opening the Poll.

XIV. That you use your utmost Endeavours to obtain an Act to shorten the Duration of Parliaments. And lastly, we submit to your Consideration, whether a Change in the present Mode of Election to that of Ballot, would not be the most likely Method of procuring a Return of Members on the genuine and uncorrupt Sense of the People.

Signed,

CHARLES CLAVEY,

Chairman to the Common-Hall.

There never was on any Occasion a more respectable Appearance of the Livery, and the whole Meeting was conducted with the utmost Order and Decorum.

The Friends of Mr. Wilkes and their Country had taken every legal Step to bring Balfe and Quirk, above-mentioned, to condign Punishment, and the Evidence upon their Conviction was so particular and forcible, that there appeared not room for the Royal Mercy towards them, without bringing his — into the Disgrace of pardoning the most notorious Murderers, without the least Plea of Exculpation: yet a most extraordinary novel Method was struck out by somebody to invalidate the Judgment of the Jury, who brought them in guilty upon positive Evidence, and to palliate the Injury done to public Justice by pardoning Men, whose Lives had been forfeited to their Country and to the Laws of the Land.

The Earl of Rockford, one of his Majesty's principal Secretaries of State, had his Instructions to write a Letter to the Master and Wardens and Examiners of the Surgeons Company (in all no more than Ten in Number) directing them to meet at their Hall in the Old-Bailey, and to deliver their Opinion in relation to a Doubt, that had been started, whether the Blow, which Mr. Clarke received at the Election at Brentford, was the Cause of his Death. And the above Gentlemen met at their said Hall on the 27th of February, and after examining the Surgeon, Apothecary, and several other Persons, they returned for Answer, the same Evening, to his Lordship, That it was their unanimous Opinion, that the Blow was not the Cause of Mr. Clarke's Death.*

After

* On the Opinion given by the Master, Wardens, and Surgeons, at their Hall, relating to the Death of Mr. Clarke.

A L A S, poor Clarke! how hard his Case
To want, when dead, a resting Place!
But such (howe'er unjust his Fall)
The wise Resolves of Surgeons Hall:
Though Breath is stopt, and Blood is chill'd,
The Man that's murder'd is not kill'd.

Measures taken to save the Lives of Balfe and Quirk.

After this Opinion his Majesty extended his Royal Mercy to Edward M'Quirk, found guilty of the Murder of George Clarke, as appears by his Royal Warrant to the Tenor following :

G E O R G E R.

His Majesty's free Pardon of M'Quirk.

"Whereas a Doubt had arisen in our royal Breast concerning the Evidence of the Death of George Clarke, from the Representations of William Bromfield, Esq; Surgeon, and Solomon Starling, Apothecary; both of whom, as has been represented to us, attended the Deceased before his Death, and expressed their Opinions that he did not die of the Blow he received at Brentford: and whereas it appears to us, that neither of the said Persons were produced as Witnesses upon the Trial, though the said Solomon Starling had been examined before the Coroner, and the only Person called to prove that the Death of the said George Clarke was occasioned by the said Blow, was John Foot, Surgeon, who never saw the Deceased till after his Death: We thought fit thereupon to refer the said Representations, together with the Report of the Recorder of our City of London of the Evidence given by Richard and William Beale, and the said John Foot, on the Trial of Edward Quirk, otherwise called Edward Kirk, otherwise called Edward M'Quirk, for the Murder of the said Clarke, to the Master, Wardens, and the rest of the Court of Examiners of the Surgeons Company, commanding them likewise to take such further Examination of the said Persons so representing, and of the said John Foot, as they might think necessary, together with the Preliminaries above-mentioned, to form and report to us their Opinion, "Whether it did or did not appear to them, that the said George Clarke died in consequence of the Blow he received in the Riot at Brentford on the 8th of December last." And the said Court of Examiners of the Surgeons Company having thereupon reported to us their Opinion, "That it did not appear to them that he did;" we have thought proper to extend our Royal Mercy to him the said Edward Quirk, otherwise called Edward Kirk, otherwise called Edward M'Quirk, and to grant him our free Pardon for the Murder of the said George Clarke, of which he has been found guilty: Our Will and Pleasure therefore is, that he the said Edward Quirk, otherwise called Edward Kirk, otherwise called Edward M'Quirk, be inserted, for the said Murder, in our first and next general Pardon that shall come out for the poor Convicts of Newgate, without any Condition whatsoever; and that in the mean Time you take Bail for his Appearance, in order to plead our said Pardon. And for so doing this shall be your Warrant. Given at our Court at St. James's the 10th Day of March 1769, in the ninth Year of our Reign.

By his Majesty's Command, ROCHFORD."

To our trusty and well-beloved James Eyre, Esq; Recorder of our City of London, the Sheriffs of our said City and County of Middlesex, and all others whom it may concern.

Instructions to the Representatives of Southwark.

On March 1 was held, at the Town-hall in Southwark, the most numerous and most respectable Meeting of the Electors of that Borough, that was ever known in the Memory of Man; Edward Stevens, Esq; by general Consent, was appointed Chairman. Sir Joseph Mawbey, Bart. one of the Members, attended, and the other Member, Henry Thrale, Esq; came soon after, in consequence of a Message for that Purpose. Sir Joseph Mawbey defended the Propriety and Necessity of Instructions at this critical Period, in Terms that met with the general Approbation of the Meeting, and declared his Intention of supporting the constitutional Liberty of this Country without Place, Pension, or other Emolument whatever, unawed by Power, and influenced only, not by Men, but Measures; and avowed his strong Attachment to his Majesty's Person and Family, and the Principles of the glorious Revolution. A Question was put, and the Sense of the Company taken, whether Instructions should be given? when there appeared many hundreds for the Proposition; against it about a dozen of a contrary Opinion.

The following Instructions were afterwards twice read, and almost unanimously agreed to :

To Sir Joseph Mawbey, Bart. and Henry Thrale, Esq; Representatives in Parliament for the Borough of Southwark.

"We, the Electors of the Borough of Southwark, this Day assembled in the Town-hall, think ourselves indispensibly obliged by the Duty and Loyalty we owe to the best of Kings, as well as by our Love for the Constitution, to exercise, at this Time of national Discontent and Danger, our undoubted Right to instruct you, our Representatives in Parliament: And we do therefore earnestly recommend to you,

1. That you endeavour to continue to us, and to confirm our old constitutional Rights of Juries, to the Exclusion of all Proceedings by Information, Attachment, and Interrogatories.

2. That you carefully watch over that great Bulwark of our Liberties, the HABEAS CORPUS ACT; and that you enquire into, and punish, any Attempt that may have been made to evade the Force of that Law.

3. That you preserve inviolate the Privileges of Parliament, as well as the Rights of the Electors; and for that Purpose, that you use your utmost Endeavours to prevent the Expulsion of any Man, that shall appear to you to have been elected by a Majority of legal Votes.

4. That you encourage Applications for Redress of the Grievances of the Subject, by promoting a strict Enquiry into every Illegality committed against any Petitioner that may appeal to Parliament; and that you oppose the selecting such Parts only for Proof, as may tend, not to relieve, but to criminate the Petitioner.

5. That you promote such Measures, as may have a Tendency to secure every British Subject in the full and entire Possession of every Liberty derived to him from the Principles of our excellent Constitution.

6. That as the Trade and Commerce to our American Possessions is of the utmost Importance to the Manufactures of Great-Britain, you use your utmost Endeavours to reconcile the unhappy Differences subsisting betwixt the Mother Country and the Colonies, to the total Exclusion of the Manufactures of other Nations.

7. That you strictly enquire into the Use which has lately been made of the military Power; and particularly, particularly, whether many innocent Lives were not taken away, and much Blood spilt, by the Soldiery, in the most inhuman and wanton Manner, in St. George's Fields, within this Borough, in the Month of May last; and to remove every Pretence for calling in a military Force, that you endeavour to put the civil Magistracy on a more respectable Footing, by restoring the Office of Constable, or Conservator of the Peace, to its ancient Power and Authority.

8. That you use your best Endeavours for having a standing Committee appointed for the regular Examination of the public Accompts.

9. A Requisition having been laid before Parliament for Payment of the Civil List Debts, that you enquire how those Debts have been incurred; and if any of them should appear to be owing to the Creation of new and unnecessary Places, the Augmentation of the Salaries of old ones, the Defence of illegal Attacks on the Liberties of the Subject, or the Grant of Pensions to the Members of both, or either House of Parliament, that you oppose the giving of public Monies for such Purposes.

10. That you promote a Bill for limiting the Number of Placemen and Pensioners in the House of Commons, and for preventing the Peers of Great-Britain from interfering in the Elections for Members of Parliament.

11. That you endeavour to quiet the Apprehensions of the Public, arising from the Idea of an intended Exertion of the obsolete Claims of the Crown, by supporting a Bill for securing the Possessions of the Subjects.

12. That you use your utmost Endeavours to obtain an Act to shorten the Duration of Parliaments, as one of the best and most likely Methods of putting a stop to the Bribery and Corruption so universally complained of.

March 1.

EDWARD STEVENS, Chairman."

An Opposition by the Merchants.

On the 8th of March, a Number of Merchants selected for that Purpose, to counteract the Proceedings of the City Patriots, met at the King's Arms Tavern in Cornhill, pursuant to Notices published for that Purpose.

Many Days previous to Wednesday March 8, the following Advertisement was published: "The Merchants, Traders, and principal Inhabitants of London, are desired to meet on Wednesday the 8th of March, at the King's Arms, to consider whether any Measures are adviseable to be taken by them in the present Situation of public Affairs, in order to testify their Loyalty and Zeal for his Majesty, his illustrious Family, and our happy Constitution."

On the very Day of the appointed Meeting, the Addressers advertised, "That being apprised some ill-disposed Persons had formed a Plan to create Confusion at the Meeting (in which it was proposed to consider whether it was adviseable to address his Majesty) they, that is several Merchants, had resolved upon, and framed an Address, which was lodged at the King's Arms Tavern to be subscribed, &c. &c."

Proceedings at the King's Arms Tavern.

When Mr. Lovel went into the Room, having paid his Shilling as usual for the Use of it, he found Mr. Muilman, Mr. Dingley, and a few others. Mr. Peter Muilman gave him a Copy of the Address to read, and told him he might sign the Address then on the Table if he thought proper. Mr. Lovel having read it, answered, That he did not approve of the Address; that he would wait till the Body of Merchants were met, and hear their Debate, whether it was adviseable to address his Majesty or not, agreeable to their Advertisement in the Papers; for Mr. Lovel could not be supposed to believe that Mr. Peter Muilman and Mr. Dingley, and a few others, had actually taken upon themselves to become Dictators to the Merchants of London; or that they had resolved upon, and framed an Address, which was to be humbly subscribed without Enquiry or Debate: but such was the Politeness which prevailed at this courtly Meeting, that Mr. Dingley and Mr. Muilman ordered Mr. Lovel to leave the Room, if he would not sign the Address. Mr. Lovel replied, he had paid his Shilling at the Door; that he apprehended he had a Right to be there, and would stay; and that he thought their attempting to smuggle an Address was an Affront to the Body of Merchants.

About this Time Mr. Reynolds came in, and Mr. Charles Dingley, on his entering the Room, came up to him and said, "Mr. Reynolds, you have no Business here;—you are a marked Man; we do not like your Complexion;—no Man is invited who will not sign the Address." Mr. Reynolds replied, "I have paid the Toll at the Door, and come here as an Inhabitant of London, in consequence of the public Notice given in the Papers for many Days past."

Mr. Samuel Vaughan having also paid his Shilling for the Use of the Room, came up to the Table, and was going to read the Address, but Mr. Peter Muilman interrupted him, and said, "Sir, Sir, you are not to read it;—you may sign it if you please, or withdraw." Mr. Vaughan replied, as a Merchant of London, "I have a Right to read it, and I will read it: if I approve of it, I will sign it; if not, I will mention my Objections at the proper Time." Mr. Muilman giving him a Copy to read, said, that the Address was not to be debated.—"Your only Option is to sign, or withdraw."

There were at this Time many People in the Room, and on Mr. Charles Pole's coming in, they called out "Mr. Pole in the Chair;" but the Addressers, who pretended to be so very apprehensive that ill-disposed Persons would create Confusion, determined to prevent this by violently opposing all Order: they cried, "No Chair, No Chair," with the utmost Fury, and threatened to turn down Stairs all who called for any Chairman. Mr. Peter Muilman in particular came up to Mr. Vaughan, and in a threatening, insulting Manner, such as is only used by the lower Class of People when they want to breed a Riot, cried out, "No Chair, No Chair," eight or ten times. Many of the Addressers, animated by the Example of this their Leader, acted the same heroic Part, and the Confusion became general.

The Chair was the Object of the Battle—some secured the Frame—others the Seat, and for a short Time these Abhorers of Disorder triumphed in having created a complete Scene of Confusion.

Another

Another Chair was soon obtained—several Gentlemen were requested to take it, but they refused; at last Mr. Vaughan accepted of it in Compliance with many repeated Solicitations, and was put in the Chair accordingly. Mr. Reynolds was near him, when Mr. Charles Dingley came up and struck Mr. Reynolds a violent Blow in his Face with his Fist, politely saying, You are a d—n'd Scoundrel; and on this Provocation Mr. Reynolds knocked him down.—Many were the Attempts to dispossess Mr. Vaughan of the Chair—several Strokes were made at him with Sticks and Canes, but the Blows were warded off by his Friends.—The Chairman for some Time attempted in vain to compose the Tumult, for the Addressers endeavoured by Stamping, Clapping, &c. &c. to prevent any Persons being heard.

But as these disgraceful Measures could not long find a Party to support them, many of the principal Addressers thought proper to retire with their Address.

The Causes of the Tumult being removed, Peace, good Order, and good Manners immediately ensued.—It was moved and agreed to, that a Committee should be appointed to prepare an Address, and that the Meeting should be adjourned to the Friday following, March the 10th.

Pursuant to this Adjournment, there was a very large and respectable Meeting. The Harmony and good Manners which prevailed on this second Day, is at least a strong Presumption that there were more Gentlemen at the second Meeting than at the first. Some Persons thought it worth while to ascertain the Numbers, and Mr. Holeworth at the King's-Arms Tavern did inform them, that on Friday, when the Question on the Resolutions was put, the Meeting was more numerous by at least fifty or sixty, than at any one Time on the preceding Meeting on Wednesday the 8th. Without doors it was generally observed by the moderate Spectators, that the Measures taken to procure the Address on the 8th Instant, and the very Form and Manner of wording and carrying it to the Throne, were condemned almost universally as unjustifiable, and tending to inflame the Minds of the People, and to sound a false Alarm of Disrespect and Disaffection to the King and his Family.

The Resolutions which were reported from the Committee at this second Meeting were twice read by David Evans, Esq; and on the Question being put, Whether the Resolutions should be agreed to or not, it passed so far unanimously, that on the Negative being put the first Time one Hand only was held up, through Mistake (as the Gentleman himself acknowledged,) but on its being put a second Time not one Hand was held up against it.

Mr. Cooper, of Tokenhouse-Yard, made some very just Observations on the Impropriety of any Address, and concluded with a Motion that the Resolutions should be signed by the Gentlemen who had so unanimously agreed to them; but this Motion was soon withdrawn, it having been very properly urged, that as it was unprecedented, it was for that Reason alone improper. It was then moved, and unanimously agreed to, that the Resolutions should be signed by the Chairman, and published in all the Papers, which was accordingly done. The whole was conducted with good Manners. Every Person who attempted to speak was heard; and as no Persons made any Objections to the Resolutions, they were signed by the Chairman, and the Gentlemen departed, giving a full Proof, by the Shortness of the Time engaged, that the Measures they had taken were so evidently right, as to be instantly approved.

The Resolutions of the Committee at the King's-Arms Tavern, in Cornhill, on the 10th of March 1769.

“ That the Means which have been used to obtain an Address to his Majesty, were fallacious and arbitrary.

“ That the producing an Address already signed, the attempting by Noise and Tumult to prevent the Appointment of any Chairman, and refusing to take the Opinion of the general Meeting on the Propriety of their Address, were Measures never before adopted by the Merchants, Traders, and principal Inhabitants of the City of London, and evidently inconsistent with their Dignity and Character.

“ That the Merchants, Traders, and principal Inhabitants of the City of London, have always acted, and do now act, with so much Loyalty to his Majesty, Affection to his illustrious Family, and Zeal for our present most happy Constitution, that any renewed Declarations of such their Attachment, in this Time of full national Credit and profound Peace, would have been absolutely unnecessary, had not some Persons, from sinister Views, artfully misrepresented those of their Fellow-Subjects who opposed their arbitrary Proceedings, and refused to enter into all their Measures, as disaffected to his Majesty's Person and Government: therefore we do, in this public Manner, declare our most sincere and inviolable Attachment to his royal Person, illustrious Family, and the happy Settlement in his august House, which we are ready to defend with our Lives and Fortunes, against all their open and secret Enemies; being firmly persuaded they are the only Security (under God) for the Continuance of our Liberties, both civil and religious.

JOHN MILLS, Chairman.”

Mr. Wilkes's Re-election being quashed by the House of Commons, and a Writ by their Order being again issued for a new Election of a Representative for Middlesex in his room; on the 16th of March came on at Brentford the second Re-election of a Knight of the Shire for the County of Middlesex. Charles Dingley, Esq; was the only Gentleman who offered to oppose the popular Candidate, and this Morning's Papers published his first Address to the Freeholders for that Purpose. He attended accordingly on the Hustings, before the Arrival of the Sheriffs, with the View, as was supposed, of standing the Poll; but probably conceiving some Disgust at his Reception, he retired soon after, leaving the Field open to his Antagonist, who was a third Time unanimously re-chosen, no Person present thinking proper to propose any other Candidate. Numbers of Electors, in the Interest of Mr. Wilkes, attended on the Occasion, many of whom had proceeded this Morning, in great Cavalcade, with Music playing, and Colours flying, through different Parts of the City.

Mr. Wilkes's third Election.

Mr.

Mr. Wilkes again re-jected.

Resolutions of the Assembly of Freeholders at Mile-End.

Mr. Wilkes was again judged by the House of Commons incapable to sit in their House; and a Writ was ordered for the Election of a Knight for Middlesex on the 13th of April. Wherefore a numerous and respectable Assembly met again on the Monday following at the Assembly-Room at Mile-End, where and by whom it was unanimously resolved to confirm their Right of Election by the repeated Choice of Mr. Wilkes for their Representative in Parliament.

It was observed, that the clear Right of the Freeholders to chuse, and the Duty of the Sheriffs to receive their Votes, and to return Mr. Wilkes, had been put beyond a Doubt by the last Re-election.

A Motion was made for a Petition to the King, and the Freeholders seemed unanimous for that Measure; but on further Consideration the Motion was withdrawn, it being suggested, that such a Petition would come with greater Propriety and Force if the Choice of the Freeholders should again be defeated.

The Thanks of the County were returned to the Sheriffs for their honourable and impartial Discharge of their Trust, and to John Sawbridge and James Townsend, Esqrs. for their Conduct.

Mr. Sawbridge was in the Chair. There were near one thousand Freeholders present, and their unanimous Declaration seems to have entirely disconcerted any Plan of those Persons who might have wished to sneak into the Country under pretence of Friendship to the Cause of Liberty, and the pretended Ineligibility of Mr. Wilkes.

It is impossible to describe the Heartiness of the Freeholders, who protested that they would go to Brentford not only every Month, but every Day if necessary, rather than desert or betray their Rights; and would sooner lay down their Freeholds, or their Lives, than give up their inherent and unalienable Privileges of chusing.

Fire in Covent-Garden.

About Five o'Clock on the 20th in the Morning a Fire broke out at a Distiller's on the South Side of Great Russell-Street, Covent-Garden, which entirely consumed all the Houses up to the Piazzas, and burnt all the Houses with the Piazzas, as far as the South-East Corner of Covent-Garden. The whole Front of the Piazza fell down about Eight o'Clock with the most terrible Concussion.

The Court Merchants Address, and a Riot.

At Noon on Wednesday the 22d about six hundred of the principal Merchants of this City set out from the Royal-Exchange, in their Carriages, in order to present an Address to his Majesty, attended by the City Marshal and Constables. Before they got to Cheapside, the People shewed them many Marks of their Resentment, by hissing, groaning, throwing Dirt, &c. but when they arrived in Fleet-Street, the Multitude grew quite outrageous, broke the Windows of the Coaches, and threw Stones, and the People on the other Side Temple-Bar shutting the Gates, the Cavalcade was obliged to stop. Mr. Cook, the City Marshal, and his Attendants going to open the Gates, were pelted with Mud. The Populace then attacked the Gentlemen in their Carriages: Mr. Boehm and several of his Friends being covered with Dirt, were obliged to take shelter in Nando's Coffee-House. Some of the Coaches then drove up Chancery-Lane, Fetter-Lane, and Shoe-Lane; but the greatest Part of the Gentlemen, finding it impossible to proceed, returned home.

The Address, however, did at length reach St. James's, but the People threw Dirt at the Gentlemen as they got out of their Carriages at St. James's Gate. There were about one hundred and fifty of the Merchants came into the Drawing-Room, and at Four o'Clock the Address was read by Mr. Watkins, an eminent Merchant. His Majesty was pleased to return a most gracious Answer, and they had all the Honour to kiss his Majesty's Hand.—A Hearse, with two white Horses and two black, joined in the Train at Exeter-Change, and followed all the Way to St. James's.

The Riot Act was twice read at St. James's Gate, and the Mob not dispersing, but still continuing to be riotous, the Horse Guards were sent for, and seventeen of the most active were laid hold of and secured, ten of whom were afterwards discharged.

Further Particulars.

When Mr. Boehm was obliged to get out of his Coach, at Nando's Coffee-House, to avoid the Mob, in his Hurry he left the original Address under the Cushion on one of the Seats of the Coach, and immediately ordered the Coachman to go home: Some of the Mob opened the Coach Door, and began to search for the Address, but the Coachman declaring it was sent before (though he knew not where it was) they were less diligent in their Search, and missed laying hold of it, by not feeling six Inches further on the left. The Coachman then drove back; but instead of going home, thinking his Master or Mistress might want the Coach next Day, he drove to the Coachmaker's in Bishopsgate-Street.—As soon as Mr. Boehm was safe in the Coffee-House, some Gentlemen went to St. James's to inform the Lords in waiting of the Occasion of their Delay, and that Mr. Boehm would follow when the Crowd was a little dispersed; but after waiting an Hour or more, and no Address arriving, a Messenger was dispatched back to the Coffee-House for the Address, where Mr. Boehm, having missed it, remained in great Suspense, and had sent to his House to have the Coach searched; but no Coach was arrived there, which caused great Confusion for some Time; at last one of the Servants hinted that the Coachman might have gone to the Coachmaker's, as it wanted repairing; where they sent, and luckily found the Address under the Cushion, which was immediately forwarded to St. James's. This Accident retarded the presenting the Address upwards of two Hours. In the mean Time, those Gentlemen who had arrived at St. James's, and were waiting for it, by the Advice of Sir Fletcher Norton had begun to sign a Copy, which one of the Gentlemen had with him, in order to present it; when luckily the Address came, after about a Dozen had signed the Copy. A Proclamation for suppressing Riots, Tumults and unlawful Assemblies, was published the same Evening. The Address follows:

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

We your Majesty's dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Merchants, Traders, and other principal Inhabitants of your City of London, truly sensible that it has been your Majesty's constant Care and principal Object, since you ascended the Throne of your illustrious Ancestors, to secure to your People

The Address.

People the full Enjoyment of their Religion, Laws, and Liberties inviolable, and to make them happy and flourishing, under your Majesty's most auspicious Government, beg Leave to profess our steady Loyalty and Duty to your Majesty, and our firm Resolution to exert our utmost Power in supporting the Honour and Dignity of your Majesty's Crown, in preserving the Safety, Peace, and Tranquillity of your Majesty's Realms, in maintaining public Credit, and promoting Commerce, for the Benefit of your Subjects throughout your Dominions.

"And we beg Leave to express our Concern and Abhorrence of every Attempt to spread Sedition, to inflame the Minds, and alienate the Affections of a free and loyal People from the best of Kings, and his Government, which we apprehend has of late been encouraged, without the least Shadow of Foundation, by some ill-designing Persons, to answer sinister and selfish Purposes.

"And we most sincerely pray Almighty God, that your Majesty's great and bright Example of Piety, Goodness, and Clemency, may operate so effectually upon the Minds of your People, as to suppress that Spirit of Licentiousness, Profaneness, and Irreligion, which has been industriously propagated, to delude the Unwary to their own Destruction; and that the same good Providence will grant your Majesty a long and happy Reign over a dutiful and loyal People, and bless your Endeavours with Success, in a firm and permanent Establishment of our most excellent Constitution, which is not only admired, but envied by all foreign Nations."

To which Address his Majesty was pleased to return this most gracious Answer:

"The just Sense you entertain of my Desire to secure to my People the full Enjoyment of their Religion, Laws, and Liberties; and the strong Assurances you give me of your Resolution to support the Dignity of my Crown, to preserve Peace among my Subjects, to maintain public Credit, and to promote Commerce, afford me the greatest Satisfaction; as well as your Abhorrence of that inflammatory Spirit of Sedition, which it has been the Business of artful and specious Misrepresentation to propagate.

"The warm Wishes you express for the Stability and Permanence of this happy Constitution, and the Interest you take in my Prosperity, will always deserve my Favour and Protection."

They were all most graciously received, and had the Honour to kiss his Majesty Hand.

A new Election of a Member for Middlesex.

On Thursday the 13th of April came on another Election for the County of Middlesex, by Order of the House of Commons. It began about half an Hour past Nine at Brentford: on which Occasion there appeared four Candidates, viz. Mr. Wilkes, whom the House of Commons had so often rejected; Mr. Luttrell, already a sitting Member of the said House; Serjeant Whitaker, and one Mr. Roache, who was nominated by Mr. Martyn and Mr. Jones, but not having polled one Vote at Twelve o'Clock, declined standing any longer in Opposition to the Sense of the Freeholders, who on this Occasion marched from all Parts of the County in collective Bodies, with Music and Colours flying before them, and with Ribbons or Cockades in their Hats, inscribed with these Words "MAGNA CHARTA and the BILL of RIGHTS" in Letters of Gold. And at the Closing of the Poll this Day at Three o'Clock the Numbers for each Candidate stood as follows:

For Mr. Wilkes	-	-	1143
Mr. Luttrell	-	-	296
Mr. Whitaker	-	-	5
Mr. Roache	-	-	0

Whereupon the Sheriffs declared John Wilkes, Esq; duly elected Member of Parliament for the County of Middlesex.

The Return made to the House of Commons of Mr. Wilkes by the Sheriffs, was received with great Warmth by the ministerial Part of that House; who being the Majority took one Step further towards destroying the Freedom of Elections of Representatives in Parliament. They not only declared by a Vote of their House, that the Election of John Wilkes, Esq; was null and void, but they deprived the Freeholders of their Right to elect any other Person in his stead, and contrary to the legal Return of the Writ of Election, took upon themselves to place or chuse Mr. Luttrell to be sitting Member or Representative for the County of Middlesex in his stead.

Mr. Wilkes's Election declared void.

Such an arbitrary Proceeding gave a general Discontent. And on Monday the 17th the Freeholders of Middlesex met at the Mile-End Assembly-Room according to an Advertisement for that Purpose. The Room was as full as it could be crowded, and is computed to hold about 2500. All the Avenues to the House were thronged, and above five thousand People were assembled in the Road before it. At Twelve John Sawbridge, Esq; Member for Hythe in Kent, was called to the Chair, and declared the Intention of the Meeting. James Townsend, Esq; Member for Westloo in Cornwall, in a very elegant and animated Speech deplored the Necessity of seeking out some new Remedy for a new Grievance: A Grievance, which till this Period no King, no Minister, no Enemy, no Power on Earth, had ever laid upon this Kingdom since it received the Name of England.

Meeting at Mile-End.

With the greatest Force and Conviction from Law, History, and the natural Rights of Mankind, he asserted the Privilege of Representation to the People. He declared himself ready to run every Risk and to undergo every Suffering to preserve this invaluable Blessing to his Countrymen, and that he would never tamely submit to offer up his Liberty at the Shrine of any Minister or earthly Potentate or Power. He concluded with a Wish, that some Freeholders would propose a Plan that might serve to confirm to us the Rights (if there are any) that still remain unviolated, and to recover those which have been violently and unjustly wrested from us, especially that important leading Right on which all others depend,—the Right of Election.

The Rev. Mr. Horne then made a Motion, That a Committee of Grievances and Apprehensions be appointed to take the same into Consideration, particularly the present alarming Attack made on the Right of Election, and at the next general Meeting to propose the proper constitutional Measures to be taken for Redress.

He supported his Motion by many strong and convincing Arguments, and it was carried nemine con. The Chairman in putting the Question declared his entire Approbation of it.

— Adair, Esq; — Bellas, Esq; and many others spoke in support of the following Motions, which were likewise carried nemine con.

I. That the Committee consist of one hundred Freeholders.

II. That Walpole Eyre, Esq; be Chairman of the said Committee.

III. That George Bellas, Esq; be Deputy Chairman.

IV. That the future Meetings of the Committee and of the County be called by Advertisement in the public Papers, signed by the Chairman or Deputy Chairman.

The Thanks of the County were then unanimously ordered to be returned to the Sheriffs of this County, for having acted according to Law, and discharged their Duty with Honour and Firmness.

State of the City
Hospitals.

The State of the City Hospitals, for 1768, was reported this Day :

St. Bartholomew's.

Cured and discharged from this Hospital	3736
Out-Patients relieved with Advice and Medicines	3285
Buried this Year	270
Remaining under Cure	407
Out-Patients	216
In all, including Out-Patients	7914

St. Thomas's Hospital.

Cured and discharged from this Hospital	7072
Buried last Year	220
Remaining under Cure	486
Out-Patients	232
In all, including Out-Patients	8010

Christ's Hospital.

Children put forth Apprentices, and discharged out of this Hospital last Year, nine whereof were instructed in the Mathematics	111
Buried last Year	20
Remaining in this Hospital	943

Bridewell Hospital.

Vagrants, &c. relieved and discharged	564
Maintained in divers Trades, &c.	70

Bethlem Hospital.

Admitted into this Hospital	207
Cured	157
Buried	59
Remaining under Cure	229

Opinion concerning the Eligibility of
Mr.
Wilkes
for an Alderman.

The Court Party having failed in their former Attempt of setting Mr. Wilkes aside for Alderman of Farringdon Without, they started an Opinion about his Eligibility. And on the 25th of April a Court of Aldermen was held at Guildhall, to receive the Opinions of Council relative to the Eligibility of Mr. Wilkes to an Aldermanship of London; when it was found that the Attorney-General, the Solicitor-General, the Hon. Mr. Yorke, Mr. Serjeant Glynn, and Mr. Serjeant Lee, were of Opinion, that he was eligible; but the Opinion of Sir Fletcher Norton, the City Recorder, and the Common Serjeant was, that he was not eligible. No Opinion was given respecting the negative Voice of the Court of Aldermen. Upon which the Question was put, whether Notice should be sent to Mr. Wilkes of his being declared duly elected, which passed in the Negative. The Aldermen present on this Occasion were:—On the Side of Mr. Wilkes, William Beckford, Esq; Sir William Stephenson, Knight, Barlow Trecothick, Esq; Brass Crosby, Esq; Richard Peers, Esq; John Kirkman, Esq;—Against him, Sir Robert Ladbroke, Knight, Robert Alsop, Esq; Sir Thomas Rawlinson, Knight, Sir Richard Glyn, Bart. Sir Robert Kyte, Knight, Right Hon. Thomas Harley, Sir Henry Bankes, Knight, William Nash, Esq; Samuel Plumbe, Esq; Brackley Kennet, Esq.

The Committee appointed by the Freeholders of Middlesex having prepared a Petition to the Throne, summoned a general Meeting at the Assembly-Room at Mile-End on the 27th, to make a Report; when Mr. Eyre, the Chairman, being indisposed, his Place in the Chair was filled by Mr. Adair. About ten Minutes after One the Petition was brought by Mr. Martyn, accompanied by Messrs. Townsend and Horne; and, after a short Speech from Mr. Adair, the Deputy Chairman was appointed to read it; but before he had gone through three Lines, Mr. Townsend observing, that he had been informed there were Short-hand Writers appointed to take down, not only the Substance of the Petition, but also what was spoken in that Place; immediately the Books of the Short-hand Writers were seized, and handed to Mr. Townsend, who threw them among the People, where they were torn to Pieces, and the Owners obliged to leave the Room. The Petition was then read, and received the unanimous Approbation of all present. Mr. Townsend, after the Perusal, recommended Dispatch in signing it; and Mr. Serjeant Glynn was appointed to deliver it to his Majesty. The Thanks of the Meeting being given to the Committee, the Freeholders retired to sign the Petition.

Freeholders Proceedings.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.
The humble PETITION of the FREEHOLDERS of the County of MIDDLESEX.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

"We your Majesty's dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Freeholders of the County of Middlesex, beg Leave, with all affectionate Submission and Humility, to throw ourselves at your royal Feet, and humbly to implore your paternal Attention to those Grievances, of which this County and the whole Nation complain, and those fearful Apprehensions with which the whole British Empire is most justly alarmed.

The Petition.

"With great Grief and Sorrow we have long beheld the Endeavours of certain evil-minded Persons, who attempt to infuse into your royal Mind Notions and Opinions of the most dangerous and pernicious Tendency, and who promote and counsel such Measures as cannot fail to destroy that Harmony and Confidence which should ever subsist between a just and virtuous Prince and a free and loyal People.

" For

“ For this disaffected Purpose, they have introduced into every Part of the Administration of our happy legal Constitution a certain unlimited and indefinite discretionary Power; to prevent which is the sole Aim of all our Laws, and was the sole Cause of all those Disturbances and Revolutions which formerly distracted this unhappy Country: for our Ancestors by their own fatal Experience well knew, that in a State, where Discretion begins, Law, Liberty, and Safety end. Under the Pretence of this Discretion, or, as it was formerly and has been lately called—Law of State—we have seen

“ English Subjects, and even a Member of the British Legislature, arrested by virtue of a general Warrant issued by a Secretary of State, contrary to the Law of the Land—

“ Their Houses rifled and plundered, their Papers seized, and used as Evidence upon Trial—

“ Their Bodies committed to close Imprisonment—

“ The Habeas Corpus eluded—

“ Trial by Jury discountenanced, and the first Law-Officer of the Crown publicly insinuating that Juries are not to be trusted—

“ Printers punished by the Ministry in the supreme Court without a Trial by their Equals—without any Trial at all—

“ The Remedy of the Law for false Imprisonment barred and defeated—

“ The Plaintiff and his Attorney, for their Appeal to the Law of the Land, punished by Expences and Imprisonment—

“ And made by forced Engagements to desist from their legal Claim—

“ A Writing determined to be a Libel by a Court where it was not cognizable in the first Instance, contrary to Law; because all Appeal is thereby cut off, and inferior Courts and Juries influenced by such Predetermination—

“ A Person condemned in the said Court as the Author of the supposed Libel, unheard, without Defence or Trial—

“ Unjust Treatment of Petitions, by selecting only such Parts as might be wrested to criminate the Petitioner, and refusing to hear those which might procure him Redress—

“ The Thanks of one Branch of the Legislature proposed by a Minister to be given to an acknowledged Offender for his Offence, with the declared Intention of screening him from the Law—

“ Attachments wrested from their original Intent of removing Obstructions to the Proceedings of Law, to punish by Sentence of arbitrary Fine and Imprisonment, without Trial or Appeal, supposed Offences committed out of Court—

“ Perpetual Imprisonment of an Englishman, without Trial, Conviction, or Sentence, by the same Mode of Attachment, wherein the same Person is at once Party, Accuser, Judge and Jury—

“ Instead of the ancient and legal Civil Police, the Military introduced at every Opportunity, unnecessarily and unlawfully patrolling the Streets, to the Alarm and Terror of the Inhabitants—

“ The Lives of many of your Majesty's innocent Subjects destroyed by military Execution—

“ Such military Execution solemnly adjudged to be legal—

“ Murder abetted, encouraged and rewarded—

“ The civil Magistracy rendered contemptible by the Appointment of improper and incapable Persons—

“ The civil Magistrates tampered with by Administration, and neglecting and refusing to discharge their Duty—

“ Mobs and Riots hired and raised by the Ministry in order to justify and recommend their own illegal Proceedings, and to prejudice your Majesty's Mind by false Insinuations against the Loyalty of your Majesty's Subjects—

“ The Freedom of Election violated by corrupt and undue Influence, by unpunished Violence and Murder—

“ The just Verdicts of Juries, and the Opinions of the Judges, over-ruled by false Representations to your Majesty; and the Determinations of the Law set aside by new, unprecedented, and dangerous Means, thereby leaving the Guilty without Restraint, and the Injured without Redress, and the Lives of your Majesty's Subjects at the Mercy of every Russian, protected by Administration—

“ Obsolete and vexatious Claims of the Crown set on Foot for partial and Election Purposes—

“ Partial Attacks on the Liberty of the Press: the most daring and pernicious Libels against the Constitution, and against the Liberty of the Subject, being allowed to pass unnoticed, whilst the slightest Libel against a Minister is punished with the utmost Rigour—

“ Wicked Attempts to increase and establish a standing Army, by endeavouring to vest in the Crown an unlimited Power over the Militia; which, should they succeed, must, sooner or later, subvert the Constitution, by augmenting the Power of Administration in Proportion to their Delinquency—

“ Repeated Endeavours to diminish the Importance of Members of Parliament individually, in order to render them more dependent on Administration collectively: even Threats having been employed by Ministers to suppress the Freedom of Debate; and the Wrath of Parliament denounced against Measures authorized by the Law of the Land—

“ Resolutions of one Branch of the Legislature set up as the Law of the Land, being a direct Usurpation of the Rights of the two other Branches, and therefore a manifest Infringement of the Constitution—

“ Public Money shamefully squandered and unaccounted for, and all Inquiry into the Cause of Arrears in the Civil List prevented by the Ministry—

“ Inquiry into a Paymaster's public Accounts stopped in the Exchequer, though the Sum unaccounted for by that Paymaster amounts to above forty Millions Sterling—

“ Public Loans perverted to private ministerial Purposes—

“ Prostitution of public Honours and Rewards to Men who can neither plead public Virtue nor Services—

“ Irreligion and Immorality, so eminently discountenanced by your Majesty's royal Example, encouraged encouraged by Administration, both by Example and Precept—

“ The same Discretion has been extended by the same evil Counsellors to your Majesty’s Dominions in America, and has produced to our suffering Fellow-Subjects in that Part of the World Grievances and Apprehensions similar to those of which we complain at Home.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

“ SUCH are the Grievances and Apprehensions which have long discontented and disturbed the greatest and best Part of your Majesty’s loyal Subjects. Unwilling, however, to interrupt your royal Repose, though ready to lay down our Lives and Fortunes for your Majesty’s Service, and for the Constitution as by Law established, we have waited patiently, expecting a constitutional Remedy by the Means of our own Representatives; but our legal and free Choice has been repeatedly rejected, and the Right of Election now finally taken from us by the unprecedented seating of a Candidate who was never chosen by the County, and who, even to become a Candidate, was obliged fraudulently to vacate his Seat in Parliament under the Pretence of an insignificant Place, invited thereto by the prior Declaration of a Minister, that whoever opposed our Choice, though with but four Votes, should be declared Member for the County. We see ourselves, by this last Act, deprived even of the Franchises of Englishmen, reduced to the most abject State of Slavery, and left without Hopes or Means of Redress but from your Majesty or God.

“ Deign then, most gracious Sovereign, to listen to the Prayer of the most faithful of your Majesty’s Subjects; and to banish from your royal Favour, Trust and Confidence, for ever, those evil and pernicious Counsellors, who have endeavoured to alienate the Affection of your Majesty from your Majesty’s most sincere and dutiful Subjects, and whose Suggestions tend to deprive your People of their dearest and most essential Rights, and who have traiterously dared to depart from the Spirit and Letter of those Laws, which have secured the Crown of these Realms to the House of Brunswick, in which we make our most earnest Prayers to God that it may continue untarnished to the latest Posterity.

Signed by 1565 Freeholders.

This Petition was presented to the King at St. James’s, in a private Manner, by Mr. Serjeant Glynn, John Sawbridge, Esq; James Townsend, Esq; the Rev. Dr. Wilson, George Bellas, Francis Ascough, and William Ellis, Esqrs.

Fire.

On the 30th of May, about One in the Morning, a Fire broke out at a Timber-Merchant’s in Peter-Street, Saffron-Hill, which consumed the same and twelve more Houses, supposed to be occasioned by the Fireworks made in that Neighbourhood in the preceding Evening.

Sir Matthew Blakiston.

On the 6th of June Application was made to the Court of Aldermen by Sir Matthew Blakiston, Knight, for Leave to resign his Gown, on account of his being rendered unable to attend the Duty of an Alderman by his Age and Infirmities. But this very Gentleman met with as much Opposition from that Court to this his humble Petition to withdraw from them, as he had at the Time of his Election to be admitted Alderman of Bishopsgate Ward. They would not grant him Leave to resign his Gown. However, this Partiality was not suffered to go off so: For the same Application for Leave to resign his Gown was made by the Alderman’s Friend, at the next Court of Aldermen, on the 20th of the same Month, nineteen Aldermen present, when Sir Matthew’s Resignation was accepted by a Majority of one. And on the 23d a Wardmote was held at Bishopsgate Church, when James Townsend, Esq; Member for Westloo in Cornwall, was chosen without Opposition.

On the 24th there was a Court of Aldermen and a Common-Hall for the Election of Sheriffs for the Year ensuing. Previous to the opening of the Court, Samuel Vaughan, Esq; addressed himself to the Livery, and strongly recommended Decency in their Behaviour, as the most likely Means by which they could accomplish the End for which they had assembled.

Proceedings on Midsummer Day.

When the Lord Mayor and Court of Aldermen came upon the Hustings, the Recorder came forward, and attempted to open the Business of the Day, but an almost general Uproar ensued, many calling out for them to consider of a Petition in the first Place. On this the Lord Mayor addressed himself to the Livery, and in a very genteel Speech acquainted them, that he had taken a great deal of Pains to inform himself of the Duty of his Office on the present Occasion, and that he could not find one single Instance of any Business being done previous to the Choice of Officers; at the same Time declaring, that he would not break up the Court till such Time as the Opinion of the Livery relative to the Matter they wanted to enforce was taken, if they would first proceed to do the Business for which the Common-Hall was called. This Declaration was received with great Applause, and they immediately proceeded to the Election of Sheriffs, when James Townsend, Esq; and John Sawbridge, Esq; were almost unanimously chosen, with prodigious Shouts. After the Choice of Chamberlain, Bridge-Master, and other Officers, they took into Consideration the Question concerning a Petition, which was at last carried in the Affirmative, and the following Gentlemen were appointed to present the same; the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor, the two Sheriffs, and three of the Representatives of the City. Mr. Alderman Harley, the other Representative, was not present.

On Wednesday July 5, the Right Honourable Samuel Turner, Esq; Lord Mayor, Sir Robert Ladbroke, Mr. Alderman Beckford, and Mr. Alderman Trecotick, together with the Sheriffs, accompanied by Peter Roberts, Esq; this City’s Remembrancer, proceeded in State to St. James’s with the Petition of the Livery of London; where, after waiting a short Time in the Antichamber, his Lordship sent in a Message by the Remembrancer to the Lord of the Bedchamber. He was desired by Mr. Pitt, Groom of the Bedchamber, to deliver his Message. The Remembrancer answered, his Business could only be delivered to the Lord of the Bedchamber. Soon after Lord Huntingdon came out, and acquainted the Lord Mayor, Mayor, that Lord Orford was in waiting, that the Levee was begun, and therefore he could not leave the King; but if they had any thing to present they might walk into the Levee. Mr. Beckford answered, they were there ready to obey the King's Commands; and Lord Huntingdon returned. After some Time, Lord Orford, the said Lord in waiting, came out and told them, that if they had any thing to deliver, they might walk into the Levee, which they immediately did, and the King being near the Door, the Lord Mayor addressed him to the following Effect:

Most Gracious Sovereign,

"We, the Lord Mayor, the Representatives in Parliament, together with the Sheriffs of your Majesty's ancient and loyal City of London, presume to approach your royal Person, and beg leave to present, with all Humility, to your Majesty, the dutiful and most humble Petition of your Majesty's faithful and loyal Subjects the Livery of London in Common-Hall assembled, complaining of Grievances; and from your Majesty's unbounded Goodness, and paternal Regard and Affection for all your Subjects, they humbly presume to hope, that your Majesty will graciously condescend to listen to their just Complaints, and to grant them such Relief, as in your Majesty's known Wisdom and Justice shall seem meet."

After which his Lordship presented the Petition to his Majesty, but the King made no Answer, and immediately turned about to Baron Dieden, the Danish Minister, and delivered the Petition to the Lord in waiting.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.
The humble PETITION of the LIVERY of the City of LONDON, in Common-Hall assembled.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

City Petition to the King.

"We your Majesty's dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Livery of the City of London, with all the Humility which is due from free Subjects to their lawful Sovereign, but with all the Anxiety, which the Sense of the present Oppressions, and the just Dread of future Mischiefs, produce in our Minds, beg leave to lay before your Majesty some of those intolerable Grievances which your People have suffered from the evil Conduct of those who have been entrusted with the Administration of your Majesty's Government, and from the secret unremitting Influence of the worst of Counsellors.

"We should be wanting in our Duty to your Majesty, as well as to ourselves and our Posterity, should we forbear to represent to the Throne the desperate Attempts which have been, and are too successfully made, to destroy that Constitution, to the Spirit of which we owe the Relation which subsists between your Majesty and the Subjects of these Realms, and to subvert those sacred Laws, which our Ancestors have sealed with their Blood.

"Your Ministers, from corrupt Principles, and in violation of every Duty, have, by various enumerated Means, invaded our invaluable and unalienable Right of Trial by Jury.

"They have, with Impunity, issued general Warrants, and violently seized Persons and private Papers.

"They have rendered the Laws non-effective to our Security, by evading the Habeas Corpus.

"They have caused Punishments, and even perpetual Imprisonment, to be inflicted, without Trial, Conviction, or Sentence.

"They have brought into Disrepute the civil Magistracy, by the Appointment of Persons who are, in many respects, unqualified for that important Trust, and have thereby purposely furnished a Pretence for calling in the aid of a military Power.

"They avow, and endeavour to establish, a Maxim absolutely inconsistent with our Constitution—that "an Occasion for effectually employing a military Force always presents itself, when the civil Power is trifled with or insulted;" and by a fatal and false Application of this Maxim, they have wantonly and wickedly sacrificed the Lives of many of your Majesty's innocent Subjects, and have prostituted your Majesty's sacred Name and Authority, to justify, applaud, and recommend their own illegal and bloody Actions.

"They have screened more than one Murderer from Punishment, and in its place have unnaturally substituted Reward.

"They have established numberless unconstitutional Regulations and Taxations in our Colonies. They have caused a Revenue to be raised in some of them by Prerogative. They have appointed Civil-Law Judges to try Revenue-Causes, and to be paid from out of the Condemnation-Money.

"After having insulted and defeated the Law on different Occasions, and by different Contrivances, both at home and abroad, they have at length compleated their Design, by violently wresting from the People the last sacred Right we had left, the Right of Election; by the unprecedented seating of a Candidate notoriously set up and chosen only by themselves. They have thereby taken from your Subjects all Hopes of Parliamentary Redress, and have left us no Resource, under God, but in your Majesty.

"All this they have been able to effect by Corruption. By a scandalous Misapplication and Embezzlement of the public Treasure, and a shameful Prostitution of public Honours and Employments; procuring Deficiencies of the Civil List to be made good without Examination; and, instead of punishing, conferring Honours on a Paymaster, the public Defaulter of unaccounted Millions.

"From an unfeigned Sense of the Duty we owe to your Majesty and to our Country, we have ventured thus humbly to lay before the Throne those great and important Truths, which it has been the Business of your Ministers to conceal. We most earnestly beseech your Majesty to grant us Redress. It is for the Purpose of Redress alone, and for such Occasions as the present, that those great and extensive Powers are entrusted to the Crown by the Wisdom of that Constitution which your Majesty's illustrious Family was chosen to defend, and which we trust in God it will for ever continue to support."

On the 18th of August a Fire broke out at the House of Mr. Dell, an Orrice-Weaver, in Bridewell, which intirely destroyed the same and three other Houses: And on the 22d a Fire broke out in the House of Mr. Brittle, Brazier, in Mount-Street, Grosvenor-Square; which consumed sumed the same and two more, and damaged several others.

Fires.

Westminster Petition for Redress of Grievances.

The Electors in Westminster, to the Number of about seven thousand, assembled at Eleven o'Clock in Westminster-Hall, to petition his Majesty for a Redress of Grievances. At Twelve o'Clock Sir Robert Bernard, Bart. was called to the Chair, which was placed on the Steps of the Court of Common Pleas. It is not a little remarkable, that the Chair for the Chairman had been originally placed on the Steps between the Courts of Chancery and the King's Bench; but the Electors not liking that Situation, desired it might be placed on the Steps of the Court of Common Pleas, where, they said, General Warrants were first condemned.

Robert Jones, Esq; moved for the Petition, and informed the Assembly, that he had been chosen Chairman of the Committee appointed to draw one up. A Petition was accordingly produced, and being read by Sir R. Bernard, was received with great Applause. When the Question was put, whether they approved of that Petition, it was carried unanimously, and the Electors began immediately to sign it.

The Purport of the above Petition was to request that his Majesty would dissolve the present Parliament, and call a new one as speedily as possible.

Fires.

On Thursday the 14th, two terrible Fires broke out in the Morning, one at Mr. Hill's, Ironmonger, the Corner of Christopher-Court, St. Martin's-le-Grand; which consumed that and three more, and damaged two others: The other happened at Messrs. Buxton and Enderby's Oil-Warehouse, Paul's Wharf, which soon consumed the same, with the Fortune of War, a Public House, and another Dwelling-House in Front. The Flames then spread with amazing Rapidity to a large Timber-Yard adjoining, where they destroyed a prodigious Quantity of Timber, together with two large Lighters on the River, and several Houses backward; the large Sugar-Baker's House, the Corner of the opposite Wharf, was with the greatest Difficulty preserved. And on Friday the 15th, a Fire broke out at Mr. Francisco Rocca's Italian Warehouse in the Haymarket.

Queen Anne's Statue defaced.

On Sunday the 17th, early in the Morning, the Constable of the Night for Castle-Baynard Ward hearing a Noise within the Fence of the West End of St. Paul's Cathedral, and calling several Watchmen to his Assistance, apprehended a Lascar, who, upon being seized, immediately drew a Knife and endeavoured to stab one of the Men. It appeared, that the Lascar had broke and defaced the Statue of Queen Anne, and the four other Figures, representing the four Quarters of the World. Both the Arms, with the Globe and Scepter, were broke off from the Queen's Statue, and every other Figure had some Damage done to them. The Lascar had the Globe in his Hand when he was coming over the Iron Rails. He was a Lunatic.

John Sawbridge, Esq; chosen Alderman.

On Tuesday the 26th, John Sawbridge, Esq; Alderman elect for Langbourne Ward, was sworn in at a Court of Aldermen.

On the 29th of September 1769, came on at Guildhall, the Election of two Persons to be returned by the Livery to the Court of Aldermen for their Choice of one to serve the Office of Lord Mayor of the City of London for the Year ensuing. The Persons nominated were William Beckford, Esq; Barlow Trecothick, Esq; and Sir Henry Bankes.

Various Disputes arose between the Livery and the City Officers respecting the Legality of Mr. Beckford's Nomination. The Town-Clerk and Common-Serjeant warmly objected to it, and produced an obsolete By-Law of the Corporation made in the Reign of Henry VI. which imported, "that it was agreed between the Aldermen and Commonalty, that on account of the heavy Burden, the encreased Expence, and particular Circumstances of those Times, no Person should be re-chosen to serve the Office of Lord Mayor within the Term of seven Years after his former Mayoralty." To this the Livery replied, That there were Precedents since that Time to the contrary, and particularly that of Sir John Barnard, who having served the Office of Lord Mayor in 1737, was re-elected to the same Office in the Year 1740. This Precedent being undeniable, and no Answer given to it, Mr. Sheriff Townsend told the Livery that he thought it his Duty to take Notice to them of the Imposition attempted to be put upon him and them by their Servants, the Town-Clerk and Common-Serjeant; that as not supposing them capable of an Action of that kind, he had before given his Opinion to the Livery on the Objection their Servants had raised to their Wishes, so he now declared the Objection entirely overthrown.

Mr. Sawbridge, the other Sheriff, with great Humanity, endeavoured to appease the Minds of the Livery, and to mitigate the Fault of the Common-Serjeant. The Nomination then took Place; and after Mr. Beckford and the several Aldermen below the Chair had been nominated, the Sheriffs declared the Shew of Hands to be for Messrs. Beckford and Trecothick. A Poll, however, being afterwards demanded for Sir Henry Bankes, the same commenced immediately, and was continued till the sixth of October following, when, being finished, the Numbers appeared as follows:

For William Beckford , Esq;	-	-	1967
Barlow Trecothick , Esq;	-	-	1911
Sir Henry Bankes	-	-	676

In Consequence of this, the two former were presented to the Court of Aldermen for their Choice of one of them. And at another Meeting held the next Day it was determined to receive the Sheriffs Return, and the Aldermen proceeded to their Choice; sixteen of whom scratched for Mr. Beckford, and only six for Trecothick; whereupon the former was declared to be legally chosen.

On this Declaration Mr. Beckford pleaded his Age and Infirmities, and wished, as he had before intreated them, that they had chosen Mr. Trecothick, at the same Time declaring that he must decline it. This was received by the Livery with every Mark of Discontent. They vehemently persisted in their Refusal to listen to any Excuse whatever. And so determined were they to obtain their Ends, that the next Day, October 13, a great Number of them, together with the two Sheriffs, waited on Mr. Beckford, and in the strongest Terms of Respect, solicited with much Importunity,

Election of William Beckford, Esq; Lord Mayor a second Time.

Importunity, that he would, at that important Crisis, serve the Office of Lord Mayor for the Year ensuing, to which Dignity he had been a second Time elected. Mr. Beckford yielded to their earnest Request, and warmest Desires and Wishes; and told them, that notwithstanding his advanced Years, with all his attendant Infirmities, and giving up his Ease and Repose, he would devote himself to the Service of the City of London, as well as the Nation in general, by accepting the Office.

In Consequence of this Answer, on the 8th of November Mr. Beckford was sworn into his Office at Guildhall, in the Presence of the Lord Mayor, several Aldermen, the two Sheriffs, &c. when the Ensigns of Mayoralty were surrendered to him in the usual Manner. The next Day, the 9th of November, his Lordship, together with Samuel Turner, Esq; the late Lord Mayor, attended by six of the Aldermen and two Sheriffs, set out from Guildhall in a very grand Procession to the Three Cranes, from whence they proceeded in the City Barge to the Court of Exchequer at Westminster, where his Lordship was sworn into his Office with the accustomed Formality. The Dignity and Splendor of the Procession was considerably heightened by the State-Coach, which was magnificently adorned, and drawn by a fine Set of new foreign Horses, preceded by eight Footmen in very rich Liveries. The Cover to the Coach-Box was crimson Velvet curiously wrought; on the Front, the Sides, and the back Part were enclosed the City Arms and those of the Ironmongers Company, the Cap of Liberty, and various Flowers of Gold, with a Fringe of Gold round the Edges. The whole Procession was exceeding brilliant, and the Entertainment at Guildhall more splendid than had been known for many Years on a like Occasion; but neither the Recorder, nor Town-Clerk, nor Common-Serjeant thought proper to attend.

Here it will be proper to inform the Reader, that at a Meeting of the Livery in the Guildhall, London, on the 10th of October, 1769, Mr. Lovell, the Chairman of a Committee appointed by the said Livery to collect their Sentiments and to draw up some Resolutions in their Name, came forward, and proposed to the Livery the following Resolutions:

Resolutions of the Livery.

“Resolved, That the Lord Mayor be asked if his Lordship hath received any Answer to the Petition of the Livery of London to his Majesty, which prayed for the Redress of various Grievances, the Removal of evil Counsellors, and the Dissolution of the present Parliament.

“Resolved, That the Lord Mayor be called upon to produce the Letter which his Lordship received from Henry Lord Holland, dated Holland House, Kensington, July the 9th, 1769.

“Resolved, That H—— L—— H—— was the Paymaster whom we, the Livery of London, in our late Petition to the Throne for the Redress of Grievances, &c. affirmed to be the Public Defaulter of unaccounted Millions.

“Resolved, That it is the Duty of our Representatives to obtain, if possible, an honest and proper parliamentary Enquiry into the Conduct and Accounts of H—— L—— H——.

“And, when it shall appear on such Enquiry that H—— L—— H—— has, by unnecessary

Delays, detained the public Money for Years in his Hands, and appropriated the Interest thereof to his own Use, and has also by various Pretences obtained repeated Impediments to public Justice, and by various Misrepresentations induced our Sovereign to stay the legal Proceedings against him, thereby endeavouring to lessen that Respect that is due to his Majesty, and introduce a Power superior to that of Law, the Use and Disuse of which create the Distinction between Monarchy and Tyranny:

“Resolved, That then it will become in the highest Degree the Duty of our Representatives in Parliament, to endeavour that H—— L—— H—— be impeached, that he may be an Example to all future Ministers, and shew them how dangerous it is to enrich themselves with the public Treasure, and sport with the Rights of a free People.

“Resolved, That these Resolutions be entered by the Town-Clerk in the Record Books of this City, as Part of the Proceedings of the Livery at the Election of a Lord Mayor of this City for the Year 1770, and that a Copy of these Resolutions, signed by the Sheriffs, be delivered to each of our Representatives in Parliament.”

To which they unanimously agreed.

After which the Lord Mayor adjourned the Common-Hall at half an Hour past Seven in the Evening, the Livery having waited with an amazing Firmness and Patience, in a very uneasy and painful Situation, nine Hours without Refreshment.

On the 30th of this Month, Burford Camfer, Esq; and David Wilmot, Esq; two of his Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the County of Middlesex, within the Tower Hamlets, attended by Peace-Officers and a Party of the Guards, went upon Information this Evening to apprehend the riotous Weavers called Cutters, who had committed so many Outrages in Spitalfields. Upon their entering the House where they were assembled, the Weavers fired down the Stairs, and killed one of the Soldiers; most of them made their Escape from the Top of the House, and left their Arms behind them; but four were apprehended, and several innocent Persons were wounded by the promiscuous Firing. The Soldiers did not load their Arms till they had been repeatedly fired at.

Cutters apprehended.

On Friday the 13th of October a Fire broke out at an Orrice-Weaver's in Hare-Court, Butcher-Row, without Temple-Bar, which consumed 20 Houses; and next Morning early eight Houses were destroyed a little to the East of Limehouse-Bridge, by which several Lives were lost in the Flames.

Fires in Butcher-row Temple-Bar, and at Limehouse.

On Tuesday the 17th the Electors in the Borough of Southwark met at the Town-Hall, and agreed to petition his Majesty for the Redress of Grievances.

The Borough Petition.

On the 30th a Fire consumed fourteen Houses, besides Sheds, Warehouses, &c. and damaged several others on Rotherhithe-Wall, which began at a Public House called The King of Prussia's Head.

Fire in Rotherhithe.

Doyle and Valline, two Cutters, having been sentenced in the general Words to be carried to the Place of Execution, and there to be hanged till dead; but afterwards by his Majesty's Command to the Sheriffs the Place of their Execution being fixed to a Place near unto Bethnal-Green, the She-

Execution of the Cutters.

riffs of London and Middlesex entertained some Doubt on account of that not being the common Place of Execution, and therefore applied to the Secretary of State for further Information; and that the Criminals might be respited till the Opinion of the Judges could be had in that Matter for their Direction.

The Sheriffs Letter to Lord Weymouth.

My Lord,

"The inclosed will inform your Lordship of the Difficulty we are under respecting the Execution of Doyle and Valline, two Convicts now under Sentence of Death in Newgate. We propose to wait on his Majesty to-morrow Morning to deliver a like Paper into his Hands, of which we think it proper previously to transmit you this Copy, that his Majesty may be apprized of it.

We are, my Lord,

Your Lordship's most obedient Servants,

London,

Nov. 13, 1769.

JAMES TOWNSEND.

JOHN SAWBRIDGE."

(Inclosed Copy.)

To the King's Most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

"The Recorder of London having signified to us, the Sheriffs of the County of Middlesex, that it is your Majesty's Pleasure that the two Convicts, John Doyle and John Valline, now under Sentence of Death in Newgate, who at the last Sessions of Gaol-Delivery, holden for the City of London and County of Middlesex, were sentenced to be hanged at the usual Place of Execution, should, notwithstanding, be executed in the most convenient Place near Bethnal-Green Church; we humbly conceive it our Duty to lay before your Majesty our Doubts, whether we can lawfully comply with this your Majesty's Pleasure, to which, upon all Occasions, it is our most earnest Wish to be able to conform.

"On the most mature Deliberation and Inquiry, which the Time has permitted, we are advised, that the Sentence pronounced by the Court is our Warrant for Execution, to which we must look; and that we shall not be justifiable in departing from it.

"We therefore humbly pray that your Majesty will be graciously pleased to respite the said Execution, that the same may be re-considered; and to give us such farther Directions as may satisfy our Doubts.

JAMES TOWNSEND.

JOHN SAWBRIDGE."

Lord Weymouth's Answer.

Arlington-Street, Nov. 13, 1769.

Gentlemen,

"I have received your Letter of this Day's Date, which was left at my Office by Mr. Reynolds at near Eleven o'Clock this Night, inclosing a Paper, to which you refer me for the Difficulty you are under, respecting the Execution of Doyle and Valline, and acquainting me that you propose to wait on his Majesty to-morrow Morning, to deliver a like Paper into his own Hands, of which you think it proper previously to transmit me a Copy, that his Majesty may be apprized of it. I beg leave to inform you that your intended Mode of Application to the King is irregular. I am ready to receive and lay before his Majesty, in a proper Manner, any Doubts which you may entertain with regard to the Discharge of your Duty on this Occasion, and shall not fail to signify to you his Majesty's further Commands thereupon.

I am, Gentlemen,

Your humble Servant,

WEYMOUTH."

The next Morning, Tuesday November 14, the Sheriffs waited on Lord Weymouth, and delivered into his Hands a Petition to be by him presented to his Majesty, of which see the Copy before given.

On Tuesday Night, November 14, the Sheriffs received the following Letter from Lord Weymouth.

Gentlemen, St. James's, Nov. 14, 1769.

"I did not fail to lay before the King the Paper which you transmitted to me last Night, a Copy of which you put into my Hands this Morning, relative to the Difficulties you are under, respecting the Execution of Doyle and Valline, and his Majesty has been graciously pleased to respite the Execution for a Week. As upon the most mature Deliberation and Inquiry which the Time has permitted, you are advised that the Sentence pronounced by the Court is your Warrant for Execution to which you must look, and that you shall not be justified in departing from it, I am commanded to signify to you his Majesty's Pleasure, that you transmit to me, for his Majesty's Information, the Opinion or Opinions which you have taken on this Occasion, that his Majesty may be the better enabled to give you such farther Directions as may SATISFY your Doubts, according to your Request.

I am, Gentlemen,

Your most obedient Servant,

WEYMOUTH."

To the Recorder, &c.

Sir,

St. James's, Nov. 14, 1769.

"I am commanded to signify to you his Majesty's Pleasure, that the Execution of the Sentence of Death passed upon John Doyle and John Valline, at the last Session held at the Old Bailey, be respited for one Week, from the Time appointed for their Execution.

I am, Sir,

Your most obedient humble Servant,

WEYMOUTH."

To James Eyre, Esq; Recorder of the City of London; the Sheriffs of the said City and County of Middlesex; and to the Keeper of Newgate, and all others whom it may concern.

Letter from the Sheriffs to Lord Weymouth.

My Lord,

"We desire your Lordship to express our thankful Acknowledgement of his Majesty's great Goodness in graciously condescending to our Request, and permitting us to lay before his Majesty the Reasons which induced us to doubt of the Legality of the Recorder's Directions relative to the Execution of Doyle and Valline.

* "And

*“ And first, my Lord, we suppose it is agreed by all, that the Judgment pronounced is our Warrant for Execution, to which we must look: every Execution which is not pursuant to the Judgment is unwarrantable. The Sheriff is to pursue the Sentence of the Court: if he varies from the Judgment, it has been held Murder: and the Judgment pronounced on Doyle and Valline is, that they be carried to the usual Place of Execution.

“ 2. The King cannot by his Prerogative vary the Execution, so as to aggravate the Punishment beyond the Intention of the Law: and the Ends of public Justice are effectually answered, if the Offender suffereth Death, the ultimum supplicium, without any Circumstances of Infamy or Rigour which the Judgment doth not import. The King can undoubtedly wholly pardon the Offender, or he can mitigate his Punishment with regard to the Pain or Infamy of it: The Mercy of the Crown is not bounded; but it cannot go beyond the Letter of the Law in point of Rigour: For the Law proceedeth in both Cases with a perfect Uniformity of Sentiment and Motive. The same Benignity of the Law, which hath left the Prerogative free and unconfined in one Case, hath set Bounds to it in the other. Now, my Lord, it will not be said that the present Alteration is, or is intended as a Mitigation of the Judgment pronounced. To force, in a Manner, the Wives and Children of the unhappy Sufferers, to be Spectators of the infamous Death of their Husbands and Fathers, by executing them as near as conveniently may be to their own Houses, cannot be intended, nor will it be esteemed a Matter of Royal Grace; nor is it granted at the Prayer of the Parties or their Friends. Custom may sometimes give a Sanction to a Practice founded in Humanity, and not repugnant to any Law of substantial Justice. But we do not suppose that either immemorial Usage or Custom can be urged in behalf of this Alteration; or, if they could, that they would make it justifiable; because it would not be a Practice founded in Mercy; and undoubtedly where that is not the Case (perhaps even when it is) judicandum est legibus, non exemplis.

“ 3. Our Doubts, my Lord, are still farther increased, and become more important, when we consider the Consequences to which an Admission of this Power would lead us. If the Crown can in one Instance, contrary to the Sentence, appoint a different Place of Execution, it may in all: If it can change the usual Place of Execution to Bethnal-Green, it may to Newgate-Street, or even to Newgate itself: And thus our boasted Usage of public Execution (not less necessary to the Satisfaction and Security of the Subject than public Trial) may make Way for private Execution, and for all those dreadful Consequences with which private Executions are attended in every Country where they have been introduced.

“ 4. Had this Power of Alteration been in the Crown (which we humbly conceive not to be the Case) yet we imagine that his Majesty's Pleasure has not been properly notified to us, and that the Recorder's Authority alone would not be suffi-ent to justify us for acting in consequence of it, and for departing from the Sentence pronounced by the Court.

“ For these Reasons, and for those contained in the Opinion, which, since your Lordship requests it, accompanies this, we humbly pray his Majesty either to suffer the Sentence of the Court to be executed at the usual Place of Execution, or to permit us to have the Sanction of the Judges Opinion on a Matter of so great Importance to ourselves, and, as we conceive, to the whole Nation.

We are, my Lord,

Your Lordship's most obedient Servants,

Nov. , 1769.

JAMES TOWNSEND,

JOHN SAWBRIDGE.”

Inclosed Case, and Mr. Serjeant Glynn's Opinion.

C A S E.

“ A Man convicted for Felony without Benefit of Clergy, receives Sentence in Court in the Words following, viz. ‘ That you be taken hence to the Place from whence you came, and from thence to the usual Place of Execution, where you are to be hanged by the Neck until you are dead.’

“ For the executing of this same Man, the following is sent by the Recorder:

London } To the Sheriffs of the City of London and } and to the Sheriff of the County of Middlesex. } Middlesex, and to the Keeper of his Majesty's Gaol of Newgate.

“ Whereas at the Session of Gaol-Delivery of Newgate for the City of London and County of Middlesex, holden at Justice-Hall in the Old Bailey on the of last, A. B. received Sentence of Death for his Offence in the Indictment against him mentioned: And whereas it has been duly signified to me, that it is his Majesty's Pleasure that the said Sentence be executed in the most convenient Place near Bethnal-Green Church, in the County of Middlesex: Now it is hereby ordered, that the Execution of the said Sentence be made and done upon him the said A. B. on the Day of this instant Month of at the most convenient Place near Bethnal-Green Church, in the said County of Middlesex.

“ Given under my Hand and Seal this Day of 1769.

JAMES EYRE, Recorder.”

“ Your Opinion is desired, whether a Sheriff will by Law be justified in executing such Warrant of the Recorder?”

Mr. Serjeant Glynn's Opinion.

“ I confess a very great Difficulty in answering this Question. If the Place is a material Part of the Sentence, the Omission of which would vitiate the Judgment, the Execution must be conformable to it, and I know no Authority that can justify a Deviation from it. The King may pardon All or Part of the Sentence, but cannot alter it; the Sheriff's Authority is the Sentence, he is bound to look to it, and see it rightly executed. If the Place is not material, then I should conceive it to be in the Sheriff's Discretion, he being responsible for the Fitness and Propriety of the Place. I know not how to account for the many Instances of Execution in Places different from the Judgment, by Command of the Judges upon the Circuit, or his Majesty in London and Middlesex, than as Recommendations to the Sheriffs, and intended Indemnities to them against the Consequences of departing from ancient Usage. There are certain Cases in which the Sheriffs must disobey such Commands, viz. if the Crown commanded an Execution in a private Room or a Church, &c. Though I am not determined in my Judgment with respect to the Materiality of the Place in the Sentence, I have no Doubt of the Conclusion that must follow from either Proposition: if it is material, no Power can change it; if it is not material, the Sheriff is intrusted with the Execution of the Sentence, and must have it in his power to judge of the Place. I should advise the Sheriffs to represent to his Majesty the Doubts conceived by them; the more so, as I cannot but doubt of the Propriety of signifying his Majesty's Pleasure through the Recorder, being much inclined to think that the Sheriffs cannot in any Case be justified by the Command of the King or the Court directed to them.

* The Reader will find on Examination that the first Objection, and great Part of the second, are taken almost literally from Coke, Hale, and Foster.

Nov. 13, 1769.

JOHN GLYNN."

Respite for a Fortnight.

To the Recorder, &c.

Sir, St. James's, Nov. 20, 1769.

"I am commanded to signify to you his Majesty's Pleasure, that when the Reprieve which his Majesty was graciously pleased to grant on the 14th Instant to John Doyle and John Valline, two Persons under Sentence of Death in Newgate (which was for one Week from the Time that had been appointed for their Execution) shall expire, the Execution of the said Sentence of Death so passed upon them be farther respited for a Fortnight.

I am, Sir,

Your most obedient, humble Servant,

WEYMOUTH."

To James Eyre, Esq; Recorder of the City of London; the Sheriffs of the said City and County of Middlesex; and to the Keeper of the Gaol of Newgate, and all others whom it may concern.

On Thursday, November 23, the Sheriffs received the following Letter from the Right Honourable the Lord Chancellor:

Gentlemen,

"I have the Honour to send you herewith inclosed, a Copy of the Case and Question referred, by his Majesty's Command, to the twelve Judges, and hope the Case is so stated as to bring the Point, upon which your Doubts have been conceived, fully and completely before their Lordships. I have this Day laid the Case before my Lords the Judges, who will return their Answer as soon as they have considered and formed their Opinion upon the same.

I have the Honour to be,

With the greatest Respect,

Gentlemen,

You most obedient, faithful Servant,

Nov. 23, 1769,

CAMDEN."

Lincoln's-Inn-Fields.

Inclosed Case referred to the Judges.

"John Doyle and John Valline were convicted, at the last Session of Gaol-Delivery for the County of Middlesex, at the Old-Bailey, of Felony without Benefit of the Clergy, and received Sentence of Death.

"The Sentence pronounced in Court by the Recorder of London was as follows, 'That you, the several Prisoners at the Bar, be taken hence to the Place from whence you came, and from thence to the usual Place of Execution, where you are to be severally hanged by the Neck till you are dead; and may God Almighty be merciful to your Souls.'

"His Majesty was afterwards pleased to signify his Pleasure to the Recorder, by his Sign Manual, that he should by his Warrant direct the Prisoners to be executed in the most convenient Place near Bethnal-Green Church, in the County of Middlesex; whereupon the Recorder of London issued his Warrant in the following Words:

London } To the Sheriffs of the City of London, and } and to the Sheriff of Middlesex, and Middlesex. } to the Keeper of his Majesty's Gaol of Newgate.

'Whereas at the Session of the general Gaol-Delivery of Newgate, for the City of London and County of Middlesex, holden at Justice-Hall in the Old-Bailey, on Wednesday the 18th of October last, John Doyle and John Valline received Sentence of Death for their Offence in the Indictment against them mentioned: And whereas it hath been duly signified to me, that it is Majesty's Pleasure that the said Sentence be executed in the most convenient Place near Bethnal-Green Church, in the County of Middlesex: Now it is hereby ordered, that the Execution of the said Sentence be made and done upon them the said John Doyle and John Valline on Wednesday the 15th Day of this instant Month of November, at the most convenient Place near Bethnal-Green Church, in the said County of Middlesex.

'Given under my Hand and Seal this 9th Day of November, 1769.

JAMES EYRE, Recorder.'

"The Sheriffs of London have entertained a Doubt, whether it is lawful for them to execute the said Convicts, according to the Tenor of the above Warrant, at the most convenient Place near Bethnal-Green Church, in the said County of Middlesex.

"Therefore the Question is, Whether it is lawful for them to execute the said Convicts, according to the Tenor of the above Warrant, at the most convenient Place near Bethnal-Green Church, in the County of Middlesex?"

The Sheriffs Letter to the Lord Chancellor.

My Lord,

Nov. 23, 1769.

"We return your Lordship many Thanks for your Letter, and for the Copy of a Case which accompanied it.

"We are sorry to say, that the Case is not so stated as to bring the Points, upon which our Doubts are conceived, fully and completely before the Judges. My Lord, it is so far from being full and complete, that it is not the same Case. It differs essentially, as we conceive, from the Case, which we delivered to Lord Weymouth to be laid before his Majesty; and on which his Lordship taught us to expect such farther Directions as might satisfy our Doubts.

"It is not the same Case:—For the Copy inclosed by your Lordship states his Majesty's Pleasure signified by a Sign Manual. [Note, This Sign Manual is not given, as the Sentence and the Recorder's Warrant are, for the Judges Consideration.]

"His Majesty's Pleasure, my Lord, signified by a Sign Manual, makes no Part of our Case. To us there is no such Sign Manual. De non apparentibus et non existentibus eadem est ratio. This Difference is material; for on it is founded our fourth Objection in the Case, as stated by you.

"It is not full and complete:—For the Copy inclosed by your Lordship concludes that the Question is, whether it is lawful for the Sheriffs to execute the said Convicts, according to the Tenor of the Recorder's Warrant, at the most convenient Place near Bethnal-Green Church, in the County of Middlesex. The Question in our Case is not only whether it is lawful, but also whether it is necessary: not only whether the Sheriffs lawfully may, but whether by Law they must execute according to the Tenor of the Recorder's Warrant.

"The Case, of which your Lordship has favoured us with a Copy, consists of four Parts;

"The Sentence of the Court.

"The Recorder's Warrant.

"A Stating of a Sign Manual,—which is not our Case.

"A Conclusion,—which is not our Question.

"The Case and Question therefore referred by his Majesty's Command to the twelve Judges is neither the Case nor our Question.

"A naked Opinion of the Judges on the Case referred to them will not satisfy our Doubts as to that due Execution of our Office, to which we are bound by Law and Oath. For by stating, as Part of the Case, the Sign Manual (of which we know nothing) the Judges perhaps may not confine their Consideration to the Validity of the Recorder's Warrant, which yet is the only one we have for Execution, except the Sentence of the Court, with which it militates: And by concluding that the Question is, whether it is lawful for the Sheriffs to execute the Convicts, according to the Tenor of the Recorder's Warrant, our Questions may chance to receive no Answer: For should their Lordships the Judges be of Opinion that these Words—the usual Place of Execution—are not a material Part of the Sentence; and should they, observing the Discretion which is still left to the Sheriff, even in the Recorder's Warrant; and that if the Discretion is in the Crown, and not in the Sheriffs, it cannot be delegated by the Crown to the Sheriffs: should the Judges, upon this or any other Account, be farther of Opinion that the Place is left to the Discretion of the Sheriff, making himself responsible for the Fitness of the Place; their Lordships might then very well answer the Question referred to them in the Affirmative; and might thereby seem to vest the Discretion in the Crown, whilst the very Reason of their Answer would be, that they judged it to be in the Sheriffs.

"For these and many other Reasons, my Lord, we wish humbly to intreat his Majesty that the same Method may be followed with us as was practised in Sir Edward Coke's Case; who, after having been Chief Justice, was appointed Sheriff of the County of Buckingham, and taking four Exceptions to the Oath proposed to him, both his Exceptions and his Reasons were by the Lord Keeper laid before all the Judges, and received each a separate Answer with their Reasons.

"In the same Manner we pray that this Letter and our Objections, as we delivered them to the Secretary of State, may be laid before the Judges; that so our Case and our Questions may receive an Answer, since it is intended to satisfy our Doubts.

We are, my Lord,
With the greatest Respect,
Your Lordship's most obedient,
And faithful humble Servants,

JAMES TOWNSEND,
JOHN SAWBRIDGE."

Letter from the Lord Chancellor to the Sheriffs.

Gentlemen,

"I received your Letter at Westminster this Morning, and have transmitted it to Lord Weymouth, and am inclined to believe, that when you have seen the Judges Opinion that was sent to me last Night, and which I have desired Lord Weymouth to send you a Copy of, you will be satisfied that the Recorder's Warrant is a lawful Authority for you to see Execution done according to the Tenor of the Warrant.

"If the Warrant is a lawful Authority, I conceive that you will be under a Necessity to obey it. I will only add, that your Reasons and Petition, together with Serjeant Glynn's Opinion, were transmitted by me to Lord Mansfield, and I dare say have been perused by the Judges, though they make no Part of the Case.

"After you have perused the Judges Opinion, I should be obliged to you if you would state your own Case with your Question, which will be taken into Consideration, if you remain dissatisfied, and it should appear that any material Fact has been stated that ought to be omitted, or any Thing omitted that ought to have been stated, or if the Question has been defectively or improperly drawn.

I have the Honour to be,

With the greatest Respect,

Your most obedient faithful Servant,
Westminster-Hall,
Nov. 25, 1769. CAMDEN."

On Friday the first of December the Sheriffs received the following Letter from Lord Weymouth:

St. James's, Nov. 30, 1769:

Gentlemen,

"His Majesty having thought proper to take the Judges Opinion upon the Difficulties you were under with regard to the Execution of Doyle and Valline, in order to satisfy your Doubts upon that Head; I am commanded to acquaint you, that the Judges are of Opinion, 'That the Time and Place of the Execution are in Law

N O PART of the Judgment, and that the Recorder's Warrant was a lawful Authority to the Sheriffs as to the Time and Place of Execution.'

I am, Gentlemen,

Your most obedient humble Servant,

WEYMOUTH."

To the Sheriffs of London and Middlesex.

Letter from Lord Weymouth to the Recorder.

Sir,

"The Sheriffs having expressed Doubts with regard to the Execution of Doyle and Valline, it was thought proper to take the Judges Opinion on that Matter, which I send you herewith; and I am to acquaint you, that, having laid the same before the King, it is his Majesty's Pleasure, that there shall be no further Respite for those Convicts.

I am, Sir,

Your most obedient humble Servant,

WEYMOUTH."

Letter from the Sheriffs to the Lord Chancellor.

My Lord,

"We did not receive from Lord Weymouth any Account of the Judges Opinion, given on Friday Nov. the 24th, till last Friday the 1st of Dec.—We thought it not right to trouble your Lordship with a Reply, whilst we were in daily Expectation of that Opinion.—And we waited with the greatest Impatience, lest your Lordship, not imagining that such a Delay could have happened, should suppose us either backward to acknowledge our Satisfaction, or negligent to avail ourselves of your Lordship's very kind and candid Offer of farther Consideration, if we remained dissatisfied. We cannot but lament, my Lord, that by the inclosed Letter from Lord Weymouth our Doubts are over-ruled without being satisfied.—We can account for it no otherwise than by supposing, if the Judges saw our Objections and our Questions, that they deemed them too trivial to deserve an Answer.—Whilst we submit entirely to the Judges Opinion, as conveyed to us by Lord Weymouth, we are unhappy to be sent to Execution without the least Information where this Discretion is lodged, or by whom it is exercised.—We have received, as in our last Letter we apprehended, a naked Opinion from the Judges, 'That the Place of Execution is in Law no Part of the Judgment, and that the Recorder's Warrant is a lawful Authority to the Sheriffs as to the Place of Execution.'

"If we have had our Doubts, and have been mistaken in our Opinion, we hope your Lordship will excuse us, when you consider, that even the Recorder, so conversant in these Matters, and whose Warrant is for the future to be our Authority, was himself uncertain: for when he directed us in Court to the usual Place of Execution, he must either have supposed it a Part of the Sentence, or that he was exercising a Discretion in that Particular vested in himself.—His subsequent Warrant contradicted both these Suppositions.

"Supposing the Place to be no Part of the Sentence, how could we avoid being startled, when we saw,

"First, A Discretion exercised by the Recorder, directing us to the usual Place of Execution.

"Secondly, A Discretion exercised by the Crown, setting aside the Recorder's Discretion.

"Thirdly, This Discretion of the Crown not signified to us by Writ or Sign Manual, but by Warrant from the Recorder, whose Discretion is over-ruled.—And,

"Lastly, A Discretion left to ourselves to execute, not in, but as near to a Church as we should judge convenient.

"We need not repeat to your Lordship many other Reasons, as well as those we have before given to justify our Conduct.—The Judges have determined, and we do not presume to hesitate on their Decision.—What is now said is not meant to cause any farther Trouble, but only as an Apology for that which we have already occasioned to your Lordship.

We are, my Lord,

With the greatest Esteem and Respect,

Your Lordship's most obedient, and faithful humble Servants,

JAMES TOWNSEND,

JOHN SAWBRIDGE."

Dec. 2, 1769.

Letter from the Sheriffs to Lord Weymouth.

My Lord,

London, Dec. 2.

"The Opinion of the Judges, as conveyed to us by your Lordship, has over-ruled our Doubts; and we must request your Lordship to present to his Majesty our most humble Thanks for his Majesty's Royal Condescension, in directing our Case to be laid before the Judges.

We are, my Lord,

Your Lordship's

Most obedient humble Servants,

JAMES TOWNSEND,

JOHN SAWBRIDGE.

"We should be obliged to your Lordship if you would direct Mr. Serjeant Glynn's Opinion to be returned to us."

Letter from Lord Weymouth to the Sheriffs.

Gentlemen,

St. James's, Dec. 4, 1769.

"I am glad to find that the Opinion of the Judges has over-ruled your Doubts.—I shall not fail to lay before the King your Thanks for his Majesty's Goodness upon this Occasion.—As Mr. Serjeant Glynn's Opinion was transmitted to me by you as one of the Reasons which induced you to doubt of the Legality of the Recorder's Directions, and was, by me, laid before his Majesty, the Original must remain in my Office, but I send you the inclosed Copy.

I am, Gentlemen,

Your most humble Servant,

WEYMOUTH."

Sheriff of Middlesex.

Accordingly a Letter was sent to them on the 6th of December, by Authority, informing them, that the Judges had given their Opinion upon the Matter, which being laid before his Majesty, it was his Pleasure that there should be no farther Respite for the two above-mentioned Convicts, as the Sheriffs Warrant is lawful, both as to Time and Place of Execution. They were therefore that Morning taken in a Cart from Newgate through the City to Whitechapel, and thence up the Road to Bethnal-Green, attended by the Sheriffs, riffs, &c. with the Gallows, made for the Purpose, in another Cart; it was fixed in the cross Road, near the Salmon and Ball. There was an inconceivable Number of People assembled, and many Bricks, Tiles, Stones, &c. thrown while the Gallows was fixing, and a great Apprehension of a general Tumult, notwithstanding the Persuasion and Endeavours of several Gentlemen to appease the same. The unhappy Sufferers were therefore obliged to be turned off before the usual Time allowed on such Occasions, which was about Eleven o'Clock; when, after hanging about fifty Minutes, they were cut down, and delivered to their Friends.

The Sheriffs gave strict Orders to the Executioner neither to strip the unhappy Sufferers, nor to compound for their Clothes, but to deliver them to their Friends, and they would pay him for them. Immediately after the Execution, a Number of evil-disposed Persons came in a riotous and tumultuous Manner to the House of Lewis Chauvet, Esq; in Spitalfields, broke into his House, broke the Glass of the Windows, and pulled Part of the Windows down, and also damaged and destroyed Part of his Furniture: His Majesty's Pardon with a Reward of 50*l.* was offered for the Discovery of the Offenders.

On Thursday the 7th, the Petition from the City and Liberty of Westminster, relative to the Rights of Election, and praying a Dissolution of the Parliament, was presented to his Majesty at the Levee, at St. James's, by Sir Robert Bernard, Bart. Chairman of the general Meeting in Westminster-Hall, and Robert Jones, Esq; Chairman of the Committee, who drew up the same: It was signed by 5137, which is reputed a respectable Majority.

On Friday the 15th a Court of Aldermen and Common-Council was held at Guildhall, at which it was agreed to pay out of the Chamber of the City of London, the Sum of five hundred Pounds, for the Relief of the unhappy Sufferers by the Fire at St. John's in Antigua.

And on Friday the 22d the Petition from the Borough of Southwark was presented to his Majesty at St. James's, by Sir Joseph Mawbey, Bart. one of the Members for that Borough, attended by Samuel Bennet Smith, Thomas Watson, John Fussell, John Crooke, Richard Carpenter Smith, and Thorold Lowdell, Esqrs.

CHAP. XII.

Fires. Great Lightning. City Discontent, with the Address, Remonstrance and Petition, and the Proceedings thereon, and against the Mercers, Goldsmiths, and Weavers Companies, for disobeying the Lord Mayor's Precipe. The Lord Mayor's Speech to the Livery when he reported the King's Answer. Society of the Bill of Rights. Lords Protest concerning Wilkes's Expulsion. Political Transactions in the City. Another Address, Remonstrance and Petition. His Majesty's Answer. Mr. Beckford's extempore Speech to the King. An Address to the King upon the Birth of the Princess Elizabeth. His Majesty's Answer. Circumstances attending this Address. The first Stone of the new Gaol of Newgate laid. Death of William Beckford Lord Mayor. Election of a new Lord Mayor, and of a Representative in Parliament.

THE Year 1770 began with a most dreadful Fire on the 8th of January, about Six o'Clock in the Morning, in Paternoster-Row, at Mess. Johnson and Payne's, Booksellers, which totally consumed the said House, Mr. Cock's, Printer, Mrs. Bateman's, and Mr. Upton's, an Auctioneer, (late the Castle Tavern) backward; in which last-mentioned House were kept the Bibles, Common Prayers, &c. belonging to the Proprietors of the Oxford Press, to the Amount of 10,000*l.* and upwards, together with a Number of Books belonging to Mr. Crowder, Bookseller, adjoining, whose House was also damaged, as were many others.

On the 26th another Fire broke out in a Flax-Warehouse belonging to Mr. Thomas Steele, on Bennet's Hill: it consumed not only the Warehouse, but several Dwelling-Houses between that and St. Peter's Hill; and greatly endangered St. Bennet's Church, which caught Fire several Times.

The Lightning on the 29th of this Month was so surprizing in London, that the oldest Person in the City could not remember the like before.

On the 1st of February a Fire began at a Cheesemonger's near the Ship Tavern Ratcliff-Cross, facing the East End of Broad-Street, which consumed the same, with eight adjoining Houses, and damaged several more; by which Means a more convenient Opening is made from Broad-Street into Queen-Street.

On the 5th, about Eleven at Night, another terrible Fire began at a Gingerbread-Baker's on the South Side of Narrow-Street, on the East of Limehouse-Bridge, which consumed the said House, and about fourteen more Dwelling-Houses, by spreading across the Street, and running into Vine-Street.

Mr. Boltmire's Sugar-House, adjoining to the White-Bear, facing the Watch-House in Ratcliff-Highway, took Fire about Five o'Clock in the Afternoon, and was burnt down. One Man, a Spectator, was killed by the Fall of the Wall into the Street.

On the 27th two Houses were burnt down on Holborn-Hill, and four Persons perished in the Flames.

At this Juncture of Time, there seemed to be a total Disgust between the Court and the City; and the late Proceedings in Parliament in regard to the Middlesex Election, in which Case the House of Commons assumed a Power to set aside the Representative chosen by the Freeholders of that County, had raised up a Spirit of Remonstrance throughout the Nation, laying the national Grievances, as they conceived them to be, before the King in Person.

On Thursday, March 1, the following Memorial was presented to the Court of Common-Council:

Fire in Paternoster-Row.

On Bennet's Hill.

Great Lightning.

Fire at Ratcliff-Cross.

In Narrow Street.

In Ratcliff Highway.

On Holborn Hill.

Proceedings on the Address, Remonstrance and Petition.

To the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common Council assembled.

The Memorial of the Committee of the Livery of London, appointed the 28th of September last, Sheweth,

“ That the Livery of London, in Common-Hall assembled, did, on the 24th of June last, direct a Petition to be presented to his Majesty, praying a Redress of many enumerated and intolerable Grievances. The Subjects of the most despotic Prince on Earth, when they humbly petition their Sovereign on the Score of Grievances, though they cannot promise to themselves Redress, at least expect an Answer. That the Livery of London know they have a Right to both; yet, contrary to ancient Usage, the Livery of his Majesty's loyal City of London, after a Delay of eight Months, do still remain unanswered and unrelieved.

“ That the Violation of the Right of Election, by which they are most specially affected, has been, since that Time, avowed and declared legal by the Influence of his Majesty's Ministers.

“ Your Memorialists, therefore, apply to you, the Common-Council of the City of London, that you may join with them in a Request to the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor, speedily to assemble the Livery of the several Companies of this City in a Common-Hall, that they may have an Opportunity to take such farther Measures therein, for the Re-establishment and Security of their ancient Rights and Franchises, as the Times require.”

Signed by Six of the Livery.

The chief Speakers for and against the Memorial's being read, were,

For the Memorial.	Against it.
ALDERMEN.	ALDERMEN.
The Right Hon. the Lord Mayor	Mr. Harley
Mr. Sheriff Townsend	Mr. Turner
Mr. Sheriff Sawbridge	Mr. Rossiter
COMMONERS.	COMMONERS.
Mr. Bellas	Mr. Paterson
Mr. Freeman	Mr. Wilson, late Dep.
Mr. Beardmore	Mr. Deputy Ellis
	Mr. Edw. Barwick

The Question at length was put, whether the Memorial should be now read?

It was carried in the Affirmative; 112 were for reading it, and 76 against it.

In consequence of this Determination for a general Meeting of the Livery, the Lord Mayor issued his Precept for their Convention in Guildhall, on Tuesday March the 6th; and the Livery being accordingly assembled, the following Address, Remonstrance and Petition, was agreed upon, one Voice only dissenting:

The humble Address, Remonstrance, and Petition of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Livery of the City of London, in Common-Hall assembled.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.
Most Gracious Sovereign,

“ We have already in our Petition dutifully represented to your Majesty the chief Injuries we have sustained. We are unwilling to believe, that your Majesty can slight the Desires of your People, or be regardless of their Affection, and deaf to their Complaints: yet their Complaints remain unanswered; their Injuries are confirmed; and the only Judge, whom the Revolution has left removeable at the Pleasure of the Crown, has been dismissed from his high Office for defending in Parliament the Law and the Constitution. We therefore venture once more to address ourselves to your Majesty, as to the Father of your People, as to him who must be both able and willing to redress our Grievances: And we repeat our Application with the greater Propriety, because we see the Instruments of our Wrongs, who have carried into Execution the Measures of which we complain, more particularly distinguished by your Majesty's Royal Bounty and Favour.

“ Under the same secret malign Influence, which, through each successive Administration, has defeated every good, and suggested every bad Intention, the Majority of the House of Commons have deprived your People of their dearest Rights.

“ They have done a Deed more ruinous in its Consequences, than the Levying of Ship-Money by Charles the First, or the Dispensing Power assumed by James the Second. A Deed which must vitiate all the future Proceedings of this Parliament; for the Acts of the Legislature can no more be valid without a legal House of Commons, than without a legal Prince upon the Throne.

“ Representatives of the People are essential to the making of Laws; and there is a Time when it is morally demonstrable, that Men cease to be Representatives. That Time is now arrived. The present House of Commons do not represent the People. We owe to your Majesty an Obedience, under the Restrictions of the Laws, for the Calling and Duration of Parliaments: and your Majesty owes to us, that our Representation, free from the Force of Arms or Corruption, should be preserved to us in Parliament.

“ It was for this we successfully struggled under James the Second; for this we seated and have faithfully supported your Majesty's Family on the Throne.

“ The People have been invariably uniform in their Object; though the different Mode of Attack has called for a different Defence.

“ Under James the Second they complained that the Sitting of Parliament was interrupted, because it was not corruptly subservient to his Designs. We complain now, that the Sitting of this Parliament is not interrupted, because it is corruptly subservient to the Designs of your Majesty's Ministers. Had the Parliament under James the Second been as submissive to his Commands, as the Parliament is at this Day to the Dictates of a Minister, instead of Clamours for its Meeting, the Nation would have rung, as now, with Outcries for its Dissolution. The Forms of the Constitution, like those of Religion, were not established for the Form's sake, but for the Substance. And we call God and Men to witness, that as we do not owe our Liberty to those nice and subtle Distinctions, which Places and Pensions, and lucrative Employments have invented; so neither will we be deprived of it by them: But as it was gained by the stern Virtue of our Ancestors, by the Virtue of their Descendants it shall be preserved.

“ Since

" Since, therefore, the Misdeeds of your Majesty's Ministers, in violating the Freedom of Election, and depraving the noble Constitution of Parliament, are notorious, as well as subversive of the fundamental Laws and Liberties of this Realm; and since your Majesty, both in Honour and Justice, is obliged inviolably to preserve them, according to the Oath made to God and your Subjects at your Coronation; we your Remonstrants assure ourselves that your Majesty will restore the constitutional Government and Quiet of your People, by dissolving this Parliament, and removing those evil Ministers for ever from your Councils."

On Wednesday the 7th the Sheriffs waited on his Majesty with the Remonstrance; but the Case being new, his Majesty desired Time to consider it.

On Thursday the 8th in the Evening the Sheriffs received the following Letter from Lord Weymouth:

Gentlemen, St. James's, March 8, 1770.

" The King commands me to inform you, in consequence of the Message which you brought yesterday to St. James's, that he is always ready to receive Applications from any of his Subjects; but as the present Case of Address, Remonstrance and Petition, seems entirely new, I am commanded to enquire of you in what Manner it is authenticated, and what the Nature of the Assembly was, in which this Measure was adopted? When you furnish me with Answers to these Questions, I shall signify to you his Majesty's further Pleasure.

I am, Gentlemen,

You most obedient humble Servant,

Sheriffs of London.

WEYMOUTH."

The next Day, at twenty Minutes after Twelve, the Sheriffs went to St. James's. About One Lord Bolingbroke, the Lord in waiting, came: The Remembrancer told him that the Sheriffs of London were attending his Majesty's Pleasure, and that they required an Audience. Some time after Lord Bolingbroke came out, and enquired of the Sheriffs whether he was to tell his Majesty that they came with a fresh Message, or with a Message? The Sheriffs answered, with a Message. Soon after the two Secretaries of State, Lord Rockford and Lord Weymouth, came to the Sheriffs. Lord Weymouth asked them, " whether they had received his Letter, which was written by his Majesty's Order?"

Sheriffs. " We have."

Lord Weymouth. " His Majesty desires to know whether you come in consequence of that Letter; or whether you come on any fresh Business?"

Sheriffs. " We come in consequence of that Letter."

Lord Weymouth. " Would it not be more proper to send an Answer in Writing through me?"

Sheriffs. " We act ministerially. As Sheriffs of London we have a Right to an Audience; and cannot communicate to any other Person than the King the Subject of our Message."

Lord Weymouth. " I do not dispute your Right to an Audience; but would it not be better and more accurate to give your Message to me in Writing?"

Sheriffs. " We know the Value and Consequence of the Citizens Right to apply immediately to the King, and not to a third Person; and we do not mean that any of their Rights and Privileges shall be betrayed by our Means."

His Majesty's Levee began at a Quarter past Two, at which Time the two Secretaries came to the Sheriffs, and Lord Weymouth said, " His Majesty understanding that you come ministerially, authorized with a Message from the City of London, will see you as soon as the Levee is over."

As soon as the Levee was over, the Sheriffs were introduced into the King's Closet. The King did not as usual receive them alone, but Lord Gower, Lord Rockford, and Lord Weymouth were present. Mr. Sheriff Townsend addressed his Majesty in these Words:

May it please your Majesty,

" When we had the Honour to appear before your Majesty, your Majesty was graciously pleased to promise an Answer by one of your Majesty's principal Secretaries of State; but we had yesterday Questions proposed to us by Lord Weymouth. In Answer to which we beg leave humbly to inform your Majesty, we wait as Sheriffs of the City of London, by the Direction of the Livery in Common-Hall legally assembled. The Address, Remonstrance and Petition, to be presented to your Majesty by their Chief Magistrate, is the Act of the Citizens of London in their greatest Court; and is ordered by them to be properly authenticated as their Act."

To which his Majesty was most graciously pleased to reply,

" I will consider of the Answer you have given me."

Whereupon the Sheriffs withdrew.

When the Sheriffs went into the Closet, the City Remembrancer, according to his Office and Duty, would have attended them; but Lord Bolingbroke shoved him back; insisting upon it, that he had not a Right to go in, and should not enter there. When the Sheriffs Audience was ended, the Remembrancer, like a Man, an Englishman, and a worthy Officer of a great and powerful City, very spiritedly and properly told Lord Bolingbroke, that his Lordship had done wrong; for that as Remembrancer, attending the Sheriffs, he had a Right to enter the Closet with the Sheriffs. Lord Bolingbroke said, It might perhaps be so; but that he had never been in waiting on such an Occasion before, and hoped he never should again.

On Wednesday the 14th, at Noon, the Lord Mayor, with Aldermen Sir William Stephenson and Mr. Trecothick, Mr. Townsend and Mr. Sawbridge, Sheriffs, one hundred and fifty-three of the Common-Council, and the Committee of the Livery, in their proper Gowns, attended at Guildhall; from whence, at a Quarter before One, they proceeded in their Carriages to St. James's, attended by the Common-Serjeant, Common-Clerk, Remembrancer, two Secondaries, Sword-Bearer, Mace-Bearer, Water-Bailiff, Common-Crier, Common-Hunt, City Marshals, &c. They arrived at Two o'Clock, and were introduced to his Majesty, very properly and distinctly. To whom his Majesty was pleased to read the following Answer:

D d

attended

"I shall always be ready to receive the Requests, and to listen to the Complaints of my Subjects; but it gives me great Concern to find, that any of them should have been so far misled, as to offer me an Address and Remonstrance, the Contents of which I cannot but consider as disrespectful to Me, injurious to Parliament, and irreconcilable to the Principles of the Constitution.

"I have ever made the Law of the Land the Rule of my Conduct, esteeming it my chief Glory to reign over a free People: With this View I have always been careful, as well to execute faithfully the Trust reposed in me, as to avoid even the Appearance of invading any of those Powers which the Constitution has placed in other Hands. It is only by persevering in such a Conduct that I can either discharge my own Duty, or secure to my Subjects the free Enjoyment of those Rights which my Family were called to defend; and while I act upon these Principles, I shall have a Right to expect, and I am confident I shall continue to receive, the steady and affectionate Support of my People."

The Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Common-Council, had all the Honour to kiss his Majesty's Hand.

The Proceedings of the Court of Aldermen in Consequence of the City Remonstrance.

The first Court of Aldermen which was held after the celebrated Remonstrance of the Livery in Common-Hall on Tuesday the 6th of March, assembled on Tuesday the 13th; when Sir Robert Ladbroke addressing the Chair, observed, "That a Paper, intituled The Address, Remonstrance and Petition of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Livery of the City of London, having been lately signed by the Town-Clerk, whereby the Public might be misled to consider this Court as Parties thereto; this Court, in Vindication of their own Honour, and of the Constitution of this City, think fit to declare, that the said Paper is no Act either of this Court or of the Corporation of London; and that the authenticating any Address, Remonstrance, Petition or Resolution of any Meeting of the Livery, by the official Signature of the Town-Clerk, is not warranted by Law or Usage."

This Motion was seconded by Mr. Alsop; upon which Mr. Townsend rose, and said, he was much surprized (that is, as much as any Thing moved by those worthy Aldermen could surprize him) to hear such a Motion made there; a Motion by which the Court of Aldermen were called upon to decide upon the Rights of the whole Livery of London, Rights which were not dependent on the Will or Opinion of the Aldermen. He said, he did not doubt but that many Gentlemen there might be very sorry that the negative Power, so unjustly assumed, had been taken from that Court, or that even the Right of Election of Representatives still remained to the Livery. He observed, that the Aldermen were summoned to attend at the Common-Hall, and do make a Part of all other Common-Halls, which are periodically convened; therefore that every Act of a Common-Hall is the Act of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Livery, who are all summoned, and do all together compose a Common-Hall; however, that if any of the Aldermen disliked the Proceedings of the Common-Hall, they should have attended, and there have made their Objections, which it would have been much more candid and honourable to have done, than to suffer the Citizens to do what they might think improper, merely to have an Opportunity of condemning the Measure afterwards in an inferior Court, not competent to decide on the Act of the whole Body, of which the Court of Aldermen only made a Part. But he said, it was most of all extraordinary, that Gentlemen should propose to that Court to determine in a Moment on the Rights of the Livery at large and the Powers of a Common-Hall, without producing any Precedents or Authorities for such Determination; without any previous Examination of Records or City Books; without shewing from whence they themselves claimed that Power of controuling the Acts of what, he had been well informed, was the greatest of all City Courts. Mr. Townsend therefore concluded, that he hoped the Lord Mayor had too great a Regard for the whole City, to suffer such a Question to be put in the Court of Aldermen, before they had first made out clearly their own Competency and Power of Controul.

Mr. Sawbridge then said, he was not at all surprized at this Motion, for he had heard of certain Gentlemen who had had a Meeting at a Tavern in St. Paul's Church-Yard, for the Purpose of drawing up a Protest against the Proceedings of the City; but that finding the Tavern Protest to go on very heavily, he supposed this Motion was now intended to answer the same ministerial Purpose.

The Lord Mayor then declared, that he was bound to preserve and protect equally the Rights of all the Citizens; that it was well known not to be the first Time that the Court of Aldermen had not only attempted, but actually usurped the Rights and Powers of the Citizens at large; that therefore he would never, while he sat in that Chair, permit them to renew those Attempts, or decide upon the Rights of other Men: Nor would he put any such Question as that proposed by Sir Robert Ladbroke, until the City Records had been searched, in order to see what Precedents shall appear to explain the Powers of the Court of Common-Council, Court of Mayor and Aldermen, and of the Livery in Common-Hall assembled. He added, that he was sure the Motion was not originally the Gentleman's who made it; that he was sure it was planned and written for him at the other End of the Town by some Gentlemen, who perhaps thought it a Master-stroke in Politicks to have such a Question proposed by the Father of the City.

Sir Robert Ladbroke did not reply.

Sir Charles Asgill declared his Sentiments against the Attempt made by those Gentlemen to induce the Court of Aldermen to take upon themselves themselves the Power of determining in that Manner ex parte against the Rights of the collective Body of the Livery of London: he said, the Aldermen should have made their Objections at the Common-Hall, of which they were notoriously upon all Occasions a Part.

Mr. Trecothick likewise declared himself against Sir Robert Ladbroke's Motion: He said he had, as an Alderman, attended the Common-Hall; that he had never seen any Part of the Remonstrance before he came thither; that he thought the Violation of the Right of Election a most gross and flagrant Injury offered to every Elector of Great Britain; and that, upon the whole, he approved the Address, Remonstrance and Petition; and as he had attended and approved the Proceedings of the Common-Hall, he should certainly manifest that Approbation, by attending their Address, &c. to St. James's.

The Aldermen Ladbroke, Alsop, Halifax, Shakespear, Turner, Bird, Rossiter, Kirkman, Nash, and Harley, supported the Motion.

Mr. Harley asked the Lord Mayor whether he did absolutely refuse to put the Question? The Lord Mayor answered, that he did absolutely refuse to put it; that he had given his Reasons for such Refusal; and would have the Question and his Refusal with his Reasons entered on Record.

Mr. Harley objected to the Entry; but it was ordered by the Lord Mayor to be done, and it was entered accordingly. The Lord Mayor then said, We will now proceed to other Business. Mr. Harley said, No! since he would not put that Question, the Aldermen might retire.

The Lord Mayor then put the Question, that James Shephard, attending that Court in order to be admitted a Broker, be called in? It passed in the Negative. The Lord Mayor asked Mr. Alsop—Is there any Reason for this? Mr. Alsop answered, No! my Lord Mayor; but if you will not put our Question, we will put a Negative on all other Questions.

The Lord Mayor answered, If that is the Case, and if the Court of Aldermen will not suffer any Business to be done here, I must do the necessary Business of the City in the Court of Common-Council, which I am empowered and have a Right to do.—Mr. Harley bowed.—The Question was then put for William Ward to be called in to be admitted a Broker. It passed in the Negative.

The Question was then put for Gabriel Antony Ernst to be called in to be admitted a Broker. It passed in the Negative.

Mr. Townsend then addressed himself to the Lord Mayor, and said, I insist upon a Division, that we may see more clearly who are the Gentlemen that stop all Proceeding in this Manner, and make this Court liable to a Mandamus from the Person so refused.

Messrs. Alsop, Nash, Harley, and Sir Robert Ladbroke, said it must not be, for that the Aldermen never divided in that Court: Mr. Townsend then insisted that the Hands should be held up, and the Numbers taken.

The Gentlemen then said, No, no, let us put an end to all this, and let the Business go on. The three Brokers Names were thereupon proposed again, and their Admission voted unanimously.

But the next Morning the following Protest appeared in all the Prints:

"We the Aldermen of the City of London, whose Names are hereunto subscribed, observing that the Address, Remonstrance and Petition, agreed upon by the Livery who met at Guildhall on Tuesday the 6th of this Instant March, is intituled, The Address, Remonstrance and Petition of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Livery of the City of London, to the King's Most Excellent Majesty, do declare, That we were not assenting to, nor signified our Approbation of, the said Address, Remonstrance and Petition. Dated this 13th of March, 1770.

Robert Ladbroke
Robert Alsop
Richard Glyn
Thomas Harley
Samuel Turner
Henry Bankes
Richard Peers
William Nash

Thomas Halifax
John Shakespear
James Esdaile
Samuel Plumbe
Brackley Kennet
J. Kirkman
James Rossiter
John Bird.

In Vindication of the protesting Aldermen it was urged, that the Remonstrance was not a legal Act of the City.

The Constitution of London (said the Protesters) is, in Miniature, the Counter-part of the Constitution of England. The Court of Aldermen are its House of Lords, the Common-Council its Commons, the whole Body of Freemen the People. The two first act in a deliberative Capacity; the whole Power of the latter consists in their Election of the two former. The Livery of London are, comparatively speaking, a new Power in the Constitution of the City. They were, by what Means is not certain, called in by the Common-Council, about two Centuries and a half ago, to a Share of the Election of City Officers; but their exclusive Right to elective Powers was not established by Law, till the Eleventh of George the First.

The Common-Council are the Representatives of all the Freemen, of whom the Livery are a Part. They have the whole Management of the Police of the Corporation; the "sole Right to speak for their Constituents to the King, Lords, and Commons," whenever they think the State of the Kingdom, or the Safety of the City, renders the Exertion of that Right necessary.

The Livery can only be called together for the Purposes of Election, and the Elections they are summoned for, are expressly mentioned in the Lord Mayor's Precept. They have "no Right to deliberate, or to propose any Question to bind the Corporation;" having only the Power of Individuals to act and speak for themselves. They are not an incorporated Body; they represent no absent Members; they have no Constituents; their Powers and Privileges are confined to certain Elections.

Whenever the Rights of either of the above are invaded by the other, the Government of the City is reduced to Anarchy. The Common-Council must not encroach upon the Right of the Livery in Matters of Election; nor the Livery invade the Right of the Common-Council in their deliberative Capacity. The Livery, in short, in Common-Hall assembled, cannot go into Matters of Deliberation, that speak for, or tend to bind, the Freemen and Inhabitants.

Should the Court of Common-Council desire to convene the Livery for Matters of Deliberation, as happened some Days ago, they not only would ruin their own Power, and sacrifice the Trust reposed in them by the Freemen, their Constituents, but also do an Action in itself absurd and illegal. It would be just the same as if the House of Commons should call their Constituents from all the Counties and Boroughs of Great Britain, to assist them in their Deliberations in Westminster. Were the Lord Mayor, as upon a recent Occasion, to assemble the Livery to any Matter of Deliberation, respecting the Corporation, excepting upon the single Point of Election, he would commit a Breach upon the Constitution of the City, founded both on Custom and Law; and introduce a Practice, that must ultimately tend to annihilate the Court of Common-Council.

It appears, upon the whole, that the Livery of London has no Right to convene upon Deliberation; and consequently that the Meeting on Tuesday was illegal in itself, as it was subversive of the Constitution of the City. To receive the Remonstrance, therefore, would be to countenance unlawful Assemblies in general, and might tend to ruin the Dignity of the Corporation in particular; one Fifth of which has not given Assent, either in public or private, to the Measure.

However, notwithstanding these Reasons and the Protest, the Remonstrance was presented on the 14th to his Majesty at St. James's, in the Presence of a most splendid Court.

How this Act of the Livery of the City of London was relished and received by his Majesty and Courtiers, will best appear in the Words of the the Lord Mayor himself, who held a Common-Hall on the 12th of April, and in a Speech to the Livery to report his Majesty's Answer to the Address, Remonstrance and Petition of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Livery of this City, and to lay before them the Resolutions and Addressees of both Houses of Parliament thereupon. And as the Goldsmiths, Grocers and Mercers Livery-Companies of London, had in their incorporate Capacity refused to obey the Summons of the Lord Mayor, to attend him on the late Occasion when he carried up the said Remonstrance, his Lordship desired the Common-Hall to take into Consideration the late Proceedings of the said Companies.

The Lord Mayor William Beckford, Esq; his Speech to the Livery of London.

Gentlemen of the Livery,

"I have called you together to lay before you his Majesty's Answer to your humble Address, Remonstrance and Petition; the Resolutions and Address of the House of Lords and Commons, in consequence thereof; together with certain Resolutions and Orders of three of the Livery-Companies of this City, which I desire may be read by the Town-Clerk; and then I shall crave your Indulgence to make some Observations thereon."

[The King's Answer, the Resolutions and Address of both Houses of Parliament, together with the Resolutions of the Matter, Wardens, and Court of Assistants of the Goldsmiths, Weavers, and Grocers Companies, were read.]

After which the Lord Mayor came forward and said,

"Gentlemen, you have heard his Majesty's Answer to your humble Address, Remonstrance, and Petition; also the Resolutions and Addressees of both Houses of Parliament, and the Orders and Resolutions of three of the Companies of this City, read. I am to acquaint you, that his Majesty received your Address, Remonstrance and Petition, in the same Manner as his Royal Predecessors always did receive the Address of the Citizens of London, sitting on his Throne. I am sorry to say a more harsh Answer was never given by a King of this Country to the Citizens of London; and I defy any Man to shew me, in the Annals of this Country, a more ungracious Answer returned by any King of England to the Citizens of London.

"This harsh and ungracious Part of the King's Answer we must consider, not as the Words of his Majesty, but those of his Ministers. The King has not more loyal Subjects than the Citizens of London; Men ready and willing to sacrifice their Lives and Fortunes in the Support of his Majesty's Person and Family. True it is, we are accused by his Ministers with Want of Respect to his Majesty. Is there any Thing in your humble Address, Remonstrance and Petition, that savours of Disrespect to the King? I look upon this to be the Answer of the Minister; but when this harsh Answer was given by his Majesty, the Goodness of his Royal Heart was such, that he could not suffer his faithful Citizens to depart from his Presence without receiving them again into his Royal Favour: There is such an Emanation of Grace flowing from the Royal Countenance of his Majesty, that the very Admission into his Presence gives Comfort and Satisfaction to every Person: He could not suffer his faithful Citizens to depart without receiving them into Grace and Favour, and in Testimony thereof extended them his Royal Hand to kiss.

"After passing the Bill of Rights, the Lords became Suitors to King Charles I. that he would receive into his Grace and Favour certain Lords who had offended him, viz. the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Bishop of Lincoln, the Earls of Warwick and Essex, and Lord Say; the King willingly complied with their Request; and in Testimony thereof gave them his Royal Hand to kiss.

"We are told that our Address is injurious to Parliament; if Parliament is corrupt, it is not injurious to say they are corrupt, and under undue Influence; it is Justice, and not an Injury. It is likewise said, our Proceedings are irreconcilable to the Laws and Constitution. We have presented an humble Petition to the King for Redress of Grievances; the chief of which is, the violated Right of free Election, the Foundation and Basis of our Liberty. We have a Right to petition; that is the Birth-Right of Englishmen; and even in the Time when Prerogative ran high, and the Privileges of the People were invaded, the Subjects always insisted upon that Right.

a Right

“ In the arbitrary Reign of King Charles II. there were two Proclamations issued against Petitioning; and in those Days there were servile Lawyers, who declared that Proclamations ought to have the Force of Law; yet those Proclamations did not damp, but increased the Zeal for petitioning. The Citizens of London did then petition for the Calling of Parliament, and Redress of Grievances, which was followed by many neighbouring Counties; in particular the Petition for the County of Wilts was presented by Thomas Thynn, Sir Walter St. John, and Sir Edward Hungerford.

“ The Citizens of London lately presented an humble Petition for the Redress of Grievances; evil-disposed Ministers advised his Majesty to take no Notice of it. I say, the giving no Answer to a Petition seems to me a Negative of the Right—[It is supposed that the Lord Mayor having observed certain Gesticulations made use of by certain Court Emissaries, planted in the Hall, took Occasion to repeat] I say, that the giving no Answer to a Petition, but flinging it away as waste Paper, seems to me a Negative of the Right. This brought on your Address, Remonstrance and Petition; and the Manner in which the same was received, and his Majesty's Answer thereto, I have already informed you of.

“ As to the Resolutions of the House of Commons, and their Address, I have delivered my Opinion thereon in another Place. Let it be sufficient when I tell you, that I have been menaced and threatened with Impeachment, Sequestration of my Estates, and Banishment: But I was supported by my worthy Colleague, one of your Representatives, and your two worthy Sheriffs; and I verily believe, that without such Support, something very hostile and disagreeable to me, your Lord Mayor, would have been the Consequence.

“ I now come to the Orders and Resolutions of three of your Companies, the Goldsmiths, Weavers, and Grocers. The Goldsmiths say, that your Address is most indecent. The Weavers have done no more than echo certain Words of the King's Answer. But the Grocers say, that your humble Address, Remonstrance and Petition, is the insidious Suggestion of ill-designing Men. Insidious! a Word of the most opprobrious Signification, and conveys the most detestable Idea of any in the English Language; it signifies sly, circumventive, malicious, dark, and wicked. Do your Actions deserve these Epithets? Do you, Gentlemen of the Livery, and Gentlemen of the Common-Council, merit these Appellations?

“ They say that the People were against the Remonstrance. Who are the People? Are not the Livery the People, who, with the Majority of the Common-Council, approved thereof, and attended me with the same to the King?

“ You have chosen me your Chief Magistrate against my Will; it is your Duty to support his legal Authority; it is your Concern. I am here only for a Day, but I hope the City of London will preserve its Liberties till Time shall be no more. Your Affair is agitated; look to it, Gentlemen.

“ Is a Junto, a Cabal of a few interested Men, to be looked upon as the People? I suspect them to have been actuated by sordid Interest. They pretend not to a subordinate, but a controuling Jurisdiction. If every Master of a Company can controul your Lord Mayor, and refuse to obey his Precepts whenever they shall be issued, Anarchy and Confusion must be the Consequence. Instead of one Lord Mayor you will have sixty-four. What will become of you? A City divided against itself can never stand.

“ Why should we complain of the Abuse of ministerial, hireling Writers, when we are so grossly abused and misrepresented by a few of our own Fellow-Citizens?

“ You have been called a Mob, Banditti, and the Scum of the Earth; and, since your humble Address, Remonstrance and Petition, have been represented as sprung from Hospitals and Poor-Houses. I answer that the Ancestors of many of the present Nobility and Gentry have sprung from Citizens. Why do Men value themselves on pompous and high-sounding Titles? True Nobility consists in public Virtue and a Love of our Country. But why do I talk of Nobility, when the glorious and most magnanimous Queen that ever swayed the Scepter of this Realm, was the Grand-daughter of a Citizen, Sir Thomas Bullen, a Lord Mayor of London.

“ You have been constantly invited to Resistance by these hireling Writers. They say you are a cowardly dastardly Crew, who can bully and break Windows, but shrink from Danger. In a taunting Manner they tell us, Why don't you stand forth? What! stand forth to have your Throats cut by the third Regiment of Guards!

“ I will stand forth, I will fight them, but it shall be with the Law and Constitution on my Side, and a Roll of old Parchment in my Hand. These Weapons I will oppose to Sword and Musket: the Weapon of the Law is slow, but sure.

“ Gentlemen, your Enemies seek to drive you to Riot, Disorder, and Confusion. It becomes you well to frustrate their Designs, by preserving the public Peace, Decency, and good Order. I have no doubt that every Man of you will co-operate with me in so laudable a Design, and therefore I must exhort every one of you to keep the Peace in your own Persons in the ensuing Holidays; and to that End you will oblige all your Dependants, and persuade all your Acquaintance to do the same; then I have no doubt but that Peace, Decency, and good Order will be preserved; for should any be found guilty of breaking the Peace, and be brought before me, were he my own Brother, so far as lies in my Power, he shall be punished according to the utmost Rigour of the Law.

“ Upon the whole, I doubt not but by your peaceable and orderly Behaviour, and by the Grace of God, we shall accomplish and obtain Redress of all our Grievances, and free Enjoyment of all the Liberties of Englishmen."

Bill of Rights.

Not only the Citizens in their corporate and collective Capacity did thus stand forth in the Cause of Liberty; but a Number of Gentlemen from divers Parts had formed themselves into a Society, under the Stile of The Supporters of Magna Charta and the Bill of Rights, whose grand Point was proposed to maintain the Liberty of the Subject, to oppose bad Measures, and to support John Wilkes, Esq; not only against his Prosecutors in the Cause of Liberty, but to pay off his Debts: And Mr. Wilkes having undergone the Imprisonment to which he had been sentenced twenty-two Months before, at the Expiration thereof on the 17th of March, 1770, (the said Society having also settled his Debts) he was discharged from the King's-Bench Prison. Where it may be remarked with Astonishment, that there never were perhaps so general and voluntary Illuminations and Rejoicings on any Occasion, as on the Event of Mr. Wilkes's Release; not in London only, but in every Part of England: and to the Praise of the lower Order of Patriots, no Disorders were complained of any where.

Mr. Wilkes's Discharge.

Next Day the following Addresses of Mr. Wilkes to his Electors, on the Recovery of his Liberty, appeared in the public Papers.

To the Gentlemen, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County of Middlesex.

Gentlemen,

Address to the Electors in Middlesex.

"I obey the strong Impulse of a lively Gratitude, when I thus employ the first Moments of my Liberty to thank you for the many Favours you have conferred on me during a long, cruel, and unmerited Imprisonment. My Sufferings the two last Years were endeared to me, as well as rendered truly honourable, by the Support and Protection of the Friends of Freedom. The Trial was indeed long and severe, but the most happy Consequences have followed. The favourable Opinion you were pleased at first to entertain of my Integrity and Fortitude has been confirmed on a Variety of Occasions, and I have experienced as frequent Proofs of your unwearied Zeal for your Country, and steady Regard to me. I will go on with the same Spirit in the Cause of a brave and free People. To their Service, to the Defence of the Laws, and to the Preservation of the religious and civil Liberties of the whole British Empire, the Remainder of my Life shall be dedicated. I rely solely and entirely on your Protection, and I will form no Connection, which may in the smallest Degree warp me from my Duty to you, either as the Dependent of a Minister, or even as the Servant of the Crown; for I think a Representative of the People ought to be perfectly free and unbiassed, in order more effectually to keep every Minister in awe, and to oppose every Encroachment of the Prerogative, against which the House of Commons was established as a firm Barrier. I will therefore know no Influence in Parliament, but that created by the Constitution, that of the Constituents over their Representative, and I do not mean to acknowledge any other Constituents than those patriotic Friends, by whose Favour I am the legal Member for the County of Middlesex.

"I reflect, Gentlemen, with great Satisfaction, that the many tedious Months of my harsh Confinement were not uselessly employed in the common Cause of Public Freedom. I have enjoyed in Prison the Fruits of my long Labours, the Glory of destroying that dreaded Engine of arbitrary Power, so cruelly employed of late, and so often fatal to our Countrymen, a General Warrant. After every Delay of Privilege and Chicane from May 1763, an upright Jury in last November declared a late Secretary of State guilty. No Punishment however has reached that first and great Offender. The Treasury paid the Fine and the whole Expence of the Prosecution, and he has been even rewarded with the Custody of the Privy Seal. The very superior Abilities of my worthy Colleague, Mr. Serjeant Glynn, were exerted through the whole of this important Cause. To his indefatigable Zeal and Love of legal Liberty, every Subject of this Empire has the most essential Obligations. I have taken care that all the Proceedings in this great Struggle of the People against the usurped Power of Ministers shall be entered in the proper Court, and I hope the Record will remain unaltered to our latest Posterity, as a compleat Triumph of Liberty over Despotism. I feel with indignant Sorrow, that I have not been equally successful in another national Concern, which I had at Heart, I mean a strict parliamentary Enquiry into the horrid Massacre of our Countrymen in St. George's Fields on the fatal 10th of May, 1768. I gave to the Public all the original Papers respecting that wicked Shedding of innocent Blood, by which the Land is defiled, and I offered to bring the Evidence to the Bar of the House of Commons. The only Hope which now remains to us is, that the Virtue of a future Parliament, faithful to the Trust reposed in them by the People, will soon pursue the Murderers, that Justice will at length overtake them, and that the most shocking of all Crimes will not be left unpunished. The Horror of the Action is still fresh in the Mind of every Man of Humanity, and I hold it to be the greatest Reproach of our Age and Nation, that so many of our Fellow-Subjects have been basely murdered by an inhuman Soldiery in St. George's Fields, and other hired Ruffians at Brentford, without a single Victim to the public Justice of our Country, to the future Security of our Lives, or to the violated Laws of God and Man.

"The State of this Country, Gentlemen, is truly alarming. The House of Commons have not only rejected a Member chosen by a Majority of the Freeholders, but likewise obtruded upon you a Person, whom you never elected. They have openly assumed the whole legislative Power. By their Vote they have declared an Incapacity, where the Law of the Land and common Right rendered the Party eligible to Parliament. This Proceeding is a direct Attack both on the Form and Essence of the Constitution, a flagrant Violation of the fundamental Privileges of Englishmen, and a Robbery committed on every Elector of the Kingdom, even in the most invaluable of all his Possessions, the Right of Representation in the House of Commons. You have petitioned, you

you have remonstrated, in the Spirit of true Sons of Liberty, but in vain. The Reason is most manifest. The Measure of my Expulsion and Incapacity was previously settled in the Cabinet, and only brought to Parliament by the Minister in order to go through the common Forms, as other Business in the usual Course of the Session. The Nation, however, are not the Dupes of this Artifice, and they regard the present House of Commons as no longer a just and fair Representative of the collective Body of all the Electors in this united Kingdom, and therefore they do not hold that the Power and Authority of a legal House of Parliament is inherent in the Assembly now sitting at Westminster.

"I am happy, Gentlemen, to leave a hateful Prison without the least Spark of Anger or Repentment against the Authors of all my Sufferings. I have no Malice nor Revenge to gratify. I feel no Passion but that of Gratitude to my Friends, and my only Enemies shall be those of my Country, those who still manifest a rooted, unrelenting Malice against the Liberties of this Kingdom, and who endeavour to entail Slavery on us and our Posterity. If my Persecutions are not yet ended, I will continue to bear up as a Man, firm and determined in the best of Causes, nor for your Sakes will I scruple to dare all the Vengeance of those wretched Ministers, who are now the Rulers over us, but possess neither the Confidence, nor the Esteem of the People. If his Majesty be graciously pleased to listen to the Cries of a loyal but injured Nation, and to remove a most corrupt and despotic Administration, who are every Day basely and desperately stabbing the very Vitals of the Constitution, I shall then hope to live among you in the Enjoyment of the first Blessing and the most sovereign Good, LIBERTY, both personal and political, and when I can no longer be useful to my Country, to die happy in the Applause of the Friends of Freedom and of England.

I am, with Deference and Regard,
Gentlemen,

Your faithful, and obedient, humble Servant,
April 18, 1770. JOHN WILKES."

To the worthy Inhabitants of the Ward of Farringdon Without.

Gentlemen, Freeman, and Fellow-Citizens,

"I cannot sufficiently acknowledge and applaud the persevering Spirit and Chearfulness with which you have struggled through the various Difficulties arising from my Inability to attend the Duty of this great and respectable Ward. My future Conduct will best shew the Sense I have of so singular an Obligation. The tedious Imprisonment to which I was sentenced for the firm Opposition I made to a wicked Ministry, is at length happily passed. By regaining my Liberty this Day, I hope to acquire the Power of rendering you real Services, and from the superior Rank you have conferred on me, of becoming more eminently useful. I shall not fail to attend the next Court of Aldermen, when, in support of your Rights, I mean to lay claim to, and insist upon, the being admitted and sworn into Office, as having the Honour of being elected by the general Voice of so considerable a Part of the City.

"It is a particular Satisfaction to me, Gentlemen, that I am to enter on my Duty at a Time when we are governed by so excellent a Chief Magistrate, and have Sheriffs of the most liberal Principles, zealous Promoters of the public Good, and of approved Virtue. But above all I rejoice that the high Spirit of Liberty, joined with Prudence, Temper, and Intrepidity, in so peculiar a Manner, now animates the whole Body of the Livery of London. The late Petition and Remonstrance will reflect Honour on them to the remotest Ages. The English History does not give a stronger Instance of the Uprightness of our Countrymen, nor an Example of any Body of Men more untainted by Corruption, more uninfluenced by every Consideration of Fear or Interest, and more calm, yet determined in a great Cause. In the Time of the last Stuart King, during the general Confusion, when the dastardly Tyrant fled, the principal Nobility and Gentry resorted to our Guildhall for Protection, and concerted with our Ancestors, the Citizens of this Metropolis, that generous and equal System of Power, which was established by the People at the glorious Revolution, and confirmed by the succeeding Parliament in the Bill of Rights. We have seen the most valuable of those Rights, the Right of Representation in Parliament, openly violated. On this important Occasion the Livery of London have shewn themselves the worthy Descendants of such Ancestors. The Petition and the Remonstrance have carried that enormous Grievance to the Throne in a spirited and becoming Manner.

"I trust that their public Virtue and Firmness will at last triumph over the Tyranny of the present Administration, and that our Sovereign will restore the Constitution, thus shaken from its Foundation, by the speedy Dissolution of a House of Commons, abhorred by all good Men, odious to the whole Nation, and the Validity of whose Acts is now daily arraigned by their former Constituents. Such a Consequence I think must soon follow from the noble Conduct of this City, and of other great and public-spirited Bodies of Men. After that happy Event, the People of England may expect from their true Friends in a future honest Parliament, the three essential, and only effectual Remedies of this distempered State, Acts for the Exclusion of Placemen and Pensioners, for the short Duration of Parliaments, and for an equal Representation.

"I know, Gentlemen, how much the Power and Wealth of this great City depend on its Trade and Commerce, which have always flourished most in the freest States, and never arrived at Perfection but under the Patronage of Liberty. I shall therefore be ever ready to receive your Directions on these important Points, and in whatever relates to the Prosperity of this City, and the particular Interest of our Ward. Every probable Plan for the Advancement of the common Welfare, as well as every mercantile Consideration, shall have its due Weight in my Mind. I will ever be a zealous Defender of the Rights and Privileges of the Livery, and of all the Freeman of London. In the Concerns of this extensive Ward I hope to have the Advice and Assistance of my Constituents, every one of whom may be assured

Address to the Inhabitants of Farringdon Without.

assured of that Attention and Regard, which I owe to those, by whose delegated Power I act, and for whose Interest I accepted this important Trust. It shall be my constant and earnest Endeavour to justify to the World the Choice you have been pleased to make of me as your Alderman, and to approve myself an upright Magistrate, and a good Citizen of the Capital of the British Empire. I am,

Gentlemen, Freemen, and Fellow-Citizens,

With Gratitude and Respect,

Your affectionate, and

Obedient humble Servant,

April 18, 1770.

JOHN WILKES."

Proceedings of the House of Lords.

Not only the City of London, but the most considerable Corporations and Counties remonstrated and petitioned his Majesty against the arbitrary Proceedings of the Parliament against John Wilkes, Esq; chosen Representative for the County of Middlesex, and rejected by the House of Commons. But a very respectable Part of the House of Peers, on the 1st of May, having, by the Hands of the Earl of Chatham, presented to their House a Bill, intituled A Bill for reversing the Adjudications of the H. of C. whereby John Wilkes, Esq; has been adjudged incapable of being elected a Member to serve in this present Parliament, and the Freeholders of the County of Middlesex have been deprived of one of their legal Representatives.

"Whereas the Capacity of being elected a Representative of the Commons in Parliament is (under known Limitations of Law) an original inherent Right of the Subject; and forasmuch as to deprive the Subject of this high Franchise and Birthright, otherwise than by a Judgment according to the Law of the Land, and the constant established Usage of Parliament conformable thereto, and Part thereof, is directly contrary to the fundamental Laws and Freedom of this Realm, and in particular to the Act "Declaring the Rights and Liberties of the Subject, and settling the Succession of the Crown, at the ever memorable Period of the Revolution;" when free Election of Members of Parliament was expressly vindicated and secured:

"And whereas John Wilkes, Esq; having been duly elected and returned a Knight of the Shire to serve in this present Parliament for the County of Middlesex, was, on the 17th of February, 1769, without being heard, adjudged incapable of being elected a Member to serve in this present Parliament, by a Resolution of the H. of C. as follows:

"Resolved, That John Wilkes, Esq; having been in this Session of Parliament expelled this House, was and is incapable of being elected a Member to serve in this present Parliament:

"And whereas on the same Day the said H. of C. farther resolved as follows, "That the late Election of a Knight of the Shire to serve in this present Parliament for the County of Middlesex is a void Election:

"And whereas the said John Wilkes, Esq; having been again duly elected and returned a Knight of the Shire to serve in this present Parliament for the County of Middlesex, the said

H. of C. did, on the 17th of March, 1769, resolve in the Words following, "That the Election and Return of John Wilkes, Esq; who hath been by this House adjudged incapable of being elected a Member to serve in this present Parliament, are null and void:

"And whereas the said John Wilkes, Esq; having been again duly elected and returned a Knight of the Shire to serve in this present Parliament for the County of Middlesex aforesaid, and having on the original Poll-Books eleven hundred forty-three Votes in his Favour, against two hundred and ninety-six in favour of Henry Lawes Luttrell, Esq; the H. of C. did, on the 15th of April, 1769, without a Hearing of Parties, and in manifest Violation of the indubitable Right of the Freeholders of the County of Middlesex to chuse their own Representatives in Parliament, resolve as follows,

"That Henry Lawes Luttrell, Esq; ought to have been returned a Knight of the Shire to serve in this present Parliament for the County of Middlesex, and thereupon ordered the said Return to be amended accordingly:

"And whereas, by another Resolution of the 8th of May, 1769, the said H. of C. did, upon hearing the Matter of the Petition of the Freeholders of the County of Middlesex, as far as the same related to the Election of Henry Lawes Luttrell, Esq; farther resolve as follows,

"That Henry Lawes Luttrell, Esq; is duly elected a Knight of the Shire to serve in this present Parliament for the County of Middlesex:

"And, forasmuch as all the Resolutions aforesaid, cutting off the Subject from his indubitable Birthright by a Vote of one House of Parliament, exercising discretionary Power and legislative Authority, under Colour of a Jurisdiction in Elections, are most arbitrary, illegal, and dangerous:

"Be it therefore declared and enacted, by the the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the Advice and Consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons in this present Parliament assembled, and by Authority of the same, That all the Adjudications contained in the above-mentioned several Resolutions are arbitrary and illegal, and the same are and shall be hereby reversed, annulled, and made void, to all Intents and Purposes whatsoever."

After the first Reading of the said Bill, it was moved, That the said Bill be read the second Time on Thursday next. Which being objected to, after a long Debate, the Question was put thereupon. It was resolved in the Negative by 89 to 43.

Then it was moved, That the said Bill be rejected. The Question was put thereupon, and it was resolved in the Affirmative.

Dissentient.

"Because the Foundations of this Bill ~~being~~ Protest. fully laid in the Reasons contained in two Protests entered upon the Journals of this House on the second Day of February last, We think it indispensibly necessary to protest against the Rejection of the same, to the Intent that it may be delivered down to Posterity, that this great constitutional and effectual Method of remedying an an unexampled Grievance hath not been left unattempted by us; and that, to our own Times, we may stand as Men determined to persevere in renewing, on every Occasion, our utmost Endeavours to obtain that Redress, for the violated Rights of the Subject, and for the injured Electors of Great Britain, which, in the present Moment, an over-ruling Fatality hath prevented from taking Effect; thereby refusing Reparation and Comfort to an oppressed and afflicted People.

Chatham,	Radnor,	Abergavenny,
Portland,	Archer,	King,
Plymouth,	Fitzwilliam,	Ferrers,
Rockingham,	Temple,	Lyttelton,
Abingdon,	Torrington,	Bolton,
Boyle,	Rutland,	Camden,
Grosvenor,	John Bangor,	Coventry,
Stanhope,	Wycombe,	Buckinghamshire,
Ponsonby,	Fortescue,	Scarborough,
Suffolk,	Huntingdon,	Northumberland,
Richmond,	Tankerville,	Manchester.

Fire without Temple-Bar.

On the 16th of May, between Three and Four o'Clock, a Fire broke out in Palsgrave-Head-Court, without Temple-Bar, at the House of Mr. Pool, which consumed the same with all the Furniture. The Flames were so rapid, that the Family had much ado to save their Lives even by jumping out of the Windows; by which three of them were much hurt. Not one House on either Side of the Court escaped the Rage of this Fire; most of them were greatly damaged, and four others were totally destroyed.

At a Court of Common-Council held at Guildhall on Monday May 14th, the Lord Mayor acquainted the Court that he called them together, at the Request of some worthy Members of that Court, to consider of a Petition to his Majesty for Redress of Grievances; and as the Petition was intended to represent the Violation of Election, he thought it should be done while the Parliament was sitting: And that he being informed it would break up on Thursday next, was the Reason he called the Court on Monday, which he acknowledged was an improper Day.

Mr. Bellas, after acquainting the Court with the Reason of calling them, made a Motion that an humble Address, Remonstrance, and Petition, be presented to his Majesty, the Substance of which was complaining of the Violation of Election, and his Majesty's Answer to the Livery's Remonstrance; the latter Part of which being objected to, a Motion was made, that no Notice be taken of it in the present Petition, which, on a Division, was carried in the Affirmative; seven Aldermen and one hundred and four Commoners against eight Aldermen and fifty-seven Commoners; upon which a Committee, consisting of the following six Aldermen and twelve Commoners, was appointed to draw up a Petition, viz.

ALDERMEN.

Trecothick,	Townsend,
Stevenson,	Sawbridge,
Crosby,	Wilkes.

COMMONERS.

Geo. Bellas, Esq;	S. Freeman, Esq;
Mr. Beardmore,	Deputy Judd,

Mr. Townsend,	Mr. Barford,
Mr. Sharp,	Mr. Wm. Wilson,
Mr. Anderson,	Mr. Plomer,
Mr. Bishop,	Mr. Shove.

Who withdrew, and, after some Time, came in with a Petition, which being read, some Parts were objected to; but the Question being put for that to be the Petition, &c. to be delivered to his Majesty, it was carried in the Affirmative, upon a Division of seven Aldermen and ninety-one Commoners against six Aldermen and forty Commoners.

Mr. Bellas made a Motion that it should be presented by the whole Court; which was carried in the Affirmative.

“Ordered, That the Sheriffs, with the City Remembrancer, do wait on his Majesty, to know when he will be waited on with the said Address, &c.”

Mr. Bellas made another Motion, that the Thanks of the Court be given to Lord Chatham, for his Zeal in supporting the Privileges of Election, and shortening the Duration of Parliament, &c. which was carried in the Affirmative.

“Ordered, That the said Resolution be fairly copied by the Town-Clerk, and presented by the following Committee appointed for that Purpose, viz.

ALDERMEN.

Stevenson,	Trecothick,
Crosby,	Townsend.

COMMONERS.

Cocksedge,	Townsend,
Judd,	Anderson,
Beardmore,	Freeman.
Sharp,

At this Court the Right Hon. Lord Mayor took notice of a Letter, which a few Days before was published in the Ledger, reflecting on his Lordship's Humanity, and Want of Respect to the Laws of the Land, and the Duties of a Magistrate; which his Lordship treated with proper Indifference: However, a Member of the Court moved, that the Publisher should be prosecuted; but his Lordship signifying his Disregard for the Publication, no more was said upon it.

On Wednesday the 23d, at Two in the Afternoon, the Lord Mayor, &c. as voted above, waited on his Majesty, at St. James's, with the following humble Address, Remonstrance, and Petition of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Common-Council of the City of London, which was read by the Town-Clerk as follows:

May it please your Majesty,

“When your Majesty's most faithful Subjects, the Citizens of London, whose Loyalty and Affection has been so often and effectually proved and experienced by the illustrious House of Brunswick, are labouring under the Weight of that Displeasure, which your Majesty has been advised to lay upon them in the Answer given from the Throne to their late humble Application, we feel ourselves constrained, with all Humility, to approach the Royal Father of his People.

“Conscious, Sire, of the purest Sentiments of Veneration which they entertain for your Majesty's Address, &c.

jeſty's Perſon, we are deeply concerned that what the Law allows, and the Conſtitution teaches, hath been miſconſtrued into Diſreſpect to your Maſteſty by the Inſtruments of that Influence which ſhakes the Realm.

" Perplexed and aſtoniſhed as we are, by the awful Sentence of Censure late paſſed upon the Citizens of London in your Maſteſty's Anſwer from the Throne, we cannot, without ſurrendering all that is dear to Engliſhmen, forbear moſt humbly to ſupplicate, that your Maſteſty will deign to grant a more favourable Interpretation to this dutiful though perſevering Claim to our invaded Birthrights; nothing doubting that the Benignity of your Maſteſty's Nature will, to our unſpeakable Comfort, at length break through all the ſecret and viſible Machinations, to which the City of London owes its late ſevere Repulſe; and that your kingly Juſtice and fatherly Tenderneſs will diſclaim the malignant and pernicious Advice which ſuggeſted the Anſwer we deplore; an Advice of a moſt dangerous Tendency, in aſmuch as thereby the Exerciſe of the cleareſt Rights of the Subject, namely, to petition the King for Redreſs of Grievances, to complain of the Violation of the Freedom of Election, and to pray a Diſſolution of Parliament, to point out Mal-practices in Adminiſtration, and to urge the Removal of evil Miniſters, hath by the Generality of one compendious Word been indiſcriminately checked with Reprimand; and your Maſteſty's afflicted Citizens of London have heard from the Throne itſelf, that the Contents of their humble Addreſs, Remonſtrance, and Petition, laying their Complaints and Injuries at the Feet of their Sovereign, cannot but be conſidered by your Maſteſty as diſreſpectful to yourſelf, injurious to your Parliament, and irreconcilable to the Principles of the Conſtitution.

" Your Maſteſty cannot diſapprove that we here aſſert the cleareſt Principles of the Conſtitution againſt the inſidious Attempt of evil Counſellors to perplex, confound, and ſhake them; we are determined to abide by thoſe Rights and Liberties, which our Forefathers bravely vindicated at the memorable Revolution, and which their Sons will always reſolutely defend. We, therefore, now renew, at the Foot of the Throne, our Claim to the indiſpenſible Right of the Subject—a full, free, and unmutated Parliament, legally choſen in all its Members—a Right, which this Houſe of Commons have manifeſtly violated, depriving, at their Will and Pleaſure, the County of Middleſex of one of its legal Representatives, and arbitrarily nominating, as a Knight of the Shire, a Perſon not elected by a Majority of the Freeholders. As the only conſtitutional Means of Reparation now left for the injured Electors of Great Britain, we implore with moſt urgent Supplications the Diſſolution of this preſent Parliament, the Removal of evil Miniſters, and the total Extinction of that fatal Influence, which has cauſed ſuch a national Diſcontent.

" In the mean Time, Sire, we offer our conſtant Prayers to Heaven, that your Maſteſty may reign as Kings can only reign, in and by the Hearts of a loyal, dutiful, and free People."

To which his Maſteſty, ſeated on the Throne, read the following Anſwer:

" I ſhould have been wanting to the Public as well as to myſelf, if I had not expreſſed my Diſſatisfaction at the late Addreſs. His Maſteſty's Anſwer.

" My Sentiments on that Subject continue the ſame; and I ſhould ill deſerve to be conſidered as the Father of my People, if I could ſuffer myſelf to be prevailed upon to make ſuch an Uſe of my Prerogative, as I cannot but think inconſiſtent with the Inter-eſt, and dangerous to the Conſtitution of the Kingdom."

The [Right Hon. the Lord Mayor then addreſſed his Maſteſty in theſe Words:

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

" Will your Maſteſty be pleaſed ſo far to condeſcend as to permit the Mayor of your loyal City of London to declare in your Royal Preſence, on behalf of his Fellow-Citizens, how much the bare Apprehenſion of your Maſteſty's Diſpleaſure would, at all Times, affect their Minds; the Declaration of that Diſpleaſure has already filled them with in-expreſſible Anxiety and with the deepeſt Affliction. Permit me, Sire, to aſſure your Maſteſty, that your Maſteſty has not in all your Dominions any Subjects more faithful, more dutiful, or more affectionate to your Maſteſty's Perſon and Family, or more ready to ſacrifice their Lives and Fortunes in the Maintenance of the true Honour and Dignity of your Crown. Lord Mayor's Addreſs.

" We do therefore, with the greateſt Humility and Submiſſion, moſt earneſtly ſupplicate your Maſteſty that you will not diſmiſs us from your Preſence without expreſſing a more favourable Opinion of your faithful Citizens, and without ſome Comfort, without ſome Proſpect, at leaſt, of Redreſs.

" Permit me, Sire, farther to obſerve, that whoever has already dared, or ſhall hereafter endeavour by falſe Inſinuations and Suggeſtions to alienate your Maſteſty's Affections from your loyal Subjects in general and from the City of London in particular, and to withdraw your Confidence in and Regard for your People, is an Enemy to your Maſteſty's Perſon and Family, a Violator of the public Peace, and a Betrayer of our happy Conſtitution as it was eſta-bliſhed at the glorious and neceſſary Revolution."

The Lord Mayor waited near a Minute for a Reply, but none was given. The Humility and the ſerious Firmneſs with which the Lord Mayor uttered theſe Words filled the whole Court with Admiration; for they found very different Countenances amongſt the Citizens than they expected from Lord Pomfret's Deſcription, who declared in the Houſe of Lords, that " however ſwaggering and impudent the Behaviour of the low Citizens might be on their own Dung-hill, when they came into the Royal Preſence, their Heads hung down like Bulruſhes, and they blinked with their Eyes like Owls in the Sunſhine."

Notwithſtanding the diſagreeable Reception the Citizens in their corporate Capacity met with at Court, they perſevered in their Duty to their King; and God having bleſſed his Maſteſty with the Birth of a Daughter in the miſt of theſe Occurrences, the Lord Mayor ſummoned a Court of Common-Council on the 25th of May, when an Addreſs to his Maſteſty was agreed to, An Ad-dreſs on the Birth of Princeſs Elizabeth.

on

on the Birth of the young Princess, which by his Majesty's Command was presented to him on the 30th of the same Month, as follows :

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The Humble Address of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council assembled.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

" We wait upon your Majesty with our sincere Congratulations on the happy Delivery of our most gracious Queen, and on the Birth of another Princess, and to assure your Majesty that there are not in all your Dominions any Subjects more faithful, more dutiful, and more affectionate to your Majesty's Person and Family, or more ready to sacrifice their Lives and Fortunes in the Maintenance of the true Honour and Dignity of your Crown.

" Long may your Majesty reign the true Guardian of the Liberties of this free Country, and be the Instrument, in the Hands of Providence, of transmitting to our Posterity these invaluable Rights and Privileges, which are the Birthright of the Subjects of this Kingdom."

His Majesty's Answer.

To which the King gave a gracious Answer, and concluded with saying, " That whilst the Citizens of London addressed him with such Professions of Loyalty, they should be sure of his Protection."

Circumstances attending this Address.

Whilst the Lord Mayor and Council waited in the Anti-Chamber, the Lord Chamberlain particularly addressed the Lord Mayor, and told him that his Majesty did expect his Lordship would not make any Speech or Reply to the Answer he should receive.

In going, after the Lord Mayor, Sir Robert Ladbroke, Mr. Alderman Alsop, and Sir William Stephenson had passed through Temple-Bar, the Gates were suddenly shut against Mr. Alderman Harley (who was next in the Procession) by a Mob few in Number, who directly began to pelt him with Stones and Dirt, and pulled him out of his Chariot, opposite to the Door of the Sun Tavern, into which he was forced to take, to preserve his Life. After continuing here some Time, he went away in a Hackney Coach, with a Gentleman who had accompanied him, but not without being followed and insulted by Part of the Mob that at first beset him.

The first Stone of Newgate laid.

On the 30th, the Lord Mayor, attended by the two Sheriffs, and some other of the Worshipful Court of Aldermen, proceeded in State to the Old-Bailey, where his Lordship laid the first Stone of a New Gaol, intended instead of the present very inconvenient one of Newgate. His Lordship, after laying the above Stone, made a present of twenty Guineas to the Workmen, and then proceeded to the Sessions-House to try the Prisoners.

On the 1st of June, the Committee of the Court of Common-Council appointed to present the Earl of Chatham with the Thanks of that Court for his patriotic Conduct in Parliament, waited on his Lordship with the same.

Death of Mr. Beckford.

On the 21st, at Five o'Clock in the Morning, died the Right Honourable William Beckford, twice Lord Mayor of the City of London. If his Lordship's Character could want any additional Lustre, it would receive it from the Manner of his Death; for notwithstanding his having a heavy Cold on him (which he acquired at Fontbill the Day before) so attentive was he to discharge the important Duty committed to his Trust, as Chief Magistrate of this City, that he travelled a hundred Miles in one Day, which increased his Cold to a rheumatic Fever, and thereby terminated the Life of a Man, whose Character will ever be held in the most honourable and grateful Remembrance.

On Friday the 22d came on, at the Guildhall of this City, a Common-Hall for the Election of a Lord Mayor for the Remainder of this Year, in the room of William Beckford, Esq; The Recorder made a very handsome Speech in praise of the late Lord Mayor, which was received by the Livery with much merited Applause. He then opened shortly the lamented Occasion of calling that Common-Hall. The Names of the several Aldermen, who had served the Office of Sheriff, were then put in Nomination. The Majority of Hands was greatly for the two Aldermen Trecothick and Crosby, and was so declared by the Sheriffs, but a Poll was demanded in Favour of Sir Henry Bankes, which was accordingly granted, and ordered to open at Two o'Clock.

Election of a new Lord Mayor.

On the 25th, being Midsummer-Day, a Common-Hall was held at Guildhall, London, for the Election of Sheriffs and other City Officers.

The several Aldermen below the Chair who had not served the Office of Sheriff, were put in Nomination; as were likewise the Gentlemen who had been drank to by the Lord Mayor: but Mess. Baker and Martyn, who were nominated by the Livery, had a general Shew of Hands, and were accordingly returned, and declared duly elected.

On the 29th, the Poll for Lord Mayor of the City of London, for the Remainder of the Mayoralty, ended at Guildhall; when the Numbers were, for Alderman Trecothick 1601; Crosby 1434; Bankes 437: whereupon the Return of the two former being made to the Court of Aldermen for their Choice, the Election was declared for Alderman Trecothick. He was therefore immediately invested with the gold Chain.

The late Lord Mayor William Beckford, Esq; who had accepted of the Office of Chief Magistrate of London a second Time purely to oblige his Fellow-Citizens, and in the Execution of that high Office, had stood forth most nobly in the Cause of Liberty against the Encroachments of ministerial Attempts to usurp upon the Rights of the People, had deserved so well in the Opinion of his Fellow-Citizens, that the Common-Council, on the 5th of July, perpetuated their Regard for him, and their Approbation of his Conduct and constitutional Principles, by unanimously agreeing to erect a Marble Statue to his Memory, to be placed over the Sheriffs Court in Guildhall.

Statue erected to the Memory of William Beckford, Esq; late Lord Mayor.

By the Death of William Beckford, Esq; there also was vacated a Seat in Parliament for the City of London: and the 11th of the same Month was appointed for the Election of a new Member in his Place. On which Day the Court being opened by the Sheriffs, and the Writ read by Mr. Raincock, (in the Absence of the Recorder, who as well as the Lord Mayor was at the Old-Bailey)

Election of a City Representative in the room of Mr. Beckford.

he

he informed the Livery, that he should, as was always usual, put up all the Aldermen in Order who were not already in Parliament.

On this, Mr. Alderman Wilkes delivered in a Note, which was read, wherein he insisted on his Name not being put up, looking on himself as legal Representative for the County of Middlesex; which was received with universal Applause. The Aldermen were then put up in Order (leaving out Mr. Wilkes,) whose Names were received with Applauses or Groans, as they were respected by their Fellow-Citizens. Last of all the Name of Richard Oliver, Esq; was called over, when there was a general holding up of Hands, on which he was declared by the Sheriffs duly elected, with the loudest Acclamations.

Mr. Oliver then came forwards, and addressed himself to the Livery in a Speech on the Occasion.

Mr. Oliver's
Speech.

"Favoured as I have been, and now honoured by you, Gentlemen of the Livery, my Words cannot sufficiently express my Sentiments of Gratitude for your early and as yet unmerited Confidence reposed in me, by the Choice you have unanimously made of me as your Representative in Parliament. To your general and warm Support it is owing that I have not had an Opponent; and this Circumstance is most pleasing to me, because it proves that your Spirit is not to be influenced or over-ruled whenever you think proper to unite in the free Exercise of your Rights.

"I wish, Gentlemen, that I had already given you any Proofs that I shall not abuse the Trust you have placed in me; but as I have not yet sat in Parliament, accept my Assurances at present, that I will ever consider myself as deputed by you for your Benefit, and not for my own Advantage: that as, in the Course of my Life, I never have received or desired, so, whether I have the Honour to continue an Alderman and Representative of this City or not, I never will accept, directly or indirectly, either Place, Pension, Emolument, Contract, or Gratification of any kind whatever, from the Crown or its Ministers. My sole Motives of public Conduct shall be the Advancement of the public Welfare, and the reasonable honest Hope of your Approbation, free from every other Influence or Consideration. I shall be obedient to the Instructions you have a Right to give to the Servants you appoint. I will contribute my Share in any Manner to render Justice to the Freeholders of Middlesex, and in them to all the other Counties and Boroughs in Great-Britain, for the Injury they have all received by being unlawfully and most dangerously deprived of a Representative in Parliament, who has been duly and repeatedly elected by those who alone have and ought to have the Right of Election. I am confident, Gentlemen, that your only Security against the Abuse of that Power, which you intrust to your Representatives, must be a frequent Appeal to you by shortening the Duration of Parliament; by an effective, not a nugatory Place and Pension Bill; by an adequate and true Representation throughout the Kingdom. For either and all of these Securities to the People my Vote shall most cheerfully be given, and my Endeavours most strenuously employed, whenever the happy Time comes (and through the persevering Virtue of you, my Fellow-Citizens, it must come) that these essential Points can be obtained.—I will use my utmost Endeavours to remove the just Complaints of America, which operate to your present Disadvantage in a commercial Connexion, as well as in a political View; for the same System of Injustice and Despotism, if established against the Americans, will be exercised towards you; and the Principles of fair Government forbid that they should be taxed without Representation, as much as that the People of this Country should pay Taxes to which, or to the Continuance of which they have not consented.

"I will endeavour, Gentlemen, to the utmost of my Abilities to act up to the Station in which you have placed me. My Life will be happily employed, if I shall ever be able to render you Services in any Measure equal to those of your late much lamented Representative, whose Memory will be dear to me, as it is to every good Citizen: but though I should fail in these Wishes, I can at least promise you in full Confidence that I will equal him in the Integrity of his Heart, and in the Independence of his Spirit."

C H A P. XIII.

A great Fire at Greenwich. City Divisions about the Conduct of the Recorder. Resolution to rebuild the Fleet Prison. Election of Lord Mayor. Press Warrants. Freedom presented to John Dunning, Esq. Court of Conservancy. Westminster Remonstrance. Thanks to Alderman Trecothick. The King's Speech. City Bounty to Sailors. Fire in Surry-Street. Commotion in the King's Bench Prison. City Remonstrance. Royal Academy. Regulation of the Corn-Market. Mr. Wilkes's Intention to move for an annual Election of Aldermen. Earl of Rochford's Letter to the Lord Mayor.

ON the 14th of August a terrible Fire broke out, between Eleven and Twelve o'Clock at Night, behind Crawley's Iron Manufactory at Greenwich, supposed to be done by an Enemy to this Country, with an Intention to set Fire to and destroy the King's Warehouses at that Place. There were consumed upwards of sixty Houses before this Fire could be got under; but the Warehouses escaped the Flames, which providentially were diverted another way by the Shifting of the Wind.

Fire at Greenwich.

The Nation was now vastly alarmed with an Appearance of Hostilities from France and Spain, on account of a Settlement made by the British Government upon a desert Place in the South-Seas, off the Coast of Patagonia, called by us Falkland Islands: From which the Spaniards had, by a superior Force, driven the English, and claimed and made a Lodgment upon the same. Yet the most alarming Circumstance upon this Occasion was not any Dislike the People had to a War with France and Spain; but it arose from the bad Condition of our Navy. Neither Men nor Ships could be fitted out with any tolerable Expedition. The British Navy, whose very Name heretofore was the Terror of the World, had been neglected

An Alarm
of War
with Spain.

and

and suffered to decay in the Docks; and our Sailors had been treated with so little Regard to their Services, that most of those brave Fellows that fought our Battles, and conquered in every Quarter of the Globe, had either resolved never more to undergo the Hardships, Distress, and Danger of another War by Sea, where the Officers engrossed all the Advantages; or they, who could not abide at Home, had endeavoured to mend their Fortune in the Service of some foreign State, who put a greater Value upon a British Tar, than he is rated at in his own Country. Nay, the Mariners in general were so averse to serve under an Administration, in whose political Principles they could place no Hopes of Success, that the City of London was obliged, as on several former Occasions, to offer a Premium for Sailors to enter on Board his Majesty's Fleet.

City Divisions about the Conduct of the Recorder.

The Conduct of the Recorder, who refused to attend the late Lord Mayor with the City Remonstrance to St. James's, had created so great a Dislike to that City Officer, that the Patriots were determined to proceed against him with all their Power and Influence; and it being by them resolved to bring this Affair before the Court of Common-Council summoned to meet on the 27th of September, the Lord Mayor issued the following particular Summons to each of the Common-Council-Men:

S I R,

"You are desired to be at a Court of Common-Council at Guildhall, in your Gown, on Thursday next, at Eleven o'Clock in the Forenoon, being the 27th Day of September, 1770.

W. COTTON.

"N. B. In Conformity to a Resolution of the last Common-Council, the Conduct of Mr. Recorder is to be taken into Consideration. The Lord Mayor will take the Chair precisely at Twelve."

On Thursday the 27th of September accordingly a Common-Council was held at Guildhall, when the Lord Mayor opened the Court with a Speech, in which he informed them, that the Matters, which he understood to be intended for their Consideration at that Time, were about the Disposal of the Place of City Marshal, and the Conduct of the Recorder; that since the Recorder was present, he hoped they would proceed first on his Business; and concluded with saying he was now ready to hear any Motion. When the Lord Mayor had finished, there was a Silence of two or three Minutes. Mr. Harley, Mr. Recorder, &c. smiled. At last Mr. Freeman rose and said—My Lord, there is nothing at present before the Court. The Gentleman, who made a Motion on this Business at the last Common-Council, is now absent.

One of the Common-Council-Men cried out from one of the back Seats—My Lord, the Business we come here about is very well known.—After which there was again Silence of about a Minute, when Mr. Hurford rose and said, he hoped some of the worthy Aldermen, who were present in the Court of Aldermen when Mr. Recorder declared his Refusal to attend the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Common-Council of the City of London, with their Address, Petition and Remonstrance to his Majesty, would now give the Court some Account of that Matter.

Mr. Alderman Townsend. "I will endeavour to repeat to the Court, as exactly as I can recollect, what passed on that Occasion. The late Lord Mayor, Mr. Beckford, at the Court of Aldermen asked Mr. Recorder whether he might expect Mr. Recorder's Attendance to St. James's with the Address, Petition and Remonstrance of the City of London, that he might be provided in Case of Mr. Recorder's Refusal. Mr. Recorder said he was glad the Lord Mayor had by his Question given Mr. Recorder an Opportunity to speak his Mind; though, added the Recorder, if I had not been called upon, I should have taken an Opportunity to have given your Lordship Notice, that I will not attend that Address. The late Lord Mayor replied, Sir, do you then take upon you to determine what Part of your Duty you will perform, and what Part you will not? I suppose, when the Time comes that we are to go up with a congratulatory Address on the Delivery of the Queen, you will be ready enough to go up with that? Mr. Recorder answered, I will not go up with this; and when the Time comes which you mention, I will then tell you what I will do."

Mr. Alderman Wilkes. I can bear Testimony to what the worthy Alderman has related; and I believe he has neither added nor omitted any Circumstance.

Mr. Alderman Townsend. "It will be a Satisfaction to me if Mr. Recorder will be pleased to inform the Court whether I have faithfully related what passed on that Occasion."

Mr. Recorder. "What the Gentleman has said, he has related very nearly as it passed."

Just at this Minute Mr. Deputy Paterfon came in great Haste into the Court, and immediately addressing himself to the Court, said — "I think myself very happy, that by mere Accident (for I assure you it is merely by Accident) I am come into this Court when the Common-Council are going to debate on this Subject; because it is proper for me to inform you, that this Court has no Power to determine on Mr. Recorder. If this Court has any Complaint to make against Mr. Recorder, it can do nothing; it can only complain to the Court of Aldermen; and even the Court of Aldermen's Determination against Mr. Recorder will not be final; but Mr. Recorder may remove it before Lord Mansfield in the Court of King's-Bench. The Court of King's-Bench is the best and most proper Place for all these Matters. I am happy to have come in just at this Moment by Accident."

Mr. Alderman Oliver. "However the worthy Deputy may congratulate himself, the Common-Council have no great Reason to congratulate themselves on receiving such Information from one of their Members. The present Question is not about the Punishment of Mr. Recorder; it will be time enough for that Gentleman to agitate the Matter, when such a Question shall come forward, and he will find Difficulty enough to maintain his Positions. At present all we have heard from the worthy Deputy tends only to mislead us from the Question and amuse us."

Mr. Alderman Wilkes. "Mr. Recorder having been charged with this Refusal, and having acknowledged it, I desire that Mr. Recorder may withdraw; that his Presence may not prevent the Compliments, which will be paid on the one Hand to his Abilities, Learning and Integrity, nor interrupt the Freedom of Debate, and the Censure which it may on the other Hand be thought proper to pass on his Conduct on this Occasion."

Mr. Recorder. "Sir, I am not charged with any Thing. Any Individual of a Court standing up and bringing an Accusation against me, is not a Charge. I shall never think myself bound to get up; I owe too much to the Dignity of my Office to get up and answer every Complaint, that may be suggested by the wanton Imagination of every Member of this Court. It is now no more than the private Accusation of a private Man: Whenever I am called upon in private by a Gentleman, I shall be ready to give an Answer, as a Man of Honour; but here I must be called upon by the Court."

Mr. Alderman Nash. "To be sure there is no Charge at present against Mr. Recorder: There can be none unless the Court had determined upon some Question. There is no Question before the Court."

Mr. Alderman Wilkes. "My Lord Mayor, Complaint having been made by a Member of this Court, that Mr. Recorder did refuse to attend the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Commons of this City with their humble Address, Remonstrance and Petition to his Majesty, I move, "That it appears to this Court that the Recorder did refuse to attend the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of this City with their humble Address, Remonstrance and Petition to his Majesty."

This Motion being seconded by Mr. Alderman Oliver, the Question was put, and the same was unanimously resolved in the Affirmative.

Mr. Alderman Wilkes. "I desire now that Mr. Recorder may make his Defence."

Mr. Recorder. "I am only charged by an Individual."

Mr. Alderman Wilkes. "I move then that Mr. Recorder be called upon to make his Defence."

Mr. Paterfon. "I think that would be very improper. Mr. Recorder is not yet found guilty. The Motion, I think, would be more proper, if Mr. Recorder be desired to give the Reasons why he did not attend."

Mr. Beardmore. "I do not well understand what the worthy Deputy means. Defence is always made before the Person is found guilty in all the Courts I ever heard of; except indeed in the House of Commons, where a worthy Alderman on the Bench knows by his own Experience, that Men are sometimes found guilty, and Sentence passed upon them, without their being permitted to make any Defence at all. As the worthy Deputy did once find Ways and Means to get into that House, perhaps he means to introduce such Customs here. It has been resolved by this Court, and acknowledged by Mr.

Recorder himself, that he did refuse to attend: I desire therefore the Motion may be, that Mr. Recorder be called upon to answer, why he did not attend."

The Question was then put, "That Mr. Recorder be now called upon to give his Reasons why he did not attend." The same was resolved in the Affirmative.

Mr. Recorder. "My Lord Mayor, I thought it a Duty I owed to myself, and to the Rank, which I have the Honour to hold in this Assembly, not to submit to be called upon by any one or two individual Members of this Court, to answer to any Thing, which they, in the Wantonness of their Imagination, shall think fit to throw out as a Charge upon the first Law Officer and one of the principal Magistrates of the Corporation.—If the Court is pleased to give so much Countenance to what the Gentlemen call a Charge, as to think that I ought to enter into an Explanation of my Conduct, my Respect for the Court will lead me to give them an Answer, and I hope it will be a satisfactory one.

"I am required to give my Reason for refusing to attend on the presenting of your Address, Petition and Remonstrance to his Majesty.

"My Reasons were these. I was of Opinion that your Address, Petition and Remonstrance, in the Manner in which it was penned, was a Libel upon his Majesty, to which, it would have been contrary to the Duty of my Office, to have given the least Countenance; and I could not officially present a Libel to his Majesty without making myself a Principal in the Guilt of that Act.

"I cannot conceive that this Court can want to be informed of the Reasons of my Conduct on this Occasion, as it cannot be forgot, that I openly declared my Opinion of the Language of the Address, both in the Committee and in this Court; for though I might be mistaken in that Opinion (having no Pretensions to Infalibility) yet having that Opinion, and having, as it was my Duty, declared it to you, it was impossible for me to take any Part in the farther Prosecution of the Measure.

"As a Lawyer, as a moral Man, and a Man of Honour, could I, against my Judgment, and against the Conviction of my own Mind, concur in an Act, which appeared to me to be criminal?

"And can any Man conceive, that it should be the Duty of my Office to join in such an Act?—Corporate Capacities and Relations, and the Duties, which arise out of them, respect lawful Acts only; and such lawful Acts only, as are of a corporate Nature, and are strictly within the Powers vested in the Corporation. To these Purposes you are a Court of Common-Council, and I am your Recorder: If you exceed your Powers, the Relation between us is dissolved; we become that Instant mere Individuals; we act as such, and must answer criminally for our Conduct, without any Distinction of Character or Office. It would be extravagantly absurd to suppose, that you could impose a Duty upon me as an Officer, which you could not protect me in the Discharge of. It will not be less absurd to to suppose, that you could protect me as an Officer, for the Share I should take in your Offence, being yourselves Offenders.

“ It is with Astonishment I find, that any Man can wish to press such a Duty upon me.

“ What Effects may not Party Rage produce, when it can reconcile a Love of Liberty, and a generous Concern for the Rights of the Subject, which this Court has always expressed, and I am persuaded has always felt, with so flavish and so tyrannical a Principle, as that which attempts to subdue a liberal Mind? which endeavours to drive a Man, by the Exertion of Authority, into an active Submission to Measures against his Judgment and his Conscience, and would fain oblige him to insult his Prince, and to violate the Laws of his Country?

But I ought not, it seems, to set up my private Opinion against the Judgment and Determination of the Court. When you judge of Matters within your Province, and of which you are competent Judges, your Determination shall conclude my private Opinion.—Upon Questions of Prudence and Discretion the Decision of a Majority ought to bind the Whole: There is no other Standard: But can you put the Law of the Land to the Vote? And will a Libel cease to be a Libel because you vote it an humble Petition? With the strongest Disposition to defer, upon all Occasions, to the better Judgment of the Common-Council, I cannot bring myself to think, that a Majority, upon a Question of mere legal Consideration (of which, with Submission, they are not quite so competent Judges as I am, though they may be very honest and very wise Men); I say, I cannot bring myself to think, that a Majority ought to over-rule my Judgment, much less determine my Conduct against my Opinion:—Nor can I believe, that the Constitution of the City placed a Law-Officer so near to this Chair, and bound him by the Obligation of an Oath to give you good and wise Counsel, without intending, that you should pay some Attention to his Advice, instead of out-voting him. There was more Colour for a Complaint on my Side, that you had hastily committed the Honour of the City of London, in a rash Measure, against the Advice of a sworn Officer, whose Opinion ought to have some Weight, than for an Accusation, charging, that I refused to act a double, an inconsistent, and an unworthy Part, by concurring in such a Measure against my declared Opinion.

“ No Man could have conducted himself, in a necessary Opposition to your Wishes, with more Moderation, or with more Caution, to avoid giving Offence.—I have always endeavoured to cultivate a good Understanding with the Court of Common-Council: I respect the Character with which the Members of it are invested; and I have great personal Regard for many, to whom I have the Honour to be known. I have always laboured to facilitate their Business, and to make myself useful to them. I was heartily concerned, that I could not concur with the Court: But it always has been, and it always shall be, my first Object, to do what I think my Duty. I contented myself, however, with declaring to you, as was my Duty, my Opinion of your Address; and with apprizing your late Mayor of the necessary Consequence of that Opinion, that I could not attend him to the Foot of the Throne.

“ I submitted to all the Abuse which I was loaded with upon these Accounts:—I took no Pains to justify my Opinion to the World, because, in justifying myself, I must have accused you; and that, without a necessary Call, like the present, I wished not to do. It was of Importance that you should have been right, both for the Honour of the City, which, as I have already observed, was committed, and for the Success of the Cause in which you were engaged, which, in my Opinion, has suffered exceedingly from the late violent Measures.

“ When the People set themselves to oppose Irregularities in Government, they ought to be strictly regular themselves; otherwise they strengthen the Hands of those, whom they wish to oppose, and fix upon themselves the Grievances, which they wish to remove. You think differently upon this Subject: but I believe I am right. Every moderate Man who wishes to preserve some Government among us, rather than throw every Thing into Confusion, has felt and acknowledged the Necessity of detaching himself from a Party, who are capable of proceeding to such Extremities.

“ The Policy of your Conduct, however, was not my Concern: I was concerned for the Honour of the City of London, and of this Court, which appeared to me to be precipitated, by the intemperate Zeal of its Leaders, into very rash and reprehensible Measures.

“ I wish I could now (after having had Time to think upon this Subject) see Reason to say that my Opinion was ill-founded: I would most cheerfully acknowledge it; I should rejoice in the Opportunity it afforded me of vindicating the Honour of this Court—but upon the fullest Consideration of the Matter, and judging of it by those Rules of Law, which (from the Year 1696 down to the Introduction of the modern Theory of Libels within these last twenty Years) have established the Measure of Obedience, Respect, and Reverence due to Government, and more especially to the Person of the King, as the first Magistrate, I remain of Opinion, that your Address, Petition and Remonstrance, in the Manner in which it was penned, was libellous, unconstitutional, and criminal.

“ It has been suggested, and I have no Doubt but that, after I am in Obedience to the Wishes of the honourable Aldermen withdrawn, it will be again imputed to me, that this Opinion of mine is political; that I have indirect Views in maintaining it, and in the Part which I found myself obliged to take upon it. While I was speaking, the Word Chancellor reached my Ear*.

I will

* It is hardly worth while to take notice of the Interruption the Recorder met with in this Part of his Speech: But as it has been misrepresented, the Fact shall be stated. Mr. Alderman T. took notice, that the Recorder had said he heard the Word Chancellor, and looked towards the Bench where he sat; that he had not heard the Word used by any body; and he desired that the Recorder

I will take this Opportunity to explain myself upon that Head. Were I disposed to sacrifice my Opinions to Views of Ambition or Interest, I have lived long enough in the World to know the nearest Way to Honours and Preferment:—I would take the high Road of Opposition; I would have been one of the most active Men at the London Tavern; I would have bought Freeholds, to entitle me to sign Petitions; and to crown all, I would pay no Land-Tax: Then, I have no Doubt, I might have worn some of those Honours, which other Gentlemen are graced with—But I am not disposed to make such a Sacrifice—I have been many Years in this Office, and a very laborious one I have found it. Hitherto there are no Appearances of any undue Influence upon my Mind: I am content to remain a private Man: All I desire is to have Liberty to retain my Opinions, and not to be forced to think with the Court of Common-Council, upon great and essential Points of Law and the Constitution.

“To shew that it was my Duty to have attended your Address, the Oath, which was administered to me, when I entered upon my Office, has been read: though it should now fail of that End, it has, however, already answered the Purpose intended to be effected, by an uncandid Circulation of it two Months after the Transaction, at the Eve of a Recess, when nothing could be done upon it for six Weeks or two Months to come, during all which Time the curious World were to busy themselves with Conjectures touching the Nature of the Perjury, which the Recorder had been guilty of.

“According to the Oath, I am to be ready to come at the Warning of the Mayor and the Sheriffs, to give good and wise Counsel, and to ride and go with them upon all Occasions, when Need shall be to maintain the State of the City.

“The last Branch of the Sentence plainly refers to the Processions upon solemn Days, when the State of the City, that is, the Lord Mayor, the Aldermen, the City Officers, and the Companies are called out.

“The Oath of the Recorder is of a much older Date than the present Establishment of the Common-Council. The Common-Council was, I believe, established some hundred Years before they began to present Addresses: their Addresses were, originally, sent by Deputations or Committees, when, I presume, the Recorder was desired, not commanded, to give his Assistance, as it is the Practice at this Day with regard to all other Committees.

“I have no Idea that there is any Authority any where to exact the Attendance of any Officer or Member of the Court upon voluntary Pilgrimages to St. James's, when the Interest of the Body Corporate is not immediately and directly concerned.

“But suppose the Attendance upon the Common-Council to be within the Oath, what Sort of Casuistry must that be, which extends the Obligation of the Oath (an Obligation to give good and wise Counsel, and to ride and go when Need shall be to maintain the State of the City) to a Case, in which the good and wise Counsel which I have given was not to ride and go? that there was no Need—that it would not maintain the State of the City, but disgrace it.

“But further; When I was of Opinion that such Riding and Going was not only unadvised but unlawful and criminal, is the Oath to be extended to such a Case? Is it not one of the first Principles of Ethics, that an Oath cannot impose an Obligation to do an unlawful Act?

“Suppose the Court were gravely to resolve to present their next Remonstrance at the Head of the six Regiments: After I had humbly advised you not to ride and go upon that Business, would my Oath oblige me to make one of such a Party, and to go and be hanged with your Lordship and the rest of the Court?

I am sworn to be faithful to his Majesty, and to the City of London, in the Office of Recorder: if these Duties should clash, the first is the superior, and must be obeyed.

“Little as the Oath of Office has to do with the Question now before the Court, I am sorry that I have been reminded of it, even in the invidious Way, which has been taken to refresh my Memory: I hope I shall be the better for it: I hope a more general Benefit will arise, and that it will put other Gentlemen upon looking back to their Oaths of Allegiance! Oaths of Office!—Aldermen, Sheriffs, Common-Council-Men, are all sworn to attend their Duty, as well as the Recorder.

“If a much more trivial Excuse than that, which I have urged for my Refusal to attend, ought not to be received,—What a Load of Guilt will be thrown upon the Conscience of almost every Man, who hears me? I have known Aldermen absent from all Duty for Years together:—I have known a Common-Council-Man not come within these Walls, in quiet Times, from one St. Thomas's Day to another. I have known Sheriffs absent themselves from their Duty, when it was convenient for them to be in the Country.—If I am to be censured for a Breach of my Oath, I hope I may prevail that he who is innocent may cast the first Stone.

“I shall trouble your Lordship and the Court with very little more.—I repeat that I am truly concerned, that a Case should have arisen, in which it became my Duty to refuse to concur officially with the Court of Common-Council: I wish to co-operate cordially with you in all your Measures: For seven Years and a half I have given you Proof of this Disposition; after which it ought not to be lightly suspected.—But I cannot submit to act against my Judgment and Conscience: I have no Conception, that you have a Right to exact so severe a Service from your Recorder: If you have, all I can say further, is, that you never shall exact it from me: I will be the Servant of the City, but I will be the Slave of no Man, nor of any Set of Men: I

Recorder would point out from whom it came. The Recorder answered, that he was too much engaged, and in too much Hurry at such a Juncture, to mark from whom it came, or to point him out; but that the Word reached his Ear.—Here the Interruption ended: and Mr. Alderman T. was very unjustly charged, in the circumstantial Account, with having made an insolent Observation upon the connecting of the Words Recorder and Chancellor. Mr. Alderman T. did not make any such Observation at the Time.

B. Cole sc

The North West Prospect of the parish Church of S. Alban in Wood Street.

came into this Office an independent Man, and so I will leave it. I should be glad to be upon good Terms with the Court of Common-Council:— But I will never purchase their Favour upon Conditions which, upon Reflexion, I should be ashamed of."

Lord Mayor. "I have called this Court in order to give Dispatch to the adjourned Business of the last Court. Nothing new since that Time has occurred. The Report of the Committee about Embankment requires farther Time; and the first Business on the Paper is that which relates to the Recorder."

Mr. Alderman Wilkes and the Lord Mayor had then some Altercation on the Subject of Prefs-Warrants; but as it produced no Question, Order or Resolution, it may properly be omitted, by which Means the Business of the Recorder will not be interrupted, this Account being only a Continuation of that Business, which was adjourned to this Day from the last Common-Council.

Mr. Deputy Judd. "My Lord Mayor, at the last Court of Common-Council it was determined to proceed farther into the Consideration of Mr. Recorder's Conduct at this Court. Before we enter on that Subject, I beg leave to inquire whether your Lordship has seen the Recorder since; or if his ill Health has prevented that, whether you have received any Letter from him, or Apology for his Behaviour?"

Lord Mayor. "I saw Mr. Recorder one Morning last Week; I confess he staid and dined with me, with some other Company; but I cannot say I have any Apology to deliver from Mr. Recorder; he said he was going into Wiltshire; and I believe he is there now."

Mr. Deputy Judd. "My Lord, I humbly move, that an Order of Common-Council made in the Year 1726, relating to the Recorder and Common-Serjeant, may be now read."

The Order was read as follows, "That the Recorder and Common-Serjeant be advised with in all Cases relating to the Affairs of this City, where it may be necessary to have the Opinion of any Counsel learned in the Law."

Mr. Deputy Judd. "The Recorder having refused to attend the late Lord Mayor and this Court with their humble Address, Remonstrance and Petition to his Majesty on the Score of Grievances, having thereby been guilty of a Breach of his Oath, and when called upon to explain his Conduct in this Particular, having offered Insolence to this Court, instead of a Defence, I move that the Order of this Court of the 19th of June, 1726, so far as it relates to the Recorder being advised with in all Cases relating to the Affairs of this City where it may be necessary to have the Opinion of any Counsel learned in the Law,—be repealed."

This Motion was seconded by Mr. Hurford, and carried, after much Debate, by a great Majority.

After which another Motion was made by Mr. Deputy Judd, "That James Eyre, Esq; the present Recorder, be no more advised with, retained, or employed in the Affairs of this City, he being deemed by the Court unworthy of Trust or Confidence;" which was carried also in the Affirmative by a large Majority, without much Debate and Personality.

At the same Court the City Remembrancer acquainted them, that the Lords of the Treasury had resolved to re-build the Fleet-Prison on the Place where it now is.

Fleet-Prison.

The Patriots, on the 29th of September, at the Common-Hall for the Election of a Lord Mayor at Guildhall, put Brass Crosby, Esq; and James Townsend, Esq; in Nomination for that high Office of Chief Magistrate of London; who being accordingly returned to the Court of Aldermen, they made Choice of Brass Crosby, Esq.

Alderman Crosby Lord Mayor.

The Citizens, again alarmed at the Proceedings of the Ministry, which they apprehended endeavoured to encroach on their chartered Liberties, by issuing Prefs-Warrants to be executed in the City; and there being some Apprehensions, that the Chief Magistrate was not averse to a Measure, which he conceived might be connived at for the Public Good; Mr. Wilkes, at a Court of Common-Council held the 12th of October, desired the Lord Mayor to acquaint the Court what he had done with relation to Prefs-Warrants*. To which the Lord Mayor replied, That they were not empowered to impress any Person without a Constable: For that Purpose, he had caused printed Lists of all the Constables to be delivered to the Lieutenants; and that he gave them no Authority to press any Freeman, or the Servant of Prefs Warrants.

* The following Queries were proposed to the Council under-mentioned:

Query 1. May the Lords of the Admiralty of themselves, by Virtue of their Commission, or under the Direction of the Privy Council, legally issue Warrants for the Impressing of Seamen?

2. If yea, is the Warrant annexed in point of Form legal?

3. Is the Lord Mayor compellable to back such Warrants? if he is, what may be the Consequence of a Refusal?

"The Power of the Crown to compel Persons pursuing the Employment and Occupation of Seamen to serve the Public in Times of Danger and Necessity, which has its Foundation in that universal Principle of the Laws of all Countries, that all private Interests must give Way to the public Safety, appears to us to be well established by antient and long continued Usage, frequently recognized, and in many Instances regulated by the Legislature, and noticed at least without Censure by Courts of Justice; and we see no Objection to this Power's being exercised by the Lords of the Admiralty under the Authority of his Majesty's Order in Council.

"The Form of the Warrant, as well as the Manner in which such Warrants have been usually executed, appear to us to be liable to many considerable Objections; but the Nature of those Objections leads us to think it the more expedient, that the Authority of a Civil Magistrate should interpose in the Execution of them, to check and controul the Abuses to which they are liable; and therefore, although we do not think that the Lord Mayor is compellable to back the Warrants, or liable to any Punishment in case of his Refusal, we think it right to submit it to his Lordship's Consideration, whether it will not be more conducive to the Preservation of the Peace of the City, and the Protection of the Subject from Oppression, if he conforms in this Instance to what we understand to have been the Practice of most of his Predecessors upon the like Occasion.

Nov. 22, 1770.

AL. WEDDERBURN,
J. GLYNN,
J. DUNNING.

any Freeman, which they had promised to observe.

Freedom
voted to Counsellor
J. Dun-
ning.

Mr. Alderman Townsend having, in the Course of the Debates, mentioned the Conduct of Mr. Dunning in Parliament, at the Time he held the Office of Solicitor-General, Mr. Beardmore then moved, that the Freedom of this City be presented in a Gold Box to John Dunning, Esq; for having, when he was in the Office of Solicitor-General, on the Ground of Law and the Constitution, supported in Parliament the Right of the Subject to petition and remonstrate. No Debate ensued on this Question, and on holding up of Hands, the Shew in its Favour appeared to be almost unanimous.

After which the Court adjourned the Remainder of the Business to the next Court, to be held on the 19th Instant.

Indictments against such as incroached on the River.

At a Court of Common-Council held this Day, when the Lord Mayor acquainted the Court, that he called them to proceed on the Business of the last Court; but as the Report of the Committee to consider of the Embankment at Durham-Yard was Part of the Business, he thought proper to inform them, that he had held a Court of Conservancy, and that five Bills of Indictment had been found against different Persons for Incroachments on the River.

The Report of the aforesaid Committee being then read, a Motion was made by Alderman Crosby to agree with the Committee in their Report: After a Debate of near three Hours, he withdrew his Motion, and made another, that the Report be printed, and a Copy sent to each Member of the Court, which was carried in the Affirmative.

Another Motion was made, that the Evidence, the said Committee have had, be likewise printed, by way of Appendix, and sent with the foregoing; which was likewise carried in the Affirmative.

Meeting in Westminster-Hall.

On Wednesday the 31st of October, about Ten in the Morning, a prodigious Number of People crowded into Westminster-Hall, which continued to fill till Noon, when Mr. Wilkes came into the Hall, attended by Mr. Sawbridge, and having received several Huzzas, he ascended the Stairs, and after informing the Company of the Intent of their present Meeting, he began to read a Paper of Instructions to their Members, the Purport of which was, That as Petitions, Addresses and Remonstrances to the Throne for a Redress of Grievances hitherto unprecedented, had been of late despised, and, by the Advice of evil Counsellors, dismissed from the Throne; therefore, that their Representatives be instructed to move for an Impeachment of Henry North, commonly called Lord North, as not only the Contriver and Schemer, but even the Carrier into Execution of these cruel and unconstitutional Machinations.

Mr.
Wilkes moved to impeach
Lord
North.

Mr. Saw-bridge opposed it.

Mr. Sawbridge opposed the Instructions, for this Reason, "That Lord North, having Places and Pensions at his Disposal, was at the Head of a Set of People, against whom the Nation had evident Reason to complain; that in the House of Lords he had the Bishops and Scots Peers; and all the Placemen in the House of Commons on his Side; that if his Conduct was brought into Question in either or both Houses, he would be acquitted, and they precluded from any Complaint hereafter." He therefore moved for a Remonstrance; and the Question being put, it was carried in the Affirmative. A Committee went out to draw it up, and returned with it in half an Hour, the Heads of which were as follow:

Moved for a Remonstrance.

1. That a Bill be brought in and passed for triennial Parliaments. The Contents.

2. That his M——y would remove from his Presence and Councils, all his Ministers and Secretaries of State, particularly Lord M. and not admit a Scotchman into the Administration.

3. That a Law be made that the Electors of Great Britain be impowered to chuse any Representatives they think proper, without Regard to any Sentence whatsoever.

4. That no general Warrants be ever issued, even in case of manning a Fleet, or recruiting the Army.

5. That a Law be made for appealing to a superior Court, and bringing in an additional Witness to convict a Man, even after he has been acquitted by a Jury, or from some favourable Circumstances has obtained the royal Mercy.

It was then agreed, that it should be presented by Sir Robert Bernard, not, as Mr. Sawbridge politely observed, out of any Disrespect to Lord Percy, whom they could not help thinking a worthy Representative, and a Friend to Liberty, but because that Nobleman was out of the Kingdom.

The Gazette published his Majesty's Order in Council, of Nov. 1, that the Quarantine at present subsisting upon all Ships and Vessels coming from Dantzick, or other Port or Place in Royal and Ducal Prussia, Pomerania, Samogitia, Courland, and Livonia, be extended to all Ships, Vessels, Persons, Goods, and Merchandizes coming from Hamburg and Bremen. A Quarantine.

Likewise his Majesty's Order in Council, the better to prevent the Infection now raging at Constantinople and other Parts of the Levant, and in some Parts of Poland, from being brought into this Kingdom, that all Ships and Vessels whatsoever, having Rags or Cotton-Wool on Board, that are already arrived, or shall hereafter arrive, in any of the Ports of this Kingdom, or of the Isles of Jersey, Guernsey, Alderney, Sark or Man, do make their Quarantine for 40 Days.

On Wednesday the 7th of November, the second Remonstrance from the Inhabitants of the City and Liberty of Westminster, for the Redress of Grievances, was presented to his Majesty at St. James's by Sir Robert Bernard, one of the Members for that City; which was received, but no Answer returned. Westminster Remonstrance
presented.

And on Friday the 9th, about Noon, the Right Hon. Brafs Crosby, Esq; the new Lord Mayor of this City, with Barlow Trecothick, Esq; late Lord Mayor, attended by several of the Aldermen, the Sheriffs, and City Officers, proceeded with the usual Formalities to the Three Cranes, where they went into the City Barge, and were rowed to Westminster, accompanied by the several Livery Companies in their Barges, with Streamers, Pendants, &c. flying, and Mr. Crosby was

Brafs
Crosby sworn
Lord
Mayor.

was sworn into his Office in the Court of Exchequer; after which the Company returned in the same Manner, landed at Black-Friars Stairs, and proceeded from thence to Guildhall.

By Desire of the new Lord Mayor, the Officers belonging to the Goldsmiths Company had their Gowns trimmed with Blue, which in former Years were trimmed with White; they also wore blue Cockades, and made a very good Appearance.

Thanks to Alderman
Trecot-thick.

A Letter, signed by a great Number of Aldermen and Common-Council, was on Thursday sent to Barlow Trecothick, Esq; expressing their entire Approbation of, and returning their unfeigned Thanks for, the Integrity of his Conduct during the Time of his Mayoralty.

Mr. Recorder did not think proper to attend either on Thursday or Yesterday, though summoned for that Purpose; and Thomas Nugent, Esq; Common-Serjeant, was both Days obliged to do the Business in his Absence.

On Tuesday the 13th, his Majesty came to the House of Peers, and the Commons having been sent for and come thither accordingly, his Majesty was pleased to make the following most gracious Speech:

My Lords and Gentlemen,

The King's
Speech.

"When I last met you in Parliament, I renewed to you the Assurances which I had before given you, that it was my fixed Purpose to preserve the general Tranquillity; maintaining at the same Time the Honour of my Crown, together with the just Rights and Interests of my People: And it was with much Satisfaction that I indulged the Hope of being still able to continue to my Subjects the Enjoyment of Peace with Honour and Security. Since that Time, those very Considerations, which I then promised you that I would never sacrifice even to the Desire of Peace, have laid me under an indispensable Necessity of preparing for a different Situation.

"By the Act of the Governor of Buenos Ayres, in seizing by Force one of my Possessions, the Honour of my Crown, and the Security of my People's Rights, were become deeply affected. Under these Circumstances, I did not fail to make an immediate Demand from the Court of Spain, of such Satisfaction as I had a Right to expect for the Injury I had received. I directed also the necessary Preparations to be made, without Loss of Time, for enabling me to do myself Justice, in case my Requisition to the Court of Spain should fail of procuring it for me. And these Preparations, you may be assured, I shall not think it expedient to discontinue, until I shall have received proper Reparation for the Injury, as well as satisfactory Proof, that other Powers are equally sincere with myself in the Resolution to preserve the general Tranquillity of Europe. In the mean Time, I have called you together thus early, in order that I may be able to receive from you such Advice and Assistance, as, in the farther Progress of this very important Business, may happen to become requisite.

"With respect to the State of my Colonies in North America, although I have the Satisfaction to acquaint you, that the People in most of them have begun to depart from those Combinations, which were calculated to distress the Commerce of this Kingdom; yet, in some Parts of the Colony of the Massachusetts Bay, very unwarrantable Practices are still carried on, and my good Subjects oppressed by the same lawless Violence, which has too long prevailed in that Province.

I hope, and trust, that the Precautions, which have already been used for securing this Country against the Visitation of that fatal Calamity, which has of late appeared in some of the distant Parts of Europe, will, with the Blessing of God, prove successful. But if, from any Alteration of Circumstances, it should at any Time be found, that farther Provisions will be wanted, I cannot doubt of your ready Concurrence for so salutary a Purpose.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

"I will order the proper Estimates for the Service of the ensuing Year to be laid before you. They must unavoidably in our present Situation exceed the usual Amount. Every unnecessary Expence my Concern for the Ease of my good Subjects will ever make me careful to avoid. But I should neither consult their Interest, nor their Inclination, if I were to decline any Expence, which the public Security, or the Maintenance of the national Honour does at any Time require.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

"I am sensible how little I need say to you, at this Time, to prevail upon you to unite in whatever may best promote the true Interest of your Country. In all your Deliberations upon Points of a domestic Nature, let the Extension of our Commerce, the Improvement of the Revenue, and the Maintenance of Order and good Government, be always in your View. With respect to foreign Measures, there will, I am persuaded, be no other Contest among you, than who shall appear most forward in the Support of the common Cause, in upholding the Reputation, and promoting the Prosperity of the Kingdom. For the Attainment of these Ends, you shall ever find me ready to exert myself to the utmost. I have no Interest, I can have none, distinct from that of my People."

On Thursday the 15th, at a Court of Common-Council, it was resolved, That the Sum of forty Shillings for every able Seamen, and twenty Shillings for every ordinary Seaman, over and above the Bounty granted by his Majesty, be given during the Pleasure of the Court, and not exceeding one Month from this Day, to every such Seaman as shall enter at the Guildhall of this City into the Service of his Majesty's Navy, and carried in the Affirmative; and the standing Order of the Court for adjourning the Consideration of Questions, which in their Consequences may affect the Cash or Estates of the City upon this particular important Occasion, was by a Resolution suspended.—It was resolved and ordered, That the Remembrancer do immediately wait on the Right Hon. Sir Edward Hawke, First Lord Commissioner of the Admiralty, with a Copy of the Resolution fairly transcribed

Bounty for Sailors.

scribed and signed by the Town-Clerk, and signify the Request of this Court, that his Lordship will at a proper Opportunity lay the same before his Majesty, as an humble Testimony of their Zeal and Affection for his most sacred Person and Government.—A Committee was appointed, consisting of thirteen Aldermen and twenty-six Commoners, for carrying the above Resolution into Execution.

A Motion for a Remonstrance.

A Motion was made, that an humble Address, Remonstrance and Petition, be presented to his Majesty by this Court, touching the violated Right of Election, and praying a Dissolution of the present Parliament, which was declared to be carried in the Affirmative. A Division being demanded, there appeared seven Aldermen and seventy-three Commoners for the Question, and eight Aldermen and forty Commoners against it.

Committee appointed.

A Committee was then appointed, consisting of six Aldermen and twelve Commoners, to prepare the said Address, Remonstrance and Petition, who were ordered to withdraw immediately for that Purpose: And returning therewith, it was read and approved, ordered to be fairly transcribed, and signed by the Town-Clerk, and presented to his Majesty by the whole Court; and that the Sheriffs, attended by the Remembrancer, do wait on the King to know his royal Will and Pleasure when he will be pleased to receive the same.

Signed by the Town-Clerk.

Fire in Surry-Street.

On the 17th, in the Morning, a Fire broke out at the Coach-Office in the Strand, which entirely consumed the same, together with the House of — Neale, Esq; above it, and on the other Side, the House of Mr. Comyns the Quaker, who planned the taking of Senegal. The Flames raged with great Fury, and it was with much Difficulty Mr. Crosby, head Clerk of the Coach-Office, and three young Women, his Daughters, saved their Lives by getting along the Gutter on the Roof into the Garret of Robert Smith, Esq; whose House, having a strong Party-Wall, happily put a Stop to the farther Spreading of the Conflagration. Mrs. Comyns, Mother of Mr. Comyns, being old, was carried out on a Feather-bed.

Commotion in the King's-Bench Prison.

On Monday the 19th, in Consequence of some Movements, which had lately been observed among the Prisoners in the King's-Bench, owing to a Notion, lately propagated, that the Confinement of any Subject for Debt, until after Judgment given, is illegal, and contrary to Magna Charta, one Mr. Stevens, a Prisoner in the said Gaol, appeared, by Habeas Corpus, before Lord Mansfield, to plead the above Argument. But after a long Speech on the Illegality of his being kept in Confinement, he was told by the Court, that he must be remanded there again; on which he addressed himself to Lord Mansfield, desiring this Lordship would send for the Marshal, and order him to take care of the Prisoners, for that as soon as he returned they were determined to do themselves Justice, by procuring their own Enlargement by Force. Accordingly, when the Account of his Ill-success arrived at the Prison, those confined there immediately rose, secured the Turnkeys, and seven of them, who were in upon Writs of ad satisfaci- dum, made their Escape. The Marshal then sent directly to the Tower for a Party of Guards, by which the rest were secured.

On Wednesday the 21st, at One o'Clock, Brass Crosby, Esq; Lord Mayor of this City, attended by Aldermen Trecotbick, Stevenson, Townsend, and Oliver, the two Sheriffs, and about an hundred of the Common-Council, proceeded from Guildhall to St. James's, to present to his Majesty the City Remonstrance. They arrived about Two o'Clock, and were introduced to his Majesty by the Lords in waiting, when the Remonstrance was read by Sir James Hodges, Town-Clerk, (the Recorder not attending.)

City Remonstrance presented.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address, Remonstrance and Petition, of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council assembled.

"We, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council assembled, most humbly beg leave to approach your Majesty, and most sincerely to lay again at the Foot of the Throne our aggravated Grievances, and earnest Supplications. Although, through the Prevalence of evil Counsellors, our just Complaints have hitherto met with Repulse and Reprimand, nevertheless we will not forego the last Consolation of the Unhappy, Hope, that our Sufferings will at length find an End from the innate Goodness of your Majesty: the gracious Effects of which have, to our unspeakable Grief, been intercepted from your injured People by a fatal Conspiracy of malevolent Influences around the Throne.

City Remonstrance.

"We, therefore, again implore your Majesty, in this sad Crisis, with Hearts big with Sorrow, and warm with Affection, not to be induced by false Suggestions, contrary to the Bignity of your royal Nature, to shut up your paternal Compassion and Justice against the Prayers of unhappy Subjects; claiming, as we now again presume to do, with equal Humility and freeborn Plainness, our indisputable Birthrights, Freedom of Election and Right of Petitioning.

"We have seen the known Law of the Land, the sure Guardian of Right, trodden down; and, by the Influence of daring Ministers, arbitrary Discretion, the Law of Tyrants, set up to overthrow the Choice of the Electors, and nominate to a Seat in Parliament, a Person not chosen by the People.

"Your Majesty's Throne is founded on the free Exercise of this great Right of Election;—to preserve it inviolate, is true Loyalty;—to undermine and destroy it, is the most compendious Treason against the whole Constitution.

"Deign then, Sir, amidst the complicated Dangers which surround us, to restore Satisfaction and Harmony to your faithful Subjects, by removing from your Majesty's Presence all evil Counsellors, and by recurring to the recent Sense of your People taken in a new Parliament.

"By such an Exertion alone of your own royal Wisdom and Virtue, the various Wounds of the Constitution can be effectually healed; and, by Representatives freely chosen, and acting independently independently, the salutary Awe of Parliament cannot fail to secure to us that sacred Bulwark of English Liberty, the Trial by Jury, against the dangerous Designs of those who have dared openly to attempt to mutilate its Power, and destroy its Efficacy.

"So will Dissatisfaction and national Weakness change at once into public Confidence, Order, Strength, and Dignity; and this boasted Constitution of England, so late the Envy of Nations, no longer held forth to the Derision of Europe, Electors not suffered to elect, Juries forbid to judge of the whole Matter in issue before them, and dutiful Petitioners, remonstrating the most flagrant Grievances, branded by the Ministers who oppress them, as seditionous Infractions of that Constitution which we religiously revere, and, together with your Majesty's sacred Person, will unceasingly defend against all Enemies and Betrayers."

His MAJESTY'S Answer.

"As I have seen no Reason to alter the Opinion expressed in my Answer to your Address upon this Subject, I cannot comply with the Prayer of your Petition."

Lord Mayor refuses to back Press-Warrants.

On the 4th of December, all the Rendezvous Lieutenants attended the Lord Mayor to have their new Warrants backed for Pressing; who refused so to do, alledging that the City Bounty was intended to prevent such Violences. And on the 14th, at the Court of Common-Council, a Motion was made that the Thanks of this Court be given to the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor and Committee, for their Care and Diligence in prosecuting the Intentions of this Court to procure Seamen for his Majesty's Service, by which Means the former disagreeable Method of pressing Seamen has become unnecessary, and to testify our Duty to his Majesty, our Reverence for the Constitution, our Love to our Country, and our particular Regard for this City; which was unanimously agreed to.

A Regulation of the Corn-Market.

On the 4th of January, 1771, the Lord Mayor made a most useful Regulation upon the Corn-Market in Mark-Lane.—The Meal-Weighers, by Order of his Lordship, took an exact Account of the Quantities of Wheat bought, the different Prices given, and the Purchasers Names. This Register was stuck up in the most conspicuous Part of the Market, to the great Pleasure of the Public, but great Mortification of the Wheat-Buyers, Millers, Factors, &c. who were so incensed, that they abused and insulted the Officer, obliterated their Names, and even attempted to tear down the Register. This excellent Plan will be the Means of preventing Collusions, and of discovering the Ingrossers of this Article, which is justly termed the Staff of Life.

Royal Academy of Artists.

On Monday Night the 14th, the Royal Academy met at their new Apartments in Somerset-House, for the first Time. It is said to be the most superb of any Academy in the World, and the best stocked with Casts after the Antique. Sir Josua Reynolds took the Lecturer's Chair, for a few Minutes, to expatiate on the Indulgence his Majesty has shewn to the Arts by conferring on them such Honour, in presenting the Academy with Apartments in a Royal Palace; afterwards

Mr. Sanby, Professor of Architecture, read his Lecture. There were present with the Academy, the Duke of Cumberland, and several of the Nobility, Gentry, &c.

The Thames was frozen quite across near Richmond and Hammer-smith.

At a Court of Common-Council held on the 15th at Guildhall, the Bounty to Seamen was ordered to be continued for a Month longer.

It was moved, and agreed to, that the Thanks of this Court be given to the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor, and such of the Aldermen who have refused to back Press-Warrants in this City, or have discharged pressed Men.

Mr. Alderman Wilkes gave Notice, that as soon as the present Hurry of Business was over, he should humbly move that Court should take into Consideration the restoring to the several Wards of this City their ancient Right of annually electing their own Aldermen.

And on Wednesday the 16th, the Committee appointed to give Directions for the Statue of the Right Honourable William Beckford, late Lord Mayor, deceased, met at Guildhall for that Purpose, when four Models were produced, and the Committee proceeded to elect, by Ballot, the Person to execute the Design; on the Close of the Ballot there appeared to be eight for the Model exhibited by Mr. John Moore, and four for that produced by Mr. Agostin Carlini, (the Number of the Committee present being twelve,) on which the Election was declared to be fallen on Mr. John Moore.

On Tuesday the 22d, the Earl of Rockford, Secretary of State for the Southern Department, sent a Letter to the Lord Mayor of this City, of which the following is an exact Copy:

St. James's, January 22, 1771.

My Lord,

"I take the earliest Opportunity of informing your Lordship, that the Spanish Ambassador hath this Day, at Two o'Clock, signed a Declaration relative to the Expedition against Fort Egmont in Falkland Island, which his Majesty has been pleased to accept.

Earl of Rockford's Letter.

I am, my Lord,

Your Lordship's most obedient

Humble Servant,

Lord Mayor.

ROCHFORD."

At a Court of Common-Council held at Guildhall, the Report of the Committee for making a navigable Canal from Monkey-Island to Isleworth was approved, and a Petition to Parliament, founded on the said Report, was prepared, agreed to, and ordered, in the usual Form, to be presented to the House of Commons, and to be prosecuted by the said Committee.

City Petition concerning the Canal at Monkey-Island.

A Motion was made that the Committee appointed by this Court the 5th of July, 1770, to employ fit and proper Persons to erect in the Guildhall of this City the Statue of the Right Honourable William Beckford, late Lord Mayor, deceased, be empowered to draw on the Chamber for the further Sum of five hundred Pounds for that Purpose, and agreed to.

And next Day the Committee for giving a Bounty to Seamen met at Guildhall, when the Lord Mayor, in the Chair, acquainted them with the Receipt of the said Letter from Lord Rockford, relating to a Declaration on the Part of his Catholic Majesty. On which it was resolved to suspend the Bounty to, and Entry of Seamen, until the further Orders of the Committee.

CHAP XIV.

Petition to the House of Commons against the Bill for embanking the Thames near Durham-Yard. Opinion of Council relative to refractory Companies. The Case of the Printers, the House of Commons, and royal Proclamation. Their Discharge, and the Imprisonment of the Messenger of the House. Lord Mayor ordered to attend the House, and Consequences. Thanks from the Common-Council to the Lord Mayor, Alderman Wilkes and Alderman Oliver. Moved by Habeas Corpus, and recommitted. The Case of the Lord Mayor debated in the Court of Common Pleas. Petition to the House of Peers against Embankment, and to the King. Lord Mayor and Alderman Oliver conducted from the Tower. A Noli Prosequi issued for the Messenger of the House of Commons. Resolutions and Committee concerning Mackarel, and Commitment of the Lord Mayor, and Embankment. Report of Committee concerning refractory Companies. Proceedings on Midsummer-Day.

Petition against the Bill for embanking.

ON Thursday the 28th of February was held a Common-Council, in which it was unanimously agreed to petition the House of Commons, that the Bill depending in that House, for Leave to embank a certain Part of the River Thames, near Durham-Yard, might not pass into a Law; and that the City might be heard by Council: to be delivered by a Committee, attended by the City Remembrancer.

Opinion of Council concerning the Grocers, &c.

The Counsellors applied to for their Opinion relative to the Conduct and Disobedience of the Goldsmiths, Grocers and Weavers Companies, refusing to obey the Precept of the Lord Mayor, except in Cases of Elections; Messrs. Wedderburn, Glynn and Dunning were unanimously of Opinion, That the Masters and Wardens of the said Companies are bound to obey the Lord Mayor's Precepts, and are liable to be disfranchised for Refusal: That the Common Serjeant is obliged to file an Information in the Lord Mayor's Court for that Purpose, by the Direction of a Court of Aldermen and Common-Council, or by Order of the Common-Hall, and liable to criminal Prosecution for not obeying such Orders.

Proclamation against Printers.

Certain Printers, about this Time, when the Patriots devised every Method to inform the Public with the ministerial Measures, and the Proceedings of the Parliament, published the Debates of the House of Commons. The House of Commons alledging this Publication in Newspapers to be in Breach of their Privileges, they commanded the Attendance of one John Wheble,

Publisher of the Middlesex Journal, and R. Thompson, Printer of the Gazetteer, two Papers in which the said Debates had been printed, to answer at the Bar of their House for the same. But Wheble and Thompson refusing to obey the mandatory Resolution of the House of Commons, the said House addressed the Throne, requesting that a royal Proclamation should be issued, offering a Reward of Fifty Pounds for the apprehending of each; which was done accordingly, and Wheble was apprehended in Consequence of the said Proclamation. An Event that brought on an Enquiry into the Legality of parliamentary Privilege, to deprive a Subject of his Liberty by virtue of a Warrant from their Speaker. For it thus standeth in the Rota Book at the Guildhall of London:

Wheble apprehended.

Mr. Wheble discharged in Opposition to the Royal Proclamation.

Guildhall, March 15, 1771.

"John Wheble, the Publisher of the Middlesex Journal, was this Day brought before Mr. Alderman Wilkes at Guildhall, by Edward Twine Carpenter, a Printer, being apprehended by him in Consequence of a Proclamation in the London Gazette of Saturday the 9th of March instant; but the said Edward Twine Carpenter not having any other Reason for apprehending the said Mr. Wheble than what appeared in that Proclamation, the said Mr. Wheble was discharged; and then the said Mr. Wheble charged Carpenter for assaulting and unlawfully imprisoning him, and on his making Oath of the Offence, and entering into a Recognizance to prosecute Carpenter at the next Sessions in London, Carpenter was ordered to find Sureties to answer for this Offence, which he did, himself being bound in 40*l.* and his two Sureties in 20*l.* each, and was thereupon discharged.—Carpenter requested a Certificate of his having apprehended Wheble, which was given to him.

Discharged.

Edward Twine Carpenter, charged with assaulting, &c. the said Wheble.

Guildhall, March 15, 1771.

"This is to certify, that John Wheble, the Publisher of the Middlesex Journal, was this Day apprehended and brought before me, one of his Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the City of London, by Edward Twine Carpenter, of Hosier-Lane, London, Printer.

JOHN WILKES, Alderman."

Immediately after this Mr. Wilkes wrote the following:

To the Right Honourable the Earl of Halifax, one of his Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State.

Guildhall of London, March 15, 1771.

My Lord,

"I had the Honour of officiating this Day as the Sitting Justice at Guildhall. John Wheble, the Publisher of the Middlesex Journal, a Freeman of London, was apprehended and brought before me by Edward Twine Carpenter, who appears neither to be a Constable, nor Peace-Officer of this City. I demanded of what Crime Wheble was accused, and if Oath had been made of his having committed any Felony, or Breach of the Peace, or if he lay under a Suspicion strong enough to justify his Apprehension or Detention? Carpenter answered, that he did not accuse Wheble of any Crime, but had apprehended him merely in

Letter from Mr. Wilkes to Lord Halifax.

Consequence

Consequence of his Majesty's Proclamation, for which he claimed the Reward of fifty Pounds. As I found that there was no legal Cause of Complaint against Wheble, I thought it clearly my Duty to adjudge, that he had been apprehended in the City illegally, in direct Violation of the Rights of an Englishman, and of the chartered Privileges of a Citizen of this Metropolis, and to discharge him. He then made a formal Complaint of the Assault upon him by Carpenter; I therefore bound him over to prosecute in a Recognizance of forty Pounds, and Carpenter to appear and answer the Complaint at the next Quarter Sessions of the Peace for this City in a Recognizance of forty Pounds himself, with two Sureties in Recognizances of twenty Pounds each.

I am, my Lord,
Your Lordship's most obedient,
Humble Servant,
JOHN WILKES."

Previous to his Apprehension Mr. Wheble sent the following Letter, with the annexed Case and Opinion, to Sir Fletcher Norton, the Speaker of the House of Commons.

To the Right Honourable Sir Fletcher Norton, Knt.
Speaker of the House of Commons.

S I R,

Wheble's Letter to the Speaker.

"On my Return last Monday Night from the Country, whither my Business had carried me, I was much astonished to be informed, that some Persons, pretending to be the Deputy Serjeant and Messengers of the House of Commons, had called several Times at my House in my Absence, declaring their Intention to take me into Custody by virtue of a pretended Warrant from you; and that a Writing had appeared in the Gazette, under the Form of a pretended Proclamation by his Majesty's Authority, to order all his Majesty's loving Subjects to apprehend John Wheble; and to forbid all Persons to conceal him at their Peril. In Consequence of this Information, being better versed in Printing than in Law, I thought it proper to take the Advice of Counsel learned in the Law upon my Case; being desirous to yield an entire Submission to the Laws of my Country, and knowing no Reason why I should conceal myself, or why I should be apprehended, having never been guilty of any Breach of those Laws. Inclosed I have sent you a Copy of my Counsel's Opinion, which I humbly desire you to lay before the House, and to inform the honourable House, that I am determined to yield no Obedience but to the Laws of the Land, and shall therefore abide by my learned Counsel's Opinion.

I am, in all lawful Commands,
Your Honour's humble Servant,
J. WHEBLE."

Paternoster-Row, March 14, 1771.

Case for Mr. Morris's Opinion.

Jovis, 21 die Februarij, 1771.

"Ordered, That J. Wheble do attend this House upon Tuesday Morning next.

"Ordered, That the Service of the said Order, by leaving a Copy of the same at the usual Place of Abode of the said J. Wheble, be deemed equal to personal Service, and be good Service.

J. HATSELL, Cl. Dom. Com."

"THE above Writing, which is by some supposed to be a Copy of an Order, or pretended Order, of the House of Commons, was left, upon Friday, February 22, 1771, at the House of Mr. John Wheble, within the City of London, being put into the Hands of one of his Servants by a Person who stiled himself Messenger to the House of Commons.

"Upon Thursday, February 28, a Person called at Mr. Wheble's House, and shewed a Paper Writing, which he pretended to be some Warrant or Authority from the Speaker of the House of Commons, directing him to take John Wheble into Custody, for his Contempt in not obeying the Orders of the House for his Attendance on that House.

"Upon Saturday, March 9, a Paper, in the Form of a royal Proclamation, appeared in the Gazette, intituled, By the King, A Proclamation for apprehending John Wheble and R. Thompson.

"Mr. Wheble did not appear to the above Summons, neither has he been apprehended upon the pretended Warrant of the Speaker, or the pretended Proclamation.

QUESTIONS.

"I. Suppose the Paper Writing first abovementioned to be a Copy of a genuine Order of the House of Commons, is John Wheble, at whose House the same was left, by Law requirable to attend agreeable to the Tenor thereof?

"II. If John Wheble is so requirable to attend by Law, he having neglected so to do, what Penalties is he liable to, and by what Means would it have been legal to proceed against him?

"III. If the pretended Warrant of the Speaker is authentic, was John Wheble obliged to pay Obedience thereto, by surrendering himself a Prisoner to the Person who carried with him the same, and called himself a Messenger of the House?

"IV. Taking the Paper which appeared in the Gazette really to be the King's Proclamation, is the same a legal Process, and a sufficient Warrant to such as may venture to act under it?

"Upon the whole, Mr. Morris is desired to give his Opinion on the above stated Case to Mr. Wheble, and as Counsel to advise what Conduct he ought by Law to observe upon this Occasion."

COUNSEL'S OPINION.

"I HAVE attentively perused the above written Case, and though, from the bad Designs which appear to be formed against the Liberties of the People, there may be Danger in giving Opinion, which some of my Profession would chuse to avoid, I shall, as it becomes an honest and firm Man, proceed to give Mr. Wheble my Counsel, without Attention to any other Object than the Laws and Constitution of this free Country.

ANSWERS.

"To the first Question, I am most clearly and decisively of Opinion, that Mr. Wheble is not compellable by Law to attend the House of Commons in pursuance of the written Order above stated. If the Grounds upon which the Order of Attendance was issued by the House of Commons had been made Part of the present Case, I would then give my Opinion, whether that Assembly had any Authority at all, or in what Cases, to compel an Attendance upon them; but as they are not, I must take up the Matter upon the Summons mons alone. It is now therefore of no Consequence what was the Cause that required Attendance; because I, as Counsel, can take as little Notice of it upon the Case before me, as Mr. Wheble could upon a Sight of the Summons, beyond which he had no need to look. The Order itself is worded in so injudicial and unclerk-like a Manner, that it is covered with Objections almost from the first Letter to the last. (1.) I know not that an Englishman is required to understand Latin, especially since the Act of Parliament, that all Process of the Law shall be in English, and in no other Language whatsoever; amongst other Process, Orders being particularly enumerated, if this Order be not a Process of Law, it can have no Effect; and if it is, it ought to be in English; whereas the Order in Question contains Words in a strange Language, without having the Exemption of being technical Latin Words. (2.) J. Wheble is a Description of nobody, it might as well have been written Eye Wheble, or Nose Wheble, either of them would be as much the Name of John Wheble as the former. Besides, a Person is not legally named without a proper Addition of Quality and Abode, which is not so much as attempted at in this pretended Order. (3.) The Place of Attendance is not sufficiently expressed; this House is more properly the House of John Wheble, where the Order was left, than any other House, for there is no Date of Place to the Order; Mr. Wheble therefore best attended this Order by staying at home. (4.) The Date of Time being expressed in a foreign Tongue, which an Englishman need not to understand or attend to, the Day of Attendance became consequently uncertain; Tuesday Morning next having no Day which it is next to follow. (5.) Another Objection lies to this Part of the Order, that the Morning of a Day is too indefinite to fix an Attendance; the Law requiring that an Hour as well as a Day should be specified in every Order of Attendance. (6.) If the House of Commons had Power to issue this Summons, it ought to be signed by the Speaker, and not by a Person using certain cabalistical Expressions, which may possibly be construed to mean Clerk of the House of Commons. The Speaker ought also to recite that he had an express Authority given him by the House, before he presumes to issue any Summons or Warrant whatsoever. It is the Office of the Speaker, and not of the Clerk, to authenticate the Acts of the House. (7.) But the greatest of Objections to the Order lies in the Want of expressing the Cause upon which the Attendance is required. It cannot be pretended, by any Person, that the House of Commons have an arbitrary Right to require the Attendance of Man, Woman, or Child, at their Pleasure, without having any parliamentary Cause whatsoever for such an Attendance. There may be such a Thing as a Summons (issued by the Commons) illegal, for want of Jurisdiction; therefore the Cause of Attendance should be expressed; that the Party upon whom it was served, or others, where it concerned them, might judge whether the Cause of Attendance was legal and sufficient for the Summons. That Cause not being expressed, it must be taken to be illegal and insufficient; from the Maxim of the Law,

"that the same Rule holds with respect to those Matters which do not appear, as to those which do not exist." In fact, upon the Face of the Order it appears to be illegal, and what Mr. Wheble neither needed or ought to have obeyed.

"2d Qu. The first Question being answered in the Negative, the second requires no Consideration; but if the Attendance was legally requirable, pursuant to the above Order, it would not be difficult to shew what Penalties the refusing Party would be liable to upon resort to the legal Courts of Justice, which have Cognizance of such Offences.

"3d Qu. If the Summons be invalid, the subsequent Warrant by the Speaker must necessarily be invalid also; for the Defects of the Summons were not cured by any Appearance of Mr. Wheble. A Form of a Warrant no more makes a legal Authority (for so much the Word imports) than a Constable's Staff makes a Peace-Officer. If the Warrant were legal, a Messenger of the House is not a proper Person for executing it; but only the Serjeant at Arms, and the Deputy-Serjeant. But these are Trifles with respect to the Question; for the Answer is most plain and positive, that the Speaker of the House of Commons is no more a Magistrate appointed to issue Warrants of Apprehension, than the House itself is a Court of Justice appointed to punish. Neither one nor the other have those Powers; and when they usurp them, the People have a Right to treat them as Invaders of their Liberties: particularly the immediate Object of the Tyranny has Authority, by the Law of this Country, and by the Law of God, to defend his Liberty and Person by Force and Arms against such illegal Attempts, though he should be obliged to sacrifice, in the Protection of himself from the Violence, all the Serjeants, all the Messengers, and even the Speaker himself of the House of Commons.—I must add, that a Warrant of Apprehension, grounded upon a supposed Contempt, always carries with it an Argument against its own Legality. No Contempts of the House of Commons are punishable by themselves; they can only restrain instant and open Contempts committed by the Party in the Face of the House. A Warrant to apprehend shows that the Party does not, in the Presence of the House, disturb its Debates, or obstruct its Authority; such being the only legal Idea of a CONTEMPT.

"4th Qu. This Question admits of no Hesitation or Dispute. The pretended Proclamation of the King is clearly illegal. Proclamations have no intrinsic Force in this Country; nor have they any at all but by special Act of Parliament. They may serve at other Times to intimate to the People the Necessity and Inclination of the Prince to put particular Laws in Execution. If they introduce a new Law, they are truly inefficacious. The Constitution of this Country has not trusted to the King, with whom so much Power is placed, the Authority of apprehending or committing any Subjects of the Realm. That Authority is left alone to the Magistrates, and to the Courts of Justice. But had the Proclamation in other Respects been a legal Warrant for apprehending John Wheble, many many Objections would still lie to the Form and Contents of it. If any Person apprehends Mr. Wheble, in pursuance of this Proclamation, he ought to be prosecuted by Action or Indictment; and any Magistrate, before whom Mr. Wheble is brought, ought, if he does his Duty, to set him at large, and commit the Assailant upon his Person, (whether he be a King's Herald or a Speaker's Messenger) unless he can give good Bail for his Appearance. Persons are liable to no Penalty for concealing or not discovering Mr. Wheble, as is falsely insinuated in the Proclamation. Neither the Officers of the Customs or others have a Right to examine Persons passing beyond the Seas. This Proclamation has not the Force of a Ne exeat regno. All the loving Subjects of his Majesty, as they tender the Safety of the King's Person, and his Right to the Crown, both which are secured by the Laws, ought, instead of obeying this Proclamation, to be assistant in opposing its Execution. As Individuals have a Right to protect their own Liberty, so have others a Right to interpose in their Behalf.

"Upon the Whole, I do advise Mr. Wheble to pay no Attention or Obedience either to the abovementioned Summons, Warrant of Apprehension, or Proclamation. All are equally unjust and illegal. Mr. Wheble will be protected in his Resistance by Magna Charta, and by numerous Statutes which confirm our invaluable Code of Liberties. The Proclamation moreover seems to me to levy a cruel War upon two Individuals without Colour of Law; and I do give it as my Opinion, that Mr. Wheble may well institute an Action upon the Case, against the Counsellors, Promoters, Aiders, Abettors and Publishers thereof.

Lincoln's-Inn,
March 14, 1771.

R. MORRIS."

Thompson discharged.

Mr. Thompson, the Printer of the Gazetteer, was apprehended on Friday the 15th Instant, in the Evening, and discharged by Mr. Alderman Oliver, upon the same Principle which had discharged Mr. Wheble.

The same Day Mr. Miller, the Printer of the London Evening-Post, was taken up by Virtue of the following Warrant from Sir Fletcher Norton:

Copy of a Warrant for apprehending Mr. Miller.

Warrant against Miller, a Printer.

"Whereas the House of Commons did, on Thursday the fourteenth Day of this instant March, adjudge and order, that J. Miller (for whom the News-Paper, intitled, The London Evening-Post, from Thursday March 7, to Saturday March 9, 1771, purports to be printed, and of which Paper a Complaint was made in the House of Commons on the said fourteenth Day of March) be, for his Contempt in not obeying the Order of the said House, for his Attendance on the House upon Thursday the said fourteenth Day of this instant March, taken into the Custody of the Serjeant at Arms, or his Deputy, attending the said House:

These are therefore to require you forthwith to take into your Custody the Body of the said J. Miller, and him safely keep during the Pleasure of the said House; and all Mayors, Bailiffs, Sheriffs, Under-Sheriffs, Constables, and Headboroughs, and every other Person or Persons, are hereby required to be aiding and assisting to you or your Deputy in the Execution thereof. For which this shall be your sufficient Warrant. Given under my Hand the fifteenth Day of March, One Thousand seven Hundred and Seventy-one.

FL. NORTON, Speaker."

To Nicholas Bonfoy, Esq; Serjeant at Arms attending the House of Commons, or John Clementson, Esq; his Deputy, or to William Wittam, one of the Messengers attending the House of Commons.

"A true Copy, examined with the Original, by us
JOHN REYNOLDS,
JAMES MORGAN."

Discharged by the Lord Mayor.

Mr. Miller, finding the Messenger had no Warrant from any Magistrate of the City of London to take him into Custody, sent for a Constable, into whose Charge he delivered the Messenger, and he was in Consequence taken to the Mansion-House; where the Lord Mayor appointed Six o'Clock for hearing the Merits of the Cause. At the Hour appointed Mr. Miller and the Messenger were brought before the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor, and Messrs. Aldermen Oliver and Wilkes; when, previous to the Examination, the Deputy Serjeant at Arms appeared, and declared, that hearing the Messenger was in Custody, he was come, by Order of the Speaker, to demand that the said Messenger, together with John Miller, should be delivered up to him; but his Lordship proceeded in the Business, and declared, that the seizing a Freeman of London in that City, without a Warrant signed by a Magistrate of the said City, was contrary to its Laws and Constitution; he therefore discharged Mr. Miller. Mr. M. then fully proved, by three Witnesses, the Assault made upon him by the Messenger; when he was ordered to give Bail, to take his Trial at the Quarter Sessions to be holden for the City, when several Gentlemen present offered to be bound for his Appearance; but this having been absolutely refused, the Lord Mayor ordered a Warrant to be made out for his Commitment, which was signed by his Lordship, Messrs. Oliver and Wilkes. The Deputy Serjeant then, and not till then, declared that he had Orders to refuse giving Bail for the Messenger till after the Lord Mayor should have signed the Commitment (supposing that his Lordship would not have proceeded so far) but that now having seen the Commitment signed, he was willing to give the Bail required, and it was accordingly accepted. The Deputy Serjeant then returned to make his Report.

Discharged.

The Lord Mayor commits the Messenger.

The Lord Mayor having thus discharged Mr. Miller upon a Principle different from that on which Mr. Wheble and Mr. Thompson were enlarged, having dismissed him not on Account of his asserted Innocence, but because the Warrant by which he was arrested was executed without being backed by any City Magistrate: the following Authorities both from History and Law have appeared in Justification of his Lordship.

Reasons

Authorities from History and Law to support the Conduct of the Lord Mayor.

Extract from Bishop Burnet's History of his own Time.

The History of the Reign of King Charles II. 1680.

How founded.

"The Commons also impeached several of the Judges, and Mr. Seymour. The Judges were accused for some illegal Charges and Judgments, and Seymour for Corruption and Mal-Administration in the Office of Treasurer of the Navy. They impeached Scroggs for High Treason: But it was visible that the Matters objected to him were only Misdemeanors; so the Lords rejected the Impeachment, which was carried chiefly by the Earl of Danby's Party, and in Favour to him. The Commons did also assert the Right of the People to petition for a Parliament; and because some in their Counter-Petitions had expressed their Abhorrence of this Practice, they voted these Abhorers to be Betrayers of the Liberties of the Nation. They expelled one Withins out of their House for signing one of these, though the Man with great Humility confessed his Fault, and begged Pardon for it. The Merit of this raised him soon to be a Judge, for indeed he had no other Merit. They fell also on Sir George Jefferies, a furious Declaimer at the Bar; but he was raised by that, as well as by this Prosecution. The House did likewise send their Serjeant to many Parts of England to bring up Abhorers as Delinquents; upon which the Right that they had to imprison any besides their own Members came to be much questioned, since they could not receive any Information upon Oath, nor proceed against such as refused to appear before them. In many Places those for whom they sent their Serjeant refused to come up. It was found that such Practices were grounded on no Law, and were no older than Queen Elizabeth's Time. While the House of Commons used that Power gently, it was submitted to in Respect to it; but now it grew to be so much extended, that many resolved not to submit to it."

An Alder-man's Oath.

Extract from the Oath taken by every Alderman.

"Ye shall swear that — the Laws and Franchises of the City ye shall keep and maintain, within the City and without, after your Wit and Power."

Magna Charta, Ch. 9.

Magna Charta.

Civitas London habeat omnes Libertates suas antiquas et Consuetudines suas. The City of London shall have all the old Liberties and Customs which it hath been used to have.

Charter of King Edward III. in 1327, with Consent of Parliament, to the City of London.

Charter of Edward
III.

"No Summons, Attachment, or Execution, shall be made by any of the Officers of us or our Heirs, by Writ or without Writ, within the Liberty of the said City, but only by Ministers of the said City."

Edward
IV.

Charter of King Edward IV. in 1460.

"The same Mayor and Commonalty and Citizens, and their Successors, shall have, in the said Town, the Execution of all Manner of Writs, Commandments, Precepts, Extracts, and Warrants, with the Return of the same, by such their Minister or Deputy whom they shall thereunto use."

Anno secundo Gulielmi et Mariæ, 1690, cap. 8.

"And be it further declared and enacted <sup>2 Will. and Mary.</sup> by the Authority aforesaid, That the Mayor and Commonalty and Citizens of the City of London shall and may for ever hereafter remain, continue, and be, and prescribe to be, a Body Corporate and Politic, in re, facto et nomine, by the Name of "Mayor and Commonalty and Citizens of the City of London;" and by that Name, and all and every other Name or Names of Incorporation, by which they at any Time before the said Judgment were incorporated, to sue, plead, and be impleaded, and to answer and to be answered, without any Seizure or Fore-judger of the said Franchise, Liberty, and Privilege, or being thereof excluded or ousted, for or upon any Pretence of any Forfeiture or Misdemeanor at any Time heretofore, or hereafter to be done, committed, or suffered; and the said Mayor and Commonalty and Citizens of the said City shall and may, as by Law they ought, peaceably have and enjoy all and every their Rights, Gifts, Charters, Grants, Liberties, Privileges, Franchises, Customs, Usages, Constitutions, Prescriptions, Immunities, Markets, Duties, Tolls, Lands, Tenements, Estates, and Hereditaments whatsoever, which they lawfully had, or had lawful Right, Title or Interest of, in, or to, at the Time of the recording or giving the said Judgment, or at the Time or Times of the said pretended Forfeitures."

What can be more alarming to the Liberties of a free Nation, says a Correspondent, than the late Warrant of the Speaker of the House of Commons against J. Miller? The Serjeant at Arms, his Deputy, and the Messenger, are ordered forthwith to take into Custody the Body of the said J. Miller, and him safely keep during the Pleasure of the said House, not until he is delivered by due Course of Law; so that the House of Commons now assume the Right of Imprisoning, during their Pleasure, every Man whom they dislike, before any Oath is made of any Offence against the Laws, or a Jury have found any Matter criminal against the Person. Is this the English Constitution! is it not rather assuming a Power not warranted by the Constitution, and subjecting the Rights of Englishmen, and the Freedom of their Persons, to the arbitrary Votes of the House of Commons? By such a Mode of proceeding are not Juries rendered useless? The Crown claims no such Power as that of Imprisonment during Pleasure, nor has the Law trusted such an Authority with any Subjects whatsoever.

In Consequence of these Proceedings in the City, the Lord Mayor received an Order to attend in his Place, on the 19th of March, in the House of Commons.

The Lord
Mayor ordered to attend
the House.

A Hand-Bill, addressed to the Liverymen, Freemen, and Citizens of London was early distributed on the 19th of March, in all Parts of the Town, acquainting the Inhabitants, that though the Lord Mayor had been confined to his Room for Attended.

for sixteen Days with a severe Fit of the Gout, and was still much indisposed, he was determined to be this Day in his Seat at the House of Commons, to support their Rights and Privileges, even though he should be obliged to be carried in a Litter, and that he was to leave the Mansion-House at One o'Clock. In Consequence of the above a very numerous Concourse of People were assembled by Noon in Cheapside, but no Disorder was committed.

About a Quarter past Two o'Clock his Lordship, attended by some Hundreds of the Populace, and accompanied by Mr. Alderman Oliver, in another Coach, went up to the House.

Questioned concerning the Commitment signed for the Messenger.

When the Lord Mayor arrived, he was questioned concerning his Conduct at the Mansion-House on Friday, in signing a Warrant of Commitment for one of the Messengers of that House to the Compter; to which his Lordship replied, "that he had only done his Duty as Chief Magistrate of the City of London, having acted conformably to his Oath and the Charters of the said City, by which he was bound to protect the Persons, Property, and Franchises of his Fellow-Citizens." After some Time spent in Debate, his Lordship told Mr. Trecotbick, that he was extremely ill, and wished to withdraw. Mr. Trecotbick acquainted the Speaker, who recommended his Lordship to go up to his Room; but his Lordship asked whether or not there was a Bed there, as he wished to retire to Rest; the Premier rose up, and said, as his Lordship was ill, no Gentlemen, he presumed, could have any Objection to his returning home; and no Objections being made, the further Debate on the Affair was deferred till Tuesday next; and his Lordship returned home, attended by a very great Number of People of all Ranks and Degrees, both on Horse and on Foot. In the Mayor's Return the Populace took the Horses out of the Carriage at St. Paul's, and drew the Coach to the Mansion-House.

On the 20th, at half an Hour after Eight, John Wilkes, Esq; received an Order to attend the House of Commons that Day, upon which he sent the following Letter to the Speaker.

SIR, London, March 20, 1771.

Order for Mr. Wilkes to attend the House: And his Answer.

"I this Morning received an Order commanding my Attendance this Day in the House of Commons. I observe that no Notice is taken of me in your Order as a Member of the House, and that I am not required to attend in my Place. Both these Circumstances, according to the settled Form, ought to have been mentioned in my Case, and I hold them absolutely indispensable. In the Name of the Freeholders of Middlesex I again demand my Seat in Parliament, having the Honour of being freely chosen by a very great Majority one of the Representatives for the said County. I am ready to take the Oath prescribed by Law, and to give in my Qualification as Knight of the Shire. When I have been admitted to my Seat, I will immediately give the House the most exact Detail, which will necessarily comprehend a full Justification, of my Conduct relative to the late illegal Proclamation equally injurious to the Honour of the Crown and the Rights of the Subject, and likewise the whole Business of the Printers. I have acted entirely from a Sense of Duty to this great City, whose Franchises I am sworn to maintain, and to my Country, whose noble Constitution I reverence, and whose Liberties at the Price of my Blood to the last Moment of my Life I will defend and support.

I am, Sir,

Your most humble Servant,

JOHN WILKES."

At a Court of Common-Council held on the 1st of March, it was then moved to return Thanks to the Lord Mayor, and the Aldermen Wilkes and Oliver, for their late Conduct; which was carried without any Division.

The Resolution was, "That the Thanks of this Court be given to the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor, and the Aldermen Wilkes and Oliver, for having, on a late important Occasion, supported the Privileges and Franchises of the City, and defended our excellent Constitution." It was afterwards ordered to be signed by the Town-Clerk, and a Copy delivered to each of them.

Thanks to the Lord Mayor and Aldermen Wilkes and Oliver.

A Motion was made, and carried, "That a Committee of four Aldermen, and eight Commoners, be appointed to assist the Lord Mayor, and the Aldermen Wilkes and Oliver, in their Defence on the Charge brought against them by the House of Commons." The following were appointed: Aldermen, Sir Wm. Stephenson, Sir Charles Asgill, Mr. Alderman Turner, Mr. Alderman Kirkman. Commoners, Mr. Deputy Cocksedge, Mr. Wm. Bishop, Mr. Hurford, Mr. Reynolds, Mr. Bellas, Mr. Clavey, Mr. James Sharpe, Mr. Deputy Judd.

A Committee appointed to defend them.

A Motion was made and carried, "That the said Committee be empowered to employ such Counsel as they shall think proper upon this important Occasion. And,

"That the Committee be empowered to draw on the Chamber for any Sum not exceeding 500*l*."

The Committee to assist the Lord Mayor and Aldermen Wilkes and Oliver, in their Defence on the Charge brought against them by the House of Commons, met at the Mansion-House:

P R E S E N T,

Sir Charles Asgill,	Mr. Wm. Hurford,
Sir Wm. Stephenson,	Mr. John Reynolds,
Mr. Ald. Kirkman,	George Bellas, Esq;
Mr. Dep. Cocksedge,	Mr. Charles Clavey,
Mr. William Bishop,	Mr. Deputy Judd,

when the Committee desired the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor and the Aldermen Wilkes and Oliver to retain any Counsel they thought proper, and Morgan gave an Account of what passed in the House of Commons, relative to the erasing the Record of the judicial Proceeding from the Minute-Book.

On Monday the 25th, in the Afternoon, the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor, and Mr. Alderman Oliver, went through the City to the House of Commons, in Consequence of an Order of the House to attend in their Places. The Lord Mayor was attended in his Coach by his Chaplain (Mr. Evans) and Mr. G. Bellas. They were accompanied by the Aldermen Stephenson, Turner, Kirkman, and the several Common-Council-Men that were ordered of the Committee. The Debates lasted till Two o'Clock

Lord Mayor and Alderman Oliver attend the House.

next

Alderman
Oliver committed to the Tower.

next Morning, when Richard Oliver, Esq; Alderman and Member of Parliament for this City, was ordered to be sent to the Tower, but was indulged to lie at his own House in Fenchurch-Street, where the Serjeant at Arms attended this Morning between the Hours of Seven and Eight o'Clock, and conducted him in a Coach to the above Prison.

Lord
Mayor attended
the House.

About One o'Clock on the 27th, the Lord Mayor, attended by the Aldermen Wilkes, Stephenson, Turner, and Trecothick, his Committee, a vast Number of Citizens, Merchants, and independent Gentlemen, set out for the House of Commons. The Row of Carriages reached from St. Paul's to Charing-Cross. The City was all in Motion; and by its Acclamations testified its Satisfaction with his Conduct. His Lordship seemed as before, extremely ill, and was defended against the Effects of the Cold with his usual Precaution, by the Use of Flannels, &c. He was supported to the Door of the House of Commons by his Friends: the City Committee went with him, in order to assist him in the Defence of his Conduct. The House was in such a Confusion, that they could not go upon the Order of the Day till past Eight o'Clock. They then proceeded to the Lord Mayor's Business, when there was only one Division, which was 202 to 39 for committing him to the Tower. They would have considered his Illness, and only committed him to the Custody of the Serjeant at Arms, but his Lordship told the House he desired no Favour of them, and was prepared to go where his honourable Friend Mr. Oliver was. —About half past Twelve his Lordship returned to the Mansion-House, where he lay down to rest till Four o'Clock, when he sent for a Hackney-Coach and went to the Tower.

Committed
to the Tower.

Proceedings of the Common-Council.

On Friday the 28th, the Court of Common-Council, to shew their further Approbation of the Conduct of their Magistrates, voted their Thanks to Barlow Trecothick, Esq; James Townsend, Esq; John Sawbridge, Esq; and the two Sheriffs, for their Support of the Lord Mayor and Mr. Alderman Oliver. A Motion was also made, and carried in the Affirmative, to provide a Table for the Lord Mayor at the City's Expence, suitable to the Dignity of the first Magistrate of the City of London. This, however, his Lordship politely declined accepting; as did Mr. Alderman Oliver: a like Resolution passed at a former Court in his Favour.

Lord
Mayor re-committed by the Chief Justice of the Common-Pleas.

On Friday the 5th of April, the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor was brought, in a private Manner, to Lord Chief Justice De Grey's, in Lincoln's-Inn-Fields, by Virtue of a Writ of Habeas Corpus; when, after hearing Counsel, the Lord Chief Justice was of Opinion, that he should be re-committed as the Parliament was not prorogued. The Counsel were Mr. Serjeant Glynn, and Mr. Lee of Lincoln's-Inn. —Mr. Alderman Oliver was carried before Lord Mansfield, at his Chambers in Serjeants-Inn. The Counsel, as also his Lordship's Opinion, were the same with that of Lord Chief Justice De Grey. —Another Reason for their Lordships refusing to grant their Enlargement, was, that they could not venture to determine an Affair of such Moment without the Advice of the other Judges. —They were at-

Alderman
Oliver
also by
Lord
Mansfield.

tended by the Committee appointed by the City for conducting the Affair of their Magistrates.

This being the first Day of the Quarter Sessions at Guildhall, there being no Locum-Tenens, the Court was opened by the Recorder, Sir William Stephenson, Mr. Alderman Peers, and Mr. Alderman Wilkes, the only Magistrates present. They proceeded to swear in the Grand Jury, who yesterday Afternoon found Bills of Indictment against W. Wittam, the Messenger of the House of Commons, for assaulting and taking into Custody John Miller, Printer; and against E. Twine Carpenter, for assaulting and seizing the Body of J. Wheble, without lawful Authority.

Bills found against the Messenger.

On Tuesday the 9th, there was a very full Meeting of the Society of the Bill of Rights, in pursuance of the special Summons, upon important Business. The Meeting opened with a Confirmation of the Gratification before agreed upon to the Printers; and a Vote of Thanks was then resolved upon to the Lord Mayor, for his upright and intrepid Conduct in defending the undoubted Liberties of the Subject against the illegal and arbitrary Proceedings of the present H— of C—. During the Progress of the Debate upon the first Motion, a very violent Altercation passed, as usual, between Mr. Wilkes and Mr. Horne. Mr. Wilkes, in particular, declared that Mr. Horne's Conduct, both to him and the Public, had neither been consistent with the Truth of a Clergyman, or the Faith and Honour of a Gentleman. Mr. Horne said, that the Society was become nothing more than a Scene of personal Quarrel; the public Interests were absorbed in the petty Faction of one Individual; that Regularity, Decency, Order, and Concord, were banished together; he therefore moved, "That the Society should be dissolved." It was in vain objected, that a Motion of that Consequence should not be put so suddenly, whatever Cause to it the present Disturbances might afford; that, in Fact, the Ferment in which the Society then was, shewed an improper Temper of discussing so serious a Question; and that, at least, the Sense of the Society should be first taken, whether they would rescind the restrictive Resolution against opening any new Subscriptions whatsoever, but for the private Purposes of Mr. Wilkes, till the whole List of his Debts was discharged; as the Charge against the Society for existing only in the Capacity of Mr. Wilkes's Committee, might then be obviated. Both Parties, equally sure of a Victory, or desirous of meeting their Defeat, were eager to put the Question. The Motion to defer the Consideration of a Dissolution, was only supported by five Members, among whom were Dr. Lee, Mr. Morris, Mr. Grieve, &c. The main Question was then put, when there appeared for the Dissolution 24, against it 26. Mr. Alderman Townsend was in the Chair, and the whole Number present at the Meeting was 53, being the fullest Meeting, which had ever been held in the Society. Lord Mountmorris, and another Gentleman, retired before the Division. For dissolving the Society, there appeared, Mr. Alderman Sawbridge, Sir Francis Bernard, Sir Francis Delaval, Mr. Bellas,
Mr.

Mr. Tocke, Mr. Horne, Mr. T. Oliver, Mr. Two-good, &c.—Against it, Mr. R. Jones, Mr. Ellis, Mr. Bull, Mr. Baldy, Mr. Adair, Dr. Wilson, Mr. Wilkes, Mr. Churchill, &c. the Gentlemen who divided against putting the Question. Those who were for the Dissolution, having failed in their Motion, then immediately proceeded to strike their Names out of the Society's Book, which was first done by Mr. Alderman Townsend, who also struck out, at the same Time, the Names of Sir Cecil Wray and Mr. Charles Turner, who had authorised him for that Purpose. After this, they withdrew into another Room, and there signed a Resolution to form a new Society to exist only upon the public Ground.

Petition to the Lords against the Embank-
ment.

On Friday the 12th was held a Court of Common-Council, when Alderman Trecothick, Locum-Tenens, acquainted the Court, that the Bill for embanking the River Thames at Durham-Yard had passed the House of Commons; upon which a Motion was made, that a Petition be immediately prepared and presented to the House of Lords; which was carried in the Affirmative, and ordered accordingly. And on the 18th the City were heard by Counsel, at the Bar of the House of Lords, against the Durham-Yard Embankment Bill; the Counsel were, Mr. Lee, Mr. Davenport, and another Gentleman, for the City, and Mr. Maddox on the other Side. Mr. Lee spoke for some Time against the Bill, and in Defence of the City's Right to the Soil or Bed of the River; he acknowledged, that Messrs. Adams were very able and experienced Architects; but although he admired the Elegance of their Buildings, he never could allow that from thence alone arose a Right of building on that Ground, which was the Property of others.—That the City had a Right, and had exercised a Right, for numberless Years, as Landlords of the Bed of the River, could be easily proved from the written Minutes of the Court of Aldermen. Accordingly, from many different Volumes of Repertories, various Cases were read (some 100, others 150, and others 200 Years back) where the City had destroyed Stairs and Causeways erected on the Sides of the River, received Rents for Sheds and Embankments, granted leave to erect Stairs, &c. on all those Parts of the River that were beyond the Land Limits of the City; in particular, a Lease of a Part of the River, now tenanted at 40s. per Annum by Sir Joseph Mawbey, on the Surry Side, was produced, and Mr. Mountague, of the Chamberlain's Office, swore to the Receipt of the Rent, together with 4d. yearly, that had been paid almost 150 Years, for an Erection on the Side of the River between Temple-Bar and Somerset-House: Among other written Testimonies, one was read, where the Commissioners of the Navy had petitioned, and received Leave from the Court of Aldermen, to make an Erection on the Surry Side of the River.

Case debated in the Common-Pleas.

The Case of the Lord Mayor, debated in the Court of Common-Pleas.

On Monday, April the 22d, at half an Hour after Eleven, the Lord Mayor was brought into the Court of Common-Pleas by Major Collins, Fort-Major of the Tower, in Consequence of a Writ of Habeas Corpus issued from that Court.

Mr. Serjeant Glynn. "I humbly move your Lordships that the Writ of Habeas Corpus and the Return to it may be read."

They were read; but the Chief Justice De Grey pointed out some Mistakes in the Return. The Return was directed to be amended. It was accordingly amended by Major Collins; but Mr. Glynn was not satisfied with the Regularity of such Amendment.

Chief Justice. "Brother Glynn, you move that THIS may be read."

Mr. Glynn. "No, my Lord, I move that the RETURN to the Writ of Habeas Corpus may be read."

Chief Justice. "You move that THIS may be read."

Mr. Glynn. "No, my Lord, I move that the RETURN may be read."

Mr. Justice Gould. "The Return must be made by the Lieutenant of the Tower, or by his Deputy, to whom the Writ is directed."

Mr. Glynn. "Major Collins is neither Lieutenant of the Tower nor his Deputy."

Major Collins. "I am Deputy for the Lieutenant Rainsford."

Mr. Glynn. "No, you are Fort-Major."

After this, some irregular Conversation passed between the Court and the Counsel; and the Court seemed to throw out that they could do nothing with such a Return; because it was directed to the Chief Justice of the Common-Pleas, and not to the Court; and that therefore it was not a Return to the Writ.

Mr. Glynn. "Very well, then here is a Writ of Habeas Corpus to which no Return is made."

Chief Justice. "I suppose this Return was made by Consent of the Parties, and that they have done it as a Matter of Course without consulting Counsel."

Mr. Glynn. "I know nothing of any Consent of Parties; nor do I believe there was any; nor does any such Thing appear before the Court: We have not to answer for any Mistake in the Return."

Chief Justice. "It does not signify how the Mistake happened; but if there is no Return made to the Writ, we cannot proceed."

Mr. Glynn. "The Officer of the Tower to whom the Writ is directed must look to his own Return."

Chief Justice. "It lies upon you, Mr. Glynn, to set this right; the Court will give no Directions."

Mr. Glynn. "My Lord, it lies upon the Person to whom the Writ is directed to make the Return. My Lord, the Writ is in Part obeyed; the Body of the Prisoner is brought here before the Court, that is one thing contained in the Writ: if there is any Defect or Mistake in the other Part necessary, that is, in returning a proper and sufficient Cause for detaining him; it then follows that the Lord Mayor is unjustly detained, for any Reason that appears to the Court, and therefore must be discharged. It lies upon the proper Officer of the Tower to do his Duty, by making a Return to the Writ of Habeas Corpus; if he has not made a Return, he may be punished by Attachment. It seems that it appears to your Lordships that no Return is made; the Writ of Habeas Corpus then is disobeyed; Punishment for this Neglect might follow; but the End of the Writ itself will best be answered by releasing the Prisoner, since he is present, and no Cause returned for detaining him. The Lord Mayor is now here before you; and since no Reason, if no Return, appears before the Court for his Detention, he must be discharged. I therefore move your Lordships that he be released.

Chief Justice. "That cannot be, Brother Glynn, the Lord Mayor is not here: he is not before the Court; the Return of the Writ is made to the Lord Chief Justice of the Common-Pleas, and not to the Court of Common-Pleas; the Court therefore can take no Notice of him: he appears before me indeed, but not before the Court; and the Court can take no more Notice of him, than if he had appeared before me in my Chambers."

Mr. Glynn. "I beg your Lordship's Pardon; the Lord Mayor is now in Court; he is before the Court: and if your Lordships cannot take any Notice of a Return made to the Chief Justice of the Common-Pleas and not to the Court; yet the Lord Mayor is now here present; and in this Case it matters not by what Means he got here, whether sent by the Lieutenant of the Tower or not. Here he is; and if there is no sufficient Cause returned to this Court for detaining him, he must be discharged."

Chief Justice. "Where is the Writ? where is the Return? Let me see them." (They were handed to his Lordship, and he perused them with great Attention.)

Mr. Serjeant Jephson. "The Writ of Habeas Corpus is issued to bring before this Court the Person, and the Cause of detaining him. A partial Return is made; the Writ is in Part obeyed; the Person is brought, not the Cause; suppose only the Writ itself and the Person had been returned, will the Court say the Person does not appear? Suppose there is no Cause of Detention to be given, must the Person be remanded till the Officer who has detained him can return some Cause? I humbly conceive, my Lords, that if there is no Cause returned, or no Return made to the Writ, the Court must discharge the Person."

Mr. Justice Gould. "I would recommend it to the Attention of my Brothers Glynn and Jephson, to consider whether the Words they object to in the Return may not be considered as Words of Surplusage, and whether the Return may not be substantially valid."

Mr. Glynn and Mr. Jephson. "The Objection to the Sufficiency of the Return did not come from us, but from the Bench. We have not seen nor heard the Return. The Address of it only has been read. The Return, whatever it be, should be filed, and if there are Objections to it, we shall take our Opportunity to urge them."

Mr. Justice Blackstone. "The Question is, whether the Return shall be read."

Mr. Jephson. "We have not objected to reading the Return; it was the Court objected."

The Court then agreed that the Words of Amendment, which had by their own Directions been inserted, should be struck out, and that the Return should be filed and read. The Return was then read.

Mr. Glynn. "The Return which has been read is quite sufficient for the Court to enter into the Question: I do not mean it is sufficient in point of Form; but we do not wish, by sticking to Punctilios and little Matters of Form, to evade or to lose the Decision of this very important and constitutional Question. The Return states the Imprisonment of the Lord Mayor to be by a Warrant of Sir Fletcher Norton; which Warrant states an Order of the House of Commons to take the Lord Mayor into Custody for a Breach of Privilege; and it appears on the Return what that Breach of Privilege is. When any Person is brought here by a Writ of Habeas Corpus, the Judges are to satisfy themselves about the Cause of his Detention. Acts of the highest Authority are subject to the Inquiry of the Courts of Westminster-Hall, which extends not only to the Acts of inferior, but also of co-ordinate and superior Powers. A Breach of Privilege is stated; the Court must determine whether the Fact charged is by Law a Contempt or a Breach of Privilege. The House of Commons has a certain Jurisdiction; the Court must judge whether it has not transgressed the Bounds of its Jurisdiction, and the Court must pronounce upon it. If the King exercises any Act of Power which is not conformable to Law, the Court will remedy it. The old Writ de Homine replegiando did not comprehend the Mandates of the King; but the Habeas Corpus extends to them, and to all Acts of Power not conformable to Law. If the Court of Chancery, which is a superior Court in civil Cases, should exceed its Jurisdiction and interfere by Injunction in criminal Cases, the inferior Court would determine against the Chancery. This Court likewise must inquire whether the House of Commons has not exceeded its lawful Jurisdiction. The Lord Mayor is charged with a Contempt: the Question is, whether the Lord Mayor is guilty of a Contempt; that is, whether the Fact charged upon him amounts by Law to a Contempt. The House of Commons make an Order for committing a Printer; and that Order expresses who shall take him into Custody, the Serjeant or Deputy Serjeant. The Printer is taken into Custody by a Messenger; he complains to the Lord Mayor; the Lord Mayor examines into his Complaint; he proceeds judicially and according to Law; and thinking that the Warrant does not justify the Custody, he discharges the Printer. How does this interfere with the lawful Jurisdiction of the House of Commons? and how does it exceed the lawful Jurisdiction of the Lord Mayor? The Jurisdiction of the House must be limited to some particular Objects; the Claim of an unlimited Power and Authority in this Country destroys itself. In the great Question about the Aylesbury Men, we find that, in a Conference between the Lords and Commons, it was agreed, that they cannot by any Vote or Resolution of their own acquire any new Privilege. Here is a Warrant signed by Sir Fletcher Norton, Speaker. Sir Fletcher Norton has no personal Authority to commit whom he pleases. The Speaker, as such, has no official Authority. Whatever Authority he can have, must be as the Instrument of the House of Commons; his Acts can be valid only by the Orders of the House: But the Warrant is made contrary to the Order of the House, as appears to you by the Return itself; consequently, the Speaker having no Authority of his own, and the Warrant Warrant being contrary to the Order, the Warrant is invalid. The House of Commons have not an unlimited Jurisdiction; the Lord Mayor was therefore obliged to examine whether the Act of Power executed by them was within their Jurisdiction. The Printer was charged with no Crime: The House of Commons have no Right to inflict any Punishment on the Printer for the Act with which he is charged. There is nothing to be pretended in Favour of this Proceeding of the House of Commons, but their transcendent Power: Now it would totally destroy all the Benefit and the very End of the Habeas Corpus, if the Transcendency of any Power whatever could blind the Eyes of a Court of Justice, and prevent their inquiring into its Acts: Such a Decision, by Judges sworn to administer faithfully the Laws, would be fatal to every Thing that is worth preserving in our boasted Constitution, and would leave the unhappy Subjects of this Country in a State much worse than a State of savage Nature. Holt held, that if what the House of Commons called a Contempt was not by Law a Contempt, the Person committed for it must be discharged; and in this Opinion he was supported by the House of Lords, who in those Days remembered that they were the hereditary Guardians of the People. Again, Holt held, that the Order of the House of Commons, forbidding any one to seek or pursue a legal Remedy against their Orders, was intirely illegal; and he discharged accordingly the Persons committed for Contempt of that Order. If the Lex et Consuetudo Parliamenti, of which we hear so much and know so little, be indeed a Part of the Law of the Land, the Judges are bound to take Notice of it, and to decide upon it, as they do upon every other Part of the Law. It has been said that Lord Chief Justice Holt was single in his Opinion. Be it so, yet I will venture to say that his Opinion will not to any honest Mind be found light in the Scale, when weighed against that of the other Judges. But he was not single, he had Truth and Justice and Honesty with him, as well as the strongest Arguments which the Conference with the Lords afforded; Arguments which have never been, and which cannot at this Day be answered. The other three Judges differing in Opinion from Holt, there was a Writ of Error to the Lords; and if the Temper of the Times had permitted it, it may easily be collected from the Arguments above referred to, that it would have had from the Lords a most solemn and most just Decision."

Chief Justice. "Brother Glynn, that Writ of Error you speak of was never brought before the Lords."

Mr. Glynn. "It is true, my Lord, it was never brought directly in Question before them; because Doubts were started whether it was a Writ of Right or of Favour, which might be refused by the particular Officer. This caused a Petition to the Queen, who was desirous to have had the Point settled for her Subjects; but, unhappily for us, the particular Circumstances of those Times prevented it; and the Parliament was dissolved."

Chief Justice. "The two Houses addressed the Queen for different Purposes. The Lords said it was Time enough to decide upon the Writ of Error when it came before them."

Mr. Glynn. "It is for that Reason, my Lord, I said I collect it from other Arguments, which make it very plain that the Subject would have had Satisfaction and Redress from their Decision. The Question at present is, Whether the Word Privilege is to be supposed so mystical as to exclude all Inquiry. My Lord, I deny that the Lord Mayor's Act is a Breach of any Privilege of the House of Commons: The Lord Mayor had a full Jurisdiction in the Case; and he was obliged to decide: Shall his Opinion be construed a Contempt? Is this the Law of the Land, that when different Courts, having Jurisdiction of the same Nature, differ in their Decisions, they are guilty of Contempts one to the other, and may be punished for such Contempts? It is no Contempt in me, a private Man, to have an Opinion different from that of the greatest Authorities: If it was the Lord Mayor's Opinion, he was bound by his Oath to act in Consequence of it: He would have been perjured, if, out of Respect for any Persons, he had not obeyed the Call of his Conscience. It was no Crime for him to entertain the Opinion; entertaining it, he was bound to declare it; and it was his Duty to act in Consequence of it. The conscientious Act of a Magistrate within the Limits of his Jurisdiction can never be a Contempt. Unless a Magistrate acts from corrupt Motives, he cannot be punishable. But suppose for a Moment the Lord Mayor did not act from his Opinion, but from some corrupt Motive, it is not the House of Commons, but a Jury that must judge of it. The Duty of a Magistrate differs widely from that of an Officer; from the latter a full and ready Obedience is expected to the Orders of the Court whose Officer he is, and the Orders are his Justification; but the Magistrate has an Oath and an Opinion which he must follow, and he is answerable to the Law, and cannot be justified for the Breach of his Oath and the Law by any Order or Resolution of the greatest Authorities. If Courts of Justice determine erroneously, are they likewise guilty of a Contempt? Your Lordships are not now called upon to determine that the Cause for which the Lord Mayor discharged the Printer is a sufficient Cause; but whether the Lord Mayor, in a Case where he had an indisputable Jurisdiction, acting by his Opinion and according to his Oath, is guilty of a Contempt, and can by Law be imprisoned? Whatever may be the Sufficiency or Insufficiency of the Return now made to the Writ, I hope the Subjects of England will not go without the Decision of this great constitutional Question: I have therefore forborne to meddle with the Formality of the Return, being well assured your Lordships will allow to the Lord Mayor the Benefit of such Insufficiency."

Mr. Serjeant Jephson. "My Lords, as I shall not have an Opportunity of answering any Argument from the Bench, nor can possibly know the Objections your Lordships may have to releasing the Lord Mayor, I will endeavour to obviate all the Objections which occur to me. I shall consider the Nature, the Return, and the Consequence

Consequence of the Writ. It is a Writ of Right: A legal Cause of Detention not being returned, the Subject must be enlarged. The Purpose of the Writ is to have a legal Cause returned. It appears from the Cases of Sir William Thicknesse, 4 Instit. 434.—Sir William Chauncey, 12 Coke's Rep. 23. and from Busbell's Case in Vaughan's Reports, that the Cause of Imprisonment ought to be as specifically returned to those who judge upon the Writ of Habeas Corpus, as to those who first committed the Person. Again, Betbell's Case, Salkeld; where Commitment is without a legal Charge, the Person must be discharged. Again, Search's Case, 1 Leonard 70; where the Queen had taken a Person into her Protection, who notwithstanding was arrested, and the Person arresting committed, and on Habeas Corpus discharged. See again Doctor Alfonso's Case, 2 Bulstrode—Markham, Croke Car. 507.—Lawson, ibid. 597—Apsley, 1 Roll's Rep. 211.—Rushfort ibid.—The Determination in all Cases the same; if a legal Charge is not returned, the Persons must be discharged: The Court must judge of the Cause of Commitment returned: If not, why should the Writ command the Return of the Cause? The Cause is returned, that the Court may judge whether the Person is intitled to his Liberty or not. It is no Objection in this Case to say, that the House of Commons having a Power to commit, therefore this Court must not judge of the Cause of Commitment returned; for this would prove too much, because it would go to every Court having Jurisdiction. Suppose the King's Bench, which is a Court superior to this, should commit; and the Person committed should be brought here by Habeas Corpus; would not this Court take Notice, and inquire into the Cause returned? and if this Court thought it not a sufficient Cause, would not your Lordships discharge the Persons? Otherwise how would the End of the Writ of Habeas Corpus be answered? It is no Objection in this Case to say that the Court cannot examine the Cause as stated in the Return, because the Court would then determine upon the Privileges of the House of Commons: The Court must and does frequently determine upon the Privileges of Parliament, when they come incidentally before them. Earl of Banbury's Case, Salkeld and others; where the King's Bench determined him to be a Peer, though the House of Lords had before determined him not to be a Peer. This Court made no Hesitation to determine in Mr. Wilkes's Case on the Privileges of Parliament; where the Question was, whether, being committed for a Libel, he was intitled to Privilege? The Court in this Case determined what was the Privilege of Parliament, why should they not as well determine what is not the Privilege of Parliament? Indeed, even in that Case they must have inquired what was not the Privilege of Parliament, in order to determine what was. In Lord Shaftesbury's and Mr. Murray's Cases, the Return was generally a Contempt. We contend at present that the Charges returned can by no legal Construction whatever amount to a Contempt; and therefore that the Lord Mayor must be discharged. The House of Commons having determined it to be a Contempt does not alter the Case: A Fact does not become a Contempt by being recited as such. The Court must consider whether the Warrant of the Lord Mayor's Commitment is the Warrant of the Speaker, or the House of Commons. The Court will easily see that Sir Fletcher Norton may act in a double Capacity."—(A loud continued Laugh.)—"The Court may suppose him to act in his private Capacity."

Chief Justice. "He signs himself Speaker."

Mr. Jephson. "The Signature does not prevent the Supposition, if the Cause is not sufficient; and the Court may rather chuse to suppose the Mistake committed by Sir Fletcher Norton than by the House of Commons. Suppose some future Speaker of some future House of Commons should recite in his Warrant, that the House of Commons had adjudged it a Breach of Privilege and a Contempt to sue out a Statute of Bankruptcy against one of their Members, which by Act of Parliament any one is permitted to do; and should in Consequence commit a Person for such a legal Act; if the Person was brought by Writ of Habeas Corpus before this Court, would the Court not take Cognizance of the Commitment? Would they not determine it no Breach of Privilege? Are Acts of Parliament of less Force than such a Recital of a Speaker's Warrant?—Suppose a Man is committed, by a similar Warrant, for proceeding according to Act of Parliament against a Member of the House in a Case of Debt; shall he have no Remedy from the Laws which have led him into the Transgression?—Suppose a Justice of the Peace should commit a Member of the House of Commons for Treason, Felony, or Breach of the Peace, and the Speaker's Warrant should recite it to be a Contempt; will this Court say it can take no Cognizance of a Commitment by the House of Commons, if the Return charges a Contempt? Will the Court say, the House has a Power to commit for Contempts, and they call this a Contempt, and they alone are to judge of their own Contempts?—Suppose all the Officers of this Court should be recited to be in Contempt for executing the Process of this Court; will this Court give no Remedy? and must this and every other Court of Justice be annihilated, whenever the Speaker's Warrant declares all its Officers in Contempt? How is it possible to distinguish the present Case from those I have mentioned, if you must not examine the Cause returned, but say it is sufficient if Contempt is charged? Serjeant Hawkins, Vol. II. p. 110. gives us clearly enough what his Thoughts were on this Subject.—I think I have now sufficiently cleared this Case from all the Objections that can be brought against its being inquired into. The Question therefore is, Whether on the Return there appears sufficient Cause of Detention? Three Causes are mentioned, and all urged as Breaches of Privilege and Contempts. 1. Discharging a Printer. 2. Signing a Warrant for the Messenger; and, 3. Holding him to Bail. To make the Lord Mayor guilty of the first Contempt, it ought surely to be proved at least that Miller was in the legal Custody Custody of the Messenger: Now Miller never was in the legal Custody of the Messenger; for the Warrant was directed to the Serjeant at Arms, or his Deputy: And I am well persuaded, that on an Action for false Imprisonment the Messenger would not be able to justify. For the second Charge of a Contempt, it must be considered that the Lord Mayor's Warrant was against a Messenger; and what Contempt is it to sign a Warrant against a Messenger?"

Mr. Justice Gould. "The Messenger was committed for having executed a Warrant of the Speaker."

Mr. Jephson. "That does not appear; your Lordships cannot know that: For the Return only says, for signing a Warrant against the Messenger."

Lord Chief Justice De Grey. "If either myself or any of my Brothers on the Bench had any Doubts in this Case, we should certainly take some Time before we delivered our Opinions; but the Case seems so very clear to us all, that we have no Reason to delay. The Writ of Habeas Corpus, by which the Lord Mayor is now brought before us, is a Writ of Common Law, because it is not endorsed per Statutum; and this was very properly done by the Counsel for his Lordship, because all the Judges, including Holt, agreed that such a Writ of Habeas Corpus, as the present Case required, is not within the Statute. This is a Writ by which the Subject has a Right of Remedy: Therefore the Court must consider whether in this Case the Authority of committing is legal: If so, if the Commitment is made by those who have an Authority to commit, this Court cannot discharge. If it is a Commitment in Execution, this Court cannot bail. This Court must consider whether the Authority committing is legal: The Return states the Commitment to be by the House of Commons for a Contempt, that is, for a Breach of Privilege; and this Contempt is, as the Counsel has truly described it, threefold; discharging a Person in Custody, — signing a Warrant for Commitment of the Messenger, — and holding him to Bail; that is, treating a Messenger of the House of Commons as acting criminally in the Execution of the Orders of that House. In order to see whether that House has Authority to commit, see Coke 4 Instit. — They certainly have such an Authority; and it is legal because necessary. In some Cases, Coke says, they have a judicial Power. This Right is so necessary to the House of Commons, that it must be inherent in it by the very Nature of its Institution; and therefore is a Part of the Law of the Land. They certainly always could commit in certain Cases: In Matters of Election, for Instance, they can commit Sheriffs, Mayors, Officers, Witnesses, &c. and it is now agreed that they can commit generally for all Contempts. — See 4 Instit. 23, 24. All Contempts are either punishable in the Courts contemned or in some higher Court: Now the Parliament has no superior Court; therefore their Contempts can be punished only by themselves. The Act 1 Jac. I. 13. I mean the Proviso to that Act, sufficiently proves that they have a Power to punish. In the Case of the Aylesbury Men, their Counsel admitted, Holt owned, and the Lords acknowledged, that the House of Commons had a Power to commit for Contempt and Breach of Privilege. Indeed they must have a Power to commit and punish for every Crime whatsoever, because they have a Power to impeach for any Crime whatsoever. When the House of Commons adjudge any Thing to be a Contempt or a Breach of Privilege, their Adjudication is a Conviction; and their Commitment in Consequence is Execution; and no Court can discharge or bail a Person that is in Execution by the Sentence of any other Court. The House of Commons therefore having an Authority to commit, and that Commitment being an Execution, the Question is, what shall this Court do? It can do nothing when a Person is in Execution by a Court having Jurisdiction. Objection is made that the House of Commons have not this Power, have not this Authority; and if they have it, that in this Case they have not used it properly, and that in this Case the Execution of their Orders was irregular. In order to judge, I will consider the Practice of the Courts in common Cases. There is no Instance of Courts taking Cognizance of such Executions; or of the Commitments of this Kind. There is no Precedent of Westminster-Hall interfering in such a Case. See Sir J. Aston, Coke Rep. 10. Besides, the Rule is, that the Court of Remedy must judge by the same Law as the Court which commits. Now this Court cannot take Cognizance of a Commitment by the House of Commons; because it cannot judge by the same Law; for the Law by which the Commons judge is unknown to us. The King's-Bench is co-ordinate with this Court; yet in these Cases, if it should commit any Person, and the Return was a Contempt, this Court would not discharge. See Chambers, Croke Car. Formerly, when many Abuses were committed and the People could not obtain a Remedy, the Subject was not contented with the ancient Habeas Corpus, but did not complain of the Courts for refusing them what they could not by Law grant them; instead of that, they sought Redress by Petition to the Throne. In the late Chief Justice's Time, a Person was brought by Habeas Corpus before this Court, who had been committed by the Court of Chancery at Durham; the Court being competent and having Jurisdiction, the Man was not discharged, but re-committed. How then can we do any Thing in the present Case, when the Law by which the Lord Mayor is committed is different from the Law by which he would be relieved? He is committed by the Law of Parliament, and yet he would have Redress from the Common Law: The Law of Parliament is only known to Parliament-Men by Experience in the House; Lord Coke says, every Man looks for it, but very few can find it.

"I wish we had some Code of the Law of Parliament, but till then it is impossible we should be able to judge of it. Perhaps a Contempt in the House of Commons, in the Chancery, in this Court, and in the Court of Durham, may be very different; therefore we cannot judge of it, but every Court must be the sole Judge of its own Contempts. Besides, as the Court cannot go out of the Return, how can we inquire into the Truth of the Fact, or the Nature of the Contempt? We can examine no Parties; we can hear no Witnesses; we can issue no Process; we are even now hearing ex parte; and without any Counsel on the opposite Side. Again, if we could determine upon the Contempts of any other Court, so might the other Courts of Westminster-Hall; and what Confusion would then ensue? None of us knowing the Law by which Persons are committed by the House of Commons, if three Persons were committed, and applied severally to different Courts, one Court perhaps would bail; another Court discharge; a third re-commit. Two Objections have been urged, which I own have great Weight, because they hold forth, if pursued to all possible Cases, Consequences of most important Mischief. It has been said, that if the Rights and Privileges of Parliament are legal Rights, for that very Reason the Court must take notice of them, because they are legal; and that if the Law of Parliament is Part of the Law of the Land, the Judges must have Cognizance of one Part of the Law of the Land as well as of the other: but this Objection will not prevail. There are two Sorts of Privileges which ought never to be confounded; personal Privilege, and the Privilege belonging to the collective Body: One way of using Privilege used to be a Plea to the Jurisdiction of the Courts, which operated as a Supersedeas under the Great Seal: This is now disused, since 11, 12 William.—See Strange Rep.—and Lord Fortescue.—There is a great Difference between Matters of Privilege coming incidentally before the Court, and being the Point itself directly brought before the Court: In the one Case the Court will take notice of them; because it is necessary in order to prevent a Failure of Justice; as in Lord Banbury's Case, where the King's-Bench determined against the Determination of the House of Lords; but in that Case the Court considered the Legality and Validity of Letters Patent, without regarding the other Right of a Seat in the House of Lords, with which the Court did not concern themselves. I wish the Counsel at the Bar had produced one Instance of any Court determining a Matter of Privilege which did not come incidentally before them, but directly in Point. It is the same Thing sometimes with Cases of Descent, where Property is to be determined and depends upon Legitimacy; the Courts will then determine Legitimacy, which however belongs not to them, but to the Spiritual Court; and it is true that in such Cases likewise the Courts of Westminster-Hall determine by very different Rules from the Spiritual Courts. But the present Case differs much from those which the Courts will determine; because it does not come incidentally before us, but is brought directly, and is the very Point in Question: and to determine it we must supersede the Sentence of a House of Commons, when it is a Sentence and Commitment in Execution. Another Objection has been made, which likewise holds out to us, if pursued in all its possible Cases, some very dreadful Consequences: And that is, the Abuses, which may be made by Jurisdictions, from which there is no Appeal, and for which Abuses there is no Remedy. But this is unavoidable; and it is better to leave some Courts to the Obligation of their Oaths: We may safely, nay we must depend upon the Discretion of some Courts. A Man not long ago was sentenced to stand in the Pillory by this Court of Common-Pleas for a Contempt. Some may think this very hard to be done without a Trial and without a Jury: But it is necessary. Suppose the Courts should abuse their Jurisdiction; there can be no Remedy for this: It would be a public Grievance; and Redress must be sought from the Legislature. The Laws can never be a Prohibition to the House of Parliament; because by Law there is nothing superior to them. Suppose they too, as well as the Courts of Law, should abuse the Powers which the Constitution has given them; there is no Redress, it would be a public Grievance: The Constitution has provided Checks to prevent its happening: It must be left at large; it was wise to leave it at large; some Persons, some Courts, must be trusted with discretionary Powers; and though it is possible, it is in the highest Degree improbable, that such Abuses should ever happen: And the very Supposal is answered by Hawkins in the Place cited at the Bar. As for the Case mentioned of the Chancery committing for Crimes, that is a different Thing; because the Chancery has no criminal Jurisdiction; but if it commits for Contempts, the Persons will not be discharged by any other Court. Many Authorities and Arguments may be drawn from the Reign of Charles; but they admit of a very short Answer, they were Times of Contest. At present, when the House of Commons commits for Contempt, it is very unnecessary to state what is the particular Breach of Privilege: It would be a sufficient Return to state Breach of Privilege generally. This Doctrine is fortified by the Opinion of all the Judges. See Sbaftebury's Case: And I never heard this Decision complained of till 1704, though they were Times of Heat, the Judges could have no Motive in their Decision, but a Regard to the Laws: The Houses disputed about Jurisdiction, but the Judges were not concerned in the Dispute. As for the present Case, I am perfectly satisfied, that if Lord Holt himself were to determine it, the Lord Mayor would be remanded. In the Case of Mr. Murray, the Judges could not hesitate concerning the Atrociety of a Man who refused to receive his Sentence in a proper Posture: All the Judges agreed that he must be remanded, because he was committed by a Court having competent Jurisdiction. Courts of Justice have not Cognizance of the Acts of the House of Parliament, because they belong ad alium examen. I have the most perfect Satisfaction in my own Mind in this Determination. Sir Martin Wright, who felt a generous and distinguished Warmth for the Liberty of the People; Mr. Justice Dennison, who was so free from Connexions and Ambition of every Kind; and Mr. Justice Foster, who may be truly called the Magna Charta of Liberty, Liberty of Persons as well as Fortunes; all these revered Judges concurred in this Point. I am therefore clearly,

and

and with full Satisfaction, of Opinion, that the Lord Mayor must be remanded."

Mr. Justice Gould. "Much Strefs has been laid upon an Objection, that the Warrant of the Speaker is not conformable to the Order of the House; and yet no such Thing appears upon the Return, as has been pretended: The Order says, that the Lord Mayor shall be taken into the Custody of the Serjeant or his Deputy; it does not say by the Serjeant or his Deputy. This Court cannot know the Nature of the Power and Proceedings of the House of Commons: It is founded on a different Law: The Lex et Consuetudo Parliamenti is known to Parliament-Men only—Trewynyard, Dyer 59, 60.—When Matters of Privilege come incidentally before the Court, it is obliged to determine them to prevent a Failure of Justice. It is true this Court did in the Instance alluded to by the Counsel at Bar determine upon the Privilege of Parliament in the Case of a Libel; but then that Privilege was promulged and known; it existed in Records and in Law-Books, and was allowed by Parliament itself; but even in this Case we now know that we were mistaken; for the House of Commons have determined that Privilege does not extend to Matters of Libel. The Cases produced respecting the High Commission Court, &c. are not to the present Purpose; because those Courts had not a legal Authority. The Resolution of the House of Commons is an Adjudication; and every Court must judge of its own Contempts."

Mr. Justice Blackstone. "The present Case is of great Importance, because the Liberty of the Subject is materially concerned. Here is a Member of the House of Commons committed in Execution by his own House: That House is supreme in its own Privileges, and over its own Members. All Courts, by which I mean to include the two Houses of Parliament and the Courts of Westminster-Hall, can have no Controul in Matters of Contempt. The sole Adjudication of Contempts, and the Punishment of them in any Manner, belongs exclusively and without interfering to each Court. Infinite Confusion and Disorder would follow, if Courts could by Writ of Habeas Corpus examine and determine the Contempts of others. It is a Confidence which may with perfect Safety and Security be reposed in the Judges and the Houses. The Legislature since the Revolution (See 9, 10 William, cap. 15.) have created many new Contempts. The Objections which are brought of abusive Consequences prove too much, because they are applicable to all Courts of dernier Resort: & ab abusu ad usum non valet consequentia, is a Maxim of Law as well as of Logic. General Convenience must always outweigh partial Inconvenience: even supposing, which in my Conscience I am far from supposing, that in the present Case the House has abused its Power, I know and am sure that the House of Commons are both able and well inclined to do Justice. How preposterous is the present Murmur and Complaint! The House of Commons have this Power only in common with all the Courts of Westminster-Hall: And if any Persons may safely be trusted with this Power, they must surely be the Commons, who are chosen by the People:

For their Privileges and Powers are the Privileges and Powers of the People: There is great Fallacy in my Brother Glynn's whole Argument, when he makes the Question to be, whether the House have acted according to their Rights or not. Can any good Man think of involving the Judges in a Contest with either House of Parliament, or with one another? and yet this Manner of putting the Question would produce such a Contest. The House of Commons is the only Judge of its own Proceedings: Holt differed with the other Judges in this Point; but we must be governed by the Eleven and not by the One. It is a Right inherent in all supreme Courts: The House of Commons have always exercised it. Little nice Objections of particular Words and Forms and Ceremonies of Execution are not to be regarded in the Acts of the House of Commons; it is our Duty to presume the Orders of that House and their Execution according to Law. I therefore concur entirely with my Lord Chief Justice."

Mr. Justice Nares. "I shall ever entertain a most anxious Concern for whatever regards the Liberty of the Subject: I have not the Vanity to think I can add any Thing to the Weight of the Arguments used by my Lord Chief Justice and my Brothers: I have attended with the utmost Industry to every Case and Argument that has ever been produced on this Subject; and most heartily and readily concur with my Lord Chief Justice."—The Consequence was, that the Lord Mayor was re-committed.

On Friday, May 3, at a Court of Common-Council held at Guildhall, a Petition to the King relative to the Bill for the Embankment at Durham-Yard, was read and agreed to; and the Sheriffs, attended by the City Remembrancer, went to St. James's, and presented the said Petition to his Majesty.

Petition to the King against Embankment.

It was ordered that the Sum of Thirty Thousand Pounds be laid out in 3 per Cent. consolidated Annuities, and vested in the Names of the Chamberlain, Town-Clerk, and Comptroller, as a Security in lieu of the Toll, and other Matters respecting the Bridge-House Estate.

30000 l. in lieu of the Toll.

It was moved that this Court, with the City Officers, be desired to attend the Right Hon. Brass Crosby, Lord Mayor, and Mr. Alderman Oliver, in their Gowns in Procession from the Tower to the Mansion-House, on their Enlargement from their present Confinement, and on being put was carried unanimously.

Voted to attend on the Lord Mayor, &c. at their Enlargement from the Tower.

As soon as it was certainly known that his Majesty would go to the House on the 8th of May, to put an End to the Session of Parliament, Summonses were issued out from Guildhall, to the Aldermen and Common-Council, signed D. Smith, desiring their Attendance at Guildhall (the Aldermen in their Scarlet Gowns) and from thence to proceed to the Tower, to conduct the Lord Mayor and Mr. Alderman Oliver to the Mansion-House, in the State-Coach. Accordingly, about Two o'Clock, Part of the Court of Aldermen, and almost the whole Common-Council, preceded by the City-Marshal and his Deputy, went from Guildhall to the Tower. There were fifty-three Carriages in the Train. The Hon. Members of the Artillery

The Manner of their Releasement.

lery Company accompanied the Proceſſion in their Uniform, which made a very fine Appearance.

On the Lord Mayor and Mr. Oliver's being brought to the Tower-Gate by the proper Officer of that Fortreſs, they were ſaluted by twenty-one Pieces of Cannon belonging to the Artillery Company, and received by the People with the greateſt Acclamations, which were continued all the Way to the Mansion-Houſe.

On their Arrival at the Balluſtrades fronting the great Gate, the Lord Mayor and Mr. Oliver bowed in return to the People aſſembled, and were again ſaluted with loud and univerſal Huzzas.

Sir William Stephenſon, and the Aldermen Townſend, Sawbridge, Wilkes, and Trecothick, were in the Proceſſion.

The City was grandly illuminated. The Populace broke down the Iron Gates at Serjeants-Inn, Fleet-Street, and obliged the Inhabitants to put up Lights. They likewiſe aſſembled about the Houſe of Sir Fletcher Norton, Speaker of the Honourable Houſe of Commons, and were very outrageous, breaking all the Windows, together with thoſe of ſeveral other Houſes which were not illuminated.

Noli Proſequi for Wittam.

On Monday the 13th, at an Attendance on the Attorney-General, (by Adjournment from Saturday Evening) purſuant to a Summons on Saturday, the Indictment and Affidavit of the Defendant Wittam were read; when Mr. Adair, Counſel for the Proſecutor, proceeded to ſhew Cauſe why a Noli Proſequi ſhould not be entered. The Exerciſe of that Prerogative, he obſerved, although veſted in the Hands of the Attorney-General according to the Laws of the Land, yet the Practice was of a modern Date; that Lord Chief Juſtice Holt thought it hard ſuch a Power ſhould be veſted in the Attorney-General. He quoted Caſes to prove his Poſition, and conſidered the Defendant as having no legal Authority to execute the Warrant of the Speaker, and that the Charge in the Indictment was admitted by the Affidavit. He contended, that there did not appear any Thing upon the Face of the Indictment oppreſſive and unfit for a Diſcuſſion in a Court of Juſtice, or which could afford any Reaſon for Mr. Attorney's entering a Noli Proſequi.

Mr. Adair then ſtated the Affidavit, and concluded.

There being no Counſel for the Defendant, the Attorney-General ſpoke as follows: "It was not fit the King ſhould interpoſe as a Proſecutor of a Meſſenger of the Houſe of Commons, who had the Authority of the Houſe for what he did. As it has been ſtated, the Order of the Houſe was for the Serjeant or Deputy-Serjeant to take the Priſoner into Cuſtody. A Doubt ariſes whether the Speaker could authorize any other Perſon but the Serjeant, or Deputy-Serjeant, which is a Queſtion of Law; but it has been the conſtant Practice to employ the Meſſengers upon the Orders of the Houſe." And after ſtating a few other Diſtinctions, he concluded, "That it was not fit or decent for the Name of the Crown to ſtand as Proſecutor of a Meſſenger of the Houſe of Commons, who acted by their Authority."

Mr. Adair replied, (amongſt other Arguments) "That if the King withdrew his Name from the Proſecution, it would operate the ſame as a Pardon, which would be an Injury to the real Proſecutor, the Crown being only nominal. That it would be extremely proper it ſhould come before a Court of Law, who, if they were of Opinion that it was a competent Authority, would acquit the Defendant."

The Attorney-General then ſaid, "I do not place it in tendereſs to Mr. Wittam, or the Privileges of the Houſe of Commons; but it is indecent that the Name of the Crown ſhould continue as the Proſecutor of a Meſſenger of the Houſe of Commons."—The Noli Proſequi confirmed.

On Monday the 20th, a Fire broke out at the Houſe of Capt. Reverly, of the Ship Colebrooke, in the West-India Trade, in Princedeſ-Street, Rotherhithe, which conſumed that Houſe, with the greateſt Part of the Furniture, and damaged the Houſes of Capt. Curling and Capt. Darverſon. It is ſaid to have been occaſioned by one of the Maids, who having been out the whole Day making Holiday, was over-fatigued, and went to Bed, leaving her Candle burning, which ſet Fire to the Curtain. Her Arm was burnt in a terrible Manner; and the whole Family narrowly ſaved their Lives.

A Fire at Rotherhithe.

On Tuesday the 28th of May, the Common-Council reſolved that the City Maſhal's Place ſhould be ſold. And it was reſolved and ordered, that the Upper or Under Maſhal ſhall not deal in any Sort of Viſtuals, Beer, Wine, Spirits, Tobacco, Coals, or Candles, under Pain of Forfeiture of his Office.

Upon a Motion of Mr. Alderman Roffiter, it was reſolved, that a Committee be appointed to conſider of the moſt effectual Method of encouraging the taking and bringing the largeſt Quantity of Mackarel and Herrings to this City, as a ſeaſonable Relief to the Poor in this Time of general Scarcity of Butchers Meat, and as the moſt probable Means of reducing the preſent high Prices thereof.

A Motion concerning Mackarel.

A Committee, conſiſting of Alderman Roffiter and five other Aldermen, and twelve Commoners, were appointed for this Purpoſe; and they were empowered to draw on the Chamber to the Amount of 500 l.

A Committee appointed.

It was reſolved and ordered, That it be referred to the Committee appointed to aſſiſt the Lord Mayor and Alderman Oliver in the Tower, to ſtate Caſes, and take Opinions, whether there is any, and what Method to bring into a Courſe of Trial, the Legality of an Imprisonment by a Vote of either Houſe of Parliament.

Powers granted to the Committee to aſſiſt the Lord Mayor, &c.

It was further reſolved, That in caſe the ſaid Committee ſhould be adviſed that the Legality of the Commitment of the Lord Mayor and Alderman Oliver can be put into a due Courſe of Trial at Law, they be authorized ſo to do.

Reſolved, That it be referred to the Durham-Yard Committee to put the Rights of the Citizens of London to the Soil of the River Tbames in Iſſue, by trying the Title to the Encroachment lately made by the Board of Works at Scotland-Yard, in ſuch Manner as they ſhall be adviſed.

To the Durham-Yard Committee.

Reſolved unaniſouſly, That it be recommended to the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor to view and remove all ſuch Nuiſances and Encroachments croachments as are making on the Banks of the River Thames.

At the Court of Common-Council held the 5th of June, the Committee appointed to consider of the Memorial of the Committee of the Livery of London, made the following Report:

To the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council assembled.

Report of Committee concerning the refractory Companies.

"We whose Names are hereunto subscribed, your Committee appointed to consider the Memorial of the Committee of the Livery of London, do hereby certify, that we have, in Obedience to such Reference, caused a Case, with proper Queries, to be prepared and laid before Counsel, for their Advice and Opinion respecting the Matters thereby to us referred.

"That Mr. Wedderburne (the present Solicitor-General) Mr. Serjeant Glynn, Mr. Dunning, and Mr. Common-Serjeant, being the Counsel before whom we laid such Case, have given a joint Opinion thereon; which Case and Opinion we have hereunto annexed.

"That we your Committee, being desired by the said Order of Reference to give our Opinion likewise to this honourable Court respecting the Premises, we do hereby humbly submit to this honourable Court, that approving and being well satisfied with the Advice so given by such Counsel, the proper and necessary Steps should be taken for putting the same into Execution; but in regard the Liverymen of the several Companies of this City, in Common-Hall assembled, have an equal Right with this honourable Court to give such Directions, we submit, that such Case and Opinion should be laid before them on Midsummer-Day next, that they may have an Opportunity, if they shall think proper, of exercising their Franchise and Authority in a Matter, wherein they themselves are so peculiarly interested. All which we humbly submit to this honourable Court.

Dated this 5th Day of June, 1771.

Signed by the Committee."

And a Motion being made, and Question put, that the Court should agree with the Committee in such Report, the same was resolved in the Affirmative; and it was ordered that Mr. Town-Clerk should lay such Case and Opinion before the Liverymen of the several Companies of this City, in Common-Hall assembled, on Midsummer-Day next.

The following are the Queries stated in the Case referred to, with the Counsel's Answers thereto:

Query 1. "Can the Lord Mayor for the Time being, of his own Authority, legally call a Common-Hall, for any other Purpose than that of Elections? Or, if such Common-Hall can be regularly called, by whom else, or by what other Authority, should it be done? Whether by the Courts of Lord Mayor and Aldermen, and that of Common-Council jointly, or by any or either, and which of them, or how otherwise? And particularly, was the Lord Mayor justified, and sufficiently warranted in calling the two last extraordinary Common-Halls? the first being done in Consequence of the Court of Common-Council (of which the Aldermen are a Part) having joined with a Committee of the Livery in an Application to him for that Purpose, and the second being the natural Consequence of, or a Continuance of the former."

Answer. "We apprehend that the head Officer of every Corporation may convene the Body, or any Class of it, whenever he pleases: We are of Opinion, therefore, that the Lord Mayor for the Time being may, of his own Authority, legally call a Common-Hall; and we see no legal Objection to his calling the two last."

Query 2. "If the Lord Mayor, Court of Aldermen, and Court of Common-Council, jointly, or either of them separately, can legally call such Common-Hall, are not the Master and Wardens of the several Livery Companies bound and obliged to obey the Mayor's Precept, and to cause their Liveries to be severally summoned agreeable thereto? And if the Master and Wardens are bound to summon their Livery, agreeable to such Precept, are not the three Companies of Goldsmiths, Weavers, and Grocers, aggregately and corporately, or are the Master and Wardens only, to whom alone these Precepts are always directed, or are they together with such of the Court of Assistants as were present at, and agreed to their respective Orders and Resolutions, jointly or individually, or any ways, and how punishable for such their Misconduct and Refusal? And if punishable, whether by the Lord Mayor only, or by the Court of Aldermen, or Court of Common-Council, separately, or by the Common-Hall, or Livery in Common-Hall assembled, or how otherwise?"

Answer. "We conceive it to be the Duty of the proper Officers of the several Companies, to whom Precepts for summoning their respective Liveries have been usually directed, to execute those Precepts; and that a wilful Refusal on their Parts is an Offence punishable by Disfranchisement. If it be thought proper to prosecute with that View in the present Case, we think it most adviseable to proceed in the usual Way, by Information to be filed by the Common-Serjeant in the Mayor's Court, which the Common-Serjeant may file, ex officio, if he pleases, or at the Instance of either of the Bodies mentioned in the Query.

ALEX. WEDDERBURNE,
J. GLYNN,
J. DUNNING,
T. NUGENT."

The Lord Mayor, accompanied by seven Aldermen, the two Sheriffs, with 57 Common-Council-Men, went on the 12th of June to St. James's, and presented to his Majesty a congratulatory Address on the safe Delivery of the Queen, and the Birth of a Prince. Sir James Hodges read the Address, to which his Majesty returned a most gracious Answer.

City Address on the Birth of a Prince.

On Tuesday the 18th, on a Motion made by Mr. Alderman Wilkes in the Court of Aldermen, that Court unanimously resolved, That the Lord Mayor, or sitting Alderman, upon Complaint made before him of any Person or Motion against Foresters.

Persons, suspected of forestalling, engrossing, or regrating any Kind of Provisions, shall (if such Complaint appears to him well grounded) be empowered to direct the Solicitor of this City to prosecute the Offender or Offenders at the Expence of this City.

Proceedings on Midsummer-Day.

On Monday the 24th, being Midsummer-Day, according to annual Custom a Common-Hall was assembled for the Election of Sheriffs, &c. and the Sheriffs having declared their Opinion, that the Election had fallen on Mr. Alderman Wilkes, and Frederick Bull, Esq; a Poll was instantly demanded in favour of John Kirkman, Esq; and Richard Oliver, Esq; and another Poll in favour of the Aldermen Plumbe and Kirkman, as the two senior Aldermen. The Sheriffs then proceeded in the other Elections; which being ended, Sir James Hodges read the Motion for taking Advice of Counsel respecting the carrying on a legal Prosecution against the superior Officers of the three Companies, the Goldsmiths, Grocers, and Weavers, for refusing to issue Summonses for calling together the Livery of the said Companies to meet at a Common-Hall, agreeable to a Precept from the Lord Mayor for that Purpose. Motion being made and Question put, whether the Common-Hall were of Opinion, that a Prosecution for the Disfranchisement of such Officers of the three Companies should be set on foot, it was carried by a great Majority.

*A Remon-
strance
to the Throne agreed upon.*

After reading some other Matters, Sir James Hodges informed the Livery, that a Motion was then made, that an humble Address, Remonstrance, and Petition to his Majesty should be drawn up, and presented, setting forth the many Grievances already complained of, and still unredressed, together with the most injurious, infamous, and unconstitutional Behaviour of the House of Commons during the late Session, who had imprisoned the Person of the Lord Mayor, their Chief Magistrate, and Mr. Alderman Oliver, one of their Representatives; erased a judicial Record, thereby arbitrarily stopping the Course of Justice; and by a most uncommon, and heretofore unknown saving Clause, inserted in a late Bill, given away the Property of the City, long since confirmed by various well-known Grants and Charters.—After a short Pause, the Address was drawn up and read to the Livery; its Contents were spirited, and met with the unanimous Approbation of all present. A Motion was then made, that the Lord Mayor, the Court of Aldermen, and the Livery should go up in their Gowns, attended by the Recorder, the Sheriffs, and other proper Officers; which was also unanimously carried. Two more Motions were made; the one, That the Thanks of the Livery be given to the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor, Mr. Alderman Oliver, and Mr. Alderman Wilkes, for their magnanimous and intrepid Conduct respecting Preſs-Warrants, and other important Matters. The other, That it be recommended by the Livery to the Common-Council, and Court of Aldermen, that a Silver Cup, with the City Arms thereon, of 200*l.* Value, be presented to the Lord Mayor, and one of 100*l.* Value to each of the Aldermen Wilkes and Oliver, for their great and important Services. These Motions were unanimously agreed to, and the Hall shook with reiterated Expressions of Applause.

C H A P. XV.

The Poll for Sheriffs in Favour of Messrs. Wilkes and Bull. Mr. Wilkes's Speech to the Livery. Mr. Bull's Speech. Lord Hertford's Letter to the Lord Mayor. The Address, Remonstrance and Petition by the Livery to the King. His Majesty's Answer. The Gatehouse in Temple-Lane fell down. A Court of Escheats held at Guildhall. Court of Conservancy on the River Medway, and the Limits of the City of London's Jurisdiction asserted about two Miles below Rochester. A Fire at Aldersgate. The City of Dublin's Resolutions presented to the Lord Mayor of London. The Proceedings of Michaelmas-Day, with the Speeches of the Aldermen Sawbridge, Townsend, and Nash. Alderman Nash declared Lord Mayor. Sir James Langham's Gift. Objections to a Motion of Thanks to the Lord Mayor. Bill of Mortality for the Year 1771.

AFTER every Means had been tried to defeat the Election of Messrs. Wilkes and Bull by the Court Party, the Poll was determined and finally closed on Monday July 1, in this Manner:

For Wilkes ,	—	—	2315
Bull ,	—	—	2194
Kirkman ,	—	—	1949
Plumbe ,	—	—	1875
Oliver	—	—	119

And on the 3d of the same Month the Sheriffs, upon casting up the Poll, declared John Wilkes and Frederick Bull, Esqrs. Sheriffs for the Year ensuing. After which Declaration Mr. Wilkes addressed the Livery from the Hustings in the Common-Hall:

Gentlemen of the Livery and Fellow-Citizens,

“ I thank you for the Honour now conferred upon me; and I congratulate you upon the Victory which you have gained over the united Efforts of public Enemies and treacherous Friends. The bare-faced Bribery and Corruption practised on this Occasion, and nobly spurned by you, must convince the most profligate and abandoned Administration, with which this Nation was ever cursed, that the City of London is not to be sold, or enslaved. It is to be hoped that the same happy Union will enable us to baffle any future Efforts of the common Enemy. In return for so distinguished a Mark of your Favour, you may be assured that I will not be wanting in any Part of the Duty of my Office, but that I will dedicate my Time and Application to the public Service. One Part of the Business, however, I must decline, and leave to my worthy Colleague: I mean Petitions to the House of Commons. These I cannot carry up, as I am at this Moment a legal Member of that House. Being

*Wilkes
and Bull Sheriffs.*

*Sheriff
Wilkes's
Speech to the Livery.*

chosen

chosen a Representative by the Freeholders of Middlesex, I hold myself as essential a Branch of the British Legislature, as any Individual of which it is composed; and I here pledge myself never to relinquish their nor my Right. I will seize every Opportunity of doing Justice to them and to the whole Nation in that capital Point. (Here he was interrupted by a Storm of Applause.) Gentlemen, the highest Praises are due to the Sheriffs. Their Conduct on this Occasion has been remarkable for Candour and Impartiality; and it is impossible that upon the whole their general Conduct can be exceeded in public Spirit, Integrity, and Independence. I hope, however, that it will be at least equalled by that of their Successors."

Then Mr. Bull spoke nearly as follows:

Gentlemen of the Livery and Fellow-Citizens,

Sheriff
Bull's
Speech.

"I think myself the more indebted to you for the Honour now conferred upon me, that it was on my Side entirely unsolicited, and that you thought proper to join me with so able and so worthy a Colleague. I am not a Man of many Words, nor do I chuse to deal much in Professions. Let me, however, beg leave to assure you, that I will do my best Endeavours to discharge the Duties of the important Office of Sheriff; and that, as I never had, so I never shall have, any other Object in standing forth upon the public Stage, but the Peace, the Prosperity, the Honour, and Independence of the City of London."

In the mean Time the following Letter was received by the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor, at Eleven o'Clock at Night:

My Lord,

Lord
Hert-ford's Letter to the Lord
Mayor.

"As, in Consequence of the Notice given of the Time your Lordship proposes setting out tomorrow, the Livery may be induced to attend your Lordship to St. James's, I have the King's Commands to acquaint you, that it being unprecedented to admit the Livery upon such Occasions, as well as impracticable to introduce so numerous a Body, no Persons beyond the Number allowed by Law to present Petitions to the Throne, will be admitted, except your Lordship, the Aldermen, Common-Council, and City-Officers. I am, my Lord, with the greatest Respect, your Lordship's most obedient humble Servant,

Grosvenor-Street,

July 9, 1771.

HERTFORD."

And on Wednesday the 10th in the Morning, written Copies of the above Letter were stuck up in divers Parts of the City, that the Livery might have Notice, and save themselves the Trouble of going to Guildhall.

On the Lord Mayor's coming into the Council-Chamber, he read the Letter above-mentioned to the Livery then assembled; in Consequence of which a Committee of Ten (the Number allowed by Law to present a Petition) was appointed from the Body to attend the Lord Mayor into the King's Presence.

The Manner in which the Remonstrance was presented.

Accordingly, between Twelve and One o'Clock, the Lord Mayor, attended by the Aldermen Stephenson, Trecothick, Townsend, Sawbridge and Oliver, the two Sheriffs, &c. with upwards of 100 of the Common-Council, in about 50 Carriages, attended by Sir James Hodges (Town-Clerk) the City-Marshall, &c. &c. proceeded, amidst the greatest Acclamations of the People, to St. James's, with the following Address, Remonstrance and Petition, which was read by Sir James Hodges, Town-Clerk.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address, Remonstrance, and Petition of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Livery of the City of London, in Common-Hall assembled.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

"We your Majesty's dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Livery of the City of London, in the Anguish of our Hearts, beg leave to approach your royal Person, and deeply to lament that we still suffer, together with many others, all those great and unparalleled Grievances, which we have before submitted to your Majesty, with the Hope of a full and speedy Redress from our Sovereign, as the Father of his People.

The Re-
mon-strance,
&c.

"The same arbitrary House of Commons, which violated the sacred Right of Election, and seated among themselves, as a Representative of the People, a Man who was never chosen into Parliament, have, the last Session, proceeded to the most extravagant Outrages against the Constitution of this Kingdom, and the Liberty of the Subject, of which your Majesty is by Law the great Guardian. They have ventured to imprison our Chief Magistrate, and one of our Aldermen, for disobeying their illegal Orders, and not violating the holy Sanction of their Oaths to this great City, as well as their Duty to their Country. They have, by the most artful Suggestions, prevailed upon your Majesty, to suffer your royal Name to give a pretended Authority to a Proclamation, issued at their express Desire, contrary to the known Laws of the Land. At length they proceeded to the enormous Wickedness of erasing a judicial Record, in order to stop the Course of Justice, and to frustrate all Possibility of Relief by an Appeal to those Laws, which are the noblest Birth-Right and Inheritance of all the Subjects of this Realm.

"During the unjust Confinement of our Representatives, they proceeded to a Law, depriving the Citizens of London of a considerable Part of their Property in the Soil of the River Thames, solemnly granted to them by divers Charters, and confirmed by the Authority of Parliament; and, under Colour of Equity, inserted in that Law an unusual saving Clause, subversive of the known and established Laws of Property; they have, without any Pretence of an Abuse, superseded the Conservancy of the River Thames, in the Liberty, which the Citizens of London have enjoyed from the Conquest.

"We therefore, your Remonstrants, again humbly supplicate your Majesty to restore our Rights, and to give Peace to this distracted Nation, by a speedy Dissolution of Parliament, and by removing your present wicked and despotic Ministers for ever from your Councils and Presence.

(Signed by Order) JAMES HODGES."

His

His Majesty was pleased to return the following Answer:

His Majesty's
Answer.

"I shall ever be ready to exert my Prerogative, as far as I can constitutionally, in redressing any real Grievances of my Subjects; and the City of London will always find me disposed to listen to any of their well-founded Complaints; it is therefore with Concern that I see a Part of my Subjects still so far misled and deluded, as to renew, in such reprehensible Terms, a Request, with which, I have repeatedly declared, I cannot comply."

Gatehouse
in Temple-Lane fell down.

On Friday the 12th, about Twelve o'Clock at Night, the Gatehouse in Temple-Lane, White-Friars, one Side of which rested upon the Wall of the Alienation-Office Garden, belonging to the Temple, fell down. Of ten Persons that were in the House, five made their Escape through the back Rooms and Windows; of the other five, four were buried in the Ruins, one of whom, a Girl about fifteen Years of Age, was killed upon the Spot, being terribly crushed. The rest escaped with some Bruises; and the fifth, a Boy, who lay in the Garret, had a most miraculous Deliverance, being thrown, Bed and all, into the Alienation-Garden, where he alighted, without the least Hurt, upon a green Plot.

A Miraculous Escape
of a Boy.

A Court of Escheats
at Guildhall.

On Tuesday the 16th, was held at Guildhall a Court of Escheats, before the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor, by virtue of his Majesty's Commission, issued by the Court of Chancery, directed to his Lordship, as the King's Escheator in the City of London, to enquire into that kind of Escheat, of an Estate devolved to the Crown pro defectu sanguinis, or Want of an Heir, by the royal Prerogative. The Case was, the late Major-General Brown, who died in 1764, was proved to be an illegitimate Son of one Mrs. Elizabeth Dean, by the Honourable Mr. Lumley. Mrs. Dean, the General's Mother, devised several real Estates to Mr. Brown in Fee. He lived and died unmarried, therefore could have no Heir. However, by his Will, properly attested, he gave several of his Mother's Estates to the Foundling-Hospital; which Bequest, by the Mortmain Act, was void in Law. The Testator discovering this Mistake, in six Days after, endeavoured to cure it by a Codicil; and if the charitable Legacy proved ineffectual, gave the Estates to one Mrs. Beecroft, which, fatally for her, was attested but by a single Witness, which by Statute-Law is void; so that the General may be said to have died without a Will, and his Estates, therefore, escheated to the Crown; and so it was found, and returned by the Inquisition.

The Lord Mayor made a Point at first as to the Return of the Inquisition by virtue of the King's Writ, insisting on his having an independent Jurisdiction, by virtue of Charters and his Oath; but the Writ being issued on the Petition of Mrs. Beecroft, praying to obtain the Estate, or some Part of it, his Lordship waved in this Instance his Objection, but insisted for the future that Informations of Escheats should be originally brought to the Lord Mayor, who would officially proceed in such Enquiries without any royal Mandate.

At the above Court it was observed, that several Houses in Fenchurch-Street, formerly belonging to a Freeman, for want of a Will were never claimed, but that the Tenants had enjoyed the Houses for many Years without paying Rent: The Lord Mayor being obliged to attend the Court of Aldermen, the Consideration of that Affair was put off for a further Hearing.

There has not been a like Court held since the Mayoralty of Sir Woolaston Dixie, Lord Mayor of London, 150 Years ago.

On Wednesday the 17th, the Lord Mayor, Sir Richard Glyn, Mr. Alderman Peers, several of the City Officers, the Gentlemen of his Lordship's Household, attended by the City-Marshal and Under Marshalmen, held a Court of Conservancy at Stratford for the County of Essex; after which they went to Woolwich, and held another Court for the County of Kent. After which they embarked on board the Chatham Yacht, and one belonging to the Trinity-House, and proceeded down the River as far as the City's Jurisdiction extends, to see what Encroachments had been made, that the Parties offending might be proceeded against according to Law.

A special Court of Conservancy.

The Lord Mayor arrived at Rochester on Thursday Afternoon. He was immediately complimented by some of the principal Persons in the Town.

Lord Mayor's Reception
at Rochester.

On Friday Morning the Lord Mayor, attended by the Aldermen Esdaile, Kennet, Kirkman, Wilkes, Rossiter, the Sheriff Martin, and Sheriff elect Bull, went in the Chatham Yacht to the Stone about two Miles below Rochester, which bounds the City's Conservancy on the River Medway. His Lordship observed there some Letters fresh cut on the Side of the City's Stone nearest the Land, which were said to mean a Claim of a Lady of the Manor. They were ordered to be immediately erased; and his Lordship attended while they were chipped out of the Stone, on which was then cut the following Inscription: Brass Crosby, Esq; Lord Mayor, 1771. The Sword of State was laid upon it, and several small Pieces of Silver, provided for the Occasion, were distributed among the People who attended.

Affairs the City's Right in the River
Medway.

On Thursday the 8th, between Twelve and One at Night, a Fire bore out at Cooks-Hall, in Aldersgate-Street, which consumed the same, with a large Quantity of Timber in Mr. Hatton's Timber-Yard adjoining; it likewise burnt the greatest Part of the Nag's-Head Ale-house, with a Stable and Out-houses belonging to it, and damaged the back Part of several of the Dwelling-Houses that front the Street.

A Fire at Aldersgate.

On the 25th of September, a Committee of Merchants, deputed by the Corporation of Dublin, waited on the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor, and presented the following Resolutions, as a Testimony of their Gratitude for his Conduct and Perseverance in the Cause of Liberty; which will serve to shew the Sense that City had of his Lordship, as a Magistrate and Patriot.

Resolutions
of the City of Dublin.

At the Guildhall, on the 15th of July, 1771, being public Quarter-Day of the Guild of Merchants, Dublin, the following Resolutions were agreed to.

"Resolved, That it is the Opinion of this Guild, that the Freedom of the Press is one of the chief Bulwarks of the constitutional Liberties of these Kingdoms.

"Resolved,

"Resolved, That the sincere Thanks of this Guild be presented to the Right Honourable Brass Crosby, Esq; Lord Mayor of the City of London, John Wilkes and Richard Oliver, Esqrs. Aldermen of the same, for their upright and manly Perseverance in the Cause of constitutional Liberty, particularly manifested by their spirited and successful Endeavours in rescuing the Printers of London from the arbitrary and despotic Hands of illicit Power, and thereby securing the Peace, Honour and Dignity of that great City, and these Kingdoms."

Proceedings on Michaelmas-Day.

The Proceedings at Guildhall on Michaelmas-Day this Year, for the Election of a Lord Mayor for the Year ensuing, were perhaps the most extraordinary that ever had been known: For the Citizens in that Common-Hall, who had so lately and lavishly caressed and distinguished Aldermen Sawbridge and Townsend by every Honour they could confer on them, for their upright and steady Conduct in Parliament and in the Cause of Liberty, seemed to strive how they should out-do each other in Tokens of Disgust and Dislike, which they from every Quarter threw out upon them. There was an universal Hissing when those Gentlemen came forward upon the Hustings. But as soon as the Recorder had opened the Hall, and Silence proclaimed, Mr. Alderman Sawbridge addressed the Livery in Words to this Effect:

Alderman
Sawbridge's
Speech.

"I am sensible that bad Impressions have been made on my Fellow-Citizens to my Disadvantage, by a Person now in the Hall, who has published anonymous Paragraphs: But I stand here innocent of his Defamation. I dare him to stand forth: Nevertheless, no Ill-treatment shall ever provoke me to desert the Cause of legal Liberty."

Alderman
Townsend's
Speech.

Then Mr. Alderman Townsend addressed the Livery; and amongst other Observations on the Contrast of their Behaviour towards him on Michaelmas-Day 1770 and 1771, he concluded—"I am firmly persuaded the Livery of London do not lightly change their Opinion of an honest Man; but that they expect some better Proof against his Integrity, than the anonymous Charges and Accusations of a mercenary and most unprincipled Impostor."

When Mr. Townsend had finished, Mr. Alderman Nash addressed the Livery thus:

Gentlemen,

Alderman
Nash's
Speech.

"I think it my Duty, on this Occasion, to speak a few Words to you; but shall take up little of your Time. The Reason which makes me ask your Favour at this Time, is, that I am one of the Aldermen next in Turn for this Office. It would ill become me to boast of any Thing I have done; but I do assure you, that if I am elected to this Office, I will faithfully discharge the Duties of it, and honestly execute the Trust you shall put in me. I leave my Cause in your Hands. If I do not meet with your Approbation, I shall cheerfully submit; and whatever your Determination is, it will not be disagreeable to me."

A Poll.

The Aldermen then withdrew, and the Sheriffs put up the Candidates separately. The Shew of Hands appeared in favour of Crosby and Sawbridge. A Poll being demanded on behalf of Messrs. Nash, Halifax, Townsend, Sawbridge, Crosby, and Sir Henry Bankes; the same was opened at half an Hour after Three, and continued till half an Hour after Four.

On Saturday the 5th of October, at the final Close of the Poll, the Numbers stood thus:

	Sat.	M.	Tu.	Wed.	Th.	Frid.	Sat.	Numbers voted.
Ald. Nash	83	320	740	366	1716	1959	2192
Ald. Sawbridge	98	158	307	371	1245	1574	1879
Ld. Mayor	79	142	270	344	1142	1463	1795
Ald. Halifax	13	62	314	161	649	752	846
Ald. Townsend	27	26	42	15	121	136	151
Sir H. Bankes	3	10	11	3	10	35	36

On Monday the 7th in the Evening, about Eight o'Clock, a most dreadful Fire broke out at a Cork-Cutter's, the Corner of Ironmonger-Row, Old-Street-Road: The Wind being high, soon communicated the Flames, which destroyed and damaged about thirteen Houses. As the Flames were soon seen all over London, a most amazing Crowd assembled. Part of the Wall which surrounded the Church-Yard of St. Luke's Church, Old-Street, fell down, by the Weight of the People that were upon it to see the Fire, when one Man was killed and several greatly hurt.

On Tuesday the 8th, the Sheriffs made their Return to the Court of Aldermen of the two Gentlemen elected by the Livery for one of them to be Lord Mayor for the ensuing Year; when the Court was pleased to make Choice of Mr. Alderman Nash, who was declared duly elected accordingly.

Alderman
Nash Lord
Mayor.

After the Recorder had declared the Election which the Court of Aldermen had made, the Lord Mayor elect, being invested with the Gold Chain, then addressed the Audience as follows:

Gentlemen of the Livery,

"I beg leave to return you my Thanks for the high Honour you have conferred upon me by chusing me your Chief Magistrate for the Year ensuing.

His Speech.

"When I consider the Dignity and Importance of that exalted Station, I cannot help reflecting how unequal I am to the great and arduous Task.

"But, Gentlemen, if a Sacrifice of my private Concerns, by a constant Attendance on the Duties of the Office; if a strict and impartial Administration of Justice; if a watchful Attention to the Franchises, Interest, and Prosperity of my Fellow-Citizens, can merit your Esteem, you may be assured of my utmost Endeavours to deserve it; and in which, as I have the Example, so I hope I shall have the kind Assistance of my Brethren.

"Providence having crowned my Industry with an independent Fortune, I am determined to be an independent Magistrate, uninfluenced by any Motives that may lead me from the public Service to my own Advantage.

"I cannot conclude without publicly acknowledging my Obligations to my Lord Mayor and the Sheriffs, for their ready Attention to the Preservation of the Peace, and the Security of my Person, in coming to and going from this Place, during the Poll."

The Lord Mayor followed Mr. Alderman Nash, and returned his Thanks to the Livery for

Alderman
Crosby's
Speech.

all their Favours, particularly for their late numerous Appearance for him on the Election. He told them, "One Thing, Gentlemen, you may always be sure of, I have an honest Heart, and shall never deceive you."

Informations against the Goldsmiths Company,
&c.

This Day the City Solicitor filed Informations of Disfranchisement in the Mayor's Court against the Master and Wardens of the three refractory Companies of Goldsmiths, Grocers, and Weavers, for refusing to obey the Lord Mayor's Precept for a Common-Hall. Mr. Alderman Plumbe, as late Master of the Goldsmiths Company, was one of the Delinquents.

On Friday the 18th, the following Letter from the Sheriffs to the Keeper of Newgate was published:

Mr. Reynolds's Office, No. 39.

S I R, Lime-Street, October 16, 1771.

"We are very well satisfied with your general Conduct in the Office you hold under us, and in particular with the Humanity you always shew to the unhappy Persons under your Care. There are however two glaring Abuses of Importance, which we are determined to rectify at the ensuing Session on Wednesday next, and all the subsequent Sessions during our Sherifalty.

The first is the Prisoners remaining in Irons at the Time of Arraignment and Trial. This we conceive to be equally repugnant to the Laws of England and of Humanity. Every Person at so critical a Moment ought to be without any bodily Pain or Restraint, that the Mind may be perfectly free to deliberate on its most interesting and awful Concerns in so alarming a Situation. It is Cruelty to aggravate the Feelings of the Unhappy in a State of such Distraction; and Injustice to deprive them of any Advantage for the Defence of supposed Innocence, by calling off the Attention by bodily Torture, at the great Moment, when the full Exertion of every Faculty is most wanted. No Man in England ought to be compelled to plead while in Chains. We therefore are determined to abolish the present illegal and inhuman Practice; and we direct you to take off the Irons before any Prisoner is set to the Bar, either for Arraignment or Trial.

The other Abuse we are determined to reform, is the taking of Money for Admission into the Court at the Old-Bailey. This, likewise, we hold to be contrary to Law. It is one of the most glorious Privileges of this Nation, that our Courts of Justice must always be open and free, that no judicial Proceedings can be had in a secret, clandestine Manner, but that the Conduct of the Judges, Juries, and Witnesses, is submitted to the Eye of a judicious and impartial Public, without any Expence, Fee, or Gratification whatever. We need not enumerate to you the constant Complaints made on this Subject every Session, and the Tumults occasioned by the Exactions of the Officers, &c. We have given Orders to our Officers to admit gratis all Persons, who behave with Decency, into any Part of the Court, not particularly assigned to the Judges, Aldermen, Grand and Petty Juries, Witnesses, or Officers of the Court. We expect the like Orders from you to all your Servants. To inform the Public of this Regulation, we desire you to affix the following Words in large Letters on the several Entrances into the Court, "No Money is to be taken for Admission into any Part of this Court of Justice."

To Mr. Richard Akerman,
Keeper of Newgate.

JOHN WILKES.
FRED. BULL.

On the 19th, at a Court of Aldermen, a Committee of Aldermen was appointed to meet on the 29th of the said Month, in Conformity to the Will of Sir James Langham, to elect twenty-five poor Sailors and twenty-five poor Soldiers, who have Families, and receive no Pension from Government, to a Gift of 4*l.* each. And at the same Court the Clerks of the Companies of Grocers and Goldsmiths petitioned for Leave to search the City-Books, in order to defend some Members of those Companies against Writs of Disfranchisement; whose Petition was readily granted.

Sir James
Langham's Gift.

The Business in the City of London this Year in the Common-Council was finished on the 12th of December, which was the first Court of Common-Council held in this Mayoralty: When, after a handsome Speech made by the Lord Mayor at his Opening of the said Court, Mr. Luke Stavelly reminded the Court, that the constant Usage had been to move, as the first Business, the Thanks to his Lordship's Predecessor, and that no Gentleman had ever merited those Thanks more than Mr. Crosby. Mr. Stavelly then read the following Address of Thanks:

Debates about Thanks to the late
Lord
Mayor.

"That the Thanks of this Court be given to Brass Crosby, Esq; late Lord Mayor of this City, for his diligent and impartial Administration of Justice during the whole Time of his holding that high and important Office; for his Readiness to convene Common-Halls and Common-Councils; for having always presided with great Candour and Ability; for having, as Chief Magistrate, supported with Spirit and Dignity the Privileges and Immunities of this City; for having refused to back Preps-Warrants, issued in Violation of the Rights of the Subject; for having discharged a Printer and Fellow-Citizen taken into Custody by an illegal Warrant of the Speaker of the House of Commons; for having committed the Messengers of that House for the Assault, in Violation of the Laws; for having returned to a Court of Justice a Recognizance taken before him, notwithstanding the Minutes thereof, by Order of the House of Commons, were expunged, and that House ordered that no other Prosecution, Suit, or Proceeding, be commenced, or carried on, for or on account of the said pretended Assault or false Imprisonment; for having maintained in Parliament the Rights of the Nation, as well as the chartered Privileges of this Metropolis; and for having preserved, through an Imprisonment in the Tower, the same Tenour of upright Conduct with unshaken Integrity, Firmness, and Fortitude."

The Address of Thanks was strenuously objected to by several Aldermen, and other Gentlemen; but at length the Question being put, there appeared for the Address, four Aldermen and one hundred and seventeen Commoners; against the Thanks, nine Aldermen and forty-seven Commoners. The Aldermen who voted for it were Stevenson, Sawbridge, Wilkes, and Oliver: Those against it were Ladbroke, Alsop, Harley, Harley, Halifax, Esdaile, Plumbe, Kennet, Rossiter, and Bird. Alderman Kirkman and Townsend withdrew during the Division; and the latter Gentleman expressed himself warmly against the Address.

Bill of Mortality
for the Year
1771.

And the Continuation of the History of this Metropolis is closed with the general Bill of Mortality, wherein it appears, from December 11, 1770, to December 10, 1771, there have been christened 17072, and buried 21780, within the Bills of Mortality.

Christened.			Buried.
Males	—	8839	Males	—	10921
Females	—	8233	Females	—	10859
<hr/>			<hr/>
In all 17072			In all 21780
Whereof have died,
Under 2 Years	7617	Between 60 and 70	1469
Between 2 and 5	1830	70 — 80	1210
5 — 10	818	80 — 90	460
10 — 20	844	90 — 100	67
20 — 30	1671	100 —	1
30 — 40	1945	101 —	2
40 — 50	2091	107 —	1
50 — 60	1751

A

SURVEY OF THE IMPROVEMENTS

Made in the CITY and SUBURBS of LONDON, &c.

YOU have had already laid before you the Resolutions to improve the City of London and the Suburbs, and also an Act of Parliament empowering the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Common-Council, to carry those Resolutions into Action (See Page 26, &c. of this Continuation). To which said Act are added two Schedules, one directing what Openings were to be made; the other setting forth the Passages to be improved and enlarged. (See ibid. p. 20.)

Accordingly the Committee of City Lands were appointed by the Court of Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons, in Common-Council assembled, on the 17th Day of June, 1760, to carry the said Act of Parliament into Execution.

In the mean Time Charles Dingley, Esq; a wealthy Citizen of London and a Russia Merchant, obtained an Act of Parliament, and did effectually carry into Execution the said Act, for making a Communication from the Center of the City with the great Northern Road, that lies through Islington, by a new Way, called now the City Road, leading from the Doghouse-Bar, in Old-Street, across the Fields, to the West End of Islington: From whence commenceth another Road, to communicate with the great Western Road, through Marybone to Rigon's Farm: Both which Roads are supported by Turnpike Tolls. (See ibid. p. 37.)

The Common-Council did also refer to the Commissioners of the Sewers and Pavements the Consideration of the most effectual Way to prevent the many and great Complaints of the Inhabitants against the Pavements, and divers Nuisances under their Jurisdiction. And the said Commissioners having reported their Opinion of the Foundation of all those Complaints, and shewn in what Manner they were to be removed and prevented for the future, (ibid. p. 60.)

they applied to Parliament, and obtained an Act to enable them to pave London Streets, and for other Purposes therein contained. (Ibid. p. 62.) After which the said Commissioners applied to Parliament for Leave to pull down whatever might be found to obstruct the free Air, and to make and widen such Streets as should be found necessary. (See ibid. p. 65.)

The City and their Commissioners, with these Aids of Parliamentary Power, presently set about the Business for which they were appointed; and have conducted themselves with that Judgment and Affiduity, that every Thing almost that could be done in the Time, has been effected: And the City of London and its Liberties may be said to have risen out of ancient Ruins, and become a new City, with Enjoyments never before experienced in the first City of the World, whether we look upon the many and elegant Buildings, or the Number, the Spaciousness, Pavements and Cleanliness of the Streets.

As you enter the Eastern Part of London, the Passenger needs only pass down the Great Minories and the new Buildings, which fill almost all the West Side, from Aldgate High-Street to Tower-Hill, including George-Street and John-Street, that open each a spacious Passage into Poor-Jewry-Lane and Crutched-Friars; and Hemmett-Street, finished at the West Extremity with an elegant Half-Circle of first-rate Houses, instead of those wooden Hovels, paltry Erections, and waste Ground, which heretofore were the Receptacles of Whores and Thieves, under the City-Wall, from Aldgate to the Postern on Tower-Hill; and he will meet with Objects of Wonder and Amazement; considering the Shortness of the Time in which these Improvements and the new Pavements have been completed. The same kind of Pavement has been continued under the said Commission in Whitechapel, from the North End of the Minories, as far as the Bars or Bounds of the City Liberties; and again down Hounsditch, in which Street an Opening has been made into Bevis-Marks, for Carriages to pass into St. Mary Axe and Leadenhall-Street; and several Parts thereof have been already covered with handsome Shops and Houses, upon a Plan which, by setting the new Buildings on the West Side a few Feet backwards, will render Hounsditch a commodious and open Street.

In the Minories.

Whitechapel.

Hounfditch.

As soon as we enter where Aldgate once stood, there appears on the left Hand a spacious, broad and open Street, and well built, running Southward as far as Crutched-Friars, which was lately almost impassable, and a Terror to the neighbouring Inhabitants. The Improvement in the Width of this Street was brought to bear by removing or pulling down the City-Wall, which ran behind the former Buildings in Poor-Jewry-Lane as far as Tower-Hill. (See this described on page 28. ibid.)

Poor-Jewry-
Lane.

The East End of Leadenhall-Street has been opened by pulling down the Houses, upon whose Scite there is now built the Denmark Tavern; under which, in the Vault, are still preserved the Remains of St. Michael's Church or Chapel.

Leadenhall-
Street.

The Houses directed to be pulled down, in order to widen the dangerous Passage between

Little

Tower-Street.

Mark-Lane.

Bishopsgate-Street.

Camomile-Street.
Wormwood-Street.

New Excise-Office.

Bank-Street, &c.

In Lothbury.

Penny-Post-Office.

Old Jewry and Coleman-Street.

Cheap-side.

New Session-House.

Snow-Hill.

Little Tower-Street and Great Tower-Street, (ibid. p. 29.) has been done: And the Houses at the North-West Corner of Mark-Lane are pulled down, in order to enlarge the narrow Passage at that Place; but that Work is not yet finished. (Ibid.)

In Bishopsgate Ward great Improvements have been made. The Street where the Gate stood in the City-Wall, is enlarged, so as to make the Communication between Bishopsgate Within and Bishopsgate Without as capacious and free for Carriages, as any other Part of that Street; and the Spirit of Improvement has so prevailed, that the Buildings and Pavement in Camomile-Street and Wormwood-Street have been raised from narrow, dirty, and almost impassable Streets and mean Inhabitants, to the Appearance of some of our best Streets in London, as far as Broad-Street to the West, and Bevis-Marks to the East.

On the West Side of Bishopsgate-Street Within, where lately stood Gresham College, is now built on the Scite thereof, and of the Alms-Houses thereunto belonging, a most spacious and magnificent Building by Government, for the Office of Excise; very lately removed to this Place from their Office in the Old Jewry.

In Broad-Street Ward, besides the vast Extension of the Buildings of the Bank of England, that already extend from Baribolomew-Lane to St. Christopher's Church, and not come to their intended Expansion; all the Buildings and Houses between Castle-Alley and the North-West Corner of Cornhill, facing Prince's-Street, have been pulled down, and the Ground laid out and covered with capital Houses, adapted to Trade and for public Offices; and so as to make that Part of Threadneedle-Street, which, between those Houses and the Bank, was very narrow and incommodious for all People, a broad and elegant Street next the Bank, and with a cross Street, which makes a handsome wide Opening out of Cornhill facing the grand Entrance of the Bank; pursuant to the second Schedule, as set forth on p. 28. ibid.

The Foot-Way in Lothbury has been rendered more safe and easy, as in all the Streets mentioned, by the new Pavement; but especially by pulling down a Parcel of little Shops, built in the Front of St. Margaret's Church, and laying the Scite thereof open for the publick Good, by an Order of Vestry.

In Throgmorton-Street, there is the General Penny-Post-Office.

At the North-East Corner of the Old Jewry, and at the South-West Corner of Coleman-Street, one House at each Corner has been pulled down, and the Ground laid into the Street, to relieve the Difficulty Carriages often met with in turning these Corners.

Several Houses have been pulled down at the South-West Corner of Cheapside, and the Ground laid into the Street as much as necessary at the North-East Entrance into St. Paul's Church-Yard; and on the Remainder are built very handsome Shops and Houses.

In Farringdon Without we must remember the New Session-House and a New Newgate, whose Foundations are laid on the East Side of the Old-Bailey; and the Dirty narrow Passage from the End of the Old-Bailey to Snow-Hill, under St.

Sepulchre's Church-Yard-Wall, so troublesome and dangerous to Foot-Passengers, is now rendered a safe and good Way for Carriages by a proper Pavement, and for Foot-People by taking away the said Wall, and opening the Church-Yard for a Foot-Way to the Public.

In Addition to these Improvements, the Commissioners have paved all the Streets of any Note or Traffick with regular Pavement of Stone with a flat Face, and laid together so as to make one even compact Body, easy for all Sorts of Carriages; and a commodious Foot-Way on each Side of the Street, laid with flat Stones. The Signs are pulled down; the Posts before the Doors are taken away; and the Water from the Tops of Houses, that used to be a great Nuisance to Passengers in wet Weather, is now brought by proper Conveyances down to the Channels; and the Channels are all laid on the Outside of the Foot-Way, and with a proper Current to empty themselves into the Common-Sewers.

The like Improvements have extended themselves, by several Commissions under separate Acts of Parliament, to the Borough of Southwark; to the Parishes of St. Mary Whitechapel, St. George Middlesex, St. John Wapping, St. Paul Shadwell, the Hamlet of Ratcliff, the Tower Royalty, and to the Parish of St. Leonard Shoreditch: And most of those Places are either finished, or very forward in their Work of Paving, and removing Nuisances.

As for the Increase of Buildings; we have seen the South Side of Mile-End Old Town inclosed with Brick Houses; and in the South Quarter of Mile-End New Town, that formerly laid waste, are risen many Streets, to the great Improvement of the Earl of Halifax's Estate.

The great Dunghill called Holloway-Mount, lying between the North-East Corner of the Upper Moor-Fields and Shoreditch, is removed to make way for several Streets of Brick Buildings and a Turnpike Road: And Bethnal-Green has gained the Addition of Camden-Row and Wilmot-Street on its West Side, between the Green and the Church.

But as these Buildings are all much inferior in Number to those erected, and daily continuing to be built, in the Western and Northern Extremities of the City and Liberties of Westminster; so the Adelphi, those superb Buildings, erected upon that Ground called Durham-Yard in the Strand, where the antient Habitations were totally in Ruins, excel all other Buildings in Magnificence and Architecture in and about this Metropolis.

We shall conclude with observing, that there is erected a wooden Bridge from Chelsea to Battersea; and that the Navigation of the River Lee has been improved and facilitated by several Channels with Locks; one of which begins at Bromley, and, cut in a direct Line almost, terminates in the River Thames, near the Bridge at Limehouse: By which Improvement the Barges from Hertfordshire, and the other Parts of the River Lee, save about seven Miles, and the Impediments and Danger which at certain Times and in tempestuous Weather delayed and rendered their Navigation tedious, and sometimes hazardous, through Bow-Creek and round the Isle of Dogs.

General Improvements.

New Pavements.

Buildings.

The Adelphi.

Chelsea Bridge.

The Circus & Obelisk in St Georges Fields.

ELEVATION of the North Side of the OBELISK.

